Annexed to the list of vessels registered in Canada issued by the Department of Marine and Fisheries is a table from the Registrar-General giving the number and tonnage of the vessels owned by the maritime countries of the world. In this table the vessels belonging to the colonies or dependencies are included in the number credited to the parent country. The showing of the British merchant marine in this table is certainly remarkable, and a practical refutation of the assertion that Great Britain's commercial and shipping supremacy is being lost through the progress made by other nations.

Taking the returns of the number of steamers afloat we find that those under the British flag are 8,736 in number, with a gross tonnage of 17,105,885 and a net tonnage of 10,324,093. The steam vessels belonging to all nations are 19,030 in numbers, with a gross tonnage of 32,926,817 and 20,264,626 net tonnage. While the British vessels amount to about 45 per cent. of the number of steamers afloat, they comprise more than half the steam tonnage of the world. The average tonnage of British vessels is much greater than that of the ships belonging to other countries, many of the latter being small coasting steamers or craft on inland waters.

In sailing vessels foreign nations make a better showing, the figures being:—British vessels 6,326 in number with a tonnage of 1,801,539, while the sailing vessels of all nations number 37,599, with a tonnage of 7,313,464 tons. Taking both steam and sailing vessels together British vessels have a net tonnage of 12,015,632 tons out of a total of 27,589,089. The steam tonnage is, of course, the more valuable and proportionately far more effective in navigation than the sailing tonnage, since it can make more voyages and carry more passengers and cargo in a given time than is possible with tonnage propelled by the winds. But taking a review of the whole mercantile marine of the world, whether steam or sail, it is remarkable fact that no less than 44 per cent. of it is owned under the British flag, most of it in the United Kingdom. It goes to show that British commercial capacity is still in vigorous form, and that in regard to shipping it has no superior anywhere, notwithstanding the efforts made in recent years by rival nations to compete with British shipping on almost every ocean.

While shipping property is subject to great commercial vicissitudes, and the history of the last fifty years has witnessed alternate periods of prosperity and depression in the shipping interests, British tonnage has steadily increased, although British shipowners have from time to time had to compete with rivals in foreign countries who were aided by subsidies and grants from their governments. Notwithstanding this it is satisfactory to find from these returns that British shipping still maintains its supremacy in the world's commerce.

The footprints of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the Stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For the druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. First, these tiny inside Stomach, Heart, and Kidney nerves fail. Then gas belching, Heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment, you will realize the gain. A test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

News in Brief

St. John, N.B., July 31.—Samuel Wharton of St. John, aged fifty-five, was instantly killed by falling from a large chimney at Dalhousie. He leaves a wife and five children.

William Boyle, aged 67, a St. John police officer, died from heart failure last evening at Lingan, Cape Breton.

John Pembroke, a traveling salesman, was picked up dead from the roadway, having fallen from his wagon. He was aged 62 and leaves a wife and large family.

Seattle, July 31.—Jesse Feler, a gripman, killed his eight-year-old daughter, Hazel, and Mrs. Dennis N'houl, fatally wounded his wife, Mrs. L. Feler, and seriously wounded Miss Ethel Warren, his sister-in-law, in a private maternity hospital here last night. He then turned his revolver upon himself and committed suicide.

Feler and his wife had been separated and she lived at the hospital. Although forbidden to go near the house he made his way into the place through the basement. After finding his wife seated in a front room he started shooting. The lights went out after the first shot and he had to light matches to see the victims to shoot at.

He drove his daughter and Mrs. N'houl into the street where he shot them.

Digby, N. S., August 1.—The series of public sessions of the Fisheries commission commenced yesterday in the Court House in Digby. Professor Prince announced that in addition to the shad, Hon. Mr. Brodeur desired the Gaspereau and salmon fisheries of the Bay of Fundy to be included in the commission's investigation.

Valuable information was laid before the commission by fishermen from Barton, Plympton, an dDigby. Further sittings will be held here to-morrow, after which Commissioners Prince and Morrison will proceed to hold public meetings in th offishing districts of the province.

Dedham mill, Essex, the old flour mill on the River Stour, immortalized in the paintings of Constable, has been almost totally destroyed by fire. The occupiers are Messrs. Ebenezer Clover & Co.

The premises occupied by Messrs Carve, Anstis and Co., provision merchants, Bexhill, were completely gutted by fire recently. The public clock erected to commemorate the Jubilee of Queen Victoria was destroyed.

A telegram from Rome states that on the celebration of his jubilee in September next, the Pope will hold an important consistory at which sixteen new cardinals will be made, including six Italians, two French, one English, two Americans, two Austrians, one German, one Portuguese and one Spanish.

After service at the Westbourne Park Chapel, Dr. Clifford announced that he had been summoned for the seventeenth time for his rates, and was to appear before the magistrates on Thursday. He asked all those present who could do so to be there. Dr. Talmage, of Chicago, who was the preacher, called out, "May I go, too?" Dr. Clifford replied, "Certainly."

London, July 30.—"Ruined by a fight" in this way two Birkdale builders, Thomas Brown and John Bond, explained at the public examination how they had become bankrupts.

The debtors, who had been in business for upwards of twenty years said that the principal cause of their failure was the inability to get tenants for some houses they built. One of the houses, it was stated, has only been occupied twelve months out of eight and a half years, and another was empty for five years within the same period.

Pressed for a fuller explanation, Mr. Brown said the property had suffered from a ghost story.

"No, I never saw it", replied Mr. Brown, when asked if he had seen the ghost, "but there was an old house built a good many years ago, which stood by itself in a field in front of ours, and there was some bother with some ventriloquists there at one time."

The Official Receiver: And that old house was said to be haunted?? (Laughter.)

Mr. Bond (the other debtor): There were hundreds of people went one night to overthrow it.

The Official Receiver: Did you ever see anything of the ghost?

Victoria, B. C., August 1.—The news of murders and cannibalism in the Bismarck Archipelago, followed by a German punitive expedition, in which some villages were burned, and the capture of a trading schooner and the murder of Oliver Burns, a Sydney trader, in the Solomon Group, was brought by the steamer Aorangi, which arrived from Australia via Honolulu. Three Bohusion boys were victims of the cannibalistic affair. The three boys were killed and their bodies carried to the hills, where a feast was held. The same mission was the scene of a massacre in 1904, when it was rushed an dfive missionaries and teachers, and five sisters were massacred.

The repatriated island-tender from Australia have reverted to savagery, having taken back the views of the white man, without his redeeming points, and Settlers in the South Seas have had to arm themselves for protection in consequence.

It is estimated that a thousand rifles have been secured by the blacks within a short time.

London, July 30.—In a brochure published in Leipzig, under the title "Banzai", the author, who conceals his identity, paints a lurid picture of a coming Japanese-American war.

The American fleet is on its homeward voyage when the cables are cut to Manila. This is explained by a steamer which arrives with a Hong-Kong newspaper describing how a typhoon has interrupted telegraphic communication. Not till two days later do the American garrison discover that war has broken out, and simultaneously the American monitor Monadnock is blown up by a Japanese tramp. The Philippines are blocked and San Francisco is seized by an army of 150,000 Japanese, who "issue mysteriously from various shops."

A fearful financial panic in the United States follows, and yellow men are generally massacred when they show themselves. The American fleet while maneuvring is attacked by a Japanese force, which sinks every ship. Admiral Sperry going down last with his flagship. Finally, the Americans assemble a great army and expel the Japanese. England is represented as treacherously aiding Japan, while the final victory of the United States is declared to be due to German officers.

A Tiny State.

The miniature republic of San Marino is a mere dot on the map of Europe, being the smallest state in the world as well as the oldest independent republic. Its area is thirty-eight square miles, only little less than twice that of the island of Manhattan. It lies entirely in Italy, but is wholly independent. Its situation is on the easterly side of the Etruscan Apennines and about twelve miles from Rimini, on the Adriatic sea. The frontier is only twenty-four miles in length, and the population would make only a small city ward, numbering less than 12,000. There is no public debt, and the annual expenses met by taxation amount to $60,000. The country has bronze and silver currency, coined by Italy, 158,000 lire of the latter and 105,000 of the former. The principal exports are wine, cattle and stone. The military force of the republic numbers 38 officers and 950 men.

The Wild Boar.

The wild boar is a most courageous animal. The element of luck counts for a great deal in pig sticking, as in most other forms of sport, and it often happens that the foremost sportsman who by dint of hard riding or thanks to the fastest horse has come up with the quarry is deprived of the coveted honor of "first spear" by a sudden "jink" or turn of the pig. The boar, in spite of his clumsy appearance, is not only possessed of a great turn of speed, but is extraordinarily active. He will turn and twist like a hare, putting every obstacle in the shape of bushes, rocks, water, etc., between himself and his pursuers, but all the time making for the nearest patch of jungle and safety. The pace after pig is faster than the best of runs with hounds, but is sooner over. Illustrated Sporting and Dramatic News.

Not Surprised.

Skipper—I am inordinately sensitive to uncongenial surroundings, so much so that the very sight of some people will give me a nervous shudder. Chipper—Oh, well, there are very few of us that do not shrink from meeting our creditors.

On Sunday afternoon the death occurred of George Max, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Dalmage. The child was 11 months old and was born in this city. The funeral will take place this morning at eight o'clock from the family residence, Stewart St.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend

SCARED THE ROBBER.

How a Determined Man Prevented a Holdup.

"The fact that a determined stand is all that is needed," continued the western man, "was illustrated a good many years ago by a peculiar little incident which took place on the old stage line running out of Tombstone, A. T. Holdups used to be frequent on that route, but, strange to say, nobody took any precautions against such a contingency. One day the stage was carrying an unusual number of passengers, and while it was going over an extremely desolated section of the road a masked man stepped from behind a rock leveled a shotgun at the driver and ordered him to pull up.

"He obeyed at once, and the robber began the usual programme by telling everybody to get out and range himself in line with his hands above his head. There were several nervy men on top, but none of them cared to court death by taking the initiative and it was impossible, moreover, to say how many additional rustlers might be lurking behind the rocks. At any rate, all hands were clambering down when suddenly the door of the stage was flung violently open and out leaped a big, fierce looking man with a cocked revolver in each fist.

"At the sight of him the robber took an involuntary backward step and fell sprawling over a round stone. Both barrels of his gun went off in the air, and in the confusion he picked himself up and ran like a deer for cover. He had a horse on the other side of the rocks, and in less time than it takes to tell it he was in the saddle and tearing the wind across the prairie. He got away, and now comes the funny part of the story.

"While the robber was beating it to retreat the big man snapped both pistols ineffectually at least half a dozen times and then discovered in blank amazement that neither one of them was loaded. He was glaring speechlessly into the empty cylinders when his wife stuck her head out of the coach and burst into vociferous weeping.

"'Oh, John,' she sobbed, 'I took the cartridges out of them guns the morning and forgot to tell you about it!' As she spoke she held out a handful of brass shells.

"'What the mischief did you do that for?' he roared.

"'I was skeered that they might go off in the coach and shoot the baby, ooohoo hoo!' she replied."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

No Hitch.

"How did the wedding come off today?"

"Without a hitch."

"Glad to hear it."

"I said without a hitch. The bride backed out at the last minute."

Not Written.

Like a Bicycle.

"What does the doctor say is the matter with Mirandy?"

"He says she has pneumatic tendencies and that she is threatened with spiral trouble."—Baltimore American.

To Canadian Investors

The undersigned has received an allotment of unsold portion of $100,000 of

7 Per Cent. First Mortgage Five-Year Gold Bonds

dated January 11, 1908, and maturing January 11, 1913. These Bonds are offered at par and accrued interest by Metropolitan Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, trustees.

SECURITY—The Entire Property and Improvements Owned THE URES CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY in the District of Ures, State of Sonora Mexico. Free from Mortgage or Bonded Indebtedness except this present Bond Issue.

An Unusual Opportunity for Investment in Sound Security

The Ures Consolidated Mining Company offers $100,000.00 of First Mortgage Gold Bonds. This issue of bonds is the only mortgage or bonded indebtedness ever placed on the company's properties.

These bonds are in the denomination of $100.00, and bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, July and January, and are redeemable on or before five years from date at the company's option at $110.00 and accrued interest.

With each bond issued there will be given $100.00 par value of the capital stock of the company as a bonus, and in addition thereto there will be placed in escrow with the Trustee additional stock which will be available to the bondholders at their option any time within a period of three years, the bondholder being entitled to surrender his bond any time within said period and receive in lieu thereof stock for every dollar of indebtedness to him on account of said bonds.

The Security Back of these Bonds

The company owns twelve claims situated in the district of Ures, State of Sonora, Mexico, free from mortgage or bonded indebtedness, except the present bond issue.

On one of these properties (The Ramona Mine) 5,000 feet of underground development work has been done, consisting of an inclined shaft to the depth of 400 feet with drifts in three levels to the North and South of the shaft.

An average value of ore worth $11.67 per ton is exposed throughout the mine, from the collar of the shaft to the extreme parts in the drifts, all of which is above water level.

The company has made surface improvements and mine improvements to the extent of $60,000.00 in the way of machinery, skids, trams, steam hoists, mill and nearly everything necessary to make the mining camp complete.

In addition to the absolute ownership of these twelve valuable claims the company has a lease on the San Jose Mine, adjoining its property, in which the company has been operating in high grade ore.

During the past sixty days the company has extracted and delivered to ore buyers and the bank at Hermosillo, $3,000.00 worth of ore and bullion, the ore having been reduced to bullion through the company's mill, with the exception of 1,464 pounds, which was sold to an ore buyer for $502.50.

The Money Derived from the Sale of These Bonds

This issue of bonds is made for the purpose of securing money at once in order to extend the development work more quickly than the company's present means will permit.

With the high grade ore in sight to the distance of 30 feet to the South of the shaft, the management is assured that within six months from date of making the improvements now necessary the company's properties will be on a self-sustaining and dividend-paying basis.

The stock which is Given with these bonds will be as valuable as the bonds when the Company has the ready capital to push operations

Men who invest in these bonds will have no cause or reason to regret their action, for the bonds afford an investment in a security which is absolutely safe—much better than ordinary city or country real estate, which is considered perfectly safe if the property put up to secure a mortgage is double the face of the loan. The security given on these bonds is better than 7 to 1, for the Ures Consolidated Mining Company has refused an offer of $750,000.00 for the property upon which this $100,000.00 worth of bonds is issued.

These bonds are an investment with all speculative risk eliminated—an investment with absolute security.

Make your reservation at once. This is small and promises to be quickly sold.

To whom it may concern:—

We hereby beg to state that The Ures Consolidated Mining Company has during the past five years made several deliveries of bullion to this bank, and it is the opinion of mining men here that they have the making of a fair mine, and further, that the properties owned and controlled by them bid promise of becoming paying properties.

From our knowledge of the men connected, we believe they are doing all in their power to bring about the results above mentioned.

Respectfully,

FISCAL AGENTS PETERBOROUGH ONT

RAWHIDE-DULZURA

1 CENT A 2 SHARE

Send us your name as a member in this new company, with your remittance for as many thousand shares as you can take at $5 per thousand.

This is a short-time offer on a hurry-up proposition. Our vice president is up at Rawhide now putting the miners at work. We want to raise the necessary funds for development as quickly as possible. Therefore, we offer the first block of stock at $5 a thousand shares. This subscription must be all cash. We want the money in hand. We mean to work without letup, and we have made it an ironclad rule not to run in debt. Cash counts now.

Our prospectuses are out. Send for one.

Make reservation of stock, if you do no more. But, remember, this present offer of stock at Half a Cent a Share is now open, and will be closed as soon as enough cash subscriptions are in hand. Don't wait, or you will get left.

The gold mining property owned outright by the company consists of 7 claims, 3 in the Rawhide district of Nevada, and 4 in the Dulzura district of Southern California.

The Rawhide district to-day is more famous than Goldfield, Tonapah, Bullfrog, or Searchlight were at the same stage of exploration and development. The Dulzura discovery is one of the most sensational in the history of California.

Ten samples of ore which were among the first assayed, ran as high as $7,461.37 to the ton, and all ten averaged over $1,600 a ton.

In both camps we located early, and our locations are chosen. Our own officers will superintend the mining.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces, excepting 8 and 26 reserved may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father or mother.

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

Fernie Rebuilding Already--Shacks Going Up and Mines Open

25 Bodies Were Recovered of which 18 were Identified--Others Charred Beyond Recognition--Money Needed

Fernie, B. C, Aug. 5.— Although twenty-four hours have barely elapsed since the destruction of this city in the greatest calamity in the history of North-West Canada, the work of reconstruction is already being planned, and Fernie is beginning to arise from the ashes, temporary structures are being run up with all speed, and several of the larger firms who were completely wiped out are preparing to re-open their places of business at the old stands. The citizens with an indomitable courage are determined to build a greater and better Fernie, and although suffering heavy losses, their confidence is not very greatly shaken. Today the coal mines will be thrown open, giving employment to over 150 men, and many others will be put to work on the construction of dwelling houses and stores.

Some twenty-five bodies, many of them charred beyond recognition by the fire, have been recovered, and of these some eighteen have been identified, although the names in a number of cases have not yet been issued for publication.

A search among the ruins continues. The remains of other victims are continually being disclosed, and the list of dead is being constantly added to. Owing to the confusion incident to the return of citizens, the reports of the dead and missing are very conflicting, and it is possible to accurately estimate the loss of life. The supplies are beginning to come in with such regularity that there is a plentiful supply of food for all, although clothing and cash are urgently needed.

TORONTO TRAVELER'S LOSS.

Calgary, Alta., Aug. 5.— Charles McKay, of Montreal, and W. Arthur Crane of Toronto, commercial travelers, who were at Fernie, say they made a frantic endeavor to save their valuable samples, but without success. The former lost $200 in personal effects, but could not place any estimate as to what loss his firm would sustain, while the latter lost fully $1,000 worth of samples and personal property. Their loss is trivial in comparison with that of L. Abraham of Montreal, who lost $15,000 worth of samples and his personal effects.

Mexican Outbreak Against United States Feared

This Month May Witness Trouble Between the Two Countries

City of Mexico, Aug. 6.—An uprising against foreigners, particularly against Americans, comparable only to the fierce outbreak of the Boxers in China a few years ago, seems each day more and more likely to occur here. For months past the press of Mexico has been filled with persistent and systematic attacks against all aliens. Public speakers have inveighed bitterly against Americans, some of them advocating the desecration of the bones of American soldiers buried in the American National Cemetery in this city.

More significant is the action of the government itself. In the new mining law, which has passed both houses of Congress and now is in the hands of President Diaz for signature, there is a section that provides that foreign companies shall be forbidden to take up or acquire by any title mining properties or real rights over the same within the territory of the Mexican Republic. Considering that 80 per cent. of the hundreds of millions of capital invested in mines and estate in Mexico belong to and are operated by Americans, the object of this enactment is obvious.

CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE.

The primary cause of all this trouble dates back over 60 years to the conquest of Mexico by the United States in 1847. The Mexicans never have gotten over the feeling that in reality they are a subject race and likely some day to be dominated politically by the great white republic to the north. As the years have gone by and the number of Americans has increased steadily as their investments in Mexico have reached enormous proportions, the situation has come about whereby practically a handful of "Yanquis," as the Mexicans call us, have become the overlords of thousands of miles of railways, mines and mill's and forests in every corner of the country, and, through the investment of capital aggregating five times the national debt of the republic, the employers of hundreds of thousands of Mexicans in various capacities. The peon or laboring class, which is nearly three-quarters of the population of the republic, is as ignorant and treacherous as the prehistoric wild Indians from which it sprang. Indeed, the household language of more than half of Mexico's population of 15,000,000 is not Spanish but some Indian dialect, of which there are more than half a hundred spoken. These peons the Americans have ruled with a firm hand with the result that the latter are bitterly hated. Not infrequently Mexican laborers, their courage spurred on by many drinks of aguardiente or mescal, have balanced accounts forever with their fancied oppressors by a knife thrust in the back or a murder so curiously ingenious as to look like an accident.

It is the rich and educated Mexican, however, who is really the most bitter in his dislike for the "gringo" from the north. Hitherto, like all the rest, he has repressed the open expression of his antipathy. He has taken his revenge in selling his mines and forests, his ranches and his rubber plantations to the hated "outlander" for as high a price as he could get him to pay, and has abominated him all the more because he, in turn, by his superior diligence, or shrewdness, has succeeded in gaining a far greater profit in the end. It is this class—the rich and governing one native in Mexico—that is inspiring the present attacks upon foreigners in general and Americans in particular. It is a similar movement to that which has sprung up in other countries where the influence of foreigners and their dominance has grown to be feared.

That an outbreak is likely to occur September 15 or 16, the one the anniversary of Mexico's declaration of independence, the other the birthday of President Diaz, is generally feared. Here in the capital the troops may control the situation; but out in the isolated mining camps, where there is no such protection, the two days are likely to see some tragic dramas. The anti-foreign agitation has already caused vast sums of money to be withdrawn from the country and much more will follow. It is believed that President Diaz will sign the new mining law. He is the dictator, and it is safe to say that no measure of importance such as this would be introduced into Congress without his express sanction.

The Algonquin Park of Ontario

The Algonquin Park of Ontario is fast becoming popular for anglers and those fond of the woods and out-door life. The Grand Trunk Railway System have received a letter from a high government official of the State of Connecticut, who has just returned from a few days' sojourn confined of that delightful park. He says;

"Some weeks ago I sent for and obtained a Grand Trunk folder relating to Algonquin Park. The printed matter received was very interesting reading, but I had the opportunity of learning within a few days that the beauties of the park were not overdrawn, and that the fishing obtained there was the best I have ever had the privilege to enjoy, although I have fished the trout waters of Prince Edward Island, through the Canadian Laurentian sections, and in Colorado and Wyoming in the United States.

I arrived at Algonquin Park from Toronto on the 27th of June, and on the 28th I left the hotel for Smoke and Ragged Lakes, arriving at Smoke Lake late Sunday evening, June 28th. I started for Crown Lake the next morning, and fished in that lake and had good luck catching square tailed trout. This lake is outside of the park. As I started for my headquarters at the Park, June 30th, on my return trip I fished in Ragged and Smoke Lakes for Salmon trout, using a deep water trolling and brown minnow for bait. Between four and five o'clock I caught two salmon trout, one of them weighed eighteen pounds and measured thirty-two inches in length.

As my stay was only three days in the park I mean to know more about the place, and shall try to go in there again this fall. Descriptions of localities and prospectus of railroads are often times disappointing. Mostly times I think it is due to the fact that the pictures are greatly overdrawn, but from my own experience I should say that your folder does not describe the beautiful country, known as the Algonquin Park, in as bright colors as the facts warrant.

Since my return I met a friend of mine, United States Congressman Edward W Higgins of Norwich, Conn., who upon my advice is now fishing in the park in company with his wife. He writes me that all that I told him regarding the country is true, only that I should have said more."

ST. LAWRENCE ROUTE BEATS THE WORLD

A Times Representative Describes the Glorious Outing

The old trip, ever new to those who have previously made it, and a source of wonder and delight to those who make it for the first time, Niagara to the Saguenay, was the one your representative took for this year's outing. It is a trip that is unequalled anywhere in the world for the length of time it takes. The variety of scenery, beginning with Niagara Falls, through the Ontario down the St. Lawrence, and to your destination away up the Saguenay furnishes the sight seeker with almost every form of water attraction to be seen on the face of the globe.

We were particularly struck with the wonderful strides that have been made towards the advancement of the comfort and convenience of its patrons by the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company, the owners of the boats that cover the trip. The officers of the different boats, with whom we came in contact, were models of civility and courtesy. The guide mainly passers are the officers with whom the general public are most in touch, and they invariably seem to take pleasure in answering questions and performing services.

We heard a few grumblers from "the other side," who had come to the conclusion that the company were defrauding them of something, on account of the 50-mile trip by rail in order to bridge the break in the canal. There were, of course a few that lamented on account of the trip through the Long Sault being cut out. But the R & O. Company are not to blame for the breakage in the canal, and at all events, the beach will soon be a thing of the past.

The two new boats which run to Prescott are at least the equals of the two that run from Montreal to Quebec, and as the last named are almost perfect in comforts and appointments, the public can see for themselves that the company is trying to make the trip a most enjoyable one to all who patronize it. The boat goes from Toronto to Charlotte and then to Kingston, making the trip through the Islands in daylight. At Prescott the passengers are transferred to a new boat, now in building, new in style and well adapted for sight seeing in any kind of weather.

Right through the boiling, seething waters churned by hidden rocks, the boat makes its way under the guiding hands of half a dozen men known for the duty... "rushing with headlong speed down a declivity which stretches ahead, apparently without termination." Cotsun, Cedar, Split Rock Canards and Lachine Rapids are thrilled with apparent ease and the boat soon arrives at Montreal where one of the two pet boats of the fleet is waiting to take you another stage of your journey. You arrive at Quebec in the early morning, and after a passing glance at the ruins of the great steel bridge, at once step into the Saguenay boat.

It is not my intention to dwell on the scenes of historic interest, through which the boats wends its way down the St. Lawrence. The steamer hugs the north shore all the way down, and the endless little French Canadian villages are but a stone's throw away. To an Ontario man the most prominent features are the little white houses, each with its red roof, and the parish church which seems to dominate the surroundings.

At Murray Bay, the boat stops long enough to allow its passengers to take a drive over the mountains to the village which spreads itself along the Murray River. For the purpose the wharf is lined with rigs of every description and of every age since the time of Noah. Besides the hundreds of private cottages owned by Americans and Canadians, there is a magnificent hotel, the Manoir Richelieu, built by the Navigation Company for the accommodation of the many hundreds of people who wish to spend a little time in that place which had the advantage of having mountain air as well as sea air—for the river at that point is fifteen miles wide and is as salty as the ocean.

The two falls on the Fraser River, the falls on the Murray River, the drive to Cape-a-l'Aigle, Pointe au Pic, and to the mountains, give the

Tuesday's Storm Caused Heavy Loss in Victoria and Hastings Counties--Several Injured at Belleville

Lindsay, Aug. 5—There was a fierce electrical storm in this neighborhood last night. Mr. Silas Calvert's barn was struck at Roseboro and burned to the ground. Four horses were killed and all of this season's crop of hay and barley destroyed. The insurance is $1,000. Mr. Willis Switzer's barn and contents, including the cut of wheat, barley and nineteen loads of hay, hens, etc., was burned to the ground at Cameron. Insurance on the contents is only $200. Mr. Johnston's barn at Omemee was also completely destroyed by lightning. A horse belonging to the Baker Lumber Company was struck by lightning on the field and killed.

INJURED AT BELLEVILLE.

Belleville, Aug. 5—The electric storm which raged here last night was about the worst in the memory of any citizen. For fully three hours the thunder and lightning was continuous, and rain fell at times in torrents. A good deal of damage was done to crops. Lightning struck the house of Geo. Roseborough, on Mill street, and tore off a large piece of the roof, also shattering things considerably inside. Geo. Roseborough was stunned by the shock, and one side of his body a still numb. Miss Sayles, a neighbor across the street, was stunned by the same shock.

Quite a few narrow escapes from the storm were had. The North King had to put in Bay, and many passengers on board were badly frightened. Several barns were struck and burned in the country nearby, but particulars are not obtainable.

MANY BARNS UNROOFED.

Bradford, Aug. 5.— A heavy storm struck this region about seven o'clock last night. In town the damage was slight, consisting only of a few trees being struck by lightning, but in the country west and north the report is much more serious. Numerous barns were completely demolished and around Mount Pleasant, two miles north, nearly every barn was unroofed. In places the roads were impassable from the accumulation of lumber and trees. The latest word brought in is that the school house at Fisher's Corners was blown down.

Elora, Aug. 5.—A violent storm passed over this section yesterday afternoon, doing much damage. Trees were blown down, windows broken, and in the surrounding country barns unroofed. A hailstorm damaged a strip of country three or four miles to the west of Elora, and literally threshed out our crops just ready for cutting, but which now will be cut for the straw alone. The root crops also are badly damaged.

The Drink Bill of Canada Quarter as Much Per Head as in Great Britain

London, Aug. 5.—The Church of England Temperance Society asked opinions on the drink question from some of the colonial bishops attending the Pan-Anglican Congress.

The Australian bishops think the licensing system defective and that there is much for Britain to learn from the Australian commonwealth.

An unfavorable comparison with the Dominion of Canada was made by the Canadian bishops, who pointed out that the drink bill of Canada was only a quarter as much per head as what it was in Great Britain.

A Trip to Lake Simcoe

Steamer Otonabee Proposes to Make a Five Days' Voyage

The steamer Otonabee has practically closed a deal for a five days' trip to Lake Simcoe, to be held early in September. The details are not yet complete, but it is altogether likely that tickets will be issued to all points along the canal and Lake Simcoe.

The boat is being engaged by Mr. Dan Whetung of Chemong, so as to carry the Indians to their annual pow-wow at Rama, a reservation on Lake Simcoe.

The difficulty in getting through the locks at Rosedale will be overcome by using stop logs instead of the lock gates. This will take an hour or so to lock through but will be equally effective. There is no doubt that many of our citizens will take in this trip as the scenery along the upper lakes and on Lake Simcoe is very fine. Further particulars will be given in a few days.

I.O.F. Excursion to Idyl-Wyld

The fifth annual excursion of Court Chemong I.O.F., will be held on Labor Day to Idyl Wyld. The committee has completed all its arrangements. The steamer Otonabee has been chartered and an orchestra will be on board to provide music for dancing, and an excellent time is promised.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. I wrote them and got THE NEW METHOD TREATMENT. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $18 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $31 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

On Monday, Civic Holiday, the Champion Pets will play a double header with the St. Mary's of Toronto, champions of the semi-professional League of 1907, and who are now tied with the Park Nine for the 1908 pennant. They have the strongest semi professional team in Ontario, and it will be baseball all the way. On their line up they have Jack Cahill of the New York State League, to do the twirling, and Nye of Buffalo, will do the receiving. Baldwin will play 1st, and Danny McGuire of the Eastern State League will hold down second. Englehard will play third, Parkinson and Bryan, Mason and Smith play in the outfield. If the Pets come out on top they will challenge the winners of the City Amateur League, Toronto, and of the International League, for the championship of Ontario. There is no doubt but there will be a large crowd at both games, as they will be the best seen here this season. The morning game commences at 10 a.m., and the afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Treating Wrong Disease.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent, or over-busy, doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages this practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One to three a dose. Easy to take as candy.

FISCAL INDEPENDENCE

There is much political significance in the statement emanating from London that it is Switzerland's right to the most favored nation treatment that stands in the way of the ratification of the trade convention between Canada and France. What it means is that Canada may find herself unable to conclude a desirable negotiation with France because Great Britain, with an eye to the advantage of her own trade, has guaranteed to Switzerland (and several other countries), complete participation in any trade advantages Canada (or any British Colony), may grant to France (or any foreign country.) The effect of this as a limitation upon the fiscal autonomy of Canada has long been recognised in theory, but this is the first time it has been seen to operate in practice. The subject did come up before, in 1901, when Canada and Germany were discussing their trade relations, but there was a good deal of bad blood, on Germany's side, in those negotiations, and probably no arrangement was really interfered with. This time, on the contrary, there is an arrangement all but complete, but is held up, so the restriction upon our fiscal autonomy ceases to be a theory, and becomes a condition.

What France complains of is that Switzerland is to get for nothing those trade advantages in Canada for which France pays in tariff concessions that are very objectionable to her agricultural interests. Switzerland in France's eyes, in certain lines of manufacture covered by the convention, off sets, the negotiators could see, none of the other countries having most favored nation rights would derive any advantage from the treaty, so the negotiations proceeded on the assumption that for present purposes these countries were negligible quantities. Switzerland alters the case, and Canada may presently have to choose between abandoning the benefits of the treaty with France and taking steps to get relief from the limitation put upon our fiscal autonomy by these treaties made in the interest not of Canadian but of British trade.

In the correspondence with Mr. Bopp, Consul General for Germany, in 1901, Sir Wilfrid Laurier wrote that Canada was indeed restricted by the operation of some of these old treaties, but that we did not intend to be so bound any longer; that hereafter we proposed to favor the trade of those countries only which favored our trade. No doubt Sir Wilfrid is as much committed to that doctrine now as he was then. His reported declaration at the banquet to the Prince of Wales at the Citadel of Quebec, that "We recognize the authority of the British Crown, but no other authority" would seem to cover it. And yet, it may be expected that any demand to be relieved from the consequences of Great Britain's treaty engagement with Switzerland would be strenuously resisted by the protectionist party in Great Britain, whose idea is to prevent any British colony from becoming, in theory or in fact, a separate fiscal entity. It was a condition like the one we are now facing that was foreseen by the late Duke of Devonshire when he affirmed that under any scheme of Imperial preferential trade the self-governing colonies would have to part with some of their fiscal independence, a surrender, Sir Wilfrid Laurier promptly said they would never be willing to make.

EDITORIAL NOTES

In the Supplementary Estimates brought down in the Dominion House of Commons there was a considerable sum appropriated to immigration purposes. We had hoped that the Government has decided to abandon a policy which has certainly not been justified by its results in the past, and does not seem to indicate that better things will be achieved in the future by a continuance on the same lines. The immigration from the United States and those from Great Britain are of a class that neither asks nor requires financial assistance from the Government in order to enable them to come into Canada. The class of immigrants that are brought near under the system of assisted immigration is, in too many instances, just the sort of people that we can well afford not to have added to our population. The unsavory history of the North Atlantic Trading Company and the details of the methods of its representatives and agents, together with the records of many of the immigrants which were brought here by its operations, should be sufficient to cause every impartial person to oppose a repetition of such things.

It is said that morning dailies are to be established in Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg.

Richmond, Ind., Aug. 4.—Sixty-three men, in brilliant uniforms, trained to march in four irregular divisions which spell, so that all may read, the name T-A-F-T, is the idea of Captain Paul Comstock, of this city. This novel novel marching organization will play a prominent part in the Taft demonstrations in Indiana during the campaign and is expected to attract much attention. As there are no curved letters in the candidate's name, the formation is comparatively easy.

Port Arthur, Texas, August 4.—Golf links with a club house and other improvements will be constructed at a total cost of nearly a million dollars at the home of John W. Gates. Work has commenced on the magnificent tract of 750 acres, purchased for the purpose by Gates for $100,000. Construction of the links and club house will follow plans derived from a study of the best links in Europe.

Dublin, July 31.—John J. Hayes, the New Yorker, who won the Marathon race, was given a popular welcome when he arrived last night at Nenagh, Tipperary, the home of his grandfather. The platform of the railroad station was crowded with several thousand people, and when the train drew in the athlete was greeted by the town officials. He was then mobbed by his admirers and carried shoulder high to his carriage to the accompaniment of cheers and the discharge of innumerable fire works. The horses were removed from the carriage, which was pulled triumphantly by the crowd through the streets of Nenagh to the residence of the young man's grandfather.

Digby, N. S., August 1.—The series of public sessions of the Fisheries commission commenced yesterday in the Court House in Digby. Professor Prince announced that in addition to the usual, Hon. Mr. Brodeur desired the Gaspereau and salmon fisheries of the Bay of Fundy to be included in the commission's investigation.

Valuable information was laid before the commission by fishermen from Barton, Plympton, at dDigby. Further sittings will be held here to-morrow, after which Commissioners Prince and Morrison will proceed to hold public meetings in the fishing districts of the province.

Dedham mill, Essex, the old flour mill on the River Stour, immortalized in the paintings of Constable, has been almost totally destroyed by fire. The occupiers are Messrs. Ebenezer Clover & Co.

The premises occupied by Messrs. Cave, Austen and Co., provision merchants, Bexhill, were completely gutted by fire recently. The public clock erected to commemorate the Jubilee of Queen Victoria was destroyed.

A telegram from Rome states that on the celebration of his jubilee in September next, the Pope will hold an important consistory, at which sixteen new cardinals will be made, including six Italians, two French, one English, two Americans, two Austrians, one German, one Portuguese and one Spaniard.

The footprints of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the Stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For this druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. First, these tiny inside Stomach, Heart, and Kidney nerves fail. Then gas belching, Heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment, you will realize the gain. A test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

Flinty Plant Covers.

When Sir Humphry Davy was a boy about sixteen, a little girl came to him in great excitement:

"Humphry, do tell me my these two pieces of cane make a tiny spark of light when I rub them together?"

Humphry was a studious boy, who spent hours in thinking out scientific problems. He patted the child's curly head and said:

"I do not know, dear. Let us see if they really do make a light, and then we will try to find out why."

Humphry soon found that the little girl was right. The pieces of cane if rubbed together quickly did give a tiny light. Then he set to work to find out the reason, and after some time, thanks to the observing powers of his little friend and his own kindness to her in not impatiently telling her not to "worry," as so many might have done, Humphry Davy made the first of his interesting discoveries. Every reed, cane and grass has an outer skin of flinty stuff, which protects the inside from insects and also helps the frail looking leaves to stand upright.

Table Manners in Old France.

Could we restore for half an hour the dinner table of old France and obtain half a dozen instantaneous photographs of a royal banquet at any era between the reigns of Francis I and Louis Quatorze such a "cataract of laughter" would be heard as might disturb the serenity of Louis in paradise. The duchess, her napkin tied securely round her neck, would be seen mumbling a bone, the noble marquis surreptitiously scratching himself, the belle marquise, withdrawing her spoon from her lips to help a neighbor to sauce with it, another fair creature scouring her plate with her bread, a gallant courtier using his doublet or the tablecloth as a towel for his fingers and two footmen holding a yard of damask under a lady's chin while she emptied her goblet at a draft. During a feast of inordinate length it was sometimes necessary to substitute a clean cloth for the one which the carelessness or bad manners of the guests had reduced to a deplorable condition. —"An Idler In Old France."

The Midget Snakes.

"I see by your paper," says a correspondent, "that you want to find a man who can tell a snake story with the sound of originality to it. Here it is: Nearly forty years ago in the woods of Indiana I captured three snakes, each less than three and one-fourth inches in length, a combined length of less than ten inches, a little longer and a little larger in the middle than an old fashioned wool darning needle. Although these snakes were so small they would crawl around with their heads up and dart out their tongues like larger snakes, I put these reptiles in an eight ounce bottle, and they had plenty of room to crawl around on the bottom of it without crowding. These were not the kind of snakes generally seen in bottles, but genuine snakes. Among those who saw them was a minister of the gospel, and he had not been taking anything to make him see snakes either."—Emporia Gazette.

The Pirates.

The Chicago News fails to name the hero of this story, but has it that the visitor to the home of a well known Hoosier State author found his three youngsters romping in the hallway.

"What are you playing, boys?" he inquired.

"We are playing pirates," elucidated the smallest.

"Pirates? Why, how can you play pirates in Indiana? There are no seas bordering on this state."

"Oh, we don't need any seas. We are literary pirates, like pa."

And five minutes later a chorus of yells from behind the barn told that the hand that wields the pen can also wield the shingle.

Outside of His Practice.

"All that is the matter with you, sir," said the eminent physician after a thorough examination, "is lack of nutrition. You don't eat enough."

"I eat all I can hold, doctor," said the attenuated caller.

"Then you need to have your capacity enlarged, and that's a case for a surgeon. Five dollars, please. Good morning."—Chicago Tribune.

Overstudy.

Books are pleasant, but if by being overstudious we impair our health and spoil our good humor, two of the best pieces we have, let us give it over. I, for my part, am one of those who think that no fruit derived from them can recompense so great a loss.—Montaigne.

She Was Safe.

Little four-year-old Mabel was running downhill, holding her dress tightly.

"Be careful," called her mother, "or you will fall."

"Oh, no, I won't," replied Mabel, "'cause I'm holding tight to myself."

Not What He Meant.

Physician—Have you any aches or pains this morning? Patient—Yes, doctor; it hurts me to breathe—in fact, the only trouble now seems to be with my breath. Physician—All right. I'll give you something that will soon stop that!

Forbearance.

Bacon—Did you ever have any desire to go on the stage? Egbert—Oh, yes; only last week I did. Oh, the actor was vile! But I contented myself with shying an egg at him.—Youkers Statesman.

I never listen to calumnies, because if they are untrue I run the risk of being deceived and if they are true of hating people not worth thinking about. —Montesquieu.

THEATRE FOR MRS. COREY.

Paris, Aug. 4.—A valuable building site near the Arc de Triomphe has just been purchased by an American syndicate, which will erect thereon a magnificent operatic theatre. It is alleged that Mrs. Corey, the former chorus girl who married the steel trust magnate, will supply most of the money for the project and that she is prepared to invest a million. The theatre will conduct a conservatory for the training of American singers, especially poor girls who cannot afford to pay heavily for their training.

King Alfonso of Spain is alleged to have had a quarrel with his mother-in-law. Perhaps she overruled the nurse and insisted on having the baby fed whenever it got hungry.

SYNOPSIS Of CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces, excepting 8 and 26 reserved may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

(1) At least six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, entered upon by such homesteader, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by such homesteader residing with the father or mother.

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

Not Surprised.

Skipper—I am inordinately sensitive to uncongenial surroundings, so much so that the very sight of some people will give me a nervous shudder. Chipper—Oh, well, there are very few of us that do not shrink from meeting our creditors.

A Trying Moment.

Professor Leopold Schroetter was called to see the Crown Prince Frederick in 1887 before Sir Morrell Mackenzie had reached San Remo. The prince, evidently suspecting the worst, turned to Schroetter after the examination and said, "I request the truth as to my ailment." Schroetter hesitated and made an effort to direct the conversation in another direction, but Frederick insisted. "I am a soldier," he said, "and can look death in the eye. I ask you now plainly, to the point, Is my complaint cancer?" Schroetter could hardly contain himself, and years after the scene when he recalled it he spoke of it as the most painful in his life. He conducted the crown prince to a chair and asked him to be seated. Then he said, "Your Imperial highness, you are suffering from a serious complaint, and it is possible that it may develop into carcinoma, but that cannot be determined positively at this moment." Frederick became deathly pale, but never for a moment lost his self control and smiled grimly when he thanked the physician for his honesty.

Coming to an Understanding.

In the amiable way of villagers they were discussing the matrimonial affairs of a couple who, though recently wed, had begun to find the yoke of Hymen a burden.

"'Tis all along o' these hasty marriages," opined one caustic old gentleman, who had been much to the fore in the discussion. "They did not understand each other. They'd nobbut knowed each other for a matter o' seven year."

"Well, that seems long enough," said an interested lady listener.

"Long enu'! Bah! Ye're wrong! When a body's courtin' he canna be too careful. Why, my courtship lasted a matter o' nineteen year!"

"You certainly were careful," agreed the lady listener. "And did you find your plan successful when you married?"

"To jump to conclusions," said the old man indignantly. "I understood her then, as I didna marry her!"—St. Louis Chronicle.

What Became of All the Bills He Introduced in Congress.

"Yes, my fellow citizens," said the political candidate, "if you have paid any attention to the work of congress you will have noticed that during the past session I introduced twenty-two bills, each of which was intended to benefit this community. I stand before you today with the proud consciousness of having served you faithfully and to the best of my ability. Those twenty-two bills would, if they had been passed, have made this one of the most favored districts on God's green earth, and"—

"Oh," yelled a man in the gallery "we know you introduced 'em, all right but what happened to 'em after that?"

"Gentlemen, I appeal to your sense of honor. Do you consider it fair that I should be interrupted in this manner? Is it right that I should"—

"There ain't no harm in answerin' the question, is there?" asked another of the statesman's hearers.

"Well, sir, I will tell you what became of those bills, my fellow citizens. Every one of them was printed in the Congressional Record, where, if you will look over the files, you may find them today. But to revert to the seed question, gentlemen, I do not hesitate to promise that no man living in this the most splendid district in our grand old state, shall appeal to me in vain if you shall deem it best to send me back to Washington, where I have served you with such signal ability."

Restlessness.

Mere restlessness is not a matter for which physicians are often consulted. It is on the face of it an unimportant malady, but when it exists in sufficient intensity to form the subject of complaint and to induce the sufferer to seek advice it is usually found to be the superficial indication of a grave underlying condition.—Hospital.

Change of Heart.

Parson Primrose—Why do you think it was out of place for your father to say grace? Freddie—Because it was only a few minutes afterward that he was swearing over having to carve the turkey.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Heat prostrates the nerves. In the summer one needs a tonic to off-set the customary hot weather Nerve and Strength depression. You will feel better within 48 hours after being induced to take such a remedy as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Its prompt action in restoring the weakened nerves is surprising. Of course, you won't get entirely strong in a few days, but each day you can actually feel the improvement. That tired, lifeless, spiritless, feeling will quickly depart when using the Restorative. Dr. Shoop's Restorative will sharpen a failing appetite; it aids digestion; it will strengthen the weakened Kidneys and Heart by simply rebuilding the worn-out nerves that these organs depend upon. Test it a few days and be convinced. Sold by all dealers.

SUNSET AT GUAYAQUIL.

There Is No Twilight, No Interval Between Daylight and Dark.

The days and nights at Guayaquil are of equal length. The sun knocks off promptly at 6 o'clock in the evening and gets up at it to the minute with equal regularity the whole year around. There is no twilight, no gloaming, no interval whatever between daylight and dark only a brilliant illumination the sudden disappearance of a red ball into a blue ocean, a spread of flame color over the western sky for a few minutes and a purple haze in the east.

Then the surface of the ocean, like the heavens, is lighted with millions of strange and shifting stars, for the water is so impregnated with phosphorescent light and followed by a streak of sparks like a comet's tail.

The Southern Cross with the right arm tipped out at proper angle, lie straight ahead in the midst of myriad of unknown worlds that look strange to those accustomed to the northern constellations. Under the left arm is a large black spot in the heavens brightened by only a single modest star which the sailors call "the devil's dinner bag." Over the stern of the vessel in the early evening you can plainly distinguish the familiar constellation of the Great Bear but it goes to bed with the children.

To Canadian Investors

The undersigned has received an allotment of unsold portion of $100,000 of

7 Per Cent. First Mortgage Five-Year Gold Bonds

dated January 11, 1908, and maturing January 11, 1913. These Bonds are offered at par and accrued interest by Metropolitan Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, trustees.

SECURITY—The Entire Property and Improvements Owned THE URES CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY in the District of Ures, State of Sonora Mexico, Free from Mortgage or Bonded Indebtedness except this present Bond issue.

An Unusual Opportunity for Investment in Sound Security

The Ures Consolidated Mining Company offers $100,000.00 of First Mortgage Gold Bonds. This issue of bonds is the only mortgage or bonded indebtedness ever placed on the company's properties.

These bonds are in the denomination of $100.00, and bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, July and January, and are redeemable on or before five years from date at the company's option at $110.00 and accrued interest.

With each bond issued there will be given $100.00 par value of the capital stock of the company as a bonus, and in addition thereto there will be placed in escrow with the Trustee additional stock which will be available to the bondholders at their option any time within a period of three years, the bondholder being entitled to surrender his bond any time within said period and receive in lieu thereof stock for every dollar of indebtedness to him on account of said bonds.

The Security Back of these Bonds

The company owns twelve claims situated in the district of Ures, State of Sonora, Mexico, free from mortgage or bonded indebtedness, except the present bond issue.

On one of these properties (The Ramona Mine) 5,000 feet of underground development work has been done, consisting of an inclined shaft to the depth of 400 feet with drifts in three levels to the North and South of the shaft.

An average value of ore worth $11.67 per ton is exposed throughout the mine, from the collar of the shaft to the extreme parts in the drifts, all of which is above water level.

The company has made surface improvements and mine improvements to the extent of $60,000.00 in the way of machinery, skids, trams, steam hoists, mill and nearly everything necessary to make the mining camp complete.

In addition to the absolute ownership of these twelve valuable claims, the company has a lease on the San Jose Mine, adjoining its property, in which the company has been operating in high grade ore.

During the past sixty days the company has extracted and delivered to ore buyers and the bank at Hermosillo, $8,000.00 worth of ore and bullion, the ore having been reduced to bullion through the company's mill, with the exception of 1,456 pounds, which was sold to an ore buyer for $662.80.

This issue of bonds is made for the purpose of securing money at once in order to extend the development work more quickly than the company's present means will permit.

With the high grade ore in sight to the distance of 50 feet to the South of the shaft, the management is assured that within six months from date of making the improvements now necessary the company's properties will be on a self-sustaining and dividend-paying basis.

The Stock which is Given with these bonds will be as valuable as the bonds when the Company has the ready capital to push operations

Men who invest in these bonds will have no cause or reason to regret their action, for the bonds afford an investment in a security which is absolutely safe—much better than ordinary city or country real estate, which is considered perfectly safe if the property put up to secure a mortgage is double the face of the loan. The security given on these bonds is better than 7 to 1, for the Ures Consolidated Mining Company has refused an offer of $750,000.00 for the property upon which this $100,000.00 worth of bonds is issued.

These bonds are an investment with all speculative risk eliminated —an investment with absolute security.

Make your reservation at once. This is small and promises to be quickly sold.

Feb. 11th, 1908.

To whom it may concern:—

We hereby beg to state that The Ures Consolidated Mining Company has during the past five years made several deliveries of bullion to this bank, and it is the opinion of mining men here that they have the making of a fair mine, and further, that the properties owned and controlled by them bid promise of becoming paying properties.

From our knowledge of the men connected, we believe they are doing all in their power to bring about the results above mentioned.

1 CENT A 2 SHARE

Send us your name as a member in this new company, with your remittance for as many thousand shares as you can take at $5 per thousand.

This is a short-time offer on a hurry-up proposition. Our vice president is up at Rawhide now putting the miners at work. We want to raise the necessary funds for development as quickly as possible. Therefore, we offer the first block of stock at 1/2 a thousand shares. This subscription must be all cash. We want the money in hand. We mean to work without lay-up, and we have made it an ironclad rule not to run in debt. Cash counts now.

Our prospectuses are out, send for one.

Make reservation of stock, if you do no more. But, remember, this present offer of stock at Half a Cent a Share is now open, and will be closed as soon as enough cash subscriptions are in hand. Don't wait, or you will get left.

The gold mining property owned outright by the company consists of 7 claims, 3 in the Rawhide district of Nevada, and 4 in the Dulzura district of Southern California.

The Rawhide district to-day is more famous than Goldfield, Tonapah, Bullfrog, or Searchlight were at the same stage of exploration and development. The Dulzura discovery is one of the most sensational in the history of California.

Ten samples of ore which were among the first assayed, run as high as $7,462.57 to the ton, and all ten averaged over $1,500 a ton.

In both camps we located early, and our locations are choice. Our own officers will superintend the mining.

Her traveling dress was of dark blue silk with hat to match. The happy couple were unattended. The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond pin. Prefers Farm Work to Office

There are not many young men in this city like Donald Frey, who recently arrived from London, Eng., to take up farming. His father is in the office of the Tea Growers' Association, but the son did not show any marked inclination or desire to take up the work. In fact he expressed a wish to enter upon farm work and his father wrote Mr. Geo Hewson with reference to securing a place on a good farm with a progressive farmer. The boy—he is only 20—arrived a few days ago and is now with a farmer in Smith township. He is a promising young fellow and with the experience he will receive should in a few years give a good account of himself in agriculture.

A Pretty Wedding

Miss May Taylor and Mr. Thos. H. Byers Married

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Taylor was the scene of a pretty wedding on Tuesday afternoon, when their young est daughter, May, was united in marriage to Mr. Thomas H. Byers of this city. The house was very tastefully decorated for the occasion with cut flowers. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. W. Henderson, pastor of Charlotte street Methodist church, in the presence of the relatives of the contracting parties. The bride entered the parlor leaning on the arm of her father, who gave her away, and looked charming in a gown of white net over silk, and carrying a bouquet of bridal roses and carnations. The happy couple were unattended, and after congratulations the guests sat down to a wedding supper which was served by Mr. T. Hooper, caterer. The bride was the recipient of a large number of handsome presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Byers left for Toronto and Hamilton on the 1.38 train, the bride travelling in a becoming dress of navy blue voile over silk. On their return from the honeymoon they will take up their residence at 267 Bethune street.

Old Lakefield Resident Passes Away

The death occurred yesterday in Lakefield, of Mr. Jonathan Griffin, one of its oldest residents. He was staying at his cottage, "Eagle's Nest," Stony Lake, ill and his daughter was sitting on the verandah when Mr. Griffin was suddenly stricken down. Medical assistance was at once summoned, but Mr. Griffin had passed beyond human aid. The remains were brought down to Lakefield by Mr. Beckett, undertaker, and the funeral will take place today. Mr. Griffin was eighty years of age and has for years been a highly respected resident of the village. He leaves behind him two sons, Roland and Everett, and three daughters, Gussie, Annie and Edith. Mrs. Griffin died several years ago.

Mr. Griffin was at one time proprietor of the Lakefield News, and had always been actively identified with the Conservative party. In the earlier history of the village he was a member of the council for several years. In religion Mr. Griffin was an Anglican.

ST. LAWRENCE ROUTE

visitor to Murray Bay good opportunities to put in the time—of course there are principally for those who do not care to fish or golf. There are also salt and fresh water baths.

You soon arrive at Tadousac, at the mouth of the Saguenay, up which you will make your way. Tadousac has the honor of being the oldest settlement in Canada, and the boat waits there long enough for the passengers to inspect the Government salmon hatchery and fish pond and other points of the district. Here you will also see the first church ever built in Canada. Like a little bandbox on the edge of the water—within there are a few old relics, among which is a doll in glass case, representing the infant Jesus, presented to the church by Louis XV of France. The company has a large hotel here, in fact—here you can find all the health-giving breezes necessary to your complete recovery if an invalid.

After a night journey to Chicoutimi the boat makes a start for home. High mountains line both sides of the river, with here and there a little settlement—bays and projections innumerable—some of the mountainous banks have perpendicular walls and some ever changing cliffs—becoming grander and grander as you progress.

The well-cut rock, Le Tableau, is a wonderful work of nature, with its smooth polished surface—and this repeated, yet high and its sweet toned echo, but it is when you are under Cape Trinity, with its two thousand feet high of solid rock, that you are really wounded by the majestic grandeur of it all. You cannot but shudder when it flashes across your mind that the sky-piercing mountains that towers away above you might fall and crush the boat to matchwood. Another marvellously sweet echo returns from these mountains over the waters of the river, as you leave this wonderful work of nature so far and away above the greatest works of man. After a lot more of this great tableau of nature has been unfolded to the gaze of the passengers you arrive at Quebec—where you have all day to view some of the historic places—then back to Montreal and home again.

The Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company will carry the encomiums lavished upon it by "those who know," and they never seem to think they have reached the end of improvement, for each season sees new features inaugurated for the comfort and convenience of its patrons.

Mr. Samuel Wainwright has finished his work with the local fire brigade. He has been the city's engineer for the past four years, and took the position as engineer of the new fire brigade. He left his position yesterday morning.

STOOD IN WATER ALL DAY, FLAMES ROARING ON ALL SIDES

Thrilling Tale of Wonderful Escape of Sam Holt and Family from the Furious Fire--Endurance was Spartanlike

Frank, Alberta, Aug 6. — Among the stories of heroic conduct growing out of the vast conflagration through the Crow's Nest region there is none more thrilling than the fearless escape of the Holt family and the Spartanlike endurance of Sam Holt and his wife, in their efforts to preserve the lives of their three months' old baby and five-year-old child.

The father is badly burned, and is being cared for here by his wife, and the four are safe, in spite of one of the most harrowing experiences of the awful days from Saturday to Monday in and around Fernie.

WOULD NOT LEAVE PLACE.

Holt is a mine car tender. He works by the day for the Crow's Nest Coal Co. He would not leave his place the mine's mouth, on Friday night, though the bush fires were alarmingly near the place, he remained to warn the men.

They, too, as he explained it, said there was nothing unusual about forest fires at this season, though he admitted he had never seen the whole country blazing along the horizon as it did Friday night. He went home as usual on Saturday morning, but feared to go to bed, for the Holt cottage stands near the bush on the river. Holt is a man of forty, a Welshman, strong and sturdy, and his wife is of the heroic mold, each standing six feet.

STAYED BY HER HUSBAND.

"The wife being alarmed first," said Holt, in describing their awful experience, "urged me to leave the place, but I hated to abandon the home. I told her, however, to take the kid over to the little island if she wished, but she concluded to stand by if I did. We did, however, gather some food in a sack, and waited until all around us the fire was creeping up, and our neighbors began to leave their homes. Then I concluded to take the wife and kids to the island, which was separated by thirty feet of swift water. I got the baby over and laid it on the grass, but swept down stream in returning. Then we got a big plank and ferried across the other kid. The wife could not swim, and we were repeatedly swept down stream and back into the fire zone. But I got the woman over at last, but did not dare go back for the grub. Then the fire swept up to the house and over it like a race horse.

LICKED UP THE WATER

The patch of water seemed to be licked up, too, and only by burying ourselves in the water to our necks and in imminent risk of drowning did we manage to live through it. I saw dozens of panic-stricken people rush by, and some of them were ablaze, others escaped as we did, and the little island became an oasis indeed, was surrounded by boiling heads as the people held on to branches and roots of trees and kept well in the water.

NEVER FORGET SCENE.

"It was a scene I shall never forget. Women screaming and some praying; some of the men were cursing and crying. Fire would die out and flare up again, and soon who left the shelter of the island would come hurrying back later, half-scorched though they were. I saw dozens swept by in the stream, but did not see an actual drowning, though from the screams some must have perished.

"We remained in the water and around the island until late Saturday night, when I went over and foraged for some grub. All I could find was some potato which I dug from my own garden. Other scurrying people rushed and began to grub for the potatoes. With those we made our way down the track and stopped a relief train Sunday morning, and reached Frank. This is all I can tell you report-ire. I am thankful I am alive with the wife and kids."

Period of Prosperity Strikes United States

New York, Aug. 6.—From all over the land come the good tidings that an unmistakable and abundant wave of prosperity is sweeping along. Mills are running full blast, crops are bumpers everywhere, the railroads are taking on men, and the entire nation, with one accord, gives vent to the expression that prosperous seasons are at hand.

In Chicago and the great Northwest there is a steady return to normal employment of labor. Broadly speaking, those factories which directly fill the daily needs of the people are running almost on normal lines. Plants which make machinery and supplies for other factories and for the railroads have been hardest hit, but even in some of these there is a gradual expansion of operations.

There has been a gradual increase in the business of the Pittsburg district. It is nowhat might be construed as a boom, but a good, steady growth, and the trade is gradually recovering the position it had before the financial depression. One of the head officers of the Carnegie Steel Company says that within a week the Carnegie Steel Mills will be running full time. "It is certain," he adds, that once business resumes its normal sway, it will start on a long path of prosperity."

NEW ENGLAND HOPEFUL.

From a canvass of representative manufacturers in New England, it is certain confidence in the return of better business conditions has become well established in that section. Without exception, the opinions are optimistic. In nearly all leading industries in New England statistics of production for the current year fall far below corresponding statistics of last season. In boots and shoes and in the textiles the production was curtailed so much that prosperity advance agents argue that retailers must be nearly sold out, which means orders in the near future.

In and near Cincinnati there has been a return to something like normal business conditions. Whereas a few months ago hundreds, yes thousands, of men walked the streets because they could not obtain employment, there are now very few idle men seen, and with few exceptions these idle men are skilled in some particular industry, or branch of some industry, which has not yet received sufficient impetus to need them again in the shops, or they are idle because they do not want to work.

Baltimore and the section around it report almost normal conditions. The same is true of Georgia. There are between 500 and 600 manufacturing establishments in and around Atlanta. Few, if any, more of them are idle now than at this time last year. Those which suspended or went on short time in the spring have resumed operations and with good fall orders the output practically equals that of a year ago.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK IN SOUTHWEST.

At St. Louis the next few weeks will see a general resumption of business. The outlook for the southwestern territory is more encouraging than for several years. While many large industries about Kansas City were closed on account of the financial depression, several of the packing plants and manufacturing concerns reduced their forces. The Armour shops have already put back the men who were laid off and by fall it is believed the packers and manufacturers will be working full forces again.

The business outlook in the twin cities and the northwest seem to leave nothing to be desired. None of the larger manufacturing concerns has closed down or laid off many men. The same is true of Nebraska, where the financial panic was scarcely felt.

98-Year-Old Peterboro Man at London Old Boy's Re-Union

Joseph Mantle is Enjoying Himself in the City of His Boyhood

Lots of Work No Worry

St. Thomas, Aug. 6.—Ninety-eight years old and smart as most men at 60, Joseph Mantle passed through here yesterday on his way to the London Old Boys' re-union, which has as much reason why he should not enjoy.

Mr. Mantle lives now at Peterborough, and left London, where he had resided since 1838. In those days of pioneering London was known as "The Forks," and a few stores and a few houses comprised the settlement, and there Joseph Mantle, then a young man, out from his native city of old London, started a business of shoemaking.

Because shoemaking methods have changed, one doesn't hear the veteran of his trade declaim against modern methods. On the contrary, he evinces the keenest interest in everything pertaining to the year of grace 1908, and his hearty laugh shows that though a century has almost passed over his head he believes in living in the future.

"How have I managed to live so long?" he said. "Well there are three things to the secret, and you can live as long if you follow them as I have. In the first place I have always worked hard. I have never worried, and I have never eaten anything but plain food."

IS A READY WIT.

As if to illustrate his appreciation of a joke, Mr. Mantle related an experience a few days ago at Tillsonburg, while he has been visiting his sons, James and George, of the Tyson Mills. A minister of that town was introduced and remarked that he, under that Mr. Mantle was an old man. Mr. Mantle admitted that he was.

"Do you know," said the minister, "I met an old Lady in the country who celebrated her 101st birthday yesterday. You ought to go out and see her."

"That's very kind of you," answered the Peterborough man of 98, "but don't you think I ought to look for a girl a little younger?"

And as he told it he laughed at the thought of the minister's assurance that if he did find a third wife he would tie the knot for nothing.

READS WELL.

Mr. Mantle may not be looking over the matrimonial ads, but its not because he cannot see well enough for he reads any print at night, and without glasses.

His memory is wonderful, even to remembering names of the shoppers who were in business in London when he went there seventy years ago.

Among his reminiscences is his initiation into Masonry fifty years ago at Lambeth, two miles from London. Not one of those who were accustomed to be in lodge with him then is living now. He is now a life member. All the contemporaries in London, too, are gone years ago, and London is not the London he knew.

But he still likes to go there and enjoy the new city that is built on the old—and to laugh with old men who were boys in his day.

Winnipeg, Aug. 6—The first eye witness of the Fernie holocaust to reach Winnipeg arrived in the city this morning. Mr. J. H. Carson, a young business man of Montreal, was in Fernie for several hours Saturday night, and described graphically the fearful scenes that he witnessed there to a press representative at the Royal Alexandra Hotel today.

"I reached Fernie coming from the West between seven and eight o'clock just four four after the fire started and yet the whole city even then was in ruins, sporadic tongues of flames blazing up here and there where the buildings were not quite consumed. Back of the town was a mountain and it was all ablaze, making a sight more fearful and more spectacular than I had ever witnessed before.

COMPARED TO VESUVIUS.

"It was like an awesome reproduction of what I have imagined the eruption of Vesuvius would be like, the whole place was ablaze, including the Fernie station, when we pulled in. The people at the station was a heartrending one, as they were bringing down the patients and placing them in baggage cars, coal cars, etc., to take them out of town by train. Ours was the second train that had arrived since the fire started, the other train had been taking refugees away, too. It has taken us trip to Michel, and had started on its second trip, but found that it was confronted by a solid wall of land fire, which was roaring and crackling across the track, licking up the wooden sleepers, and twisting the rails into grotesque shapes as easily as a child would putty. So big that it was impossible to walk headway—west, they backed up and ran east to Elk, and as they were almost entirely surrounded by flames, they had to run the gauntlet of fire even in this direction, but they passed through the blaze all right, even though the coach caught on fire in several places, but were soon extinguished. Our train was the last to carry the sick and invalids out of the doomed city in town. Cots and bedding and furniture were strewn around the platform and the passengers from the train pulled in and helped to get the sick people aboard.

ASSISTING THE HELPLESS.

"The scene was pitiful. I put an old man with a wooden leg on to a cot, and helped to carry him on to the train and then returned to aid in looking after the other sufferers. It was pitiable to see the looks of fear and utter helplessness as they saw the fire approaching nearer and nearer to the platform. One lady had been confined that morning and was among the invalids, clasping her tiny infant to her bosom. She was carefully cared for and carried into the train by gentle hands. After all had been taken on board the train pulled out for Elko and other hurriedly made up trains transferred the women and children to Cranbrook, Moyie, Frank, and other places of safety. You know there was a mine disaster at Fernie last week and several of the men from the hospital were then injured in that accident. The women and children, were of course looked after first, and to the number of two or three thousand were taken to the surrounding towns, mostly to Cranbrook and Frank. I see by the dispatches of the papers that Michel and Hosmer are in danger, but there is very little chance of their going unless a very strong wind comes up and fans the flames down the valley vigorously and relentlessly. A pitiable feature of the disaster was the separation of families, the parting of mothers and children, husbands and wives.

BABES LOOKING FOR PARENTS.

"Several little tots went out into the bush Saturday morning to pick berries and when they returned in the afternoon they found their homes either in flames or a mass of blackened smouldering ruins, and their fathers and mothers gone they knew not where. It was a heartrending sight to see their children wandering around sobbing their little hearts out, looking for their parents. There were some very miraculous escapes, one of which was told me by a trainer who was coming through the fire district on a train. He was standing on the rear end of the last car watching the fire, when a huge tree crackled and fell across the track not four yards behind the train, the branches brushing violently against the rear vestibule. If the tree had fallen in front of the train, or if it had struck the train it would have derailed it and knocked it off the track and many more lives would have been lost."

Ontario Sends $5,000 for Fernie Relief

Toronto, Aug. 6.—Sir James Whitney, Prime Minister of Ontario, yesterday wired Hon. Mr. McBride, of British Columbia, that he might draw on the Ontario Treasury for $5,000 towards the relief of the sufferers from fire at Fernie, B.C., and the towns in the neighborhood. Ontario was not asked directly for aid, but the Government decided that the Province could afford it and that it would be the proper thing to do.

Mr. J. C. Eaton, president of the T. Eaton Co., Ltd., is at present at his summer cottage in Windermere. He telegraphed yesterday to Mr. A. A. Gilroy, manager of the Winnipeg store, to send at once a thousand dollars' worth of cots and blankets to the stricken Elk River Valley.

Then gas bloating, Heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or at most it's the Heart or Kidneys that is wrong. King Sends Regrets To Fire Sufferers

"London, Aug. 5.—His Majesty the King has learned with deep regret of the devastation and loss of life caused by fires in British Columbia. I am commanded to express his Majesty's heart-felt sympathy with the bereaved and the homeless, and his earnest hope that danger is now past."

"Crewe."

"Sydney, Aug. 5.—On behalf of people of Australia, desire to offer deep sympathy with bereaved and sufferers from disastrous forest fires."

"Northcote."

GOING BACK TO FERNIE.

The following wire was received by the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., Toronto, dated yesterday from Present Lindsay, at Fernie;

"Fire coming in plainly. No rain today and no wind. Michel practically safe. Coal Creek quite out of danger. All parties here now housed in tents. Wives and families beginning to return. Two car loads from Cranbrook tonight."

A Heavy Load to Carry.

Along with dyspepsia comes nervousness and general ill-health. Why? Because a disordered stomach does not permit the food to be properly digested, and the products assimilated by the system. The blood is charged with poisons which come from this disordered digestion, and in turn the nerves are not fed on good, red blood, and we see symptoms of nervousness, sleeplessness and general breakdown. It is not hard work, nor over physical exertion that does it, but poor stomach work. With poor, thin blood the body is not protected against the attack of germs of grip, bronchitis and consumption. Fortify the body at once with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—a rare combination of native medicinal roots without a particle of alcohol or dangerous habit-forming drugs.

A little book of extracts, from prominent medical authorities extolling every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will be mailed free to any address on request by postal card or letter. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Many years of active practice convinced Dr. Pierce of the value of many native roots as medicinal agents and he went to great expense, both in time and in money, to perfect his own peculiar processes for rendering them both efficient and safe for tonic, alterative and rebuilding agents.

The enormous popularity of "Golden Medical Discovery" is due both to its scientific compounding and to the actual medicinal value of its ingredients. The publication of the names of the ingredients on the wrapper of every bottle sold, gives full assurance of its non-alcoholic character and removes all objections to the use of an unknown or secret remedy. It is not a patent medicine nor a secret one either. This fact puts it in a class all by itself, bearing as it does upon every bottle wrapper The Badge of Honesty, in the full list of its ingredients.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" cures, weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver and biliousness, ulceration of stomach and bowles and all catarrhal affections no matter what parts or organs may be affected with it. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original little liver pills, first put up 40 years ago. They regulate and invigorate, stomach, liver and bowels. Much imitated but never equaled. Sugar-coated and easy to take as candy. One to three a dose.

THE FERNIE CONFLAGRATION

The later reports from the Fernie conflagration bear out the worst fears aroused by the first. It is too early yet to count the dead or reckon up the total destruction; but both have been appalling, and the tentative figures given are such as will "stagger humanity" in this part of the world. Help is pouring in from all sides; and more is still due. The name of Montreal does not yet appear in the list; and this is an omission which cannot be rectified too soon.

In estimating the sufferings of the people, it must be remembered that these mountain towns are not supplied with the ample resources of older cities; and that many of them are somewhat strained at times by the ordinary demands of newcomers and prospective settlers. To dump the population of several of them into one at a moment's notice, and then to hamper railway communication, is to produce a condition of affairs which can hardly be imagined. Among the closer cities from which help is coming is Spokane, thus showing that boundary lines are not visible to the eyes of pity.

The calamity illustrates the dangers of forest fires. We dwell usually upon their destruction of valuable timber, but when they get fairly under way in a forest country, with settlements scattered through it, they become an irresistible scythe of death, whose edge no human measures can turn. The ordinary methods of fighting fire are like throwing a glass of water into a flaming ten-story building. Nature again takes supreme command and puny humanity can only wait the waning out of her frenzy.

MOTOR CAR ACCIDENTS

Every day now brings its report of a fatal automobile accident—fatal to the occupants of the car. It is ceasing to be the innocent bystander who is immolated, and the danger has shifted to the passengers in this massive vehicle which is driven at express speed along a country road, sometimes the driver of the car is incapable, and fails to direct his chariot as he should. Or the mechanism of the car may give way. Or an unexpected obstacle flings the car to destruction. The causes of disaster are various; but a shocking total of deaths is mounting up during these last few days. Surely —pedestrians and carriage folks will hope—this will teach motorists prudence. It ought to convey to their minds some notion of the tremendous instrument they have under their hands and convince them that, though they may have the power of a railway way engine, they should use that power with moderation and care. The slow motorist seldom gets into trouble or forces trouble upon other people. It is the "scorcher" who goes burst.

The footprints of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the Stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For this druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. First, these tiny inside Stomach, Heart, and Kidney nerves fail. Then gas belching, Heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment, you will realize the gain. A test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

News in Brief

POLICE QUELLED A STRIKE.

Moncton, N.B., Aug. 5. — Armed with revolvers and clubs, a group of dissatisfied foreign laborers employed on the Grand Trunk Pacific compelled three hundred others to join them in striking for increased pay. The police force hurried to the scene and the ringleaders under arrest before serious trouble could develope.

TWO YOUNG MEN DROWNED.

Chatham, N. B., Aug. 5.—Word reached here yesterday of a sad drowning accident at Nappan River, in which two young men, Frank Robertson, son of Rev. John Robertson, and Frank Dickson, son of James Dickson, lost their lives while swimming in the river. They were about 20 years of age, and only sons.

NEW STYLE OF BALLOTS.

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—Among the charges made by L. Cousineau, the defeated Nationalist candidate, in his request for the disqualification of S. A. Gendron, Liberal member for Ottawa County in the Quebec Legislature, was one that ordinary wrapping paper was used for ballots in one poll.

A DESPERATE SUICIDE.

North Bay, Aug. 5.—After chasing her husband out of the house in an endeavor to shoot him, Mrs. Maud Lamothe, of the Township of Widdefield, turned the revolver on herself and committed suicide. The act is the result of a jealous quarrel which had lasted all day.

CLUNG TO BOAT ALL NIGHT

St. Catharines, Aug. 5.—Mr. and Mrs. Gagon of Toronto had a terrible experience Saturday night. They started out in the aft noon from Jordan Harbor for Dalhousie in a yacht, and were carried down the lake towards Niagara. When five miles down the yacht capsized and they had to cling to the upturned craft until five o'clock Sunday morning before they were rescued.

KILLED WITH SHOT GUN

Hamilton, Aug 5.—Joseph Mullock, a 55-year-old resident of Waterdown, of the fruit and shipping business of Mullock Brothers, was killed about six o'clock this morning by the discharge of his gun, which went off accidentally while he was out shooting. A charge of heavy shot went in the gun, and entered his body near the heart, causing instantaneous death.

18 HOTELMEN IN TROUBLE.

Kingston, Aug. 5.—Liquor detectives have been in the city for some time, and it is said that 18 out of the 28 hotelmen in the city will be summoned for selling on prohibited hours. It is understood that complaint was made to the Ontario License Department, with the result that its special agents were sent here to see if the law was being violated, as complaints charged. On Thursday some of the cases will be heard by the police magistrate, others following in successive days.

COUNT ZEPPELIN FLYING.

Konstanz, Germany, Aug. 5.—The weather was excellent this morning when at 6.30 o'clock Count Zeppelin's great airship emerged from the swimming dock at Friedrichshafen. The airship rose immediately from the waters of the lake about 400 feet, and after describing one magnificent circle over the lake, proceeded on a bee line for the city, arriving here at 6.55 o'clock. The ship continued on its way, and within an hour had covered 45 kilometers, and was over Schaffhausen. From that point it continued along the Rhine to Basel.

London, Aug. 4.—Preparations are being made by the British Society for the Advancement of Science for the greatest meeting in its history next month, when scientists from all over the world will be present. The occasion will mark the jubilee or semi-centennial anniversary of the announcement of Charles Darwin's famous theories. Francis Darwin, son of the great naturalist and himself a man of renown in scientific circles, will preside at the session.

Professor Darwin will release in his inaugural address the contention that plants are endowed with intelligence, for which he was criticised by co-scientists years ago. Darwin illustrates his theory chiefly by climbing plants and the response of plants to the influence of light, deducing therefrom that plants have memory and so develop habits. He will particularly describe the hop and bryony plants, showing that their intelligence and memory are hardly less than those of the lowest animals.

QUESTIONS BOER LOYALTY.

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 5.—Mr. James Strachan, one of French's Scouts in South Africa, is home after thirteen years' absence, coming from Grand, S.A., where he has been diamond hunting for three years. He says the Dutch are smarter politically than the English, and he predicts it will not be many years before South Africa will become an independent confederation of Dutch States. He believes this is inevitable, and that the Branch will never enter upon another campaign there. The Dutch may pose as loyalists, but when alone together they say each other on the back and laugh at their sleeves. They detest an Englishman, and perhaps next to him a Canadian. This is an account of the black magic in which the latter dealt with the Boers during the late campaign.

DROWNED IN RESERVOIR.

Huntsville, Ont., Aug. 5.—A most distressing fatality occurred on Saturday afternoon. Little Lillie Boyd, the 7-year-old daughter of Mr. Geo Boyd, left home about noon o'clock in company with a little girl companion. They had gone evidently on a flower-picking trip, and on their return passed through an opening in the reservoir fence. The basin contained about eight feet of water, and while the two little girls were playing close to the edge the Boyd girl slipped and fell in.

Her companion struggled hard to help her out, but failing ran to her home, some distance away, and told of the accident. The father, in company with two other citizens, ran to the spot, only to find the little girl's body floating on the surface of the water, some feet from the shore. Mr. Geo. Ralston swam to the spot, and brought the body to shore, but life was extinct.

For hours the physicians and friends sought to resuscitate the child, but their efforts were unavailing. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon, and was largely attended.

The footprints of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the Stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For this druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. First, these tiny inside Stomach, Heart, and Kidney nerves fail. Then gas belching, Heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment, you will realize the gain. A test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

RISE OF JOHN BURNS.

Engineer's Apprentice Who Became a Member of Parliament.

Some people are laboring under the belief that England is less democratic than a republic. They should study the rise of John Burns, now president of the local governing board. Thirty-five years ago he was an engineer's apprentice at $2 a week. This position in England is far more menial than in this country, because a lad has little hope of rising to an earning point beyond 6 or 8 shillings a day. But John Burns kept going.

He acquired an education by self study, because the common school system, as we understand the words, does not exist in Great Britain. He developed the ability to talk upon his feet. He stood for parliament, although he hadn't a shilling besides his earnings as an expert workman.

Members of the British parliament are not paid anything for their services. Friends came to Burns' assistance, and he took his seat with nearly forty other representatives of labor. Today he is a member of the government and as privy councilor may, if he chooses, draw $25,000 per year for the rest of his life, whether in or out of office.

Of course it is not considered regular to take the salary when one is out of office, but some cases of the kind are well remembered. Benjamin Disraeli always drew the money. He needed it, he asserted.

But what I started to say is that a workman has as great a chance in England as here if he makes something of himself beyond a drudge. Such successes are more exceptional there than here, if reference be had to the American born workman, because the foreign born laborer does as little work as he can here or elsewhere. His indolence is infectious, and many formerly earnest toilers have become imbued with the continental belief in shirking duty.

Had Burns felt thus he would still be a mechanic and carrying a dinner pail. — Jules Chambers in Brooklyn Eagle.

Pronounce It Loce Ang-el-ees.

Mayor Harper may ask concerted action toward promulgating the official pronunciation of the name Los Angeles. Repeatedly inquiries have come to city officials asking for the true pronunciation, which queries have been usually referred to experts for reply.

The latest, from Horace G. Adams of Fort Smith, was turned over to Librarian Charles F. Lummis, an authority on southwestern words and customs, who sent to Mayor Harper a copy of his reply, with a suggestion that some official action be taken to get the correct pronunciation firmly established. This is Mr. Lummis' answer to Mr. Adams:

"The word is pronounced 'Loce' (to rhyme with dose) Ang-el-es approximately—the most vital thing is the hard 'g.' There is no jelly sound in Spanish. I take pleasure in answering your query, which is referred to me by his honor A. C. Harper, mayor of this city."—Los Angeles Herald.

First Dining Car.

"Just forty years ago," said T. C. Newton, a Chicago railroad man, "the Chicago and Alton railroad put on the first dining car ever operated on any railway train in the world. This was on the run between Chicago and St. Louis. If that car could be exhibited now it would create universal merriment. It had oilcloth table covers, the seats were screwed to the floor, and its illumination depended on candles.

"Think of the contrast between that primitive affair of 1868 and the modern dining car, finished in solid mahogany, with gorgeous furniture and a menu as elaborate and cooking as dainty as those supplied by any of the foremost hotels of America. Verily we have been 'going some' in the four decades that have gone by since the Alton's first crude experiment."—Baltimore American.

Camera Eye and Index Brain.

What would you say of a gentleman who having looked once into the face of each of those soldiers that made up the grand army which Napoleon took to Russia and being told the soldier's name would know him, name and face, two years, ten years, twenty years later? Think of a gentleman who could thus have called the muster roll of an army of 100,000 men. Such, however, would seem to be the fell power of eye and memory which belongs to Detective William P. Sheridan of Mulberry street, New York, the "man with the camera eyes," and a low estimate declares that he has filed away in his brain, each tagged with the proper name, the pictures of no fewer than 100,000 men.—Broadway Magazine.

Wrecking Windmills a New Industry.

The passing of the windmill in England, antiquated by such recent power producers as the gas engine and electric motor, has given life to a new industry—windmill wrecking. The old windmill builders understood their business and meant their handiwork to last, and so the demolishing of such structures is no simple task. Many of the old mills stood 100 feet high and had eight or nine floors fitted with four runs of stones and contained tons upon tons of brick. Often these huge mills stood close to other buildings, and accidents would be inevitable if the wreckers did not have experience in their tasks.—Popular Mechanics.

100 LIVES LOST.

Montreal, Aug. 4.—The Canadian Pacific Railway Company's superintendent at Calgary writes the company here that Fernie is completely destroyed, and that Sparwood, Hosmer and Michel are saved. He estimates the loss of life at one hundred. The company has so far made no attempt to estimate its loss.

The known dead are: J. Anderson, engineer at Hosmer Mines; Walter Ford, wife and two children; Mrs. Turner, an aged cripple; unknown man and two children in Wm. Farmer; unrecognized man, in ruins of Waldorf hotel; unknown man found near Sparwood; Lena Bell, colored, Fernie.

EMANCIPATION OF THE FAT FOLKS.

To have to sit through the hot weather as quiet as a log, scarcely daring to breathe, simply because one is so fat the least exertion will start the perspiration in a stream, is not a very lively prospect. But it has been the lot of the fat since time began until now.

Fat folks have been emancipated from hot weather misery at last, by a home mixture, 1-3 ounce Marmola, 3-4 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and 13-4 ounces Sirup Simplex, of which they take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime until—which isn't a very long time—have lost all the fat they care to.

Simple and inexpensive (any druggist will fill it for a small sum) as this receipt is, the results it obtains are unexcelled. Some folks have lost as much as a pound a day within a week after starting. Yet, radical and delightful as such an effect is, there is no aftermath of wrinkles or stomach troubles; the mixture is harmless except to the fat itself.

SYNOPSIS Of CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces, excepting 8 and 26 reserved may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is in decased) of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father or mother.

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

A Tiny State.

The miniature republic of San Marino is a mere dot on the map of Europe, being the smallest state in the world as well as the oldest independent republic. Its area is thirty-eight square miles, only little less than twice that of the island of Manhattan. It lies entirely in Italy, but is wholly independent. Its situation is on the easterly side of the Etruscan Apennines and about twelve miles from Rimini, on the Adriatic sea. The frontier is only twenty-four miles in length, and the population would make only a small city ward, numbering less than 12,000. There is no public debt, and the annual expenses met by taxation amount to $60,000. The country has bronze and silver currency, coined by Italy, 158,000 lire of the latter and 105,000 of the former. The principal exports are wine, cattle and stone. The military force of the republic numbers 38 officers and 950 men.

The Wild Boar.

The wild boar is a most courageous animal. The element of luck counts for a great deal in pig sticking, as in most other forms of sport, and it often happens that the foremost sportsman who by dint of hard riding or thanks to the fastest horse has come up with the quarry is deprived of the coveted honor of "first spear" by a sudden "jink" or turn of the pig. The boar, in spite of his clumsy appearance, is not only possessed of a great turn of speed, but is extraordinarily active. He will turn and twist like a hare, putting every obstacle in the shape of bushes, rocks, water, etc., between himself and his pursuers, but all the time making for the nearest patch of jungle and safety. The pace after pig is faster than the best of runs with hounds, but is sooner over.—Illustrated Sporting and Dramatic News.

Restlessness.

Mere restlessness is not a matter for which physicians are often consulted. It is on the face of it an unimportant malady, but when it exists in sufficient intensity to form the subject of complaint and to induce the sufferer to seek advice it is usually found to be the superficial indication of a grave underlying condition.—Hospital.

Change of Heart.

Parson Primrose—Why do you think it was out of place for your father to say grace? Freddie—Because it was only a few minutes afterward that he was swearing over having to carve the turkey.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys surely point to weak Kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell

"ALL DEALERS"

SAILORS' UNIFORMS.

All are familiar with the American man-of-war sailor's suit, but has any one ever stopped to consider how it came by it and what the origin of it is? With the exception of the stripes and the stars in the corner of the collar the whole suit is copied from the English. One would have thought that in this time the American nation would have fallen upon some original costume for its navy, or come way more representative of America.

In the early days of the British navy it was still the custom to tie the hair in a cue after well greasing it, but much annoyance was felt by the men in consequence of the oil getting on the rough serge of their jumpers or blouses. This caused the blue collar of the same material as the jumper to be added, but without much success, as the collar looked quite as untidy so at length the idea of putting the blue drill one over the serge was adopted, the drill collar being a separate appendage and therefore easily washed and kept clean. The lanyard was worn to represent the ropes and rigging of the ship, and the jackknife indicated that (to be paradoxical) the bluejacket's object in life was death to his enemy.

In those days the neck was exposed, but as time went on and more thought was given to the welfare of the men this was found to be injurious to the health; hence the substitute of the white neck flannel, while being used to give the effect of the uncovered neck.

The two rows of white braid at the top of the cuff represent England and Ireland, the one row at the bottom showing that Scotland had not become annexed. The rows of braid on the collar represent wholly and solely the victories of Nelson.

At the opening of Lord Nelson's grand career and his first great victory at Abukir the first row of braid was put on the collar, and Jack was a proud and happy man, and he became still prouder and happier when Abukir was followed by Nelson's greater victory at Copenhagen and the second row was added. But he became the proudest and happiest man and alas, also the most sorrowful and grief stricken when that great hero and magnificent example of naval courage lost his life in his last victory at Trafalgar, and so the third row of braid went on, but there was no more to come after it for "the last pipe" had sounded for the gallant sailor, his last fight fought, his last victory won. To signify the mourning which filled the hearts of all English sailors the black scarf was added. This was the origin of the British tar's uniform, which is both historical and biographical and dear to the heart of all English people.

To Canadian Investors

The undersigned has received an allotment of unsold portion of $100,000 of

7 Per Cent. First Mortgage Five-Year Gold Bonds

dated January 11, 1908, and maturing January 11, 1913. These Bonds are offered at par and accrued interest by Metropolitan Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, trustees.

SECURITY—The Entire Property and Improvements Owned THE URES CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY in the District of Ures, State of Sonora Mexico, Free from Mortgage or Bonded Indebtedness except this present Bond issue.

An Unusual Opportunity for Investment in Sound Security

The Ures Consolidated Mining Company offers $100,000.00 of First Mortgage Gold Bonds. This issue of bonds is the only mortgage or bonded indebtedness ever placed on the company's properties.

These bonds are in the denomination of $100.00, and bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, July and January, and are redeemable on or before five years from date at the company's option at $110.00 and accrued interest.

With each bond issued there will be given $100.00 par value of the capital stock of the company as a bonus, and in addition thereto there will be placed in escrow with the Trustee additional stock which will be available to the bondholders at their option any time within a period of three years, the bondholder being entitled to surrender his bond any time within said period and receive in lieu thereof stock for every dollar of indebtedness to him on account of said bonds.

The Security Back of these Bonds.

The company owns twelve claims situated in the district of Ures, State of Sonora, Mexico. Free from mortgage or bonded indebtedness, except the present bond issue.

On one of these properties (The Ramona Mine) 5,000 feet of underground development work has been done, consisting of an inclined shaft to the depth of 400 feet with drifts in three levels to the North and South of the shaft.

An average value of ore worth $11.47 per ton is exposed throughout the mine, from the collar of the shaft to the extreme parts in the drifts, all of which is above water level.

The company has made surface improvements and mine improvements to the extent of $60,000.00 in the way of machinery, skids, trams, steam hoists, mill and nearly everything necessary to make the mining camp complete.

In addition to the absolute ownership of these twelve valuable claims, the company has a lease on the San Jose Mine, adjoining its property, in which the company has been operating in high grade ore.

During the past sixty days the company has extracted and delivered to ore buyers and the bank at Hermosillo, $5,000.00 worth of ore and bullion, the ore having been reduced to bullion through the company's mill, with the exception of 1,454 pounds, which was sold to an ore buyer for $565.00.

This issue of bonds is made for the purpose of securing money at once in order to extend the development work more quickly than the company's present means will permit.

With the high grade ore in sight to the distance of 90 feet to the South of the shaft, the management is assured that within six months from date of making the improvements now necessary the company's properties will be on a self-sustaining and dividend-paying basis.

The Stock which is Given with these bonds will be as valuable as the bonds when the Company has the ready capital to push operations

Men who invest in these bonds will have no cause or reason to regret their action, for the bonds afford an investment in a security which is absolutely safe—much better than ordinary city or country real estate, which is considered perfectly safe if the property put up to secure a mortgage is double the face of the loan. The security given on these bonds is better than 7 to 1, for the Ures Consolidated Mining Company has refused an offer of $750,000.00 for the property upon which this $100,000.00 worth of bonds is issued.

These bonds are an investment with all speculative risk eliminated—an investment with absolute security.

Make your reservation at once. This is small and promises to be quickly sold.

To whom it may concern:—

We hereby beg to state that The Ures Consolidated Mining Company has during the past five years made several deliveries of bullion to this bank, and it is the opinion of mining men here that they have the making of a fair mine, and further, that the properties owned and controlled by them bid promise of becoming paying properties.

From our knowledge of the men connected, we believe they are doing all in their power to bring about the results above mentioned.

RAWHIDE-DULZURA

1 CENT A 2 SHARE

Send us your name as a member in this new company, with your remittance for as many thousand shares as you can take at $5 per thousand.

This is a short-time offer on a hurry-up proposition. Our vice president is up at Rawhide now putting the miners at work. We want to raise the necessary funds for development as quickly as possible. Therefore, we offer the first block of stock at $5 a thousand shares. This subscription must be all cash. We want the money in hand. We mean to work without letup, and we have made it an iron-clad rule not to run in debt. Cash counts now.

Our prospectuses are out, and for one.

Make reservation of stock, if you do no more. But, remember, this present offer of stock at Half a Cent a Share is now open, and will be closed as soon as enough cash subscriptions are in hand. Don't wait, or you will get left.

The gold mining property owned outright by the company consists of 7 claims, 5 in the Rawhide district of Nevada, and 2 in the Dulzura district of Southern California.

The Rawhide district to-day is more famous than Goldfield, Tonopah, Bullfrog, or Searchlight were at the same stage of exploration and development. The Dulzura discovery is one of the most sensational in the history of California.

Ten samples of ore which were among the first assayed, ran as high as $17,462.97 to the ton, and all ten averaged over $1,500 a ton.

In both camps we located early, and our locations are choice. Our own officers will superintend the mining.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Weary, Worn Out and Tired

If You Feel Poorly this Spring this Article is worth Considering.

Nothing in life keeps people from advancement like poor health. If the nerves are weak, if the stomach, liver, bowels or kidneys fail to work properly, health surely suffers. Spring is the hardest time on health—the season when the system calls for active cleansing medicine.

The best plan is to entrust your condition to a physician of reputation like Dr. Hamilton, who has had years of experience in compounding tonics. For the ills and tired feeling of spring Dr. Hamilton says nothing is better than Mandrake and Butternut Pills, and this is well proved in the case of James Hurton, of Lewistown. "I had grip and it left me very weak. The disease settled in my back and side, which ached day and night. I had a nagging cough. My appetite was all gone. My nerves unstrung. I could not sleep well. I struggled against growing pale, thin and weak—but it was no good. Spring brought depression, overpowering weakness and bad headaches. But my life was spared, simply because I learned off the wonderful merit in Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. The result was marvelous. I gained rapidly, became strong, ruddy, vigorous, perfectly well. I urge every man and woman to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly.

You'll brighten up, have cleaner blood, stronger nerves, better spirits if you use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c at all dealers. Guaranteed safe, sure helpful for old and young.

Letter From the Y.M.C.A. Camp

Sandy Point, Clear Lake, Aug. 5—Just a few lines to let you know that a real live Y.M.C.A. camp is keeping people awake up in this part of the globe. Our bunch is composed Fen Dunfee, Will Lovell, Harold Brown and Clarence Edmunds, Port Hope, and Wallie Armstrong, George Martin, Gordon Harold and Percy Woodbridge, of Peterborough.

The Port Hopers are a nice bunch of fellows and having a swell time. Today a party of young ladies are on the steamer and they are in for a high old time. The Peterborough bunch are going to cut them out at Juniper when they arrive.

Fishing is great. Wally and George caught a bass yesterday, enough for all the camp and some to give to neighbors.

If you like music, come and hear us sing. Gordon holds down the camp organ and the row make the tears come to the cottagers' eyes with their touching ballads.

The Port Hopers caught a 10-pound er today and Gordon hooked a dandy too.

We are well off for ladies' men. Wally and George are up to high water mark in them.

Percy Woodbridge is a great swimmer and oarsman and we are trying to get him in for the regatta on Monday.

The fellows threaten to down our "pastoral cook," if the spring on us another spring poetry. (He) tried the wild-cat on the lake towers and it certainly did good work.

The first two nights here were passed in severe storms, last night being fierce, one fellow found a river flowing by his bed, another had a nightmare and had to get out and tie it up. Two skiffs and two canoes from our fleet and are well used.

Y.M.C.A. CAMP JOLLIER.

Must be a White British Columbia

Winnipeg, Aug. 6.—There are 5,000 Japanese, 2,000 Hindoos and 6,000 Chinese in Vancouver at present. We don't want any more in the province, as we want a white British Columbia. There is plenty of white labor now at the Coast, and there is no further need for the Asiatics."

This statement was made by Mayor Bigbuno of Vancouver, who was in the city for a few hours on his way home from the Quebec celebration.

"The caste system prevails among the Hindoos in Vancouver as it does in India. These people, even when working in the mills, may be seen eating in separate groups. They never eat meat. They usually carry with them a bannock made of flour and water, and when hungry eat this. No people can do much on that kind of food. The Japanese are most progressive and energetic, and will be a success anywhere. They are entering all kinds of business, and have even established a bank of their own in the city. The Chinamen are the best class of Asiatics we have at the Coast. They are good workers and do not branch out into business as do the Japanese. Nevertheless we don't want any more. The trouble which occurred there some months ago has passed, and all is quiet. No further disturbance is anticipated."

MONEY NEEDED AT FERNIE TO GIVE THE SUFFERERS RELIEF

Giving Shelter to Citizens Has First Call--Eatables Desired Before Clothing, as Weather Is Very Warm

Fernie, B.C., Aug. 7.—The question of giving relief to the thousands of homeless men and women continues the principal concern in Fernie. Money and supplies have flowed in from all parts of Canada and several points in the United States, but more is needed.

The total cash contributions so far amounts to $7,328. In addition, there are offers of large amounts from two or three cities made up in cash and supplies. The generosity of the people in the large cities and towns of the Dominion has been in evidence since the news of the disaster went out, and this applies particularly to Western communities. Merchandise, including provisions, flour, bread, fruit, clothing, have been coming every day, and more is on the way.

Practically all Western Canada is covered in the list of communities making contributions. Cities and towns further east have been asked what form their assistance should take, and the reply has been sent that cash would be most acceptable.

The procedure is to devote the money as far as possible to assisting the people to establish roofs over their heads as the first step toward securing new homes. Goods are distributed almost as fast as they arrive, and several carloads have already been absorbed. Every applicant is required to show need, and this is subject for congratulation that very little imposition has been practised. Most of the stuff has gone where it was needed, and there have been no complaints of anyone having been overlooked. With the weather as warm as it is now, little concern is felt about clothing and eatables have the first call.

COMING BACK

The women and children are beginning to come back now, which means that bedding and other accommodation must be provided. It is likely that until homes have been erected for the majority of the working population that the women and children will not be encouraged in their desire to return. Nearly all those who were sent away during the fire excitement were directed to Cranbrook, and that hospitable town has done wonders in looking after them. If they can be kept out of the way for a short time longer, the work of restoring the town will likely proceed more smoothly.

25,000 Men Are Wanted in the West---Rely on Ontario and Quebec

Winnipeg, Aug. 7.—Some welcome showers fell yesterday in parts of Southern Alberta and Saskatchewan, though not enough to have any appreciable effect. Practically there has been no rain in prairie wheat since St. Swithin's day, and heavy precipitation must prove of great benefit if it comes in time to check premature ripening process.

The heat and drought has set the hand of the harvesting clock forward a week at least, and spring wheat cutting will be generally shortly after middle of the present month. Good progress has been made with harvesting fall wheat in Southern Alberta, and with barley crops generally.

Latest estimate shows 25,000 men will be needed in these prairie provinces for the harvest distribution as follows: Manitoba, 12,000, Saskatchewan, 11,000 and Alberta, 2,000. More unskilled labor has been offering all season than railways could absorb and wages have been down to a dollar a day per day, which is unusually low.

Now, however, men are beginning to quit construction camps and go to the harvest fields, where work is harder, if until more pleasant conditions, while board is much superior. As a result contractors are raising wages to dollar a-day-five, and even two dollars in the effort to keep sufficient staff for the economical working of their contracts, but they will be short-handed for balance of the season, which means that much of the new land which it was hoped to have ready to handle the season's crop will not be in shape.

RELY ON ONTARIO AND QUEBEC.

Not a quarter of the 25,000 required is likely, however, to be drawn from this source, and with a good crop south of the boundary, the Canadian wheat will have to rely mainly on Ontario and Quebec for the labor deficiency. The first excursion is dated to leave the Maritime Provinces Aug. 11th, but it looks now as if that date is somewhat slow. Of course there is a big army of unemployed in Winnipeg, and twenty-five per cent. of the men belonging to trade unions have been unable to secure employment this summer, but the unemployed as a recognized class in the city prefer waiting around for town jobs to getting busy in the fields, and but half of them are available. It is likely, however, that at least a couple of thousand more will be available, and probably therefore eighteen to twenty thousand harvesters from the East should be enough. It is estimated that of the eastern harvesters ten per cent. settle permanently in the country and exceptions are therefore invaluable for harvesting the sturdy and intelligent men of Ontario and Quebec.

Fish Did Not Bite - and the Canoe Upset

While on a little fishing expedition down the river on Thursday afternoon Messrs. Bruce Hutchinson and T. Stevens got hooked onto a log with their canoe, which in trying to extricate themselves they were precipitated into the water losing their boat load of fish. The boys were a sad sight to behold, wending their way home through the back streets of East City. It is rumored that being unable to secure any of the finny tribe, the fishermen rather than come back to the city to "get the laugh," deliberately upturned the canoe for an excuse to tell their friends that they hooked onto a 25-lb. 'lunge that capsized the boat.

Enraged Girl Beat Bridegroom--Best Man Did Duty

New York, Aug. 7.—Lena Rolfe did not succeed in preventing Agnes Murphy from marrying William Monahan in the Paulist church in West Fifty-ninth street, but she gave the bride and bridegroom something to remember her by. She is a waitress in the restaurant near the church. Pretty nearly everybody in the restaurant knew that Lena expected to marry Monahan herself. When she came to work there was a letter for her. It read;

Friend Lena.—Mr. Monahan will marry Miss Murphy at the Paulists' church tomorrow (Wednesday evening), at 7.30 p.m.

A Friend.

MONDAY, AUGUST 10, 1908

Lena went to the church and asked for Father Daly. He saw her, and she told him that Monahan, who was a chauffeur, had promised to marry her and had got nearly $300 from her in various amounts. She wanted the marriage stopped. Father Daly could do nothing. He told her to go to a magistrate's court and see if she could get a summons.

Magistrate Corrigan said that the only way Lena could get her money back would be in the civil court.

SHE WOULD FIX HIM.

"Well, if I don't get the money I will fix him anyhow, and then I will fix myself," said Lena. The magistrate did not think much of the threat. Lena went back to her room at 130 West Sixty-first street and thought it out. Then she went to all her friends and told them to be at the church at 7.30 sharp. They were there. Lena herself was standing in the church door. Junie, who works in a nearby laundry, and Julia, who is married and does not need to work; Miss Sullivan and her little boy (Monahan used to room at Mrs. Sullivan's house, where Lena boarded)—all came to the wedding together with sundry male acquaintances of Lena and Monahan.

A taxicab stopped in front of the church and two men and two young women piled in while got out and walked up the steps. The church was dark, and for a moment they stopped just within the vestibule. The bridesmaid arranged the bride's big bunch of lilies of the valley, and with the best man and the bridesmaid in the lead they started up the steps to the inner door.

MADE IT INTERESTING.

Then Lena Rolfe came out of her hiding place in the shadow and caught the bridegroom by the lapel of the coat.

"You are a nice one!" she screamed at the top of her voice, while the bridegroom tried to pull away. "Where is my $300."

"I never cared about you," she said. "I only thought I did. But you got my money, and now you are going to marry this woman on it."

Monahan did not say a word. Miss Murphy clung closer to him, and the best man stepped in between the disappointed Lena and the bridegroom.

"Give me my $300 and it will be all right—otherwise you will never marry her!" cried Lena. But the sextet soon got out and Lena was left in the church and up to the chancel rail, the dark. There the quartette knelt for some time. Lena waited, and though they would not let her enter the church she saw Father Daly perform the ceremony from her place at the vestibule door.

HAMMERED THE GROOM.

After the ceremony Monahan was found that Lena Rolfe still awaited him and he asked that they be allowed to go out of a side entrance. The cab was ordered around. Lena saw the move and ran along the cab. She reached it just as Monahan bundled in his bride and the bridesmaid, and she grabbed him about the neck. Just what she said those nearest could not tell, but she said a lot, and with every word she struck the luckless bridegroom a blow in the face with her fist. One of her girl friends loaned her a sidewalk umbrella, and with that Lena smashed the new straw hat that the groom carried in his hand. Then she grabbed his tie and pulled it off for a souvenir. All this time Lena's friends stood by and cheered. After five minutes the best man managed to get a straight hold on Lena. The bridegroom jumped into the cab and shut the door, and the cab went away without the best man, who was still busy doing best man's duty. The cab ran into an elevated railroad pillar and lost its starboard step, but did not stop. Then a policeman walked leisurely into the little group and asked what all the trouble was.

"Arrest this woman," said the best man.

"He's my friend," said Lena, and she laughed.

"Do you want the man arrested, Lena?" asked the policeman.

Lena said "No."

"Then beat it away from her—all of you," said the policeman. "This is a church you are in front of."

Lena and her friends walked away in the rain, for Lena had broken the only umbrella in the party.

MADE FROM NATIVE ROOTS.

SAFE AND RELIABLE.

That the roots of many native plants, growing wild in our American forests, possess remarkable properties for the cure of human maladies is well proven. Even the untutored Indian had learned the curative value of some of these and taught the early settlers their uses. The Indian never liked work so he wanted his squaw to get well as soon as possible that she might do the work and let him hunt. Therefore he dug "papoose root" for her, for it was their great remedy for female weaknesses. Dr. Pierce uses the same root—called Blue Cohosh—in his "Favorite Prescription," skillfully combined with other agents that make it more effective than any other medicine in curing all the various weaknesses and painful derangements peculiar to women.

Many afflicted women have been saved from the operating table and the surgeon's knife by the timely use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Tenderness over the lower pelvic region, with backache, spells of dizziness, faintness, bearing down pains or distress should not go unheeded. A course of "Favorite Prescription" will work marvelous benefit in all such cases, and generally effect a permanent cure if persisted in for a reasonable length of time. The "Favorite Prescription" is a harmless agent, being wholly prepared from native medicinal roots, without a drop of alcohol in its make up, whereas all other medicines put up for sale through druggists for woman's peculiar ailments, contain large quantities of spirituous liquors, which are very harmful, especially to delicate women. "Favorite Prescription" contains neither alcohol nor harmful habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are printed on each bottle wrapper. It is a powerful invigorating tonic, imparting health and strength in particular to the organs distinctly feminine. For weak and sickly women, who are "worn-out," or debilitated, especially for women who work in store, office, or school-room, who sit at the typewriter or sewing machine, or bear heavy household burdens, and for nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will prove a priceless benefit because of its health-restoring and strength-giving power.

$200 Damages Claimed for Obstructing Navigation

Yesterday Mr. R. F. McWilliams, solicitor, issued a writ in the county court against the Cavendish Lumber Company of Lakefield, on behalf of the Otonabee Navigation Company, claiming $200 damages for obstructing the navigation in the river Otonabee below Lakefield. It appears that on Saturday last the steamer Water Lily was unable to get further than Lakefield on its regular trip to Peterborough. The passengers, about 50 in number, and a large quantity of freight, had to be transferred to the city by rail, causing considerable loss and inconvenience. On Monday the boat was also delayed.

It is said that the Cavendish Lumber Company put over the dam at Lakefield, in the neighborhood of sixty thousand logs on the date above referred to, completely blocking the steamer's channel.

The Navigation Company propose to put a stop to this if at all possible and accordingly have instituted proceedings as above.

Terrible Accident Yesterday Morning at West Toronto--Details of the Sad Affair

Toronto, Aug. 7.—Howard Sharp, aged three years of age, of West Toronto, was instantly killed at noon today, by the discharge of an old muzzle-loading shot gun, supposed to have been in the hands of Fred Gracey, an eight-year-old playmate, and son of William Gracey, a C.P.R. striker.

The gun was held close to the unfortunate lad, and the shot blew the top of his head clean off.

MOTHER IS DEAD.

Gracey's mother is dead, and the father and two elder sons left the boy alone in the house this morning. They reside at 101 Maria street, in the west end of the town.

Howard Sharp lives next door, and it is thought that young Gracey showed the gun, which belonged to his father, to Sharp. Suddenly, the neighbors heard the report of the gun, and rushing into the yard found Sharp dead on the ground, and the smoking weapon lying beside him.

Coroner Cruickenau was at once notified.

LAD DENIED IT AT FIRST.

He questioned Fred Gracey closely. At first the little fellow seemed dazed, and denied that he had held the gun, when it was discharged, but after some questioning he practically admitted that it was in his hands.

The boy was taken to Speer's undertaking rooms, and the Coroner decided to hold an inquest tonight.

"It looks to be a case of 'didn't know it was loaded,'" said Coroner Cruickenau this afternoon to a reporter. "The two little boys were playmates and when Gracey's father left home this morning his young son was alone. Young Sharp must have gone into play with the Gracey boy. Because the shooting occurred in the house. The gun, an old-fashioned muzzle loader, belonged to Gracey's father. It stood in a corner of a back bedroom. Evidently young Gracey picked up the gun and pointed it at young Sharp.

BOY BADLY FRIGHTENED.

"The gun went off, and the top of young Sharp's head was blown off. I had a talk with the Gracey boy. He did not evade my questions at first, but he is only eight years old, and he was badly frightened.

"After awhile he told me all he cared to know. He is under detention at his home; he is with his parents. Yes, there will be an inquest. It will be opened tonight."

THE POLICE STORY.

Chief of Police Flintoft gives a slightly different version of the story.

"Young Gracey said that the little Sharp boy came into his house when he was alone, his father and two elder brothers having gone out. The older boy told the little intruder to go home, but the latter refused to obey the command.

"The weapon Gracey dragged an old muzzle-loading shotgun from behind his father's bed. Not being strong enough to raise the weapon to his shoulder, he rested it under his arm and over the hip. He did not know that it was loaded and intended to scare the intruder down in order to frighten the other little boy. Placing both fingers on the trigger, he gave it a sharp jerk. The hammer fell, and the weapon discharged with a loud explosion, which brought the neighbors flocking in to discover the cause of the trouble.

"When they came their horrified eyes saw a three-year-old baby lying on the floor with the top of his head completely blown off, while a badly-frightened little boy stood over a smoking gun.

"When they came their horrified eyes

"Was young Gracey taken into custody?"

"No. He is too young. If he had been a boy of mature years we would have arrested him.

In The Realm of Sport

The Stratheonas and Lakeviews meet this afternoon in the final game of the City League at Rowside Park. Both teams are confident of winning and a good game is assured. The games in the city league during the season have all been well attended, and the final will no doubt draw a bumper crowd.

The baseball match Monday, is creating a lot of interest amongst the local fans as they expect to see the closest game of the season. The Y's are putting on their strongest line up and are going to make things hot for the St. Marys. The Toronto team have one of the best line ups in the province, and have been clearing up all that have come before them. They have Cahill of the Tri-State League, to do their twirling, and Nye of Buffalo, to do the receiving. Peterborough's battery will be Edmonds and Edmunds. The morning game commences at 10 a.m., and the afternoon one at 2 o'clock.

The footpains of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the Stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For this druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. First, these tiny inside Stomach, Heart, and Kidney nerves fail. Then gas belching, Heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment, you will realize the gain. A test will cost you nothing. Sold by all dealers.

SAVED BY COAT OF MAIL.

London, Aug. 6—A special dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. from Constantinople:—The Sultan of Turkey was stabbed in the breast on Monday night by a miner palace official. The coat of mail which the Sultan always wears deflected the blow. The would-be assassin was arrested. Apparently he had been bribed to commit the act, as he had a large sum of gold in his pockets, and his baggage was packed ready for flight.

A TIMELY LESSON

We spoke a few wdays ago of some of the lessons to be derived from the tercentenary celebration at Quebec, but by no means exhausted the subject, which is indeed, one of the most important that the people of Canada can consider. It is timely to reflect that not simply greatness of territory, nor natural wealth make a nation; but a united people. Until the people of the Dominion are truly one, we cannot hope to reach the full stature of our potential nationhood. As England of to-day is the result from the complete union of Saxon and Norman, so Canada of the future will be all the stronger the closer becomes the unity between the French and English elements of the population. We quote the following timely article from the Montreal Star:—

We are a dual people. Two threads run through our history, and two streams from the best blood in Europe commingle in the current of our national life. Canada would not be Canada as we know it if it had not been for this association. If we imagine for a moment that the English race had founded Quebec and settled along the St. Lawrence, we cannot escape seeing what must have been the result when the troubles with the English settlements to the south broke out in 1770 odd. The English colony of Quebec would have been at least as closely linked with the English colony of Massachusetts as was the English colony of Virginia; and the American Revolution would almost inevitably have swept from the St. Lawrence to the Savannah British dominion in North America would have been wiped out at a blow.

The story of the resolute manner in which the French-Canadians withstood the temptations offered them by the Revolutionists and helped fight back their armed attacks in 1812, as well as during the Revolutionary War, has often been told. They saved Canada to the British Crown. No higher tribute to the justice and common sense of the British Colonial policy was ever paid. It proved to be a demonstration that fair play and kindness repay. But this was by no means their only contribution to the making of the Canadian nation. Their relations with the Indians have stood us in good stead from first to last and made this Indian problem a far simpler proposition for our government than for that of the United States. Their radical inheritance from the civilization of Old France is to-day one of the most promising qualities possessed by the Canadian people; and their steadfast piety, their enjoyment of life, their artistic and mechanical skill, their supreme "bonhomie" are gifts to the nation which it could not well do without.

The fate of any nation rests in the hands of the people who compose it; and, as we have said on many an occasion, the man who fails to see that the future of Canada as a British colony can only be secured by the closest union between the two original stocks has not looked closely into the subject. Union with us is more than strength. It is the sole guarantee of stability, and permanence. These celebrations at Quebec emphasize this unity and throw into clear relief the fact that Canada is French as well as English in origin. We honor French as well as English names, and give to the men from the courts of France and Henri Quatre and the great Louis the overwhelming predominance they so hardly earned. We must establish a firm recognition of the fact that the two races are at home in Canada; and that each has guaranteed to it the preservation of its customs, its language, its privileges and its religious predilections. Then both races will feel an equal interest in defending the "status quo" and fighting for the political institutions under which its liberties have been so entirely secure. If these two races stand together, united by ideals and aims consistent with Canada's present political status, the danger from the hordes of unthinking if not undesirable immigrants at once becomes minimized. If the French and English remain united in a common sentiment of loyalty and patriotism, we need not be afraid to look into the future.

The automobile will soon be in limbo with the stage coach and the bicycle. The airship has arrived.

News in Brief

New York, Aug. 5.—John Mitchell, former President of the United Mine Workers of America, announces that under no circumstances will he take any part in the Presidential campaign.

The statement coming from a man who is looked upon as the head of organized labor in this country, next to Samuel Gompers, caused a profound sensation in labor circles in the city last night.

Mr. Mitchell made known in emphatic language, first, that he would make no speeches for Bryan, and, secondly, that he do es not intend to take any part whatever in the coming election.

Mr. Mitchell's declaration will undoubtedly be a great surprise to President Gompers, who, as is well known, has always sought the advice of the cool-headed and able labor leader, who displayed his ability in the great anthracite coal strike of 1902.

THE "NEIGHBOR" ISSUE.

Lincoln, Aug. 5.—A non-partisan notification of Mr. Bryan is planned by Mayor F. W. Brown and the others in charge of the ceremony, Aug. 12. An invitation will be extended to Governor Sheldon and other Republican officials of the State, county and city. Senator La Follette is to return to Lincoln on that day and will be invited.

Nebraska Republicans are becoming disturbed over the non-partisan feature of the Bryan campaign, especially the "neighbor" issue, in this State. "Bryan is our neighbor, and after all, what's the difference between him and Roosevelt" is the sort of talk heard among many Republicans. All the old venom and vituperation of Nebraska politics seems to have died out."

New York, Aug. 6.—What to all appearances was a wild man was captured in Central Park yesterday morning by a policeman. Barefooted and bareheaded with tangled hair and dirty face, and eating grass when discovered, he jumped up like a startled jack-rabbit and scurried away when approached. When the policeman caught up with him he was munching the leaves in the shrubbery where he had fled.

He was arraigned in the police court. The prisoner could not be induced to answer questions though he was addressed in many foreign languages. At length, in broken English he said,—"I had a name once, but I cannot remember it."

The man, who is about 35 years old, was committed to Bellevue Hospital for examination as to his sanity.

New York, Aug. 6.—The story of Claita Cameron, a pretty nurse girl 20 years old, employed in the Lebanon Hospital, arrested today, charged with the theft of a diamond ring valued at $100 from Mrs. Mary Gilgoll, an emergency patient, may result, according to the police, in the arrest of a physician in the institution.

According to the girl, who, the police say, is the innocent victim of a system, when Mrs. Gilgoll was brought into the hospital last night after a fall which rendered her unconscious, she was undressed and her jewelry was taken from her.

Miss Cameron was in charge of the case. Mrs. Gilgoll wore three rings, one of which was the diamond ring, a gold watch and a gold chain.

"A doctor told me to take the diamond ring and hide it, that the woman would never miss it," the nurse said today to the police, giving the name of the physician.

At the annual meeting of the Canadian Dental Association, being held at Ottawa, Dr. Thompson, of Halifax, advocated examination of the children in the schools by capable dentists who would be able to give a verdict concerning the condition of teeth and mouth. The members of the Association who took up the question after Dr. Thompson were a unit in demanding legislation making it imperative that school children be examined by dentists, as a preventive measure. The general opinion was that a great deal of suffering and misery and permanent ill-health is due to neglect of the teeth.

It was pointed out that perfect teeth was an essential condition of sound health. In discussing the paper read by Dr. Thompson, Dr. R. J. Wade, of Toronto, stated that he heartily approved of examination of the school children by dentists. He gave special attention to the question of the education of the general public in regard to the care of the teeth and emphasized the fact that many disorders were due to diseased teeth.

MRS. LONGWORTH'S CASH WON.

Denver, Aug. 6.—Ernest Ruffin, a delegate to the recent convention of the Kappa Sigma fraternity in Denver, returned from the Yellowstone Park and told the story:

Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, daughter of the President, and party reached a crowded hotel in the Yellowstone Park last month, and found the servants on a strike. Mrs. Longworth said:

"Servants all on strike? Oh, that's all right. Just tell the girls I'll give them $5 a day each if they'll work while we are here. Ask them if they won't do it as a personal favor to me."

The servants resumed work, and all went well while the Longworth party stayed at the hotel. Congressman Longworth footed the bills.

The footprints of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the Stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For this druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. First, these tiny inside Stomach Heart, and Kidney nerves fail. Then gas belching, Heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment, you will realize the gain. A test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

WORKING WITH GLASS

FREAKS OF THE BLOWPIPE.

Quaint Specimen Shapes That Are Sometimes Dropped From the Puntil. How Bottles Are Made by the Clever and Dexterous Workmen.

If a stranger enters the glass works on a dark night he will find not only beauty in the blowing operations, but a great deal of humor, with an uncanny weirdness in flame and shadow that must affect his imagination to some extent. The building is circular, with a chimney sticking up through the middle of it, from the top of which a peculiar intermittent light is flickering. In the center of this building, underneath the chimney, stands a conical furnace of brick containing perhaps no fewer than eight holes which are like fiercely glaring suns and from which pour expanding broad rays of orange colored light. If your eyes are strong enough to look through the holes from which the orange beams of light emerge you see several hundredweight of molten metal shining silvery green in as many earthen dome shaped melting pots.

The nature of different kinds of glass is dependent upon the quality of the raw material, called "batch," put into the melting pots. "Batch" is a mixture of such materials as Calais sand, or common river sand abounding in silica, salt cake, or sodium carbonate and much lime. Blue colors may be obtained by adding oxide of cobalt, green by means of a chrome, black by manganese and amber. The mass of molten metal got from this opaque, earthy looking "batch" has frequently to be skimmed of impurities, but it is nevertheless a problem whence comes that wonderful and enduring transparency which everybody likes to see in glass.

Until the hour strikes for the workmen to commence operations you may find them experimenting for amusement or profit with the blowpipe. You will see many an enormity produced in glass the like of which can scarcely ever have been dropped from a puntil before. Specimens are blown out to the thinness of a tissue paper bag, which another puff of wind explodes with a crack, or a glowing glass pear is for very wantonness knocked off the puntil so that it may vanish with a report on the floor, its hue and heat being extinguished immediately. The floor all around the furnace chamber is covered with brittle shining splinters and particles of glass, which crackle underfoot at every step. One of the men may bring you a mass of metal on a blowpipe and ask you to expend a few cheekfuls of wind upon it. The pipe takes no more blowing than a trombone, though it lacks a mouthpiece, and you may expand the bubble until it is black and cold, so fragile that it will break into a myriad pieces if you touch it. The molten glass is so ductile that it may be spun out into a thread, and the men often vie with each other to see who can make the longest and thinnest strand.

At the signal to commence work the men, already partly stripped to the waist, poke their four foot blowpipe through the hole of the crucible opposite to which they work, twisting it round until it has taken up sufficient of the ropy and viscid glass for one bottle. The man who is clever at his work will, of course, gather up neither too much nor too little for the thickness of the bottle required. He can tell without looking through the furnace holes when he has enough by the weight added to his pipe. Thus all around the fiery furnace there are figures moving continually across the lurid light, most of them dexterously wielding their blowpipes and balancing at the end of each one the exact quantity of vitrified matter to make a bottle. The amateur would find it difficult to balance the molten mass. The chances are that it would drop on the floor, never to be picked up again.

At the same moment you will see bottles in all stages of growth—some glittering gold, others cooling down to orange or red, some in the forms of plummets or dazzling pears, others as incandescent bosses threatening to become fragile bladders. It is all as charming as a pyrotechnic display. You will see the black blowpipe twirled round, blown down, held up like a gun barrel, then in the form of an incandescent lamp globe turned round on a beeswaxed cast iron implement called a marver, on whose edge the bottle neck is formed. It is held up once more, blown into, then shut up in a cast iron mold placed at the operator's feet somewhat below the level of the ground. This mold is opened and closed by a wire spring, which the operator presses with his feet, and directly the red hot bottle is inclosed he blows down the pipe once more so as to fill it completely.

A man goes round from mold to mold inserting a rod into the neck of each bottle and collecting a trayful to go to the annealing chamber. Here the bottles are stacked up for a gradual cooling process, which may possibly last thirty-six hours. This gives them the desired strength. The annealing process is a cure for their natural fragility and enables them to stand the test of boiling water.—London Globe.

Still Possible.

Clara—When Tom proposed to me he admitted that he had more money than brains.

Maude—Well, I've no reason to doubt it, although I understand he hasn't a dollar to his name.

BEST SPELLER IS 73.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 6.—Mrs. Douglas Gilbert, aged 73, of Paris, Ill., the oldest person to participate in the annual world's spelling match in connection with the Winona Lake Assembly program, won first honors and was awarded a prize of $20.

Without hesitation she spelled "concatenation," on which A. B. Curry of Memphis, Tenn., and Helen Sprowls of Muncie, Ind., who carried off the second and third honors, went down. Other words that proved stumbling stones to the eighty contestants were erysipelas, surrogate, prerogative, plebeian, caoutchouc and inveigle. Five went down on plebeian.

The cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as part of the security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. HIS SERVICES.

What Became of All the Bills He introduced in Congress.

"Yes, my fellow citizens," said the political candidate, "if you have paid any attention to the work of congress you will have noticed that during the past session I introduced twenty-two bills, each of which was intended to benefit this community. I stand before you today with the proud consciousness of having served you faithfully and to the best of my ability. Those twenty-two bills would, if they had been passed, have made this one of the most favored districts on God's green earth, and"—

"Oh," yelled a man in the gallery, "we know you introduced 'em, all right, but what happened to 'em after that?"

"Gentlemen, I appeal to your sense of honor. Do you consider it fair that I should be interrupted in this manner? Is it right that I should"—

"There ain't no harm in answerin' the question, is there?" asked another of the statesman's hearers.

"Well, sir, I will tell you what became of those bills, my fellow citizens. Every one of them was printed in the Congressional Record, where, if you will look over the files, you may find them today. But to revert to the seed question, gentlemen, I do not hesitate to promise that no man living in this, the most splendid district in our grand old state, shall appeal to me in vain if you shall deem it best to send me back to Washington, where I have served you with such signal ability."

Not Surprised.

Skipper—I am inordinately sensitive to uncongenial surroundings, so much so that the very sight of some people will give me a nervous shudder. Chipper—Oh, well, there are very few of us that do not shrink from meeting our creditors.

She Was Safe.

Little four-year-old Mabel was running downhill, holding her dress tightly.

"Be careful," called her mother, "or you will fall."

"Oh, no, I won't," replied Mabel. 'cause I'm holding tight to myself."

Not What He Meant.

Physician—Have you any aches or pains this morning? Patient—Yes, doctor; it hurts me to breathe—in fact, the only trouble now seems to be with my breath. Physician—All right. I'll give you something that will soon stop that!

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism. Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible, but I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I mis-fully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism—but, at last, I confirmingly cure all curable cases of this best-before much dreaded disease. These sand-like granules wasted, found in Rheumatic Blood seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

An Unsought Pardon.

Among the stories of that former governor of Texas familiarly known as Sam Houston is more than one amusing tale.

There was a financial agent of the penitentiary who had warmly opposed the election of Governor Houston, but was particularly anxious to retain his own pleasantly lucrative position. Consequently the new governor was soon in receipt of a petition in which the man's years of faithful service and special qualifications for the place were set forth in glowing terms by himself.

The governor sent for him and said gravely, "It appears from this petition that you have been in the penitentiary eight years."

"I have," was the reply.

"And during that time you have performed faithfully every duty that has come in your way to the best of your ability?"

"I have," answered the agent, his courage swiftly rising.

"Then, sir," said the governor, with the air of one conferring a priceless favor, "I pardon you out."

Put Out of Commission.

Abernethy was supposed to influence people by a brusqueness amounting to absolute rudeness. It is related that one day a very voluble lady took her daughter, who was ill, to see him.

"Which of you two wants to consult me?" said Abernethy.

"My daughter," replied the elder woman.

Abernethy then put a question to the girl. Before she had a chance to reply her mother began a long story. Abernethy told her to be quiet and repeated his question to the girl. A second time the woman began a story, and a second time he told her to be quiet. Then she interrupted him a third time.

"Put your tongue out," he said to the mother.

"But there's nothing the matter with me," she exclaimed.

"Never mind, put your tongue out," he commanded.

Thoroughly overawed, the woman obeyed.

"Now, keep it out," said Abernethy, and he proceeded to examine the girl.—Grand Magazine.

Dream Troubles.

"Once when I was blue," said a business man, "a friend told me I was worrying over imaginary troubles. He cheered me up with a yarn about his little nephew. This little fellow's sister said one morning:

"'Oh, Gussie, I had such a lovely dream last night! I dreamed I was at a cake shop, and I had such loads of good things—ice cream, pie, strawberry shortcake, chocolates, jelly macaroons, kisses and lots of other things besides.'

"The little boy's eyes glistened. He smiled with delight.

"'And what was I eating?' he asked eagerly.

"'Oh, you wasn't there, Gussie.'

The undersigned has received an allotment of unsold portion of $100,000 of

7 Per Cent. First Mortgage Five-Year Gold Bonds

dated January 11, 1908, and maturing January 11, 1913. These Bonds are offered at par and accrued interest by Metropolitan Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, trustees.

SECURITY—The Entire Property and Improvements Owned THE URES CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY in the District of Ures, State of Sonora Mexico, Free from Mortgage or Bonded Indebtedness except this present Bond Issue.

An Unusual Opportunity for Investment in Sound Security

The Ures Consolidated Mining Company offers $100,000.00 of First Mortgage Gold Bonds. This issue of bonds is the only mortgage or bonded indebtedness ever placed on the company's properties.

These bonds are in the denomination of $100.00, and bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, July and January, and are redeemable on or before five years from date at the company's option at $110.00 and accrued interest.

With each bond issued there will be given $100.00 par value of the capital stock of the company as a bonus, and in addition thereto there will be placed in escrow with the Trustee additional stock which will be available to the bondholders at their option any time within a period of three years, the bondholder being entitled to surrender his bond any time within said period and receive in lieu thereof stock for every dollar of indebtedness to him on account of said bonds.

The Security Back of these Bonds

The company owns twelve claims situated in the district of Ures, State of Sonora, Mexico, free from mortgage or bonded indebtedness, except the present bond issue.

On one of these properties (The Ramona Mine) 5,000 feet of underground development work has been done, consisting of an inclined shaft to the depth of 600 feet with drifts in three levels to the North and South of the shaft.

An average value of ore worth $11.47 per ton is exposed throughout the mine, from the collar of the shaft to the extreme parts in the drifts, all of which is above water level.

The company has made surface improvements and mine improvements to the extent of $60,000.00 in the way of machinery, skids, trams, steam hoists, mill and nearly everything necessary to make the mining camp complete.

In addition to the absolute ownership of these twelve valuable claims the company has a lease on the San Jose Mine, adjoining its property, in which the company has been operating in high grade ore.

During the past sixty days the company has extracted and delivered to ore buyers and the bank at Hermosillo, $8,000.00 worth of ore and bullion, the ore having been reduced to bullion through the company's mill, with the exception of 1,464 pounds, which was sold to an ore buyer for $562.50.

This issue of bonds is made for the purpose of securing money at once in order to extend the development work more quickly than the company's present means will permit.

With the high grade ore in sight to the distance of 50 feet to the South of the shaft, the management is assured that within six months from date of making the improvements now necessary the company's properties will be on a self-sustaining and dividend-paying basis.

The Stock which is Given with these bonds will be as valuable as the Bonds when the Company has the ready capital to push operations

Men who invest in these bonds will have no cause or reason to regret their action, for the bonds afford an investment in a security which is absolutely safe—much better than ordinary city or country real estate, which is considered perfectly safe if the property put up to secure a mortgage is double the face of the loan. The security given on these bonds is better than 7 to 1, for the Ures Consolidated Mining Company has refused an offer of $750,000.00 for the property upon which this $100,000.00 worth of bonds is issued.

These bonds are an investment with all speculative risk eliminated—an investment with absolute security.

Make your reservation at once. This is small and promises to be quickly sold.

Feb. 11th, 1908.

To whom it may concern:—

We hereby beg to state that The Ures Consolidated Mining Company has during the past five years made several deliveries of bullion to this bank, and it is the opinion of mining men here that they have the making of a fair mine, and further, that the properties owned and controlled by them bid promise of becoming paying properties.

From our knowledge of the men connected, we believe they are doing all in their power to bring about the results above mentioned.

RAWHIDE-DULZURA

1 CENT A 2 SHARE

Send us your name as a member in this new company, with your remittance for as many thousand shares as you can take at 55 per thousand.

This is a short-time offer on a hurry-up proposition. Our vice president is up at Rawhide now pushing the mines at work. We want to raise the necessary funds for development as quickly as possible. Therefore, are offering the first block of stock at 1½ a thousand shares. This subscription must be all cash. We want the money in hand. We mean to work without help, and we have made it an iron-clad rule not to run in debt. Cash counts now.

Our prospectuses are out. Send for one.

Make reservation of stock, if you do no more. But, remember, this present offer of stock at Half a Cent a Share is now open, and will be closed as soon as enough cash subscriptions are in hand. Don't wait, or you will get left.

The gold mining property owned outright by the company consists of 7 claims, 3 in the Rawhide district of Nevada, and 4 in the Dulzura district of Southern California.

The Rawhide district to-day is more famous than Goldfield, Tonopah, Bullfrog, or Searchlight were at the same stage of exploration and development. The Dulzura discovery is one of the most sensational in the history of California.

Ten samples of ore which were among the first assayed, run as high as $2,461.87 to the ton, and all ten averaged over $1,600 a ton.

In both camps we located early, and our locations are choice. Our own officers will superintend the mining.

How to Tell

If the Kidneys and Liver are Not Acting Well.

Thousands die every year from aggravated kidney distress that could have been saved if they only knew.

Your back may ache, you think it's tiredness or physical weakness.

You grow irritable and nervous—it's put down to loss of sleep.

Then digestion gets poor, appetite fades away, color bleaches, spirit droop.

Can't you see it's all from your over-worked kidneys, which can't keep the body clear of poisons that are now surging through the whole system.

Cure your kidneys with Dr. Hamilton's pills.

"When I was so stooped and back weary, so lame and sore with kidney and bladder trouble, I cured myself quickly with Dr. Hamilton's Pills" writes C. C. Ferrier, a well known merchant in Plainsville. "Dr. Hamilton's Pills touched the spot at once, gave my back ease, lifted depression and weariness, made a new man of me. I can also say for a good spring medicine to clear and enrich the blood Dr. Hamilton's Pills have no equal."

The housewife whose aching back makes every task duty a burden, the working man who is tired all day and can't rest at night, whose back aches, and whose feet swell—these people have kidney trouble. Women whose kidneys are sick suffer continually from blind and sick headaches, faint and dizzy spells, bearing down pains, sharps twinges when stooping, distressing urinary troubles, aching muscles and joints, lack of appetite and loss of sleep. Reach the cause. Cure the kidneys. Use Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills, which have cured thousands. 25c. at all dealers.

The Peterborough Poultry Association decided at a meeting Thursday night to hold a winter show in January. The study of birds was taken up. Monaco, Orpington and Hamburgs have been brought to the meetings for that purpose. A useful discussion of the fine points and objects of the birds was held. Other matters of interest and instruction were taken up.

A Fine 'Lunge

While fishing at Mudcawabec, Stony Lake, the pretty summer home of Mr. and Mrs. John Snyder, a few days ago, Mr. A. W. Greenman succeeded in landing a fine "lunge." There is no truth in the report that the fish weighed 15 pounds when caught. It probably tipped the scales at 18 or 20 pounds, but subsequently attained the greater weight.

"It also cured my daughter, who is 17 years old. She took one bottle according to directions. I assure you that no doctor is equal to your book and your advice. I have recommended your remedy to a number of persons."

RUMORED THAT F. F. McGUIGAN WILL BUILD TRANSMISSION LINE--GETS BIG CONTRACT

The Ex-Railway Man to Turn Contractor--Contract will be Signed This Week

Windsor is Expected to Take 15,000 H.P. from the Government

(Special to The Times)

Toronto, Aug. 8.—In letting the contract for the construction of transmission lines for electric power from Niagara to important cities and towns under contract with the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, the Ontario Government takes the most important and the most popular step in five years of a notable legislative and executive record.

Sir James Whitney the premier, and Hon. Adam Beck, the chairman of the commission, are to be congratulated on the loyalty to the people's interests which has carried them on to this point, and the other members of the cabinet who have supported the power policy are to be commended for the political longheadedness which has saved them from playing the opposition game and enabled them to share the triumph of the government campaign.

The contract, which will be signed early in the week, has been delayed for a few days in order to arrange for the embodiment of some options for extensions which will expedite the execution of the power policy as a whole, and save the trouble and expense of calling for new tenders. The options proposed will be for months and will cover the extension of the line beyond the original 329 miles to other points already tentatively included in the original plan.

Chief of these is the Windsor scheme. As Hon Adam Beck has stated on several occasions, a consumption of 15,000 horse power at Windsor is contemplated, provided an attractive figure for power can be arranged. The tenders for transmission line make such a proposition quite feasible, and with the figures at the disposal of the government there is no reason why the delivery of a block of 15,000 horse power cannot be arranged for the western end of the province within the six months mentioned in the option.

Other branch lines will be required almost immediately, as a number of municipalities who have hitherto been listening to the Liberal leaders and the corporation pleaders upon realizing that the power policy is operative and that the government means business, are bethinking themselves of the necessity of getting in line for cheap power.

Nothing has officially been stated as to the identity of the successful tenderer, but hotel and corridor gossip has awarded it to F. H. McGuigan, formerly of the Grand Trunk Railway, and no official contradiction has been received. The deposits of the successful tenderers have not yet been returned, and it is therefore technically correct to say that no award has yet been made. No doubt is entertained by Mr. McGuigan's friends of the success of his calculation. It is understood that a well-known engineering contractor in electrical work is associated with him in the enterprise.

To the people at large and the municipalities interested the most striking feature of the tenders is their demonstration of the extremely conservative nature of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission's estimate. The wildest assertions have been made by corporation advocates of the treasury of the commission's figures. They were always too low and too theoretical. The actual tenders, however, show that practical contractors were willing to take the figures and duty liberal slices off them to get the job. A saving of probably $400,000 will be realized on the building of the transmission lines, and this, of course, will go to reduce the price of power to the consumer. Under corporation rule this saving would go into the pockets of the capitalists. This is why the Ontario government power policy is popular with the electors.

HON. ADAM BECK,

Chairman of the Hydraulic Power Commission

Saving of Over $250,000 on Ontario Power Lines

Toronto, Aug. 8.—Premier Whitney announced today that the Cabinet would make known the result of the tenders for the transmission lines in a few days.

It is understood that the coming announcement of the closing of the Government contract for transmission will have more than ordinary significance, and will mark in a very distinctive manner the reliability of the Hydro-Electric Commission's estimates.

The tenders dealt with make it certain that the Government transmission lines and equipment will be built at over a quarter of a million dollars less than the lowest estimates, and the municipalities will directly profit by this savings.

It is understood that the commission have recommended the acceptance of the lowest tender, that of a prominent Canadian house, the object being to have the enterprise a wholly-made-in-Canada one. The tenderers are understood to be prepared to proceed with the work of building the transmission lines this fall.

The extensive character of the Government's plans will probably be further evidenced by a contract clause providing that, if notified by the government within six months, the contractors shall build the extension of transmission at present asked for at the same figures. This is understood to contemplate the extension of the Government system to Windsor if it be desired.

The contract will be on the basis of a bulk tender, and a time allowance for its completion will probably be incorporated.

Fire is Raging at Fernie, Only Heavy Rain Can Stop Destruction of Timber

Fernie, Aug. 8.—Under a scorching sun the ceaseless work of rebuilding the city has gone on today, and the result has been marvelous. Tonight, for the first time since the disaster many will sleep under a roof again. Particular attention has been devoted to the sanitary arrangements, and large bath-houses will be completed today, when all will be compelled to perform a scrupulous ablution, whether they appreciate the process or not. Lumber and supplies have been coming in, and very little work has been delayed by lack of material. The Bank of Hamilton opened up on their new premises for business yesterday, and the Home Bank and Bank of Commerce hope to be in a position to do so today.

FIRE STILL BURNS

The fires are still burning freely on the mountain sides, and eating into the good timber. There is no hope of extinguishing it, unless there is heavy rain soon, but from present indications there is none in sight. All the officers in connection with the relief work have been removed to the school premises, and are conveniently situated.

No further casualties have been reported, but it is impossible to make a thorough and approximate search yet.

RAILWAYS WORK HARD.

The Great Northern Railway is busily engaged in replacing the big bridge across the Elk River, and repairing their roadway, and the C. P. R. have completed the new station and freight sheds and have made good progress on their roadway. Everything is still running smoothly, and the same cheerful and confident feeling remains.

TENTS AND BEDDING WANTED.

The supplies needed most here at present are tents and bedding. A quantity despatched from Calgary immediately after the fire have proven most acceptable, and a shipment from Victoria, which it is reported has been cancelled, is being anxiously awaited. Women's and children's apparel is also greatly needed.

Food is coming in faster than it can be used, and it is estimated that there is now a supply on hand for about thirty days. The work of relief now includes the distribution of boxes hold at wards. The committee has done little or nothing yet in the way of giving out the cash received. This will be required for provision against the severity of the winter, if not used before, as tents will then be impracticable.

LOSS IN FERNIE $4,000,000.

An estimate of the losses sustained by business concerns in the city makes the amount $1,500,000, not including the loss of the Crow's Nest Coal Company, the railways or the Elk Lumber Company, which is likely to exceed $1,250,000. Losses by the destruction of private houses range from $1,250,000 to $1,500,000, making in all a loss of over $3,000,000 in the city itself. The insurance was not more than 40 per cent. on business properties and 25 per cent. on citizens.

The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company lost heavily by the destruction of the telephone and electric light system, and is anxious to sell out to the city.

Montreal, Aug. 8—The Royal Trust Company received a telegram from Lord Strathcona, who sailed yesterday for England, instructing it to donate on his account the sum of $5000 for the relief of the Fernie fire sufferers.

ONE HAMILTON VICTIM.

Hamilton, Aug. 8.—Mr. E. B. Lane, a son-in-law of Mrs. A. J. McNar, was among the victims of the Fernie holocaust. Other Hamiltonians were there at the time but escaped, among them being Mrs. Lane, James Lawry, of the Bank of Hamilton, Charles McAdam and J. A. Young.

No Paper Tomorrow

On account of this being Civic Holiday, there will be no issue of The Times tomorrow morning.

Montreal, Aug. 8.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier's policy anent the fast steamship line was told here today.

It is understood that the Canadian government will ask the C.P.R. and the Allan Company to constitute themselves into a composite corporation and place as many as five twenty-knot steamers at a commission, thus receiving the Canadian subsidy.

It remains to be seen, however, if the C.P.R. will willingly enter into partnership with their rivals, the Allans; as they have never yet gone into a deal with a rival railway or company, preferring in any case to have their own row, to use one of Sir William Van Horne's favorite expressions.

Down Goes Spooning Lid

—It's all up with the spooners in Victoria Park. After due consideration some of the unsentimental residents in that section of the city have decided to put the spooning lid on tight. Worse than that, they're going to interview the council to get a watchman appointed to sit on the lid. Our informant, who is going to, or is acting as the park Sherlock Holmes, will be on the job, and at the first hint of osculation, or the dove-like cooings of sweet nothings, it will be to the police station for Reginald and Mabel—That is if one of the residents here has his way.

Letter Received from Mrs. Peck at Fernie

One of our citizens received a letter Friday from Mrs. Peck in Fernie, which stated that only 14 houses were left standing in the fire stricken town. The large mills and lumber yards belonging to the Elk Lumber Co., were completely destroyed and that thirty people had been killed. They had a narrow escape from being burned, for they had to go through the fire and make their way across a river by means of a boom. All they saved was the clothes which they wore.

Life Depends on Healthy Blood

IS YOURS RICH AND PURE?

Blood is the soul of life.

Check its formation, reduce its quality, lessen its red cells—you at once sap strength and vitality—you peril life itself.

When you strengthen the blood, make it richer in red cells, increase its solid constituents, you supply the materials that rebuild—you furnish that disease-resisting element we call strength.

When you are weak and ailing—When appetite is poor—when mental efforts seem impossible, sleep hard to get, be sure your blood has grown poor and your nervous system in consequence is impaired.

Ferrozone's action upon the digestive powers is immediate—everything you eat is converted into nourishment and building material.

Ferrozone fortifies the action of the kidneys, liver and stomach, increases circulation, and by these means throws into the blood a vast store of material to build up and to strengthen.

Ferrozone by making blood and stimulating vital action, transmits to the debilitated brain cells, exhausted by toil, by anxiety, or by sickness, the strength they need.

The beneficent action of Ferrozone on the brain is transmitted through the nervous system, and all powers of the body are enormously increased.

Ferrozone enables the body to perform all its functions in a normal and natural way, and with an absolute freedom from reaction, which is the most positive assurance that the body is strengthened—not stimulated.

Whether the weakness you suffer is profound or of long standing, whatever the conditions are—if the blood is impaired, if its redness is reduced, if its activity is lessened—Ferrozone is an absolute and rapid remedy.

For any condition of weakness, debility or ill-health in men, women and children, you can't find so nourishing and strengthening a tonic as Ferrozone; try it, sold everywhere in 50c. boxes.

The Prize List and Vaudeville Acts will Surpass Other Years

The dates of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition will be Sept. 17, 18 and 19, and the directors are now getting busy to make it a grand success. They are going to make the horse races especially attractive.

The exhibition building will likely be entirely occupied and there is every prospect of a good midway. The directors are doing their best to encourage the people of this county to take an interest in the exhibition and to manifest it by exhibiting their stock. The prizes for horses, cattle, swine, poultry, etc., are tempting and it is hoped that a plentiful number of entries than in former years will be received. The entry lists will be ready in a few days and those wishing to receive one can do so by writing to the Secretary, Mr. Hall.

In front of the grand stand each day a high-class vaudeville program will be given. There will also be an evening performance when the grounds will be profusely lighted.

Monarchal Government For the United States

London, Aug. 8—A conspiracy which has for its object the overthrow of a Republican form of government in America and the establishment of a monarchy has been established in London, with ramifications in Berlin, Madrid, Paris and St. Petersburg. The conspirators make no secret of their plans, and have accorded many interviews to the London press, in which they have announced full details of the heinous plot.

Louis A. Gourdain, who claims New York, as his home, is apparently the conspirator-in-chief. For some time he has been stopping at a leading London hotel, where he has received the journalists and told them of his plans.

Mr. Gourdain admits that the revolution he is seeking to ferment cannot be accomplished without war and bloodshed, but he believes that the end to be accomplished is worth the means.

Mr. Gourdain solemnly declares that the American royalist party has branches in every State of the Union, and that all is in readiness to strike the blow for the queen—God bless her — when the European monarchs have given their consent and promised their influence.

Mr. Gourdain refuses to tell who is to be the first royal ruler of America, but he admits that that personage will be a queen rather than a king.

Town of Sterling Swept by Fire Peterboro Sends Assistance

The town of Sterling was visited by a big conflagration on Saturday night, when the whole town narrowly escaped being wiped out by the fire fiend. It was by the hardest kind of work, and heroic efforts of the citizens, assisted by a portion of the Peterborough fire brigade, that the place was saved from a terrible holocaust such as visited Fernie last week.

The origion of the fire was from the explosion of a gasoline tank in the business section of the town about 11 o'clock at night, and was not under control until seven o'clock Sunday morning.

The fire stricken town has only a hand pump and a reel of 2-inch hose to fight a fire with, and this was of little use for such a blaze. The local brigade was telephoned for about 12 o'clock, and Chief Howard with Firemen McBride and Lewis, after spending two hours and a half trying to get a special train, left with the engine and hose wagon. They arrived at Sterling about 4.30, and in 15 minutes had two streams playing on the fire. Had it not been for the local brigade no doubt the town would have been wiped out. The Belleville brigade was telephoned, but could give no assistance.

The entire business section of the town was ravaged by the flames. The loss will be over $100,000.

The local brigade arrived home at noon yesterday. One of the men left here stated to The Times representative that one man who owned a number of the stores which were burned walked up and down the street half crazed, as he had no insurance.

Couple Who Eloped Passed Through City

A local expressman stated Saturday that a couple who had eloped from Trenton passed through the city on their way probably to Stony Lake. A gentleman who got off the same train as the couple, told the expressman to keep an eye on them which he did. Each bought their own tickets. The woman changed her hat and one or two other articles of her outer clothing and appeared very nervous. She watched the man from a window of the ladies' waiting room and finally joined him as the Lakefield train started to pull out.

Steamer Premier Took Fire and Eight Lives were Lost

SIR JAMES WHITNEY

Who announced Saturday that the Cabinet would make known the result of the tenders for the transmission lines in a few days.

Four of the Passengers Overtaken by the Flames were on Holidays

Many Had not Time to Dress

Winnipeg, Aug. 9—The steamer Premier, Captain Stevens, of Selkirk, was burned to the water at Warren's Landing on Lake Winnipeg, Thursday morning. Six passengers and two of the crew failed to make their escape, and were burned to death. The docks, freighters, and several buildings in the immediate vicinity were also burned. The fire started in the hold, near the engine room, and made such rapid headway that escape was cut off for many of those aboard. The loss is estimated at $51,000, only partially insured.

THE DEAD AND INJURED

The dead are; Miss Antonia Couture of Selkirk, passenger; Walter Olsen of Gimli, Man., passenger; Miss Mary Pova of Winnipeg, passenger; Elmer Jones, son of J. Jones, manager Dominion Fish Company, Selkirk; Odie Overton, Selkirk; Leonard Fryer, Selkirk, all passengers; Gus Wells, of St. boniface, cook; Norman Smith, of Selkirk, assistant cook.

The injured; Miss Messer, of Norway House, burned on arms; Miss Webster, back injured by jumping overboard.

HAD $50,000 CARGO.

The Premier reached Warren's Landing Wednesday evening, and unloaded her cargo during the morning and afternoon. Capt. Stevens took a return cargo, which included $50,000 worth of furs, and all was in readiness to sail Thursday morning at one o'clock fire broke out in the hold near the engine room, and before the alarm could be sounded had cut off escape by the main companionway.

NO TIME TO DRESS.

There were about thirty-five sleeping on board, and these were cut off before they had time to dress. A few got away by the gang-plank, but others were forced to jump into the tug Idyll alongside. Little is known as to how the victims of the tragedy met their deaths. It is supposed, however, that they were cut off in the cabin, and were burned to death or smothered before the flames reached them. The first word of the tragedy reached Selkirk last night by the steamer Wolverine, which brought down the survivors of the burned steamer.

ON THEIR HOLIDAYS.

Jones, Overton and Fryer, the three boys, were on a holiday trip, as was also Miss Pova of Winnipeg. The Premier, the destroyed vessel, was the property of the Dominion Fish Company of Selkirk, plying on Lake Winnipeg between Selkirk and Warren's Landing, which is at the extreme northerly end of the lake.

Exhaustion

Made Worse by Coffee Drinking

There's a delusion about coffee which many persons, not necessarily chemists only, have just finding out.

That exhaustion from long hours of mental or physical work is increased by the injection of coffee, rather than relieved, as a well known fact. A prominent nerve professor found the true state of the coffee evil, and also the remedy. His wife tells his experience;

"For over thirty years my husband taught music 6 days a week and 12 to 14 hours a day. None too robust, such constant work made a drain on his strength so that he was often quite exhausted by Saturday night.

"He formed the habit of drinking strong coffee regularly with his meals. Occasionally when he did not have his coffee he would suffer from headache, nervousness and weakness. This alarmed him and me also, for we feared he was becoming a slave to coffee.

"About that time we heard of Postum and decided to try it. At first we did not like it, but soon learned it should be boiled 15 minutes after boiling commences, and then when served hot with cream and a little sugar, it was a drink fit for kings.

"My husband found he was gaining in weight while using Postum. He was rid of constipation, his headache disappeared and his nerves became strong.

"Now at 61 he is still able to work at teaching, selling instruments or superintending the farm, and can out-work many younger men.

"He has never gone back to coffee and says he never will. Recommending Postum to others is one of his hobbies. We are happy to say all our children drink Postum and are fond of it.

News In Brief

LIKE A "DUCHESS" NOVEL.

Ottawa, Aug. 6—Lady Violet Elliot, daughter of Lord Minto, now visiting at Government House, gave a unique demonstration yesterday of her ability to talk a nautical slice on the farm. While viewing a dairy farm at Deschenes with a Government House party, Earl Grey jokingly remarked to her, "I wonder if you can milk a cow?" Lady Violet promptly showed him that she could. The cow was milked, the milk put through the cooling process and then bottled by the daughter of India Viceroy.

Where School Elections are Hot

Harlan, Ky., Aug. 6.—In a pistol fight at the Howard store at Laymans last night John Blanton was killed, Sherman Blanton was shot in the arm, Stockly Osborne was mortally wounded, Lee Russell was seriously wounded, and a young man whose name is not known was also shot. The trouble grew out of a school election.

NO PRISON GOODS

Ottawa, Aug. 6—The Trade and Commerce Department received a cable from the New Zealand Government this morning announcing that the importation of prison-made goods into New Zealand was now absolutely prohibited. Hitherto there has been a surtax of 20 per cent. ad valorem duty on all such imports.

JUMP IN WHEAT.

Winnipeg, Aug. 6.—The wheat market today was the most sensational for many months, and just before the close it jumped 4 1-2 cents. American bulls certainly came down with their horns on this morning. Wherever the cause, runaway markets were the order of the morning. There were no further rust stories, but nothing of consequence. It remains to be seen whether the public will be as easily taken in as they were by the same touch last year.

RED CROSS OFFERS RELIEF.

Ottawa, Aug. 6—Sir Wilfrid Laurier has received the message from the Secretary of the American National Red Cross in Washington:

"American Red Cross expresses deep sympathy for fire sufferers and authorizes you to draw on it at National Bank, Washington, for $1,000 for relief."

To this Sir Wilfrid replied: "Many thanks. I refer your very kind offer to the Mayor of Fernie."

CHILD BURNED TO DEATH.

Sussex, N.B., Aug. 6.—While Mrs. John Lucas of Rachelville was visiting a neighbor yesterday her two-year-old son was burned so badly that he died shortly after. When the mother returned she found the child's clothing entirely burned off and the little one unconscious on the floor. Two other small children were in the house at the time, and it is supposed playing with matches caused fatality.

APPLE CROP PROSPECTS

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Aug. 6.—The International Apple Shippers' Association met here today in convention, prominent shippers of the United States and Canada being present. The association adopted a report protesting against an increase in freight rates, and demanding better classifications from the railroads, reciprocal demurrage, proper equipment and more icing stations. The shippers complain that only the southern lines have provided them with information regarding the running of cars, although all roads are requested to do so. Complaints were also made about the handling of fruit by steamship companies. The shippers say prospects for a big apple yield

DASH FOR LIBERTY.

Montreal, Aug. 6—The court house was thrown into confusion today by the daring break for freedom made by Antonio Grouard, one of the most hardened of the younger criminals known to the local police. Grouard was in the cells on the ground floor of the court house, awaiting trial on a charge of burglary before Judge Choquet in the court of sessions, and by some inadvertence the keys were left in the cell door.

Grouard saw his chance and slipping open the door, he made a dash at the partition, seized it and fled along the corridor towards the main entrance.

Two policemen who were standing in the hall saw the flight, and were after him like four, out on the square and up along Notre Dame street. Passers-by joined in the hue and cry, and soon the constables began to creep up on Grouard, who is more or less weakened by previous fare. He turned down St. Francois Xavier St., and the constables by a desperate spurt succeeded in catching him opposite the elevator at the foot of the street. He was taken back to the cells and heavily ironed.

Steamer Waterlily.

The Lakefield Navigation Co. will be seen by an advertisement in another column. The Gilmour Navigation Company's steamer Water Lily has entered upon her regular season's work. An undoubtedly popular trip to the people of this village and district will be that run to Peterborough on Saturdays, leaving Lakefield at 9.00 a.m. and returning at 6.00 p.m. giving those who have business in the city over five hours in which to transact it. The fare to Peterborough and return is 60c. Another popular feature is that villagers here may take the boat at 6.00 p.m. on Saturday evenings for any point on Stony Lake, and return on Monday morning at 9.00 a.m., return fare 75c. The service which the boat affords over other daily trips is equally good.

Bryan's Chance.

New York, Aug. 6—Colonel Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, and chairman of the advisory press committee of the Democratic National Committee, was asked today whether he agreed with the statement of Wm. J. Bryan that he was going to be elected. Watterson replied: "Of course. But it is too early to forecast an election three months away. No campaign committee has yet unfurled its flag. It goes without saying that the Republicans are far in the lead of the Democrats in equipment and resources. They are good goods, I realize,—we the raw militia and minute men. They have to [illegible] and crack jokes. But the race is not always to the swift, nor the battle to the strong and I think we have something better than a glorious chance."

Jap Women Coming.

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 7. There will be many marriages when the steamer Tosa Maru, which arrives Wednesday, reaches Seattle, for there are over thirty Japan women mostly married by proxy and [illegible] photographs only, which will have to be claimed by husbands before immigration officers will let them land.

The immigrants for Victoria will be the small number landed here by the steamer, there are all told 627,300 yen Oyama to the buyer, organized in South China against Japan, that would be Chinese passing in and out little forgotten China. The steamer was also chartered Fined Two Dollars.

Lindsay, Aug. 6—Mr. W. English appeared before Magistrate Moore yesterday afternoon after being summoned for the fifth time. He was charged with deserting conduct on the train from Peterborough to Lindsay on July 13th.

Mr. Howard Scott was the first witness called, and he testified he saw Bat and English causing a row and that English fell on him in his seat. English then got up and went away.

Mr. A. Bates was present and saw the trouble. He was standing near the end of car when English came up and muttered something to him, and he told him it was all right. English came back again and he caught him by the wrists, but was struck by him on the face. Bates then pushed him over a seat. English was the worse of liquor.

Under the cross-examination of Mr. Knight he said that English was somewhat rough in manner up and down the seat, and he thought he had no more than a couple of drinks in him.

The accused was then sworn and said he did not think he was to blame for the trouble and claimed that he was sober. When asked by the magistrate if he had any liquor on him, he replied that he had a few drinks, but not enough to make him drunk.

The magistrate said he thought the travelling public should not be subjected to the foul language of drunken men. The ladies and children, he said, were in a place where they could not escape.

His worship then imposed a fine of two dollars and costs, to be paid inside of two weeks.

The footprints of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the Stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For [illegible] druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. First, these tiny inside Stomach, Heart, and Kidney nerves fail. Then gas bloating, Heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment you will realize the gain. A test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

RISE OF JOHN BURNS.

Some people are laboring under the belief that England is less democratic than a republic. They should study the rise of John Burns, now president of the local governing board. Thirty-five years ago he was an engineer's apprentice at $2 a week. This position in England is far more menial than in this country, because a lad has little hope of rising to an earning point beyond 6 or 8 shillings a day. But John Burns kept going.

He acquired an education by self study, because the common school system, as we understand the words, does not exist in Great Britain. He developed the ability to talk upon his feet. He stood for parliament, although he hadn't a shilling besides his earnings as an expert workman.

Members of the British parliament are not paid anything for their services. Friends came to Burns' assistance, and he took his seat with nearly forty other representatives of labor. Today he is a member of the government and as privy councilor may, if he chooses, draw $25,000 per year for the rest of his life, whether in or out of office.

Of course it is not considered regular to take the salary when one is out of office, but some cases of the kind are well remembered. Benjamin Disraeli always drew the money. He needed it, he asserted.

But what I started to say is that a workman has as great a chance in England as here if he makes something of himself beyond a drudge. Such successes are more exceptional there than here, if reference be had to the American born workman, because the foreign born laborer does as little work as he can here or elsewhere. His indolence is infectious, and many formerly earnest toilers have become imbued with the continental belief in shirking duty.

Had Burns felt thus he would still be a mechanic and carrying a dinner pail. — Julius Chambers in Brooklyn Eagle.

Pronounce It Loce Ang-el-eez.

Mayor Harper may ask concerted action toward promulgating the official pronunciation of the name Los Angeles. Repeatedly inquiries have come to city officials asking for the true pronunciation, which queries have been usually referred to experts for reply.

The latest, from Horace G. Adams of Fort Smith, was turned over to Librarian Charles F. Lummis, an authority on southwestern words and customs, who sent to Mayor Harper a copy of his reply, with a suggestion that some official action be taken to get the correct pronunciation firmly established. This is Mr. Lummis' answer to Mr. Adams:

"The word is pronounced 'Loce' (to rhyme with dose) Ang-el-ess approximately—the most vital thing is the hard 'g.' There is no jelly sound in Spanish. I take pleasure in answering your query, which is referred to me by his honor A. C. Harper, mayor of this city."—Los Angeles Herald.

First Dining Car.

"Just forty years ago," said T. C. Newton, a Chicago railroad man, "the Chicago and Alton railroad put on the first dining car ever operated on any railway train in the world. This was on the run between Chicago and St. Louis. If that car could be exhibited now it would create universal merriment. It had oilcloth table covers, the seats were screwed to the floor, and its illumination depended on candles.

"Think of the contrast between that primitive affair of 1868 and the modern dining car, finished in solid mahogany, with gorgeous furniture and a menu as elaborate and cooking as dainty as those supplied by any of the foremost hotels of America. Verily we have been 'going some' in the four decades that have gone by since the Alton's first crude experiment."—Baltimore American.

Camera Eye and Index Brain.

What would you say of a gentleman who having looked once into the face of each of those soldiers that made up the grand army which Napoleon took to Russia and being told the soldier's name would know him, name and face, two years, ten years, twenty years later? Think of a gentleman who could thus have called the muster roll of an army of 100,000 men. Such, however, would seem to be the fell power of eye and memory which belongs to Detective William P. Sheridan of Mulberry street, New York, the "man with the camera eyes," and a low estimate declares that he has filed away in his brain, each tagged with the proper name, the pictures of no fewer than 100,000 men.—Broadway Magazine.

Wrecking Windmills a New Industry.

The passing of the windmill in England, antiquated by such recent power producers as the gas engine and electric motor, has given life to a new industry—windmill wrecking. The old windmill builders understood their business and meant their handiwork to last, and so the demolishing of such structures is no simple task. Many of the old mills stood 100 feet high and had eight or nine floors fitted with four runs of stones and contained tons upon tons of brick. Often these huge mills stand close to other buildings, and accidents would be inevitable if the wreckers did not have experience in their tasks.—Popular Mechanics.

BEST SPELLER IS 73.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 6.—Mrs. Douglas Gilbert, aged 73, of Pana, Ill., the oldest person to participate in the annual world's spelling match in connection with the Winona Lake Assembly program, won first honors and was awarded a purse of $20.

Without hesitation she spelled "consternation," on which A. B. Curry of Memphis, Tenn., and Hella Sawyer of Muncie, Ind., who carried off the second and third honors, went down. Other words that proved stumbling stones to the eighty contestants were erysipelas, surrogate, prerogative, phlegm, caoutchouc and incendiary. Five went down on phlegm.

WORKING WITH GLASS

FREAKS OF THE BLOWPIPE.

Quaint Specimen Shapes That Are Sometimes Dropped From the Puntil. How Bottles Are Made by the Clever and Dexterous Workmen.

If a stranger enters the glass works on a dark night he will find not only beauty in the blowing operations, but a great deal of humor, with an uncanny weirdness in flame and shadow that must affect his imagination to some extent. The building is circular, with a chimney sticking up through the middle of it, from the top of which a peculiar intermittent light is flickering. In the center of this building, underneath the chimney, stands a conical furnace of brick containing perhaps no fewer than eight holes which are like fiercely glaring suns and from which pour expanding broad rays of orange colored light. If your eyes are strong enough to look through the holes from which the orange beams of light emerge you see several hundredweight of molten metal shining silvery green in as many earthen dome shaped melting pots.

The nature of different kinds of glass is dependent upon the quality of the raw material, called "batch," put into the melting pots. "Batch" is a mixture of such materials as Calais sand, or common river sand abounding in silica, salt cake, or sodium carbonate and much lime. Blue colors may be obtained by adding oxide of cobalt, green by means of a chrome, black by manganese and amber. The mass of molten metal got from this opaque, earthy looking "batch" has frequently to be skimmed of impurities, but it is nevertheless a problem whence comes that wonderful and enduring transparency which everybody likes to see in glass.

Until the hour strikes for the workmen to commence operations you may find them experimenting for amusement or profit with the blowpipe. You will see many an enormity produced in glass the like of which can scarcely ever have been dropped from a puntil before. Specimens are blown out to the thinness of a tissue paper bag, which another puff of wind explodes with a crack, or a glowing glass pear is for very wantonness knocked off the puntil so that it may vanish with a report on the floor, its hue and heat being extinguished immediately. The floor all around the furnace chamber is covered with brittle shining splinters and particles of glass, which crackle underfoot at every step. One of the men may bring you a mass of metal on a blowpipe and ask you to expend a few cheekfuls of wind upon it. The pipe takes no more blowing than a trombone, though it lacks a mouthpiece, and you may expand the bubble until it is black and cold, so fragile that it will break into a myriad pieces if you touch it. The molten glass is so ductile that it may be spun out into a thread, and the men often vie with each other to see who can make the longest and thinnest strand.

At the signal to commence work the men, already partly stripped to the waist, poke their four foot blowpipe through the hole of the crucible opposite to which they work, twisting it round until it has taken up sufficient of the copy and viscid glass for one bottle. The man who is clever at his work will, of course, gather up neither too much nor too little for the thickness of the bottle required. He can tell without looking through the furnace holes when he has enough by the weight added to his pipe. Thus all around the fiery furnace there are figures moving continually across the lurid light, most of them dexterously wielding their blowpipes and balancing at the end of each one the exact quantity of vitrified matter to make a bottle. The amateur would find it difficult to balance the molten mass. The chances are that it would drop on the floor, never to be picked up again.

At the same moment you will see bottles in all stages of growth—some glittering gold, others cooling down to orange or red, some in the forms of plummets or dazzling pears, others as incandescent bosses threatening to become fragile bladders. It is all as charming as a pyrotechnic display. You will see the black blowpipe twirled round, blown down, held up like a gun barrel, then in the form of an incandescent lamp globe turned round on a beeswaxed cast iron implement called a marler, on whose edge the bottle neck is formed. It is held up once more, blown into, then shut up in a cast iron mold placed at the operator's feet somewhat below the level of the ground. This mold is opened and closed by a wire spring, which the operator presses with his feet, and directly the red hot bottle is inclosed he blows down the pipe once more so as to fill it completely.

A man goes round from mold to mold inserting a rod into the neck of each bottle and collecting a trayful to go to the annealing chamber. Here the bottles are stacked up for a gradual cooling process, which may possibly last thirty-six hours. This gives them the desired strength. The annealing process is a cure for their natural fragility and enables them to stand the test of boiling water.—London Globe.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds; it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help

If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen those Nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

7 Per Cent. First Mortgage Five-Year Gold Bonds

dated January 11, 1908, and maturing January 11, 1913. These Bonds are offered at par and accrued interest by Metropolitan Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, trustee.

SECURITY—The Entire Property and Improvements Owned THE URES CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY in the District of Ures, State of Sonora Mexico, Free from Mortgage or Bonded Indebtedness except this present Bond issue.

An Unusual Opportunity for Investment in Sound Security

The Ures Consolidated Mining Company offers $100,000.00 of First Mortgage Gold Bonds. This issue of bonds is the only mortgage or bonded indebtedness ever placed on the company's properties.

These bonds are in the denomination of $100.00, and bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, July and January, and are redeemable on or before five years from date at the company's option at $110.00 and accrued interest.

With each bond issued there will be given $100.00 par value of the capital stock of the company as a bonus, and in addition thereto there will be placed in escrow with the Trustee additional stock which will be available to the bondholders at their option any time within a period of three years, the bondholder being entitled to surrender his bond any time within said period and receive in lieu thereof stock for every dollar of indebtedness to him on account of said bonds.

The Security Back of these Bonds

The company owns twelve claims situated in the district of Ures, State of Sonora, Mexico, free from mortgage or bonded indebtedness, except the present bond issue.

On one of these properties (The Ramona Mine) 6,000 feet of underground development work has been done, consisting of an inclined shaft to the depth of 600 feet with drifts in three levels to the North and South of the shaft.

An average value of ore worth $11.67 per ton is exposed throughout the mine, from the collar of the shaft to the extreme parts in the drifts, all of which is above water level.

The company has made surface improvements and mine improvements to the extent of $60,000.00 in the way of machinery, skids, trams, steam hoists, mill and nearly everything necessary to make the mining camp complete.

In addition to the absolute ownership of these twelve valuable claims, the company has a lease on the San Jose Mine, adjoining its property, in which the company has been operating in high grade ore.

During the past sixty days the company has extracted and delivered to ore buyers and the bank at Hermosillo, $3,600.00 worth of ore and bullion, the ore having been reduced to bullion through the company's mill, with the exception of 1,456 pounds, which was sold to an ore buyer for $562.80.

This issue of bonds is made for the purpose of securing money at once in order to extend the development work more quickly than the company's present income will permit.

With the high grade ore in sight to the distance of 50 feet to the South of the shaft, the management is assured that within six months from date of making the improvements now necessary the company's properties will be on a self-sustaining and dividend-paying basis.

The stock which is Given with these bonds will be as valuable as the bonds when the Company has the ready capital to push operations

Men who invest in these bonds will have no cause or reason to regret their action, for the bonds afford an investment in a security which is absolutely safe—much better than ordinary city or country real estate, which is considered perfectly safe if the property put up to secure a mortgage is double the face of the loan. The security given on these bonds is better than 7 to 1, for the Ures Consolidated Mining Company has refused an offer of $750,000.00 for the property upon which this $100,000.00 worth of bonds is issued.

These bonds are an investment with all speculative risk eliminated—an investment with absolute security.

Make your reservation at once. This is small and promises to be quickly sold.

To whom it may concern:—

We hereby beg to state that The Ures Consolidated Mining Company has during the past five years made several deliveries of bullion to this bank, and it is the opinion of mining men here that they have the making of a fair mine, and further, that the properties owned and controlled by them bid promise of becoming paying properties.

From our knowledge of the men connected, we believe they are doing all in their power to bring about the results above mentioned.

1 CENT A 2 SHARE

Send us your name as a member in this new company, with your remittance for as many thousand shares as you can take at 15 per thousand.

This is a short-time offer on a hurry-up proposition. Our vice president is up at Rawhide now putting the miners at work. We want to raise the necessary funds for development as quickly as possible. Therefore, we offer the first block of stock at 15 a thousand shares. This subscription must be all cash. We want the money in hand. We mean to work without let-up, and we have made it an inflexible rule not to run in debt. Cash counts now.

Our prospectuses are out. Send for one.

Make reservation of stock. If you do no more. But, remember, this present offer of stock at Half a Cent a Share is now open, and will be closed as soon as enough cash subscriptions are in hand. Don't wait, or you will get left.

The gold mining property owned outright by the company consists of 7 claims, 5 in the Rawhide district of Nevada, and 2 in the Dulzura district of Southern California.

The Rawhide district to-day is more famous than Goldfield, Tonopah, Bullfrog, or Searchlight were at the same stage of exploration and development. The Dulzura discovery is one of the most sensational in the history of California.

Ten samples of ore which were among the first assayed, ran as high as $7,461.67 to the ton, and all ten averaged over $1,500 a ton.

In both camps we located early, and our locations are choice. Our own officers will superintend the mining.

At St. John's Yesterday

Rev. D. Foster conducted all services at St. John's church yesterday. The attendance at morning prayer was very gratifying to the gentleman and church officials, especially so considering the fact that so many citizens have taken advantage of the cheap thirty-day rates for holiday seekers. Consequent upon today being Civic Holiday, At both morning and evening prayers, Dr. Foster preached eloquent and thoughtful sermons. His effort in the morning being very acceptably expository of the ways in which the Holy Spirit becomes miraculously manifest in the lives of Christians. In the course of a learned discourse, he showed that the word "temperance" meant to be temperate in all things. In the evening Dr. Foster turned his hearers along, to many a new line of thought as to the character of Solomon.

NO MAN IS STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH.

Let the greatest athlete have dyspepsia and his muscles would soon fail. Physical strength is derived from food. If a man has insufficient food he loses strength. If he has no food he dies. Food is converted into nutrition through the stomach and bowels. It depends on the strength of the stomach to what extent food eaten is digested and assimilated. People can die of starvation who have abundant food to eat, when the stomach and its associate organs of digestion and nutrition do not perform their duty. Thus the stomach is really the vital organ of the body. If the stomach is "weak" the body will be weak also, because it is upon the stomach the body relies for its strength. And as the body, considered as a whole, is made up of its several members and organs, so the weakness of the body as a consequence of "weak" stomach will be distributed among the organs which compose the body. If the body is weak because it is ill-nourished that physical weakness will be found in all the organs—heart, liver, kidneys, etc. The liver will be torpid and inactive, giving rise to biliousness, loss of appetite, weak nerves, feeble or irregular action of heart, palpitation, dizziness, headache, backache and kindred disturbances and weaknesses.

Mr. Louis Pare, of Quebec, writes: "For years after my health began to fail, my head grew dizzy, eyes pained me, and my stomach was sore all the time, while everything I would eat would seem to lie heavy like lead on my stomach. The doctors claimed that it was dyspepsia trouble due to disease, and prescribed for me, and although I took their powders regularly yet I felt no better. My wife advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and stop taking the doctor's medicine. She bought me a bottle and we soon found that I began to improve, so I kept up the treatment. I took six bottles, my stomach became normal, the digestive organs worked perfectly and I soon began to look like a different person. I can never cease to be grateful for what your medicine has done for me and I certainly give it highest praise."

Don't be wheedled by a penny-grabbing dealer into taking inferior substitutes for Dr. Pierce's medicines, recommended to be "just as good."

Then gas bloating, Heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. CHIEF HOWARD'S REPORT.

Peterborough, Ont., Aug 11, '08.
To the Chairman and Committee, on Fire, Water and Light.

Gentlemen,—I beg leave to submit report No. 3 of the Fire Department as follows;—

At 12.05 a.m., August 9th, I received a long distance telephone message from Mr. W. R. Mather, reeve of Stirling, Ontario, to the effect that the town of Stirling, was in danger of being wiped out by fire, and that an explosion had occurred that wrecked a number of buildings in the business portion of the town.

Mr. Mather, on behalf of his council, petitioned for assistance. I informed the gentleman that if I could procure the necessary authority, we would proceed at once.

I immediately summoned his Worship Mayor Rush, and Ald. Johnston, chairman of your committee. Those gentlemen responded to the call with all possible haste, and gave me a written order to assist Stirling in so far as lay in our power, without crippling the service for Peterborough.

We took the steam fire engine and 1,000 feet of hose. I was accompanied by Ald. J. W. Johnston, two of your firemen, and six gentlemen, who very kindly volunteered their services. Thus leaving our own city well protected. Two men employed in Robinson's livery agreed to respond to any calls of fire during our absence.

We were unable to get a train until about 2.40 a.m., and by the time we arrived at the scene of the disaster, the most of the danger was over. We were able however to save a large general store, owned and occupied by Mr. Shea, and a block of buildings owned by Mr. Mather, the reeve. We pumped water for two, and a half hours to cool off the ruins. We were given breakfast at the Stirling House after the fire was entirely under control, and returned to Peterborough, arriving at 12 o'clock noon, August 9th.

To the Chairman and Committee on Fire, Water & Light;

His Worship Mayor Rush, received a telegram from the Reeve of Stirling, to the effect that the Corporation of Stirling would bear all expense in connection with the trip.

I also wish to mention that at the time this call was received, the Fire Department was without an engineer, and Mr. William Dandie, of the firm of McColl Bros. & Co., Toronto, very kindly volunteered to act as engineer, until such time as we could secure the services of another engineer. I may state that this gentleman is a first class engineer, with many years' experience, and was for a considerable period a member of the Examining Board, of the Ontario Association of Stationary Engineers. Mr. Dandie would not accept remuneration for his services.

All of which is respectfully submitted. I have the honor to be, Sirs,

Your Obedient Servant.
W. A. HOWARD,
Chief Fire Dept.

Hobo Disappearing?

Western Railroads Having Much Less Trouble Than Formerly

From the west comes the news that many railroads are cutting down their detective and police forces which are employed to keep tramps off their property. Railway managers in the far west declare that the tramp evil is disappearing, that "Weary Willies" have given up the tide routes and gone to work.

Which, if true, is comforting information. Since the civil war the country every year has been burdened by an army of men too lazy to work. They have pillaged farmhouses, freight depots, and unprotected stores. The winter's snows send them south, the blooms of April bring them north.

In a statement made by an officer of the Pennsylvania Railroad some time ago that company is alleged to have of Coxey's army $5,480,000 because of tramps. They have wrecked trains, carelessly set fire to warehouses, held occasional raids on some ticket office safe.

Recurring Headaches

DO THEY BOTHER YOU?

You find life a miserable affair because you have headaches, but you have neither nerves nor are you weak—You know if you could only prevent headaches you would enjoy perfect health.

Such headache is but one of a general low vitality condition, because they arise from a general decay of the nervous system.

This depressed condition of the nervous system has its origin in the reduction of the quality and quantity of the blood.

If you had used Ferrozone you would know how powerfully all the digestive and assimilative functions of the body are stimulated.

Ferrozone does more—it supplies all the elements that are essential to the rebuilding of the body—supplies the reconstructive forces that contribute to the formation of rich, red blood.

You see, Ferrozone doesn't treat a symptom—it remedies a cause—and that's why a month's treatment will absolutely remove every vestige of recurring nervous headaches.

Nothing like Ferrozone to build you up, to give the reserve of force, that happy health that contributes so much to happiness and contentment.

Ferrozone will make you feel like new, try it—sold by all druggists in 50c. boxes.

Whose Say-so is Best?

With nearly all medicines put up for sale through druggists, one has to take the maker's say-so alone as to their curative values. Of course, such testimony is not that of a disinterested party and accordingly is not to be given the same credit as if written from disinterested motives. Dr. Pierce's medicines, however, form a single and therefore striking exception to this rule. Their claims to the confidence of invalids does not rest solely upon their makers' say-so or praise. Their ingredients are matters of public knowledge, being printed on each separate bottle wrapper. Thus invalid sufferers are taken into Dr. Pierce's full confidence. Scores of leading medical men have written enough to fill volumes in praise of the curative value of the several ingredients entering into these well-known medicines.

Amongst these writers we find such medical lights as Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Rennet Medical College, Chicago; Prof. Hale, of the same city; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati, Ohio; Prof. John King, M. D., late of Cincinnati, Ohio; Dr Grover Cox, of New York; Dr. Barbour, of Jefferson Medical College, of Pa., and scores of others equally eminent.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the worst cases of female weakness, prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion and corrects irregularities, cures painful periods, dries up disagreeable and weakening drains, sometimes known as pelvic catarrh and a multitude of other diseases peculiar to women. Bear in mind it is not a patent nor even a secret medicine, but the "Favorite Prescription" of a regularly educated physician, of large experience in the care of woman's peculiar ailments, who frankly and confidingly takes his patients into his full confidence by telling them just what his "Prescription" is composed of. Of no other medicine put up for woman's special maladies and sold through druggists, can it be said that the maker is not afraid to deal thus frankly, openly and honorably, by letting every patient know the same know exactly what she is taking.

How to preserve health and beauty is told in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It is free. For a paper-covered copy send Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. 21 one-cent stamps to cover mailing only; in cloth binding 50 stamps

Another Fatal Trolley Wreck--Three Dead and Forty Wounded

Two of the Wounded will Die--Cars were Crowded One Car Telescoped the Other

Making Up Lost Time

Piqua, Ohio, Aug. 11.—Three persons were killed and nearly forty others injured, two fatally, when two limited suburban electric cars of the Western Ohio Traction Company collided at a sharp curve a few miles north of here last night.

The dead;

James K. Jobs, passenger, Dayton, Ohio.

Wm. McClellan, passenger, Lockington, Ohio.

William Bailey, motorman, Piqua, Ohio.

Fatally injured;

George Robinson, banker, Sydney, Ohio.

C. M. Hunsbarger, Detroit, Mich.

Both trolley cars were late, and in addition to their usual high speed, are said to have been making up lost time. It is said that the southbound car from Sydney had orders to reach and lay over at a siding just north of Sydney, there to wait until the northbound car from here passed. As the southbound car rounded a curve just before reaching the switch the northbound car hove in sight.

In an instant there was a crash. The southbound car was telescoped and almost completely reduced to splinters. It was on this car that the greatest number were injured.

Motorman Bailey jumped from his car and was killed. The passengers in the other car had the slightest warning. The cars were crowded. The passengers were hurled forward by the impact, and thrown in a heap among the broken seats and splintered glass and timbers. Shelby County Infirmary, near the scene of the wreck, sent employees to the scene, and with their help the injured were removed to the infirmary, which was made a temporary hospital.

Few escaped without some minor hurt.

Edward Hoig Seriously Injured in a Dynamite Explosion in Dummer

Norwood, Aug. 11—His left eye blown out, his thumb and finger off his left hand, and his right arm broken in three places is the unfortunate condition of Edward Hoig, of this village, as the result of a dynamite explosion. The accident occurred this morning on the property of Mr. Nicholas Collins, 9th line of Dummer, where Mr. Hoig, accompanied by William McDougall, was blasting for a well.

Only meagre details of the accident have yet reached Norwood, but it is likely the cause was a premature explosion. McDougall, who is but a young man of twenty, was grievously injured about the head; his left was cut through his forehead and his face and head terribly mangled. The injured men were brought to the village by Mr. Boyle, and are now at Mr. Fred Robroy's residence, and under the care of Dr. Wilson, of Norwood, and Dr. Holdercroft of Havelock. The exact result of the explosion and the extent of the injuries are not yet known. Mr. Hoig is a married man, but has no children. McDougall is unmarried.

Crops in far West Uniformly Good, Yield will be Heavy

Heads of Wheat Plump and well Filled, Prof. Saunders Says

Latest Grist of News

Ottawa, Aug. 11.—Prof. W. A. Saunders, director of experimental farms, wires the Department of Agriculture from Indian Head, Sask., under date the 10th inst., as follows;

"From Brandon to Indian Head large areas of wheat were seen. The growth stronger with longer straw than east of Brandon. In western part of this district crops on well prepared land uniformly good. Weather warm and very dry. Grain ripening very rapidly. Cutting will begin in three or four days, and be general in a week to ten days. Crops very good all through the Indian Head district. Heads of wheat very plump and well filled. On experimental farm crops are uniformly excellent, and promise very heavy yields. Fall wheat and early barleys already cut. Early spring wheats nearly ready."

Winnipeg, Man., August 11.— The fine weather with which the western crops have been favoured almost interruptedly since the seed was put in the ground continues, and Winnipeg looks forward with hope to the handling of the greatest movement of grain which the west has yet seen. The past week has seen the beginning of cutting in Manitoba and swell as on several points in Alberta and Saskatchewan. Only in a few isolated instances, however, has wheat cutting started, and it is generally barley which is being harvested.

Geo. Fowler Won the Otonabee Road Race

The five-mile road race held by the Otonabee Athletic Club Monday, was a great success and drew a large crowd. It was won by George Fowler, who ran a good race, making the course in 29 min and 12 sec. Young Smoke, an Indian, was fast for the start, but made it in 30 min. and 6 sec. The following is the way they finished;

1. Geo. Fowler, Peterborough.
2. Everett Kidd, Otonabee.
3. Geo. Cross, Peterborough.
4. Jimmy O'Brien, Peterborough.
5. Archie Ross, Otonabee.

Mr. Jas. Rose was the starter, Mr. Frank Wise, timer, Messrs. Henry McCaffery, Norman Perry and W. K. Huston were at the half-way turn and Messrs. D. Rose and Tommy Spiers were clerks of the course.

The race will likely be an annual affair.

Says This Medicine Has Mystic Powers

Will Assist Anyone in Weak, Pale, Nervous Condition to Robust, Hearty, Health.

It's in the spring that health gives out—that folks begin to feel draggy, weary, restless,—hate to eat, look pale, feel discouraged.

If you've reached this state, read what J. W. Jerrell, well known in Morristown, has to say about the medicine that cured him. "Last winter I caught a heavy cold that settled in my back. My kidneys and liver were affected and my health failed. By spring I was in bad shape—couldn't sleep like I used to—felt tired in the morning—ate very little—was terribly depressed, pale and anxious looking. Twinges of rheumatism, frequent neuralgia attacks over the temples, made matters worse. The doctor prescribed three times, but didn't help. Then I heard of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.—They possess mystic power surely, for I gained and improved day by day and now am in perfect health again. I will praise and use Dr. Hamilton's Pills till I die."

The ingredients in Dr. Hamilton's Pills are pure and wholesome—come right from the storehouse of Nature in the form of vegetable juices and extracts.—consequently this gentle invigorating laxative tonic and blood purifier is safe for old and young alike. We assure you of enormous benefit from Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which revitalize, defeat, glands, search out the seat of hidden disease, flood the body with vigor and health that has caused thousands of broken-down, despairing men and women to join in a mighty song of praise for the beneficient aid that comes from this king of all tonics. Get Dr. Hamilton's Pills today, 25c at all dealers.

Typos' Eight Annual Outing to Idyl-Wyld was The Best Ever

The eighth annual outing of Peterborough Typographical Union No. 248, held on Monday (civic Holiday), was the banner excursion of the season, in fact of many seasons.

The steamer Otonabee left the city at 8.30 a.m. with its full complement. Without the suggestion of a boast it was the largest picnic the Otonabee has yet carried.

That which comes closest to it was held exactly one year ago, when the printers took the same trip on Civic Holiday, 1907. The long 25 or 26 miles to Idyl Wyld was covered in good time, it being scarcely high noon when the boat was moored at its Rice Lake destination. Without going any further it must be said that the printers are truly grateful for the splendid weather which graced their annual outing. The breeze that blew down the lake from the west—a breeze that was cooled by the wide expanse of water and yet filtered by the sun's warm rays in those proportions which the average mortal dreams about when hard at work on week day—was in itself the chief delight of the day. Had it been otherwise the games and amusements would have lost much of their charm.

The Baseball Game.

By winning the baseball match by a score of 5—4 the Review team won another year under the possession of the handsome silver plated cup. It was a great game, characterized by heavy slugging or rather, to speak more correctly, heavy slugging, errors on the part of everybody and a rank run by Pearson, the ball getting lost in a deep hole. O'Brien and Lang were the Review battery, and they had to go the limit opposite to 57 runs. Bill Hamilton's like a Douro ace, Hanly's back stopping was perfect as per usual, and that is not often. McGuire covered first nobly, and Lynch held down second like the veteran that he is not.

It was a sort of uphill contest all the time, the ground shooting up from the like like a toboggan slide, Gough, who did the twirling for the Grits was hit freely and had the rank at kind of support. Sherrard, whose reputation as a catcher, was based on the fact that he once caught a bad cold, assisted Claphord well in doing the back stopping, and did not distract greatly from what the ball had to do. Henry performed around first base like a sewer digger, and didn't uproot anything worth mentioning. Paxman played weird diddy and was withdrawn after the second inning. Theobold had a two bagger, being the only man to hit safely. Bolwell was hurt in the field, brimming of "hydrawa."

The game was called at the end of the fourth to allow the players to get their supper. The score was 5—3, and the Review, with the able assistance of Kennedy, Reid and Bartlett of The Times, could have made it worse if they had desired to rub it in.

The Drawing for Dishes

Before the boat started on its return trip the drawing for the handsome 97-piece dinner set, donated by Hon. J. R. Stratton, was held. All the passengers were aboard when Mr. Fred Simpson of Hiawatha drew number 745 from a value. Mr. W. J. Nelson, Bolivar street, had the corresponding coupon and is the fortunate winner.

The moonlight was a special attraction on the way up the river. The revelations made by the searchlight of the Otonabee caused considerable amusement when darkness had settled down.

The members of the committee who worked with such success for the outing are Messrs. Paxman, Reid, Cairns, Thompson, Bartlett and Perry.

Date has Been Fixed for Mohl-Rogers Match

At last the date is decided upon for the great match between the famous American grappler Yankee Rogers and the German Champion, Fritz Mohl. Mohl should have come here last spring, but could not do so as he was looking after the interests of Georges Hackenschmidt before the Gotch match. Mohl did not wrestle in public against the Russian lion, but was engaged to help in the preparation which began in Boston, and ended with the defeat in Chicago. Mohl is a veritable giant. He stands 6 feet 1 inch, and weighs 245 lbs. Yankee Rogers is one inch taller but only draws the scale at 210 lbs. The men have met upon three occasions. The first match was a fifteen minute bout at the Theater Royal, Montreal, when Mohl took away from the big Yankee fifty solid plunks. This bout was considered by the public of Montreal, and the sporting press, as the greatest wrestling bout ever witnessed there. The next match was in Sherbrooke, P.Q., when Mohl won the first fall in 18 minutes, and was knocked unconscious in the second fall and lost the third one owing to his knockout. This, by the way, was the first fall taken from Yankee since he met Gotch one year ago. The third time the two men met was in Sydney, C.B., when Rogers got the decision Mohl had a small bone broken in his ankle with a toe hold. This match will be bitter and strenuous as Mohl thinks he can yet put the Yankee down and out. The match will take place in the Brock street Rink on Friday, August 28th.

Cricket Team Met Defeat at Warkworth

The Peterborough Cricket team journeyed to Warkworth yesterday and met with a disastrous defeat owing to the deadly bowling of Ingles and Humphries.

The playing of Capt. E Reason of the locals, was one of the features of the day—he making 21 runs in the first innings in faultless style. Gibson and Clarke also of the locals made sensational catches for which they were roundly applauded. For Peterborough Marshall got 5 wickets for 27 runs, and G. Coleman 3 for 38. Elliott, however, had an off day.

For Warkworth, Ingles, Thompson, Marsland and Humphries did hitting.

The Peterborough Club spent a most enjoyable time and were entertained royally. They intend writing the Warkworth Club and invite them to play another game here.

Charged with Selling Ice Cream on Sunday

A number of the local restaurant keepers have been summoned to appear before Magistrate Dumble on the charge of selling ice cream on Sundays. It seems that they have been of the opinion that their license permitted them to sell such commodities on Sunday.

Almost a Shadow

Gained 20 lbs. on Grape Nuts

There's a wonderful difference between a food which merely tastes good and one which builds up strength and good healthy flesh.

It makes no difference how much we eat unless we digest it. It is not really food to the system until it is assimilated. A Yorkstate woman says;

"I had been a sufferer for ten years with stomach and liver trouble, and had got so bad that the last bit of food such as I then knew, would give me untold misery for hours after eating.

"I lost flesh until I was almost a shadow of my original self and my friends were quite alarmed about me.

"First I dropped coffee and used Postum, then began to use Grape-Nuts although I had little faith it would do me any good.

"But I continued to use the food and have gained twenty pounds in weight and feel like another person in every way. I feel as if life had truly begun anew for me.

"I can eat anything I like now in moderation, suffer no ill effects, am on my feet from morning until night. Whereas a year ago they had to send me away from home for rest while others cleaned house for me, this spring I have been able to do it myself all alone.

"My breakfast is simply Grape-Nuts with cream and a cup of Postum, with sometimes an egg and a piece of toast, but generally only Grape-Nuts and Postum. And I can work until noon and not feel as tired as one hour's work would have made me appear ago."

"There's a Reason."

TRADE PREFERENCES.

According to the Imperial Tariff Commission, the policy of granting trade preferences was in vogue in the days of James I. There is nothing new about it, according to the critical evidences. England had made trial of it forty-nine ago, and, indeed, only abolished it in the first half of the last century. In most ways, according to a pamphlet issued recently by the Commission, the question of fiscal reform in such a direction has mainly been between Great Britain and Canada.

At Confederation, and immediately after, Sir John A. Macdonald maintained there was nothing incongruous in a self-governing colony's defending its industries by a protective fiscal policy, but suggested that England should grant preferential treatment to her daughter country in natural products. Lord Beaconsfield came to see the value of such a suggestion, and indeed but for his failure to realize it would have introduced measures tending to such a reciprocal arrangement as would have forestalled the Chamberlain proposals of a few years ago. After Beaconsfield, Mr. Gladstone also saw the necessity of a preferential policy, if Canadian trade was not to be diverted into United States channels. As an object lesson the British preference granted by Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Government is quoted, and the benefit to British trade is more freely acknowledged than many commercial men would have expected.

We are not sure, however, of the ...

We are not sure, however, of the cogency of the subsequent reasoning of the pamphlet in favor of fiscal reform which is founded mainly upon the necessity of conserving the food products of the Colonies for the needs of the Mother Country. It is undoubtedly true that the United States and Argentina will, in the course of years, consume more, if not all, of their grain. Of Egypt, Russia and the Danubian provinces the same may be true, though we are inclined to be dubious in these respects. But we are probably not extravagant in the claim that Canadian food products will for a century to come be largely exported. There is not apparent reason why these should not find easiest in British markets in accordance with the natural gravitative relationships between supply and demand. Our friends, who undoubtedly realize the necessity of improving the fiscal arrangements between Great Britain and the colonies, will, however, understand that no "jingoistic" policy will ever prevail with English statesmen—unless it is greatly in their favour. A well-balanced, reciprocal, preferential treatment will require to be thought out with mutual advantages before any serious change can occur.

News in Brief

APPLE CROP PROSPECTS.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Aug. 4.—The International Apple Shippers' Association met here today in convention, prominent shippers of the United States and Canada being present. The association adopted a report protesting against an increase in freight rates, and demanding better classification from the railroads, reciprocal demurrage, proper equipment and more icing stations. The shippers complain that only the southern lines have provided them with information regarding the running of cars, although all roads are requested to do so. Complaints were also made about the handling of fruit by steamship companies. The shippers say prospects for a big apple yield

DASH FOR LIBERTY.

Montreal, Aug. 6.—The court house was thrown into confusion today by the daring break for freedom made by Antonio Grouard, one of the most hardened of the younger criminals known to the local police. Grouard was in the cells on the ground floor of the court house, awaiting trial on a charge of burglary before Judge Choquet in the court of sessions, and by some inadvertence the keys were left in his cell door.

Grouard saw his chance, and slipping open the door, he made a dash at the partition, scaled it and fled along the corridor towards the main entrance.

Two policemen who were standing in the hall saw the flight, and went after him hot foot, out on the square and west along Notre Dame street. Passers-by joined in the hue and cry, and soon the constables began to round up on Grouard, who is more or less weakened by prison fare. He turned down St. Francois Xavier St., and the constables by a desperate sport succeeded in catching him opposite the elevator at the foot of this street. He was taken back to the cells and heavily ironed.

Where School Elections are Hot.

Hamilton, Ky., Aug. 6.—In a pistol fight over the Stewart school at Layman last night John Hinton was killed, Sherman Hinton was slightly shot. Stockly Gibson was mortally wounded. Lee Hines was seriously wounded, and a young man whose name is not known was also shot. The trouble grew out of a school election.

Steamer Water Lily.

The Lakefield News says:—As will be seen by an advertisement in another column, the Quinabo Navigation Company's steamer Water Lily has entered upon her regular season's work. An undoubtedly popular trip to the people of this village and district will be her run to Peterborough on Saturdays, leaving Lakefield at 8.00 a.m. and returning at 4.00 p.m., giving those who have business in the city over four hours in which to transact it. The fare to Peterborough and return is 40c. Another popular feature is that villagers here may take the boat at 5.30 p.m. on Saturday evenings for any point on Stony Lake and return on Monday morning at 9.00 a.m., return fare 35c. The services which the boat affords on her other daily trips is equally good.

Bryan's Chance.

New York, Aug. 6.—Colonel Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, and chairman of the advisory press committee of the Democratic National Committee, was asked today whether he agreed with the statement of Wm. J. Bryan that he was going to be elected. Watterson replied, "Of course, but it is too early to forecast an election three months away. No clear campaign issues as yet unimpaired. It rests without saying that the Republicans are far in the lead of the Democrats in equipment and resources. They are pulling all regulars,—we the raw militia and minute men. They have the best horses and crack jockeys. But the race is not always to the swift, nor the battle to the strong and I think we have something better than a fighting chance."

Jap Women Coming.

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 7.—There will be many marriages when the steamer Tosa Maru, which arrives Wednesday, reaches Seattle, for there are over thirty Japanese women, mostly married by proxy under the old photograph ceremony, which will have to be claimed by husbands before immigration officers will let them land.

The immigrants for Victoria will be the smallest in number handed here in years, thirteen in all. The Tosa Maru had 569 packages, valued at $27,200 going. Owing to the boycott organized in South China against Japan, there were no Chinese passengers and but little freight from China. The steamer was overland full.

Fined Two Dollars.

Ludgey, Aug. 6.—Mr. W. English appeared before Magistrate Moore yesterday afternoon after being summoned for the fifth time. He was charged with disorderly conduct on the train from Peterborough to Lindsay on July 13th.

Mr. Howard Scott was the first witness called, and he testified he saw Bates and English raising a row and that English fell on him in his seat. English then got up and went away.

Mr. A. Bates was present and saw the trouble. He was standing near the end of car when English came up and muttered something to him, and he told him it was all right. English came back again and he caught him by the wrists, but was struck by him on the face. Bates then pushed him over a seat. English was the worse of liquor.

Under the cross-examination of Mr. Knight he said that English was sober enough to navigate up and down the aisle and he thought he had no more than a couple of drinks in him.

The accused was then sworn and said he did not think he was to blame for the trouble and claimed that he was sober. When asked by the magistrate if he had any liquor on him, he replied that he had a few drinks, but not enough to make him drunk.

The magistrate said he thought the travelling public should not be subjected to the foul language of drunks on the train. The ladies and children, he said, were in a place where they could not escape.

His worship then imposed a fine of two dollars and costs, to be paid inside of two weeks.

The footprints of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the Stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For these druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. First, these tiny inside Stomach, Heart, and Kidney nerves feed. Then gas belching, Heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment, you will realize the gain. A test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

BEST SPELLER IS 73.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 6.—Mrs. Douglas Gilbert, aged 73, of Pana, Ill., the oldest person to participate in the annual world's spelling match in connection with the Winona Lake Assembly program, won first honors and was awarded a prize of $20.

Without hesitation she spelled "contentment," on which A. B. Curry of Memphis, Tenn., and Helen Serrous of Muncie, Ind., who carried off the second and third honors, went down. Other words that proved stumbling stones to the eighty contestants were dyspepsia, surrogate, prerogative, phthisic, caoutchouc and inuendo. Five went down on phthisic.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.
Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nerves excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

To Canadian Investors

The undersigned has received an allotment of unsold portion of $100,000 of

7 Per Cent. First Mortgage Five-Year Gold Bonds

dated January 11, 1910, and maturing January 11, 1915. These Bonds are offered at par and accrued interest by Metropolitan Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, trustees.

SECURITY—The Entire Property and Improvements Owned THE URES, CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY in the District of Ures, State of Sonora Mexico, Free from Mortgage or Bonded Indebtedness except this present Bond issue.

An Unusual Opportunity for Investment in Sound Security

The Ures Consolidated Mining Company offers $100,000.00 of First Mortgage Gold Bonds. This issue of bonds is the only mortgage or bonded indebtedness ever placed on the company's properties.

These bonds are in the denomination of $100.00, and bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, July and January, and are redeemable on or before five years from date at the company's option at $110.00 and accrued interest.

With each bond issued there will be given $100.00 par value of the capital stock of the company as a bonus, and in addition thereto there will be placed in escrow with the Trustee additional stock which will be available to the bondholders at their option any time within a period of three years, the bondholder being entitled to surrender his bond any time within said period and receive in lieu thereof stock for every dollar of indebtedness to him on account of said bonds.

The Security Back of these Bonds

The company owns twelve claims situated in the district of Ures, State of Sonora, Mexico, free from mortgage or bonded indebtedness, except the present bond issue.

On one of these properties (The Ramona Mine) 5,000 feet of underground development work has been done, consisting of an inclined shaft to the depth of 100 feet with drifts in three levels to the North and South of the shaft.

An average value of ore worth $11.47 per ton is exposed throughout the mine, from the collar of the shaft to the extreme parts in the drifts, all of which is above water level.

The company has made surface improvements and mine improvements to the extent of $60,000.00 in the way of machinery, skids, trams, steam hoists, mill and nearly everything necessary to make the mining camp complete.

In addition to the absolute ownership of these twelve valuable claims, the company has a lease on the San Jose Mine, adjoining its property, in which the company has been operating in high grade ore.

During the past sixty days the company has extracted and delivered to ore buyers and the bank at Hermosillo, $5,000.00 worth of ore and bullion, the ore having been reduced to bullion through the company's mill, with the exception of 1,464 pounds, which was sold to an ore buyer for $562.56.

This issue of bonds is made for the purpose of securing money at once in order to extend the development work more quickly than the company's present means will permit.

With the high grade ore in sight to the distance of 80 feet to the South of the shaft, the management is assured that within six months from date of making the improvements now necessary the company's properties will be on a self-sustaining and dividend-paying basis.

The Stock which is Given with these bonds will be as valuable as the bonds when the Company has the ready capital to push operations

Men who invest in these bonds will have no cause or reason to regret their action, for the bonds afford an investment in a security which is absolutely safe—much better than ordinary city or country real estate, which is considered perfectly safe if the property put up to secure a mortgage is double the face of the loan. The security given on these bonds is better than 7 to 1, for the Ures Consolidated Mining Company has refused an offer of $750,000.00 for the property upon which this $100,000.00 worth of bonds is issued.

These bonds are an investment with all speculative risk eliminated —an investment with absolute security.

Make your reservation at once. This is small and promises to be quickly sold.

To whom it may concern:—

We hereby beg to state that The Ures Consolidated Mining Company has during the past five years made several deliveries of bullion to this bank, and it is the opinion of mining men here that they have the making of a fair mine, and further, that the properties owned and controlled by them bid promise of becoming paying properties.

From our knowledge of the men connected, we believe they are doing all in their power to bring about the results above mentioned.

1 CENT A 2 SHARE

Send us your name as a member in this new company, with your remittance for as many thousand shares as you can take at 15 per thousand.

This is a short-time offer on a hurry-up proposition. Our vice president is up at Rawhide now putting the miners at work. We want to raise the necessary funds for development as quickly as possible. Therefore, we offer the first block of stock at 15 a thousand shares. This subscription must be all cash. We want the money in hand. We mean to work without let-up, and we have made it an inflexible rule not to run in debt. Cash counts now.

Our prospectuses are out. Send for one.

Make reservation of stock. If you do no more. But, remember, this present offer of stock at Half a Cent a Share is now open, and will be closed as soon as enough cash subscriptions are in hand. Don't wait, or you will get left.

The gold mining property owned outright by the company consists of 7 claims, 5 in the Rawhide district of Nevada, and 2 in the Dulzura district of Southern California.

The Rawhide district to-day is more famous than Goldfield, Tonapah, Bullfrog, or Searchlight were at the same stage of exploration and development. The Dulzura discovery is one of the most sensational in the history of California.

Ten samples of ore which were among the first assayed, ran as high as $7,401.97 to the ton, and all ten averaged over $1,600 a ton.

In both camps we located early, and our locations are choice. Our own officers will superintend the mining.

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

The footprints of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the Stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For this druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. First, these tiny inside Stomach, Heart, and Kidney nerves fail. Then gas bloating, Heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment you will realize the gain. A test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

Ontario Government May Extend Power Line to Whitby, Port Hope and Other Points

If McGuigan Gets Contract it will be a Swift Job

Elaborate Calculations

Toronto, Aug. 12.—The Ontario Government is considering the extension of the proposed Niagara Power line east of Toronto to Whitby, Bowmanville, Port Hope, Cobourg, and other points. This is said to be the significance of a report that the Cabinet has decided to make provisions for "doubling" the power line. It was expected that contracts would be let yesterday, but the whole matter was referred back to the Hydro-Electric commissioners, in order to have provision made for enlarging the scope of the power line.

Those who are close to the Government say that the new plan is not so much to increase the capacity of the western line, but to add to the actual mileage to be built and extend eastward.

HALF A DOZEN CONSIDERED.

Pending a meeting of the commissioners today, some half dozen marked cheeks were retained by the commission. These are the checks deposited as guarantee by the tenderers, and those who have got their paper back may be of course considered out of the running. The cheeks retained include that of Mr. F. H. McGuigan, who is said to be the successful tenderer at so much a mile for wires, towers, and construction. Other checks are understood to have been retained as a precaution in case Mr. McGuigan would not agree to the extended form of contract.

WHAT MR. McGUIGAN SAYS.

"Of course I have no intimation that I am the successful tenderer," said Mr. McGuigan today. "Yes, I would be willing to double the amount of work at the same rate, if the work were to be done within a reasonable time. You see, the markets are fairly low now, and in order to continue the lines further than at first anticipated at the same rate would have to be informed of the extent of the new proposition, and the time within which it is to be undertaken, so as to do our buying. We would do our work very quickly, if given the contract, and hence would not wish delay in starting new lines."

"What does 'quickly' mean in a contract like this?" was asked.

WOULD EMPLOY AN ARMY.

"Well, if I could commence tomorrow, I would expect to finish the line in a year."

"That is, the 300 miles first projected?"

"Yes."

"You would employ a large number of men?"

"A very large number."

"And the towers would be made in Canada?"

"All in Canada."

This means that the success of the Hydro-Electric proposition would mean the expenditure of a large amount of the Government's money in the Dominion. It is said that Mr. McGuigan's wire tender is so worded as to make allowance for fluctuations in the copper market, but he does not consider that there has been as yet a substantial change in the price for which copper may be obtained.

CAREFUL CALCULATIONS.

Mr. McGuigan's syndicate is reported to have employed one of the best men in Canada to go over the whole proposed line and estimate what it would cost to move the towers, etc., from the nearest railway points to their respective destinations, calculations, involving an infinite amount of detail. This may explain the difference of half a million dollars between the highest and lowest tenders, some firms having quoted figures without going into the proposition in the same careful way.

While contractors have to be prepared to commence work within 60 days from the time the contract is let, the successful tenderer would undoubtedly demand that a maximum number of days be quoted by the commission within which the Government would be prepared to allow the work to proceed. As a little over one-third of the right-of-way has already been secured, it should be possible to make arrangements for commencing the lines west of Toronto within a very short time.

DIFFERENCES IN THE CABINET.

While there was doubtless every appearance of peace in yesterday's meeting of the Cabinet, it is stated that there were very emphatic differences of opinion expressed as to Hydro-Electric affairs.

"Did everything go smoothly?" a Cabinet Minister was asked today.

"Well," he replied, "the meeting would not necessarily be "unsmooth"—there were differences of opinion."

Another Minister intimated that the contract had to be "fixed up to suit everybody."

The Hon. Adam Beck has very little to say, and Acting Premier Foy has less.

"The thing is practically decided in a general way," Mr. Foy admitted, "but there are details to be worked out; the agreement has to be gone over carefully, and it all takes time."

"Will the matter have to come before the Cabinet again?"

"I think so."

Mr. Beck explained that an order-in-Council will have to be passed and signed by the Lieutenant-Governor before the agreement is finally binding. He stated that he would get the Commission together as soon as possible, probably this afternoon, and go over new suggestions with the contractors.

Will Employ an Army of Men to Finish the Line in a Year

Chance for Other Places

A CHANCE FOR OTHER PLACES.

While no official announcement has been made, it is reported that the successful contractor will be asked to give the Government an option on some hundred miles of extra line at the rate quoted in his tender for a period of six months. This will carry the time limit over into next year, and will give municipalities wishing to enter the power league a chance to vote on the Government's proposition in January next. Short lines not on the trunk system will be supplied by lower voltage lines, and these will be strung on cedar poles instead of the expensive towers. It is said that the tenderer will be asked to include these lines in his specifications.

The contractor will have his bond for $35,000, put up with his tender, returned to him, but will be asked to furnish a new one for $175,000 as a guarantee of the satisfactory completion of the work.

SULTAN HAS NOT LOST HIS CUNNING

Even the Best Informed Students of Turkish Politics do Not Understand All That Abdul is Doing

Vienna, Aug. 12.—The dismissal of Ferid Pasha and the appointment of Said Pasha as Grand Vizier at Constantinople entirely absorb the interest of all circles here which closely follow the development of affairs in Macedonia and Turkey. The view generally taken is that it is long since ministerial changes in Turkey occurred at such a critical juncture as the present one, yet even personages who are thoroughly conversant with the concerns of the Ottoman Empire are very reserved as to the consequences which these steps may bring in their train. They point out that the extent of the Young Turkey movement, as now developed, causes great surprise, and although the political record and ability of Said Pasha are well known, it is impossible, under present circumstances, to prognosticate what course the new Grand Vizier may think it best to adopt.

The retirement of Ferid Pasha is regretted in official circles in Vienna. He has been known as well disposed towards Germany, but has always known how to combine his German leanings with loyalty to the Sultan and love of peace. Kutchuk Said Pasha has the reputation among statesmen here as being a friend to England, but he has always shown himself at the same time as favorably inclined towards Austria-Hungary, with regard to whom he has invariably maintained a perfectly correct attitude. He is, above all, an honest and very intelligent politician, who places his personal convictions above the Sultan's favor, or that of the Yildiz Kiosk clique.

OLD TURK, HE HAD TO GO.

People who are acquainted with Turkish conditions point out that, although Said is indeed an "Old Turk," he has always promoted general reforms in the empire, and has always fallen because he could not succeed in strengthening the influence of the Porte against the all-powerful Yildiz Kiosk. It may be questioned whether, as an old man of 71, he will succeed now. It is also observed that the ideas inspiring the new movement have also affected old Turkish officials, so that the views of many Young and Old Turks are not very dissimilar. The chief difference is that the Old Turks do not agitate, while the Young ones do. Young Turks residing in Vienna believe that the dismissal of the Grand Vizier and the War Minister was caused by the mistrust of the Sultan, who feared that Ferid Pasha and Riza Pasha might finally play a similar part towards him as was formerly played by Mehemed Ruschdi Pasha, and Hussein Auni Pasha towards the Sultan Abdul Aziz.

Tremendous Issues Possible.

The revolutionary movement may lead to issues of tremendous importance to Europe. It would be strange by the powers, Turkey in some way transformed herself. But it would not only be rash, it would be sad, to prejudge about the movement. The Sultan, with his unfathomable cunning, may yet succeed in buying off what is now only a partial revolution; he may pit one party of revolutionists against another to his own advantage, or he may even once more succeed in persuading his faithful subjects that Islam is threatened by the Christians, and that the Christians are the head if, after years of imposed treatment, and front of all the trouble. In that case, he would extricate himself as usual from his difficulties and his position would be no more unstable than before. It is, however, important to notice that there are new phenomena in the situation.

No power, least of all Austria-Hungary, thinks of active interference in the present movement. Only one reason could cause the powers to depart from the principle of non-interference, and that is, if the present military movement in Macedonia, instead of resting content with the establishment of a constitution, should attempt to set up a military despotism. Such a military government would, in the shortest time develop into terrorism, which would not only disturb the peace of the Balkan people, but threaten that of the world.

Your Skin in Summer

Facts for Our Women Folk

When you find your skin rough, red and patchy, or dry, scaley and coarse, with sore and inflamed spots here and there, remember there is a cause. There are 2,000 pores on one square inch of that same skin of yours, and these contain seventy feet of tubing, all provided to clear away harmful and waste excretions, but which get out of order when the skin is unhealthy. The value of Zam-Buk lies in the fact that its healing essences and juices can be absorbed by these, minature "Skin Mouths."

Applied to a rough or inflamed patch, cut, bruise, heat sore, or chafed place, Zam-Buk first lubricates, cools, and soothes the hot surface, then heals. That is why children like Zam-Buk. It stops pain so quickly. Applied to eczema, ulcers, and festering sores, Zam-Buk first kills the diseases germs which cause suppuration and inflammation. Then it builds up healthy tissues.

In this way an eczema patch, ulcer, abscess, ringworm, or open sore is removed completely by Zam-Buk, and a cut or burn healed.

For insect stings, sore feet, bruises, chafed places, for eczema, ulcerations, blood poison, chronic sores, and for piles Zam-Buk is without equal. Fifty cents a box at all stores and druggists, or from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Three boxes for dollar (twenty-five). This offer is for family use.

Heavy Smuggling of Bombs into the Country Also Ammunition

Black Cross Anarchists

Lisbon, Aug. 12.—The insistent murmurs that the revolutionary propaganda is taking a firmer grip in this country and needs only a master hand to bring about a crisis is given importance by the discovery that recently there has been heavy smuggling into the country of arms and bombs.

The Government's efforts to locate the whereabouts of the contraband have been largely unsuccessful, though yesterday's raids brought to light 100 revolvers and fifty rifles in the suburbs of Lisbon.

HILLED WITH BOMBS.

A suspicious packing case arrived from Hare Iona and was opened outside of Lisbon. It was found to be filled with bombs. The declaration is made that many similar cases which reached here previously have been successfully brought into the town.

It transpires that a railroad grounded intentionally August 9 near a lonely spot off Caxumbra, 18 miles south of Lisbon. A quantity of boxes were removed from the stranded vessel and were brought to shore and disappeared. Afterwards the authorities learned that the cargo of the sailboat was made up of arms and ammunition from Belgium.

BLACK CROSS ANARCHISTS.

The Seculo has created a sensation by claiming that thirty anarchists who recently have been arrested in Portugal belong to an important secret society whose headquarters is New York, and which has branches in the leading European cities. It is known in Portugal as the Black Cross Society, and to it belonged the regicides Buissa and Costa who were killed at the time of the assassination of King Carlos and Crown Prince Phillippe and many other persons who fled after the deed, and for whose arrest orders have been sent to Paris, London, and New York.

Three Women Face Charges of Murder

Buffalo, N.Y., Aug. 12.—Today, for the first time in the criminal history of Buffalo, three women were arraigned in police court on charges of taking human lives. The police accuse the women of being responsible for the death of five human beings. The women are Mrs. Annie Sutherland, who is accused of having shot her husband, Alexander, at their home on Niagara street last week; Mrs. Isabelle Fahlen, accused of having strangled her three young children at her home on Grey street several weeks ago; and Martha Brownaska, the 17-year-old girl who was arrested on a charge of throwing a new-born babe from the second storey window of the General hospital in July last.

Warrants charging murder in the first degree were ordered issued for the women at the conclusion of three inquests.

$314,315 for Crimminals and Insane

During the year 1907, according to the official Government returns just issued, it cost Ontario $314,315.03 for the maintenance of criminal and mentally afflicted immigrants, imported into the Province by the Dominion Government's immigration department.

The official figures are as follows;

1,517 patients in hospitals for the insane	$227,550 00
4,513 prisoners in jails	61,339.23
289 prisoners in Central Prison	25,425.80
Total cost	$314,315.03

"If," says the report of Mr. S. A. Armstrong, Provincial Inspector of Prisons and Charities, "the figures were available as to the cost of maintaining the large number of foreign born who are being cared for in the various refuges, charities and houses of industry in the Province, it would be found that Ontario is contributing yearly an enormous sum of money for maintenance—an amount disproportionate to the percentage of foreign born residents."

The Provincial Government will, it is understood, enter an emphatic protest on the methods and conduct of the Federal Government in loading the people of Ontario with this enormous and unnecessary expense. It is not improbable that Ontario will demand from the Dominion Government a complete change of immigration methods so far as this Province is concerned.

In his report to the Ontario Government following his investigation Mr. Armstrong says;

TOTALLY INADEQUATE.

"From the cases which have come under my observation in the course of deportation proceedings, it is evident that the system of inspection maintained by the Federal Government at the port of landing is totally inadequate to the demands made upon it by the large immigration of the past few years. That Ontario has to suffer because of this inefficient and superficial inspection is evidenced by the statistics given above.

"Many cases of foreign born of the most defective type have been permitted to land in Canada, shortly to find their way to our hospitals for the insane. These people had either been in asylums in their native country previous to sailing, or were members of families in which there were one or more insane.

UNITED STATES EXPERIENCE

"With the experience of the United States in immigration and the exceptionally complete system of inspection evolved from that experience to work upon, it seems difficult to comprehend why the Federal Government has not endeavored to amend its system. In order to profit by such experience to the fullest extent possible the Dominion Parliament should pass such restrictive regulations and the Government should introduce a rigid system of inspection as will prevent the landing in this country of the criminal and deficient elements which have to a marked degree made up the recent immigration."

Mr. Armstrong also directs attention to the difficulties Ontario is confronted with in tracing the records of undesirable arrivals through the Dominion department. "Until," he says, "some other system is introduced by the immigration department, just so long will our hospitals for the insane continue to maintain insane immigrants, and the prisoners and detectives, upon being given their liberty, continue a menace to society at large."

medical examination of immigrants, either on arrival or in transit.

"Defective and insane immigration," are the strong words used by Dr. C. K. Clarke, medical superintendent, to describe the methods in vogue. "We are face to face," he says, "with a trouble, the magnitude of which only those who are conversant with the facts are able to guage."

DELIBERATELY SENT OUT.

Among the arrivals which have been shipped into Ontario during the year, Dr. Clarke says, are "sexual perverts of the most revolting kind, insane criminals, the criminal insane, slum degenerates, general paretics and weaklings, and objectionable types of all kinds." "There is a strong suspicion," adds the doctor, "that many of these we have received were deliberately sent out."

Sports

BASEBALL.

The Strathcona Baseball team journied to Bowmanville on Monday to meet the champions of the City League there, and succeeded in defeating the lake shore aggregation by a score of 14 to 3. The Strathcona battery was Bolleghem and Wilson.

ATHLETIC CLUB.

The Chieftain Baseball team is calling a meeting at an early date to consider whether they will form an athletic club or not. They have some fine material on hand, and if an association is formed, a field day will be held this fall.

Montreal, Aug. 12.—If so is something else that would lead one to believe that the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union and the Athletic Federation of Canada will not always live apart.

There is a scheme on foot to bring an English athletic team to Canada.

King Edward and Kaiser Kissed Each Other and Had an Old Time Hug

Cronberg, Aug. 11.—King Edward arrived here at 9 o'clock this morning and was met at the station by Emperor William and his suite. The King and Emperor kissed each other on both cheeks and embraced in the most cordial manner. After the monarchs had been introduced to each other's suites, the King and the Emperor entered an open automobile and were driven to the Friedrichsruf Castle, where they had a long talk before lunch.

Sir Charles Hardinge, representing the British Foreign Office; Baron Von Jenisch, of the German Foreign Office, and Sir Frederick Lascelles, the British ambassador to Germany, also had a long conversation together. The King and the Emperor continued their private talk after lunch.

It is affirmed, however, by both British and German officials that no actual proposals of any sort are under consideration. The value of the meeting in the political sense is in the frank talking over of the European situation by King Edward and Emperor William and representatives of British and German Foreign Offices.

BEFORE TREATMENT

Peter E. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, limbs and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic. I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK

So far the reports of the condition of the crops in the NorthWest continue to be favourable although for the realization of the optimistic estimates of what this year's crop may be rain is essential for the full development of the grain. The next week or so will pretty well determine what the crop will be, and the harvest is likely to be earlier than usual, at least over a very large area. That fact will be a favorable detail in the transportation arrangements, and in regard to the movement of the grain to the seaboard the railway management appear to be confident that the facilities at their command will prevent any congestion of traffic such as has occurred in some previous years.

Given a good crop, attention in financial and commercial quarters will be directed to the manner in which the banks are able to provide the large amount of money required for the movement of the grain to the seaboard. As pointed out the financial situation is much better and the banks' resources are much greater than they were a year ago. With a larger crop the money required to move it will also be greater, and we notice in some newspapers the opinion expressed that the banking resources of the Dominion are not yet large enough to meet this exceptional, though temporary, demand upon them without restricting the financial accommodation that is required in other branches of trade. Time alone can show whether there is any ground for this view, but it is to be hoped that in the desire to show that they can handle the crops without having recourse to Mr. Fielding's scheme of a temporary and special expansion of their note issue, the managers of the great chartered banks will not seek to strengthen their cash reserves by restricting the accommodation required by their customers in other lines of business. The commercial community has had a good many difficulties to contend with during the past twelve months; generally speaking traders have been cautious in their operations and conservative in giving credit, and business generally has been placed on a sound basis. It is desirable, therefore, that nothing should be done to interfere with the course of legitimate trade or merchants be hampered by the transfer of funds from the ordinary channels in order to increase the money available for the movement of the crop.

BRITAIN'S NAVAL STRENGTH

The position of Great Britain as a naval power among the nations of the world, must always be a matter of supreme interest to the people of Canada. With a great nation on our southern boundary whose recent policy has been to assume a commanding position on the seas, and with a coast line of thousands of miles on both the great oceans, naval affairs must always have an importance to our people. At present, it is true, the problems connected with the defence of our shores from attack by any foreign Power only touch us indirectly, since the cost and all the responsibility involved in our protection by an adequate naval force from invasion rest upon the Mother Country, the fleets of which are relied on by the people of every part of the Empire as their security against molestation from any quarter. Perhaps we do not fully realise what the naval supremacy of Great Britain really means to the different dependencies of the Empire. Without that protection which it affords to us it is certain we should be obliged to incur an enormous expenditure in providing for the defence of our shores, or be at the mercy of any Power that might make demands upon us. The history of the last fifty years has shown that in international affairs, might is still more regarded than right, and the nation that cannot defend itself is likely to suffer at the hands of one that is more powerful. Canada would doubtless offer many attractions to the aggressor were the fleets of Great Britain not available for her defence.

It is impossible, therefore, that any matters connected with the British Navy should not have a lively interest for Canadians. During the recent Tercentenary Celebration at Quebec, those who were present at the Ancient Capital saw something of the Navy in the vessels of the fleet that accompanied the Prince of Wales on his visit to Canada. In the Indomitable they had an illustration of the latest production of British naval architects and engineers. But there was another lesson to be had from the presence of those eight fine British men-of-war at Quebec. That was the immense naval resources of the Mother Country at the present time. With this squadron temporarily at Quebec, with all the foreign stations, including the Mediterranean fully equipped with modern vessels, Great Britain can assemble the greatest fleet in the world's history for a fortnight's practice in the shape of naval manoeuvres. That fact gives us an idea of what is meant by the two-power standard which naval authorities insist is the smallest figure at which the British fleet should stand in relation to those of the next two most powerful naval countries. The fleet taking part in these manoeuvres will consist of 31 vessels, and the programme will include the attack order to show what would be the most probable result were Great Britain subjected to an attack by a hostile Power.

One novel feature in these manoeuvres is the circumstance that the Admiral in command of the defending fleet will be in communication constantly with the Admiralty, which will be able to advise him of any and every development that may come to its knowledge. Besides this he will be in communication with all of the ships under his command and with the different bases of his supplies. While the scene of these hostilities will not exceed probably five hundred miles, the wireless apparatus with which all the important units of the fleet are now equipped, have a sending and receiving efficiency of about 1,500 miles. Perhaps nothing in all the wonderful changes and progress made in naval architecture during the last hundred years is more striking than this feature in the equipment of a modern warship. How different from the days when sometimes weeks and almost months passed without the Admiralty knowing the whereabouts of Nelson's fleet, or that great sailor being able to find out where the enemy was without a flying trip to the West Indies and back only to discover him ultimately off the Spanish coast. But if a great advance has been made in the methods of defence, the advantages that progress has given to the attack have been scarcely less, while the cost of one modern battleship is almost as great as that of the whole fleet with which Nelson achieved some of his most glorious victories. In that circumstance is involved the enormous financial burden that the Mother Country is carrying to ensure the safety of her offspring around "the seven seas."

The footprints of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the Stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For this druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. First, these tiny inside Stomach, Heart, and Kidney nerves fail. Then gas belching, Heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment, you will realize the gain. A test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

Crist of News from the West

Winnipeg, Man., August 12.— One hundred million bushels is a conservative estimate of this year's wheat crop in western Canada. In many sections of Manitoba and other provinces considerable difficulty has been experienced in securing sufficient harvest hands, and in some places the jails have been opened and prisoners serving terms for minor offenses released, on condition that they aid in gathering the bumper crop.

LORD ROBERTS' VISIT.

After the great expectations which they had entertained the people of Winnipeg were greatly disappointed at the announcement that Earl Roberts would be unable to visit the city. Great preparations had been made for his reception, and arrangements on an elaborate scale perfected for his entertainment. The people were the more disappointed because they realized that they had missed the last opportunity the most of them would ever have of seeing Britain's famous general.

GRAIN MEN LEAVE.

Desirous of seeing for themselves the great crop which is soon to be garnered in, a party of Winnipeg grain men leaves this week for a ten day trip through the west by special train. They will visit every district from Manitoba to the Rockies, and when they return will be able to give an estimate of what the total yield will amount to. Your correspondent also leaves this week for a fourteen day trip through the west, visiting Calgary, Edmonton, Regina, and all the important centres.

ARISTOCRATIC VISITORS.

The close of the Tercentenary at Quebec has seen the efflux of visitors from abroad to western Canada. Lord and Lady Falmouth were here the other day, while Lord Lovat, head of the clan Fraser, favored the Scottish societies of Winnipeg with a visit. Earl Dudley, Governor-General of Australia, with Lady Dudley, also passed through en route home to the Antipodes from the celebration at Quebec.

A BIG CONVENTION.

About the end of August Winnipeg will have as her guests the members of one of the largest and most important organizations in America, namely, the American Public Health Association, which will hold its annual meeting probably in the Royal Alexandra Hotel. This body constitutes all the public health officers on the north half of the continent, and is probably one of the most influential medical organizations in the world. The sessions will last for several days, during which time the visitors will be fittingly entertained by the city.

FERNIE DISASTER.

The terrible disaster in the Crows Nest Pass drew forth a great deal of sympathy from Winnipegers, and in addition to a grant of $5,000 which the council immediately made to relieve the sufferers, a fund was raised by private subscription, and a handsome amount forwarded to the relief committee of Fernie to be used at their discretion.

Wheaton, Ill., Aug. 6.—Mrs. Douglas Gilbert, aged 73, of Paxa, Ill., the oldest person to participate in the annual world's spelling match in connection with the Winona Lake Assembly program, won first honors and was awarded a prize of $20.

Without hesitation she spelled "concentration," on which A. H. Curry of Memphis, Tenn., and Helen Servoss of Muncie, Ind., who carried off the second and third honors, went down. Other words that proved stumbling stones to the eighty contestants were erysipelas, surrogate, prerogative, plebeian, caoutchouc and inuendo. Five went down on plebeian.

August time, tells on the nerves. But that spiritless, no ambition feeling can be easily and quickly altered by taking what is known by druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Within 48 hours after beginning to use the Restorative, improvement will be noticed. Of course, full health will not immediately return. The gain, however, will surely follow. And best of all, you will realize and feel your strength and ambition as it is returning. Outside influences depress first the "inside nerves" then the stomach, Heart and Kidneys will usually fail. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and see how quickly health will be yours again. Sold by all dealers.

News in Brief

New York, Aug. 13.—An American fable is the idea of American riches, is the argument put up by Gifford Pinchot, chief of the United forest service. He says that the growth of the forests at present is but one-third of the annual consumption, and the timber will last only 30 years at the existing rate of expenditure. For a country so largely dependent on wood for building and fuel, the results of the lavish policies of the last half century will be disastrous, and Canada, the only available source of supply, will soon need all her timber for her own use. The anthracite coal fields are said to be in danger of exhaustion in 50 years, and the bituminous coal will fail early in next century. Some of the older oil fields are already worked out; the natural gas has been wasted, burning night and day in many townships. The ranchers in the west feed only half the cattle which they would produce under intelligent management, and the prices of meat are rapidly rising. The present is one of the most critical epochs in the national history, and disaster is sure to occur unless a policy of conserving these resources is enforced. The only practical remedy for this dangerous state of things is the appropriation of the last supplies of water power for the production of electrical energy to take the place of coal for machinery, heating, and illumination. If this be done our second state will be better than the first.

London, Aug. 11.—A striking experiment in the treatment of feeble-minded patients under the care of the Metropolitan Asylums Board, at their home at Witham, Essex, has demonstrated the "curative" effect of music.

At the Witham Home, the Metropolitan Asylums Board has placed for treatment all the boys classed as feeble minded between the ages of 12 and 21, the object being to train as many of them as possible to become self-supporting. For this purpose various trades are taught, but the progress made was very slow, and the signs of success few, until it was decided to start a brass band among the patients. The result has been really extraordinary, for not only has the band advanced rapidly in musical proficiency, but the members of it, since their interest was awakened in the playing, have made ever-increasing strides toward complete sanity.

The superintendent of the home, T. O. Hibbs, stated yesterday that the progress made by the players since the formation of the band had been marvelous, and the band boys had become distinctly in advance of other inmates of the home in mental qualities. There have been several astonishing instances where individual boys, whose cases at one time appeared hopeless, had made such marked progress since playing in the band that they would shortly be discharged as mentally fit.

"The music," he added, "has had a charmed effect upon the patients, who have advanced under its influence by leaps and bounds. I have great faith in the future treatment of the class of boys we receive here."

As a result of the success which has been attained, the committee which controls the Witham House has decided to provide the band boys with special uniform, and a suggestion is being considered to employ a wholetime regimental bandmaster on the staff of the school in place of the leader of the local town band at Witham, who has imparted the musical instruction so far given, at practices held twice a week.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces, excepting 8 and 26 reserved may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father or mother.

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

Attention is called to the following clauses in the form of contract;—

"All mechanics, laborers, or other persons who perform labor for the purposes of the construction of the works hereby contracted for, shall be paid such wages as are generally accepted as current for competent workmen in the district in which the work is being performed, and if there is no current rate in such district, then a fair and reasonable rate; and, in the event of a dispute arising as to what is the current or a fair and reasonable rate, it shall be determined by the Commissioners, whose decision shall be final."

"This agreement is subjected to the regulations now in force, or which may at any time hereafter be in force during the construction of the works hereby contracted for, made under the authority of the Department of Labor, and which are, or shall be, applicable to such works." (The schedule of minimum wages determined upon by said Department will form part of the contract).

"The contractor shall in connection with the whole of the said work, as far as practicable, use only material, machinery, plant, supplies and rolling stock manufactured or produced in Canada, providing the same can be obtained as cheaply, and upon as good terms, in Canada as elsewhere, having regard to quality and price."

The contractor shall conform to the fire regulations adopted by the Commissioners, and also to the laws and regulations respecting fires in the different provinces wherein the work is being performed.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

The Adored One.

He is a confirmed bachelor. In fact, his attitude toward women is almost that of a mysogynist. His particular bete noire is a new acquaintance of his sister, Miss Blank.

He met her in the street the other day and, seeing no way out of it, stopped and spoke to her. She saw how he was fidgeting to get away and said:

"You seem very preoccupied. Ah, I know! You are thinking of the one you adore."

"I adore no one," was his stiff rejoinder.

"You can't deceive me. I know you are deeply in love. Besides, your sister showed me a photo of the object of your devotion only last night. It isn't a type I admire. But, there, every one to his taste. I won't tell any one. Goodby."

And before he could reply she was gone.

When he reached home he said to his sister:

Then it dawned upon him what Miss Blank was driving at.—London Scraps.

Automatic Salt Works.

About a hundred miles north of Lima, near the town of Huacho, is one of the great curiosities of nature, a salt factory on an automatic plan. When the tide comes in it fills a lot of shallow basins, and the water is prevented from flowing back into the sea by closing the gates. The atmosphere is so dry that the water evaporates rapidly and leaves a sediment of salt in an almost pure state, which is scraped up, packed into sacks and shipped to market. Within the coast a little farther the percolation of sea water through the porous rocks into pits and hollows has caused immense deposits of salt to accumulate. The salt is taken out in blocks six or eight inches square and sold in that form. As soon as the salt is excavated the water comes in again and in a year or two has solidified and is ready for the market. Wells driven into the sand disclose strongly impregnated water at a depth of twenty-five feet, which seems to be a great deal heavier than the sea water, and is drawn off into vats for evaporation.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.
Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, making the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, stops nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

To Canadian Investors

The undersigned has received an allotment of unsold portion of $100,000 of

7 Per Cent. First Mortgage Five-Year Gold Bonds

dated January 1, 1908, and maturing January 1, 1913. These Bonds are offered at par and accrued interest by Metropolitan Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, trustees.

SECURITY—The Entire Property and Improvements Owned THE URES CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY in the District of Ures, State of Sonora Mexico. Free from Mortgage or Bonded Indebtedness except this present Bond issue.

An Unusual Opportunity for Investment in Sound Security

The Ures Consolidated Mining Company offers $100,000.00 of First Mortgage Gold Bonds. This issue of bonds is the only mortgage or bonded indebtedness ever placed on the company's properties.

These bonds are in the denomination of $100.00, and bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, July and January, and are redeemable on or before five years from date at the company's option at $110.00 and accrued interest.

With each bond issued there will be given $100.00 par value of the capital stock of the company as a bonus, and in addition thereto there will be placed in escrow with the Trustee additional stock which will be available to the bondholders at their option any time within a period of three years, the bondholder being entitled to surrender his bond any time within said period and receive in lieu thereof stock for every dollar of indebtedness to him on account of said bonds.

The Security Back of these Bonds

The company owns twelve claims situated in the district of Ures, State of Sonora, Mexico, free from mortgage or bonded indebtedness, except the present bond issue.

On one of these properties (The Ramden Mine) 5,000 feet of underground development work has been done, consisting of an inclined shaft to the depth of 400 feet with drifts in three levels to the North and South of the shaft.

An average value of ore worth $11.47 per ton is exposed throughout the mine, from the collar of the shaft to the extreme parts in the drifts, all of which is above water level.

The company has made surface improvements and mine improvements to the extent of $60,000.00 in the way of machinery, skids, trams, steam hoists, mill and nearly everything necessary to make the mining camp complete.

In addition to the absolute ownership of these twelve valuable claims, the company has a lease on the San Jose Mine, adjoining its property, in which the company has been operating in high grade ore.

During the past sixty days the company has extracted and delivered to ore buyers and the bank at Hermosillo, $4,000.00 worth of ore and bullion, the ore having been reduced to bullion through the company's mill, with the exception of 1,464 pounds, which was sold to an ore buyer for $562.40.

This issue of bonds is made for the purpose of securing money at once in order to extend the development work more quickly than the company's present means will permit.

With the high grade ore in sight to the distance of 80 feet to the South of the shaft, the management is assured that within six months from date of making the improvements now necessary the company's properties will be on a self-sustaining and dividend-paying basis.

The Stock which is Given with these bonds will be as valuable as the bonds when the Company has the ready capital to push operations

Men who invest in these bonds will have no cause or reason to regret their action, for the bonds afford an investment in a security which is absolutely safe—much better than ordinary city or country real estate, which is considered perfectly safe if the property put up to secure a mortgage is double the face of the loan. The security given on these bonds is better than 7 to 1, for the Ures Consolidated Mining Company has refused an offer of $750,000.00 for the property upon which this $100,000.00 worth of bonds is issued.

These bonds are an investment with all speculative risk eliminated—an investment with absolute security.

Make your reservation at once. This is small and promises to be quickly sold.

To whom it may concern:—

We hereby beg to state that The Ures Consolidated Mining Company has during the past five years made several deliveries of bullion to this bank, and it is the opinion of mining men here that they have the making of a fair mine, and further, that the properties owned and controlled by them bid promise of becoming paying properties.

From our knowledge of the men connected, we believe they are doing all in their power to bring about the results above mentioned.

RAWHIDE-DULZURA

1 CENT A 2 SHARE

Send us your name as a member in this new company, with your remittance for as many thousand shares as you can take at $5 per thousand.

This is a short-time offer on a hurry-up proposition. Our vice president is up at Rawhide now putting the miners at work. We want to raise the necessary funds for development as quickly as possible. Therefore, we offer the first block of stock at $5 a thousand shares. This subscription must be all cash. We want the money in hand. We mean to work without let-up, and we have made it an ironclad rule not to run in debt. Cash counts now.

Our prospectuses are out. Send for one.

Make reservation of stock, if you do no more. But, remember, this present offer of stock at Half a Cent a Share is now open, and will be closed as soon as enough cash subscriptions are in hand. Don't wait, or you will get left.

The gold mining property owned outright by the company consists of 7 claims, 3 in the Rawhide district of Nevada, and 4 in the Dulzura district of Southern California.

The Rawhide district to-day is more famous than Goldfield, Tonapah, Bullfrog, or Searchlight were at the same stage of exploration and development. The Dulzura discovery is one of the most sensational in the history of California.

Ten samples of ore which were among the first assayed, ran as high as $7,461.37 to the ton, and all ten averaged over $1,600 a ton.

In both camps we located early, and our locations are choice. Our own officers will superintend the mining.

POLICE

Chief Rosael and P. C. Meharry visited the restaurants of John Fowler, George Thomas, C. Q. Woo, and found they were selling ice cream and soft drinks on Sunday. They appeared before Magistrate Dumble yesterday morning, and judgment was reserved till Friday.

Chief Rosael testified that on Sunday afternoon last he was informed that the three defendants were selling on the Sabbath. In company with P. C. Meharry he had gone to Fowler's restaurant, and had asked for a glass of lemon sour with which they were served and for which he had paid ten cents. There were others there drinking, including two small boys, on of whom was nearly strangled by the gas in the ginger ale he was drinking. He had advised Mr. Fowler to stop selling on Sunday, as it was against the law.

To Mr. Gordon the chief said that the defendant was a restaurant keeper, who served meals on Sunday. Neither he nor P. C. Meharry had any ice cream there.

P. C. Meharry corroborated the evidence of the chief in every respect. He had had one glass of lemon sour in Fowler's restaurant but nothing else.

Chas Daire testified that he was employed at Mr. Fowler's restaurant as a waiter. He remembered serving the chief and P. C. Meharry with two glasses of lemon sour on Sunday. They did not get anything else there and paid for the drink. He served anybody on Sunday who asked for ice cream or soft drinks.

Father Mullett testified to having been in Thomas' restaurant on Sunday afternoon and having obtained one dish of ice cream, for which she had paid five cents. There was a young man there who also purchased ice cream.

In the other cases the counsel for the defendants admitted that soft drinks had been served to the chief and P. C. Meharry. Mr. Gordon argued and quoted from several cases to the effect that it was within the rights of a licensed restaurant keeper to serve ice cream and other drinks on Sunday, that they were foods within the meaning of the act and that therefore there could be no conviction.

The Peterborough Power Company and the Calcutt Brewing Company appeared before Magistrate Dumble yesterday morning charged with not looking after the stagnant raceway in East Ward, which they were notified to do. They were given a week in which to have it attended to.

Bilious Paleness, Now Easily Cured

If you are frequently bilious or have feelings of nausea there is a reason.

When the liver action is normal the bile is secreted in the proportions necessary to ensure the digestion of fats.

When these derangements occur, an undue amount of work is thrown upon the liver and kidneys, they rebel—the whole system suffers, and ill-health follows.

Another dangerous result of derangement of the biliary function is constipation. Deadly disease results from this condition.

This is a hateful condition because it assures two results—heavy dark rings under the eyes and a sallowness that's absolutely abhorent.

These derangements if allowed to continue create the formation of gall stones, cause jaundice, catarrhal inflammation of the bowels, and indigestion.

If you wish to get better, the very root of the trouble must be reached.

This can be accomplished only by Ferrozone—a remedy that strengthens the system, the blood, the liver and kidneys.

Ferrozone is a food for the nervous system.

It fortifies and strengthens it.

The nervous system controls all the functions of the body.

Improve its tone, you improve the tone of the whole body and this is what Ferrozone accomplishes.

Its first action is to fortify digestion—this means nourishment and more building material.

Ferrozone makes rich, red blood—lots of it, and this means the proper action of all the large and vital organs of the body.

Quickly there comes strength, vigor, endurance—that glow of feeling which we call health.

You are sure of robust health, sure of strong nerves, good appetite, sure to look and feel your best if you use Ferrozone; try this great tonic, sold everywhere in 50c. boxes.

Forests of the U.S. are Disappearing

London, August 13.—Cable messages from New York describing the abortive attempt of the Committee on Paper of American Newspaper Publishers' Association, to inaugurate open market for a system of selling paper and thus sound the death-knell of the alleged paper trust, have been read here with interest by Victor F. Lawson, editor and publisher of the Chicago Daily News, who is now in London.

In discussing the matter, Lawson said: "There's no such thing as a paper trust. There has been a legitimate consolidation of interests, but I don't know that it has been wholly responsible for the high prices of print. The price has been unduly high, but it has now dropped to a more reasonable figure. Forests in the United States are being rapidly depleted, and I think the time has arrived when the duty on Canadian paper pulp should be removed."

CHEMONG YACHT CLUB'S REGATTA

Large Crowd in Attendance Took in the Aquatic Sports--Large Number of Entries in Each Event

Though threatening weather showed up early yesterday a large crowd witnessed the Chemong Yacht Club's annual regatta off Chemong Park. There were all kinds of boats anchored along the course of the races, some from Stony Lake, Fowlon Falls, and Sturgeon Falls.

The Excursion brought a large crowd from Lindsay and Sturgeon Falls, to where a large number of the prizes went.

The Otonabee brought over the Stony Lake cottagers, and a number of local people.

A fine breeze was blowing, and the sailing races came off nicely as did all the paddling events. To make things more pleasant for the spectators the 57th Regt. Band supplied a fine program.

In each event there was a large number of entries and some very exciting finishes were witnessed.

The sailing races were very interesting. There was five entries for the championship of Chemong, which which was won by Mr. Hopwood of Chemong, who was closely followed by Bruce Hopkins of Sturgeon Falls. The open sailing race was won by A. A. Hollingshead and Bruce Hopkins was again second. All the other events supplied a great amount of interest.

The "Miss Tipsdity" was on hand, and kept speeding up and down the lake all the afternoon. In the open launch race after giving all the other entries a large handicap she won hands down.

The officials were—Clerk of the course, W. S. Davidson; starter W. J. Hopwood; judges, Peter Campbell and T. F. Matthews; Timers, Mr. Hughes-Charles.

The members of the Yacht Club wish to thank the Peterborough Canoe Co., the English Canoe Co., and Mr. A. H. Stratton for donating special prizes for a number of the events.

The following were the events.

Maniac Commits Horrible Crime--Kills His Son and Daughter

Los Angeles, Aug. 13.—Driven insane by religious mania, H. J. Duffy, 60 years of age, today attacked and killed his son and daughter with an axe, and then cut his own throat with a razzor, inflicting fatal injuries. Duffy lived at the home of his son, Fred Duffy. He has been on the verge of violent insanity, it is said, for weeks, as a result of religious enthusiasm. Awakening this morning after attending a religious meeting last night, he was suddenly seized with a desire to kill. Securing a sharp bladed axe, he stealthily entered the bedroom of his son while the latter lay asleep. He crept close to the side of the bed, and, raising the weapon aloft, brought it down with terrific force across the neck of the boy, severing the head completely from the body.

With a maniacal shout, Duffy rushed from the house and down the street waving his bloody weapon. Reaching the house at 451 North West Lake avenue, where his wife and daughter resided, he opened the front door and entered. Mrs. Ada Lacombe, the daughter, with her mother, was in a rear room with her back to him. Without a word of warning he swung the axe high in the air and split her skull.

Mrs. Duffy fled through a rear door, closely pursued by the maniac striking at her with the axe. The woman succeeded in eluding him, but not before she had received a severe gash on the elbow from the axe. Her cries finally attracted the attention of neighbors who came to her aid.

Duffy then walked to the street, where he drew a razor from his pocket and slashed his own throat, inflicting frightful injuries which will doubtless cause his death.

Several weeks ago Duffy went to the Evergreen cemetery and purchased a lot, explaining that he wanted it for himself, son and daughter. Three days ago he purchased a coffin for himself.

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is Cause of Bankruptcy

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 13.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is one of the heaviest losers by the voluntary petition in bankruptcy filed yesterday by her husband, Harry Kendall Thaw. It will mean at least a difference of $1,000 a month in her spending money from now on.

It was declared yesterday that Harry Thaw was actuated as much by the desire to free himself from her insistent and continuous demands on his money as to frustrate the collection of heavy attorney and witness fees.

From an absolutely reliable source it was learned that Evelyn Thaw has been asking her husband to give her $1000 a month for spending money, besides her fixed settlement.

MEANS FINAL RUPTURE.

The petition in bankruptcy also means, it is said, the absolute and final severance of all ties of affection between Thaw and his wife. This phase of the case was given by an old and very near friend of the Thaw family, whose name is withheld.

Former Governor of Pennsylvania, William A. Stone, who filed the bankruptcy petition said yesterday:

"This petition of Harry's will, without doubt, be a great blow to Evelyn. From all that I can learn she has been drawing very heavily on his resources. I have heard that her demands reached $1,000 a month for spending money. No man, of course, could stand such a thing as that, and, situated as Harry Thaw is, it left him but one choice between two courses. By the simple business transactions of yesterday afternoon he has effectually shut off her demand. It undoubtedly will be a great blow to Evelyn."

Mr. Stone also stated that he is proceeding on the assumption that Thaw is sane now, and that the verdict that cleared him of the murder of Stanford White on the ground of insanity referred only to his mental condition at the time the crime was committed. It is said Thaw's friends seek to have him brought here within sixty days, when they will ask that he be declared sane. Such an mitment to Matteawan, but would, action would not invalidate his committ is believed, have a great moral effect on the New York courts.

Winter Apples Will Not Plentiful

Speaking of the outlook for the apple crop in South Monaghan, a gentleman who has visited that section predicts a good crop. The grain that was planted early is now all out, but that which was not planted until after the wet season is not yet ripened. The root crop is good. The potatoes have come along well with the recent rains, but are not quite so good as last year. It is expected, however that no appreciable difference will be felt.

NO WINTER APPLES.

From his own observations, the crop of winter apples apeared to be very poor. The autumn varieties promise to be plentiful. There should be a good supply of plums, he says, and taking everything into consideration, the farmers in the Monaghan district have little to complain about.

An Extraordinary Suit in the Courts

Paris, Aug. 13.—An extraordinary will suit, which is causing much comment in French legal circles as well as in the American colony, has just come before the Paris courts. It arises out of the death two years ago of Charles Rubens, an American of great wealth, residing in the Avenue de l'Alma.

Mr. Rubens left an estate of $2,000,000. He named as his legatees Messrs. Ickelheimer & Heidelbach of New York. As soon as his death was known his nephews and grandnephews, residing in Paris, put in a claim for a division of the estate.

They claim that Rubens was no other than a certain Samuel Woog, who was sentenced by default to six years' imprisonment at the Seine assises in 1876, but who escaped to America. There he became naturalized under the name of Rubens, and, having made a fortune in the pearl and diamond industry, returned to Paris.

From that time to his death he never left the city, keeping a sumptuous apartment in the Champs Elysees and living in great style. The legatees that the naturalization was illegal and that Rubens was domiciled in Paris without any intention of returning. Judgment will be given in a week.

Has a Wife But is Not Her Husband

Paris, Aug. 12.—Bigamy has just been given official standing by the Fifth Chamber of the Paris Appeal Court, which has confirmed a judgment of the civil tribunal declaring that a lady who was married to a Frenchman living in Paris named Raoul and also to a Dane living in Copenhagen, is legally the wife of both.

Even the authors of the ever green comedy, "Les Surprises du Divorce," never could have imagined such a complicated situation. The first marriage was contracted in Paris in 1902. It came to an end a few years later in Denmark, where M. and Mme. Raoul were then living. When the decree of separation, on the ground of incompatibility of temper, was granted to them shortly afterward the late Mme. Raoul petitioned the authorities to transform the decree of separation into absolute divorce. The petition being granted, she remarried, this time with a Dane, thus acquiring Danish nationality.

But, as such a divorce is not recognized in the French law, the first husband finds he cannot contract a fresh marriage so long as his first wife lives, or until his former marriage has been formally nullified.

The humorous point for every one except the man is that he has no means of getting the marriage nullified. Believing that the French court would accept his wife's remarriage as a justification for divorce, he applied for a decree. His demand has just been definitely rejected, the court holding that his late wife contracted the fresh marriage in perfect good faith and in accordance with the Danish law, to which she is now subject. Therefore she cannot be accused of maintaining unlawful relations with another man, an accusation which, if proved, would constitute sufficient ground for divorce, as that other man is her lawful husband.

So, M. Raoul finds that he is married while his wife is not—at least, not to him—and into the bargain the French law regards him as the legal father of the children that may be born to his late wife and her Danish husband. After all, the courts were right not to entangle matters still further by authorizing him also to marry. He has trouble enough as it is.

Big Slump in the Lumber Business

During the past couple of years different conditions have combined rapidly to bring about a deplorably state of affairs in connection with the lumber business, and the effect has been sufficiently far reaching to affect the general business of the country and result even in a large loss to the Government. This lumber business insofar as it affects the well-being of the people of Canada is one well worth looking into, and much as we may doubt it is one of the industries that regulates trade to a very great extent. This is particularly true throughout the Georgian Bay district, where a very large percentage of the Canadian lumber is manufactured. So far as can be figured out at present the prospects for the coming season are none too bright, and the curtailment which is almost sure to take place in operations during the coming season will be felt by a large number.

The Ontario lumbermen have practically decided to reduce the cuts of winter by fifty to seventy per cent., and as a result of the decision, losses as follows will result;

Loss to Ontario Government revenues, $700,000.

Loss in wages, $576,000 per month.

Reduction in camp expenses, $320,000 per month.

Trade stagnation and American competition are responsible for the situation, which is a culmination of conditions which had their birth two years ago.

In the season of 1906-7 the cut in the bush was very heavy—25 per cent. larger than that of last year. A quarter of that cut was left over, either in logs in the booms or as lumber in the yards, when the lumbermen faced the season of 1907-8, last year. They reduced their cut by twenty-five per cent., calculating that the stock on hand and the cut of last season would meet all trade requirements. It did, for the financial collapse came, and the demand for lumber declined, as did that of other products.

There is a feature in lumbering operations which must be understood in order to grasp the situation. The operator pays the Crown $10 per 1,000 f.b.m. board measure and $2 per 1,000 f.b.m. board measure in addition —$12 in all. It is technically called "stumpage," besides, he, of course, pays the price he bids for his limit at the auction sale. When he has paid that price he owns the timber and can cut or hold, just as he pleases. With stumpage at $12 per 1,000, it costs the operator $23 to produce a thousand feet of lumber at the mill—that is the operations of cutting, hauling, towing, sawing, cost $13 per 1,000 feet board measure, in addition to the $12 stumpage. It is easy to see how vast sums of money can be tied up if the lumberman cannot get rid of his season's cut.

On the other hand, if the operator forces that he cannot clean out his mill yard, and does not cut, but leaves his timber standing in the bush, he is really making money. He saves the stumpage of $12, and the operating cost of $13 per foot measure. More than that, his uncut timber is making money for him because it is increasing in value.

That is the view taken by the leading lumbermen in Toronto, such as the Victoria Harbor Lumber Co., the Turner Lumber Co., Parry Sound, the Gravs Lumber Co., Gravs, Bywood Lumber Co., who are the largest operators in the Georgian Bay district, which produces some 400,000,000 feet B.M. of Ontario's total output.

Last year, 1907-8, according to the Government returns, the Ontario cut was 907,640,000 f.B.M. of pine, and 54,000,000 of other timber. The revenue was $1,500,000, or will be when all is gathered in. Owing to the pinch of hard times some operators have been granted an extension of time.

In the coming season, 1908-9, the cut will be reduced by half, and the revenue also, resulting in a loss to the Province of $700,000, unless the unforseen happens.

It means more in other ways. Roughly speaking, it takes 50 men to cut enough timber in the bush this season to produce 1,000,000 feet B.M. at the mill. Thus, the Ontario cut of 961,000,000 feet employed 48,000 men last winter. The coming winter will see but 24,000 at work.

These men will be paid from $15 to $25 per month. Last year the 48,000 men earned from $18 to $28 per month a total of $1,056,000 per month, averaging wages at $22 per month. The coming winter the 24,000, whose wages will be from $15 to $25, will earn $480,000 per month, a loss of $576,000 in wages.

The food bill of the lumber army is a big thing. It costs but $12 per month to feed a healthy lumber jack, and the sum of $60,000 per month was last year spent among merchants and farmers for food supplies for the camps. The camping season will see it reduced by some $300,000 per month.

Another loss will result from the decreased demand for teams for bush work, and their food, hay and oats. Leaving this last out, the monthly loss in food bills and wages will be $1,596,000.

American competition has a good deal to do with the stagnation in the demand for Ontario lumber. The American material comes in duty free and operators from the other side have been and are still putting in their product at slaughter prices, undersselling the Canadians by 62 to $3 per 1,000 feet.

One factor may relieve the situation, viz., extensive bush fires. A fire going through a bush does not harm the timber, but kills it. If cut this year it can be saved, but it must be done before the worms, which always attack dead timber, get into it.

Rose, Churchill and Snow, the Toronto Jailbreakers, were Seen Near Lindsay

Lindsay, Aug. 13.—Rose and Churchill, and a companion, supposed to be Snow, who is dressed in ladies' clothes, are reported to have been seen at Kinmount and Minden. The police say that they answer minutely the descriptions of the men who escaped from Toronto jail. They slept in Minden Tuesday night, and were in Kinmount Wednesday. They were begging from house to house, and chiefly from Orange men. It is said that they are on their way to Dorset.

Three Would-Be Suicides Fail

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 12.—Three inmates of the Victoria police station attempted suicide yesterday, and their efforts, in two cases were determined, and were foiled by the watchfulness of other inmates of the cells.

John Henry, originally arrested on suspicion of highway robbery, and held for deportation, twice attempted to hang himself, and a third time climbed to the ceiling by the iron bars, and threw himself to the floor, sustaining injury to the skull.

William Lang, a dipsomaniac, under impression that he was to be hanged, broke the window of his cell, and cut his neck with pieces of glass, the gash requiring seven stitches. Later he attempted to buff his brains out against the cell wall.

John Irving, who for years brought in the meals to the prisoners incarcerated for mental trouble, has refused to eat since Friday and today was forcibly fed with milk through a tube.

Pimples

FACIAL BLEMISHES. BLACKHEADS. ERUPTIONS.

They Have One Common Cause. An Impure Condition of the Blood.

Make the blood normal and you cause the pimples.

But unless elimination is perfect the blood can't be normal, can't be anything but foul.

In elimination nothing plays a more important part than the skin, and if it gets too much work it becomes diseased, and pimples, blotches and eruptions are the result.

Not a bit of use to try external applications. The fountain of life, the blood, must be purified.

More than that, the blood must be supplied with the elements necessary to furnish the organs with increased power to do their work.

Ferrozone supplies exactly these conditions and it does more.

It stimulates through the nervous system all the eliminative functions of the body.

By stimulating the kidneys and liver the skin is relieved of an excessive work and it soon resumes its normal mode of action.

Ferrozone destroys the poisons in the blood, gives it new and rich material through the thorough digestion of food.

The skin resumes its normal, rich color.

Every vestige of blotch, pimple or eruption then disappears.

You see then that Ferrozone is not only a blood purifier, but a blood fortifier, and when your blood is pure and strong, not only will the skin be freed from blemishes and pimples, but the whole body will be rejuvenated and fortified, and given the power of endurance, vim, the natural outcome of health. Ferrozone is sold by all dealers in 50c. boxes.

New Physical Director for Local Y.M.C.A.

In all probability Mr. Seymour W. Collings, assistant physical director of the Central Y.M.C.A. Toronto, will become physical director of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A., succeeding Mr. F. A. Frowde, who has resigned. Mr. Collins has been offered it and while no definite word has been received, it is understood that he will accept, he having intimated some time ago that he would accept the position if it was offered him. He is out of the city at the present time and this is probably the reason that he has not been heard from.

Mr. Collings is a young man and has been very successful in his work at Toronto, being assistant to Mr. J. H. Crocker, who was in charge of the Canadian Olympic team.

Gamblers After Governor Hughes

New York, Aug. 13.—With $15,000 at its disposal the Personal Liberty League is making plans to hold a great mass meeting to protest against a renomination of Governor Hughes. The league was originally organized to oppose the passage of the racing bills. Decision has already been reached to organize such a demonstration, but the details have not been worked out. It is likely that it will be held within a week or ten days in Madison Square Garden.

Officers of the league have been working industriously to crystallize the anti-Hughes sentiment, and they are confident, they assert, of making a big showing at their mass meeting. They have plenty of money and can get more if it is needed.

Their announcement is of especial interest, as it comes on the heels of a semi-official declaration by friends of Governor Hughes that they are thinking of making a big demonstration of some kind in the interest of the Governor's candidacy.

Agents are at work throughout the city striving to enlist new members in the Personal Liberty League. They may be seen in places in the Tenderloin passing out membership blanks to be signed. That they are not over particular as to how many names are registered by one person was shown a few nights ago in an upper Broadway restaurant, when three men signed twenty-five membership blanks, all of which were gladly accepted by the agent circulating them. The total membership as shown by the blanks and lists is not known to the public, and it is said to be very large. The persons behind the Personal Liberty League are said to favor the nomination of Job Hedges for Governor.

It is believed that the British Columbia Government will grant immediate assistance to Fernie to aid in the reconstruction of public buildings.

RAIN FELL IN NORTH-WEST AND WILL ADD 2 BUSHELS TO ACRE

Will Save Oat Crop from Being Failure--Great Cause for Rejoicing in Saskatchewan and Manitoba

Winnipeg, Aug. 13.—Steady rains for nearly a week or more, worth millions of dollars to Western farmers fell during the last twenty-four hours through the greater part of southern and central Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and should prove a potent factor in saving the oat crop, which has been seriously affected by continuous droughts.

Probably the rain added two or three bushels to the acre to much of the spring wheat crop, which was not too far advanced to benefit. It is only on light lands where cultivation is poor that spring wheat showed the effects of drought by ripening in the straw before the ear was matured. Heavy precipitation will fatten out the berries in wheat not due for cutting for a week or more.

SAVES OAT CROP.

Its most salutary effect will be on the oat crop, which in many parts looked like being the biggest failure in several years. Oats had not got sufficient start to weather successfully four weeks' drouth and blistering heat, and consequently headed out with straw so short as to make it difficult to cut, while the grain is undeveloped and starved. The plentiful rainfall will give the crop assured total, if not up to the average of the past decade. Without the rain the oat crop must have been a sad failure.

Everyone Swims but Father

Boston, Aug. 13. — "Everybody swims but father," is what the neighbors often say to us," said Mrs. Lizzie J. Berlo of 804 East Sixth street, South Boston, who finished eighth in the Marathon swim in Dorchester Bay on Saturday, and whose reception at the close of the swim was as enthusiastic as that given Miss Mary T. McDonough, who finished first. Mrs. Berlo is a remarkable swimmer herself, and her family includes the holders of many championships, in both long and short distance swims.

One of her daughters, Anna, finished in the place of her mother, but the greatest surprise of the swim was the fact that Miss Madeline Berlo, who is considered the best swimmer of the family, became exhausted and was forced to retire. Miss Berlo is but 14 years old, but has finished in upward of 20 races during the past four years, and never before was known to show any signs of fatigue. She was about 20 yards ahead of the winner when she retired.

Mrs. Berlo is 50 years of age, and is the mother of nine children, ranging from 4 to 22 years, who are all perfectly at home in the water, or, as their mother expressed it, "As soon as they get into the water they are as much at home as frogs."

Actor Shot at Renfrew Through the Mistake of an Errand Boy

Renfrew, Aug. 13.—Through the mistake of an errand boy in purchasing loaded cartridges for blank guns, Geo. Hyett, an actor in Joseph Maclean's dramatic company, which is playing a week's engagement here, might have met with a serious accident at the performance last night.

In the second act the revolver, a 38-calibre one, which had been loaded with the supposed blank cartridges, was fired off at him, the bullet striking him in the left leg near the hip.

Fortunately it proved only a flesh wound, and did not prevent his continuing the performance.

BUSH FIRES AND FORESTRY

The forest fires that swept away nearly $10,000,000 worth of property and destroyed many lives in British Columbia, started from camp fires in the "slashings" of a lumber company.

These slashings are the limbs and tops of trees left by lumbermen as they cut, together with smaller stuff cleared away to make roads and get out the logs. Dry as tinder in summer, the slashings leap to flame at the first invitation. They should be burned after the lumbermen when the ground is wet or when there is snow upon it, leaving the lumbered forest clear of tinder-like rubbish. But that costs money.

Forest fires are as preventable as typhoid fever. When engines on forest railways run by electricity or have spark arresters, when slashings are burned by the men who make them, and when setting fires by carelessness or intent is severely punished, the common forest heritage which man is so shamefully wasting to make the earth a desert will stand a better chance.

NAVAL SPECULATION

The forecast of the German Naval League that Japan will rank third among naval powers in the world by 1911 has revived discussion of naval armament and naval means of defense. On both sides of the ocean those who are interested in the subject have given much time and many words to the exposition of their ideas. All the jingo prophets are predicting terrible things to happen to the United States if there is any faltering in the great pace of naval building. Speculation about what England and France, Russia and Japan will do to each other and will try to do to Germany runs rife.

The curious part of the matter is that the only nation with money enough to continue steady, reasonable naval construction and at the same time carry on its other public interests is the United States. France is running in debt every year. Though her citizens own vast amount of wealth the income of the nation steadily falls behind expenditure and the public debt, which is the greatest the world ever saw, mounts steadily. In England the Liberal party has flirted with the proletariat until the gravest financial embarrassments are in sight on that ground. The old-age pension bill has passed. It will cost not less than $10,000,000 the first year and no doubt rapidly expand until it exceeds the United States pension disbursement. With her commercial rivals cutting into her trade in all directions, with a country incapable of carrying a much larger population under present conditions it seems clear that England cannot indefinitely continue her vast expenditure on navy though that is her main defence.

Germany is in trouble financially. That country is not rich. It is swarming with people. Its navy is felt as a great burden. Russia is in the same condition, or worse; Italy and Spain quite as bad. Austria doesn't count at all. Japan is the poorest of all the great countries. Though capable of putting a large army in the field and of showing a powerful navy taxation has doubled in the empire in ten years. It is fast increasing and is sure to breed public discontent and to compel a halt before many years.

The position of Great Britain as a naval power among the nations of the world, must always be a matter of supreme interest to the people of Canada. With a great nation on our southern boundary whose recent policy has been to assume a commanding position on the seas, and with a coast line of thousands of miles on both the great oceans, naval affairs must always have an importance to our people. At present, it is true, the problems connected with the defence of our shores from attack by any foreign Power only touch us indirectly, since the cost and all the responsibility involved in our protection by an adequate naval force from invasion rest upon the Mother Country, the fleets of which are relied on by the people of every part of the Empire as their security against molestation from any quarter. Perhaps we do not fully realise what the naval supremacy of Great Britain really means to the different dependencies of the Empire. Without that protection which it affords to us it is certain we should be obliged to incur an enormous expenditure in providing for the defence of our shores, or be at the mercy of any Power that might make demands upon us. The history of the last fifty years has shown that in international affairs, might is still more regarded than right, and the nation that cannot defend itself is likely to suffer at the hands of one that is more powerful. Canada would doubtless offer many attractions to the aggressor were the fleets of Great Britain not available for her defence.

It is impossible, therefore, that any matters connected with the British Navy should not have a lively interest for Canadians. During the recent Tercentenary Celebration at Quebec, those who were present at the Ancient Capital saw something of the Navy in the vessels of the fleet that accompanied the Prince of Wales on his visit to Canada. In the Indomitable they had an illustration of the latest production of British naval architects and engineers. But there was another lesson to be had from the presence of those eight fine British men-of-war at Quebec. That was the immense naval resources of the Mother Country at the present time. With this squadron temporarily at Quebec, with all the foreign stations, including the Mediterranean fully equipped with modern vessels, Great Britain can assemble the greatest fleet in the world's history for a fortnight's practice in the shape of naval manoeuvres. That fact gives us an idea of what is meant by the two-power standard which naval authorities insist is the smallest figure at which the British fleet should stand in relation to those of the next two most powerful naval countries. The fleet taking part in these manoeuvres will consist of 31 vessels and the programme will include the attack order to show what would be the most probable result were Great Britain subjected to an attack by a hostile Power.

One novel feature in these manoeuvres is the circumstance that the Admiral in command of the defending fleet will be in communication constantly with the Admiralty, which will be able to advise him of any and every development that may come to its knowledge. Besides this he will be in communication with all of the ships under his command and with the different bases of his supplies. While the scene of these hostilities will not exceed probably five hundred miles, the wireless apparatus with which all the important units of the fleet are now equipped, have a sending and receiving efficiency of about 1,300 miles. Perhaps nothing in all the wonderful changes and progress made in naval architecture during the last hundred years is more striking than this feature in the equipment of a modern warship. How different from the days when sometimes weeks and almost months passed without the Admiralty knowing the whereabouts of Nelson's fleet, be that great sailor being able to find out where the enemy was without a flying trip to the West Indies and back only to discover him ultimately off the Spanish coast. But if a great advance has been made in the methods of defence, the advantages that progress has given to the attack have been scarcely less, while the cost of one modern battleship is almost as great as that of the whole fleet with which Nelson achieved some of his most glorious victories. In that circumstance is involved the enormous financial burden that the Mother Country is carrying to ensure the safety of her offspring around "the seven seas."

News in Brief

Winnipeg, Man., August 13.— One hundred million bushels is a conservative estimate of this year's wheat crop in western Canada. In many sections of Manitoba and other provinces considerable difficulty has been experienced in securing sufficient harvest hands, and in some places the jails have been opened and prisoners serving terms for minor offenses released, on condition that they aid in gathering the bumper crop.

LORD ROBERTS' VISIT.

After the great expectations which they had entertained the people of Winnipeg were greatly disappointed at the announcement that Earl Roberts would be unable to visit the city. Great preparations had been made for his reception, and arrangements on an elaborate scale perfected for his entertainment. The people were the more disappointed because they realized that they had missed the last opportunity the most of them would ever have of seeing Britain's famous general.

GRAIN MEN LEAVE.

Desirous of seeing for themselves the great crop which is soon to be garnered in, a party of Winnipeg grain men leave this week for a ten day trip through the west by special train. They will visit every district from Manitoba to the Rockies, and when they return will be able to give an estimate of what the total yield will amount to. Your correspondent also leaves this week for a fourteen day trip through the west, visiting Calgary, Edmonton, Regina, and all the important centres.

ARISTOCRATIC VISITORS.

The close of the Tercentenary at Quebec has seen the efflux of visitors from abroad to western Canada. Lord and Lady Falmouth were here the other day, while Lord Lovat, head of the clan Fraser, favored the Scottish societies of Winnipeg with a visit. Earl Dudley, Governor-General of Australia, with Lady Dudley, also passed through en route home to the Antipodes from the celebration at Quebec.

A BIG CONVENTION.

About the end of August Winnipeg will have as her guests the members of one of the largest and most important organizations in America, namely, the American Public Health association, which will hold its annual meeting probably in the Royal Alexandra Hotel. This body constitutes all the public health officers on the north bank of the continent, and is probably one of the most influential medical organizations in the world. The sessions will last for several days, during which time the visitors will be fittingly entertained by the city.

FERNIE DISASTER.

The terrible disaster in the Crows Nest Pass drew forth a great deal of sympathy from Winnipegers, and in addition to a grant of $5,000 which the council immediately made to relieve the sufferers, a fund was raised by private subscription, and a handsome amount forwarded to the relief committee of Fernie to be used at their discretion.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 6.—Mrs. Douglas Gilbert, aged 73, of Pana, Ill., the oldest person to participate in the annual world's spelling match in connection with the Winona Lake Assembly program, won first honors and was awarded a purse of $20.

Without hesitation she spelled "consternation," on which A. B. Curry of Memphis, Tenn., and Helen Stevens of Muncie, Ind., who carried off the second and third honors, went down. Other words that proved stumbling stones to the eighty contestants were argyrelea, surrogate, prerogative, plebeian, caoutchouc and innuendo. Five went down on plebeian.

New York, Aug. 12.—An American fable is the idea of American riches, is the argument put up by Gifford Pinchot, chief of the United forest service. He says that the growth of the forests at present is but one-third of the annual consumption, and the timber will last only 30 years at the existing rate of expenditure. For a country so largely dependent on wood for building and fuel, the results of the lavish policies of the last half century will be disastrous, and Canada, the only available source of supply, will soon need all her timber for her own use. The anthracite coal fields are said to be in danger of exhaustion in 50 years, and the bituminous coal will fail early in next century. Some of the older oil fields are already worked out; the natural gas has been wasted, burning night and day in many townships. The ranchers in the west feed only half the cattle which they would produce under intelligent management, and the prices of meat are rapidly rising. The present is one of the most critical epochs in the national history, and disaster is sure to occur unless a policy of conserving these resources is enforced. The only practical remedy for this dangerous state of things is the appropriation of the fast supplies of water power for the production of electrical energy to take the place of coal for machinery, heating, and illumination. If this be done our second state will be better than the first.

London, Aug. 11.—A striking experiment in the treatment of feeble-minded patients under the care of the Metropolitan Asylums Board, at their home at Witham, Essex, has demonstrated the "curative" effect of music.

At the Witham Home, the Metropolitan Asylums Board has placed for treatment all the boys classed as feeble minded between the ages of 12 and 21, the object being to train as many of them as possible to become self-supporting. For this purpose various trades are taught, but the progress made was very slow, and the signs of success few, until it was decided to start a brass band among the patients. The result has been really extraordinary, for not only has the band advanced rapidly in musical proficiency, but the members of it, since their interest was awakened in the playing, have made ever-increasing strides toward complete sanity.

The superintendent of the home, T. C. Gibbs, stated yesterday that the progress made by the players since the formation of the band had been marvelous, and the band boys had become distinctly in advance of other inmates of the home in mental qualities. There have been several astonishing instances where individual boys, whose cases at one time appeared hopeless, had made such marked progress since playing in the band that they foresaw shortly be discharged as mentally fit.

"The music," he added, "has had a charmed effect upon the patients, who have advanced under its influence by leaps and bounds. I have great faith in the future treatment of the class of boys we receive here."

As a result of the success which has been attained, the committee which controls the Witham House has decided to provide the band boys with special uniform, and a suggestion is being considered to employ a wholetime regimental bandmaster on the staff of the school in place of the leader of the local town band at Witham, who has imparted the musical instruction so far given, at practices held twice a week.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform the own residence duties by living with the father or mother.

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the agent for the district of such intention.

Man Can Live Forever

Washington Priate Says Death is a Man-Made Condition

Washington, Aug. 13.—"Death is a man-made condition; the control of mind over matter is so supreme that death can be indefinitely postponed. By exercising will power we can live."

This is the teaching of Bishop Oliver C. Sabin, of the Evangelistic Christian Church, of this city.

"If everyone at a certain hour should resolve hereafter to believe explicitely that there was no such thing as death; that we might all live as long as the world so believed, the limit of human life would increase in proportion to the strength with which this conviction spread and death would ultimately be vanquished," claims Bishop Sabin.

SAYS MAN REDUCES LIFE.

"From the fondation of the world", continued the bishop, "man by his own acts and through his own fault, has been reducing the life limit. In olden days we read in the Bible that man lived to be 600, 800 and 1,000 years of age, approximately. Fast living, subordinate mentality and resignation to death at any time it might show indications of approach, gradually reduced man's life to about 33 years, at the time of Christ.

"We have grown to accept what comes to-day. The centenarian is a marvel, whereas he might be commonplace. Man has no one but himself to blame. If the people of this world, or even the vast majority of them, would for once become convinced that death was unnecessary, that it was created by man; that by the universal concentration of our minds upon the determination to live, we may continue to live, death's overthrow would be easy and one might just as easily live 1,000 years as 50.

"Instead we have the overpowering dominant pressure about us at all times of thought waves, all charged with the conviction that death is a natural consequence, that it must occur. And death, thus re-enforced by the subconscious resignation of many minds, steps in and conquers the feeble will of an individual who battles unsuccessfully against millions of combined minds stronger than his own."

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—relieves blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasingly delightful. Gently, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure.

If it's a painful periods with women, same cause.

If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Rub the finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

To Canadian Investors

The undersigned has received an allotment of unsold portion of $150,000 of

7 Per Cent. First Mortgage Five-Year Gold Bonds

dated January 11, 1908, and maturing January 11, 1913. These Bonds are offered at par and accrued interest by Metropolitan Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, trustees.

SECURITY—The Entire Property and Improvements Owned THE URES CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY in the District of Ures, State of Sonora Mexico, Free from Mortgage or Bonded Indebtedness, except this present Bond Issue.

An Unusual Opportunity for Investment in Sound Security

The Ures Consolidated Mining Company offers $150,000.00 of First Mortgage Gold Bonds. This issue of bonds is the only mortgage or bonded indebtedness ever placed on the company's properties.

These bonds are in the denomination of $100.00, and bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, July and January, and are redeemable on or before five years from date at the company's option at $110.00 and accrued interest.

$100.00 Stock Bonus Given with Every $100.00 Bond

With each bond issued there will be given $100.00 par value of the capital stock of the company as a bonus, and in addition thereto there will be placed in escrow with the Trustee additional stock which will be available to the bondholders at their option any time within a period of three years, the bondholder being entitled to surrender his bond any time within said period and receive in lieu thereof stock for every dollar of indebtedness to him on account of said bonds.

The Security Back of these Bonds

The company owns twelve claims situated in the district of Ures, State of Sonora, Mexico, free from mortgage or bonded indebtedness, except the present bond issue.

On one of these properties (The Ramona Mine) 5,000 feet of underground development work has been done, consisting of an inclined shaft to the depth of 400 feet with drifts in three levels to the North and South of the shaft.

An average value of ore worth $11.47 per ton is exposed throughout the mine, from the collar of the shaft to the extreme parts in the drifts, all of which is above water level.

The company has made surface improvements and mine improvements to the extent of $60,000.00 in the way of machinery, skids, trams, steam hoists, mill and nearly everything necessary to make the mining camp complete.

In addition to the absolute ownership of these twelve valuable claims, the company has a lease on the San Jose Mine, adjoining its property, in which the company has been operating in high grade ore.

During the past sixty days the company has extracted and delivered to ore buyers and the bank at Hermosillo, $5,000.00 worth of ore and bullion, the ore having been reduced to bullion through the company's mill, with the exception of 1,464 pounds, which was sold to an ore buyer for $662.00.

This issue of bonds is made for the purpose of securing money at once in order to extend the development work more quickly than the company's present means will permit.

With the high grade ore in sight to the distance of 90 feet to the South of the shaft, the management is assured that within six months from date of making the improvements now necessary the company's properties will be on a self-sustaining and dividend-paying basis.

The Stock which is Given with these bonds will be as valuable as the bonds when the Company has the ready capital to push operations

Men who invest in these bonds will have no cause or reason to regret their action, for the bonds afford an investment in a security which is absolutely safe—much better than ordinary city or country real estate, which is considered perfectly safe if the property put up to secure a mortgage is double the face of the loan. The security given on these bonds is better than 7 to 1, for the Ures Consolidated Mining Company has refused an offer of $700,000.00 for the property upon which this $150,000.00 worth of bonds is issued.

These bonds are an investment with all speculative risk eliminated—an investment with absolute security.

Make your reservation at once. This is small and promises to be quickly sold.

To whom it may concern:—

We hereby beg to state that The Ures Consolidated Mining Company has during the past five years made several deliveries of bullion to this bank, and it is the opinion of mining men here that they have the making of a fair mine, and further, that the properties owned and controlled by them bid promise of becoming paying properties.

From our knowledge of the men connected, we believe they are doing all in their power to bring about the results above mentioned.

1 CENT A 2 SHARE

Send us your name as a member in this new company, with your remittance for as many thousand shares as you can take at $5 per thousand.

This is a short-time offer on a hurry-up proposition. Our vice president is up at Rawhide now putting the miners at work. We want to raise the necessary funds for development as quickly as possible. Therefore, we offer the first block of stock at 1/2 a thousand shares. This subscription must be all cash. We want the money in hand. We mean to work without let-up, and we have made it an ironclad rule not to run in debt. Cash counts now.

Our prospectuses are out, send for one.

Make reservation of stock. If you do no more. But, remember, this present offer of stock at Half a Cent a Share is now open, and will be closed as soon as enough cash subscriptions are in hand. Don't wait, or you will get left.

The gold mining property owned outright by the company consists of 7 claims, 5 in the Rawhide district of Nevada, and 4 in the Dulzura district of Southern California.

The Rawhide district to-day is more famous than Goldfield, Tonapah, Bullfrog, or Searchlight were at the same stage of exploration and development. The Dulzura discovery is one of the most sensational in the history of California.

Ten samples of ore which were among the first assayed, run as high as $7,461.87, to the ton, and all ten averaged over $1,600 a ton.

In both camps we located early, and our locations are choice. Our own officers will superintend the mining.

Clean Up Inside

Blood and System Cleansing in the Spring Makes Good Health all Summer.

In spite of all your careful habits, its safe to say that in the spring you feel poorly—have a throbbing sensation in the head—skin is pale or yellow, with dark rings under the eyes. If not absolutely bilious the system is so full of bile that you feel heavy and tired all day long.

Clean up, work off the winter's accumulation of waste, purify your blood. Do this and you'll feel fresh as a prize-fighter. "For ten years," says W. B. Sangster, of Concord, "I suffered greatly from impure blood, which made me feel debilitated and unfit for work. I had no appetite suffered from indigestion and gas, had some pains in the back, caused by poor kidney action. Spring was the hardest time of all, and many a time I felt dependent and languid enough to throw up the sponge. I was impressed by the marvellous work done by Dr. Hamilton's Pills and tried them. They suited me exactly. In one week I felt like new. I was braced up, got rid of blood weakness, gained in flesh, got back my old time appearance and spirits. Dr. Hamilton's Pills will clean all the sickness out of a man in short order and I urge young and old to use this great tonic medicine."

Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a perfect spring medicine; they destroy germs and poisons of every description and strength whereby the system rallies and the patient quickly enjoys the blessings of Perfect Health. Get Dr. Hamilton's Pills—to-day—25c at all dealers.

Has Returned from the West

Mr. Jas. Bradley has returned from a seven-weeks' visit to the West. He reports the crops as promising. In some parts of Alberta mixed farming is followed. All early sown crops are good, but late sown fields may be touched with Frost. He considers the West a fine field for a young man to take up farming and make a handsome living and in time a comfortable competence.

A Clever Musician

Master Harold Brown, the 15-year-old son of Dr. Brown, has shown marked ability and made marvelous progress. Under only one year's instruction it will be remembered that at the Toronto College of Music examinations last July he passed the second examination in pianoforte, taking first-class honors and standing well up in the list. He also, under a similar course of instruction took a prominent place in those passing in senior rudiments, with first class honors. His success in a trio has been due only to his natural ability and application, but a distinct credit to his teacher, Miss McCabe. Harold it will be seen by the list published elsewhere in this issue, also passed the first part of the first-class public school teachers' examination. This also, after only one year's study, as he passed his junior matriculation last year. Master Brown's parents, friends and teachers have reason to be proud of his cleverness and success.

Lakefield Masonic Excursion

About 150 took in the excursion from Lakefield to Idyl Wyld on Wednesday. The excursion was under the auspices of Clements Lodge 313, A. F. & A.M., of Lakefield, and was a great success. The party embarked at Lakefield about 7 a.m. and had a delightful trip down the river. About half an hour was spent at Idyl Wyld and the party reached Lakefield again about 9 p.m. Many of the excursionists had never made the trip over the lift lock or down the lower reaches of the river. Everyone was loud in his praise of the beautiful trip, and also of the care and attention of the officials in command of the boat.

—The Cobourg Methodist Sunday school of Cobourg conducted an excursion to Stony Lake yesterday. About four coaches comprised the train which passed through the city.

—Mr. Harry Mackey of Omemee, was in the city Wednesday on business. It was connected with the mounting of a deer's head, which Mr. Edwin Elcome mounted. He secured it in last season's hunt.

—A quiet wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, at the home of Mrs. (Dr.) Pigeon, Park street, by Rev. J. C. Dunlop of Springville, when Mr. Thomas S. Sampson, of Dummer Township, was united in marriage to Miss Annie B. Andrews, of the same township.

—The steamer Otonabee has had two busy days Wednesday and Thursday. It took the Lock Gold masons to Idyl Wyld, and returned again with them Wednesday night. Yesterday it was chartered by the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association for the excursion from Stony Lake to Chemong Regatta on the occasion of the regatta.

The footprints of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the Stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For the druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. First, these tiny inside Stomach, Heart, and Kidney nerves fail. Then gas bloating, Heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment, you will realize the gain. A test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

A Large Grizzly Proved to be the "Hog."

A letter from the West to relatives in Peterborough relates the following incident which occurred while a young lady from this city was visiting in the West. A night before the letter was written a neighbor of the hosts of the Peterborough young lady was awakened by a noise in the kitchen. Hastily climbing down the ladder, that present primitive conditions make not instead of a stair case, the neighbor saw what he took to be a large hog drinking milk from a pan left on the kitchen bench. This was not wonderful, as in that country of long distances and consequent lack of burglars, doors are left open at night. The neighbor climbed down and tried to "boo" away the hog. To his surprise and alarm the "hog" proved to be a large grizzly which at once turned on the intruder of his feast. Mr. Neighbor fled for the ladder and escaped upwards, leaving only the heel of one boot in "Uncle" Ephraim's grasp. When in the hurry of upstairs a gun was quickly got and proved destructive to the bear.

Another Packing House Has Started Operations

A rumor is current in the city to the effect that the packing house at the locks bridge will resume operations. It was learned on good authority that Mr. Geo. Carlton has commenced killing hogs. The building has lain idle for quite a time, but is reported to have been overhauled and made ready for business. Wednesday quite a number of hogs were bought on the market for the new slaughter house. It is understood that Mr. Carlton is at the head of a company which has taken over the property and building. It is known as the Trent Valley Sugar, Provision and Cold Storage Company.

Little Boy Had Narrow Escape from Death

Young's Point, Aug. 13.—Perched between the swing bridge and the cement abutment as the former was being closed, the little son of Mrs. Jas. Moreland, Gilmour street, yesterday afternoon had a narrow escape from very serious injury and probably death. Young Moreland was present at the dock at the time the Water Lily was passing through and unconsciously walked into the danger. Not noticing the swing bridge closing, he stood close to the abutment and was squeezed between the two. He was caught just above the knees. Dr. Baker of Lakefield was quickly summoned and dressed the wound. It is probable however that he will be laid up for a month or more.

Woman's Trials.

The bitter trail in a woman's life is to be childless. Who can tell how hard the struggle may have been ere she learnt to resign herself to her lonely lot? The absence of this link to bind marital life together, the absence of this one pledge to mutual affection is a common disappointment. Many unfortunate couples become estranged thereby. Even if they do not drift apart, one may read the whole extent of their disappointment in the eyes of such a childless couple when they rest on the children of others. To them the largest family does not seem too numerous.

In many cases of barrenness or childlessness the obstacle to child-bearing is easily removed by the cure of weakness on the part of the woman. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been the means of restoring health and fruitfulness to many a barren woman, to the great joy of the household. In other, but rare cases, the obstruction to the bearing of children has been found to be of a surgical character, but easily removable by painless operative treatment at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., over which Dr. Pierce of the "Favorite Prescription" fame presides. In all cases where children are desired and are absent, an effort should be made to find out the real cause, since it is generally so easily removed by proper treatment.

In all the various weaknesses, displacements, prolapsus, inflammation and debilitating, catarrhal drains and in all cases of nervousness and debility, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the most efficient remedy that can possibly be used. It has to its credit hundreds of thousands of cures—more in fact than any other remedy put up for sale through druggists, especially for woman's use. The ingredients of which the "Favorite Prescription" is composed have received the most positive endorsement from the leading medical writers on Materia Medica of all the several schools of practice. All the ingredients are printed in plain English on the wrapper enclosing the bottle, so that any woman making use of this famous medicine may know exactly what she is taking. Dr. Pierce takes his patients into his full confidence, which he can afford to do as the formula after which the "Favorite Prescription" is made will bear the most careful examination.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best and safest laxative for women.

Complete Recrudescence of Anti-Japanese Sentiment Throughout United States

The Mischief-Makers Fomenting U. S. Jap-Misunderstanding

Indignation in Japan

Tokio, Aug. 14.—Special despatches from New York and London printed in Japanese newspapers represent that the recent utterances of Count Okuma, attributing the naval expansion policy of the United States to the sudden rise of Japan to the importance of a world power is arousing intense indignation and has caused a complete recrudescence of anti-Japanese sentiment throughout America.

The New York newspapers are quoted as editorially urging an Anglo-American alliance, for the purpose of offsetting the belligerency of the Japanese.

The newspapers are quoted as giving the views of Wu Ting Fang, Chinese Minister to the United States, on the subject of an alliance, in which he threatens Japan with "an early avoidance of the real power of the American navy."

Americans residing in Tokio, Yokohama, and elsewhere throughout Japan are extremely indignant. They believe that the special despatches exaggerate the tone of the New York newspapers, and it is felt that it is particularly unfortunate that at this time anything should be permitted to retard the increasing friendly relations of the two nations, in view of the elaborate arrangements on foot among the Japanese to welcome the American fleet and the growing cordiality exhibited on all sides sides towards Americans. American business men especially regret the publications, because the revival of the anti-Japanese propaganda in America will, they fear, undoubtedly afford gratification to the competing countries represented here and also seriously damage American trade. Count Okuma's frequent utterances do not create a ripple here, and his most recent one was passed quite unnoticed by foreigners until the specials announced the outcry of the American newspapers. Even among Japanese statesmen and newspapers the first expression then was one of amusement.

OKUMA OUT OF DATE

Count Okuma is regarded here as a doctrinaire politician, who is now completely without political influence, except in academic circles. His statement concerning the American navy and President Roosevelt's advocacy of its expansion, was undoubtedly brought out by reports of Congressman Hobson's speech in the Democratic National Convention, when he quoted President Roosevelt as predicting an early war with Japan.

The statement which has caused all the comment was an excerpt from a series of articles printed in the Hochi, a Tokio newspaper, which are being written by Count Okuma, reviewing world politics, and printed from day to day.

When Count Okuma returned today from the country he said to the Associated Press that he was surprised to find that his utterances had been considered purposely offensive.

"It was only natural," he said, "in reviewing the world's politics, to point out that Japan's rise above the horizon had caused the American navy to turn its attention toward the Pacific. It was undoubtedly for an instant from I desired or intrue that some Americans talk unwisely concerning Japan, but never tended to reflect on the honor and courage of the American navy or its sailors, but it is an uncontrovertible fact that commercial considerations weigh materially with all older commercial nations, even when it becomes a question of war. No one will endeavor more earnestly than myself to cultivate cordial relations with America."

The Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Will Make Tour of Ontario

Will Not Speak In Any of the Cities--Meetings in the Open Air

Elections in November

Toronto, Aug. 14.—As a preparation for the Dominion elections, which may take place the first week in November, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Premier of Canada, will tour Ontario, beginning about the middle of September. Toronto, however, is not included in the itinerary, neither is Hamilton, London, nor any of the other cities.

"We could pack Massey Hall or a ten-acre field by bringing Sir Wilfrid to Toronto," stated F. G. Inwood, the Liberal General Secretary. "But what's the use?"

The tour will be for the rural districts solely. Such is the idea at present, and there is not much hope that it will be changed. It will start in the southern peninsula, probably at Niagara Falls, and continue west ward and then north. There is a probability that Sir Wilfrid will not touch any points east of Toronto.

On the tour the Premier will be accompanied by Hon. George Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals. No other Minister will accompany him, but the members and candidates in the various ridings in which he will appear will speak.

It is the intention to hold all open air meetings and in the afternoon. This will give the farmers a better chance to attend, and as halls could not be secured sufficient to hold the members who will turn out to honor and hear the eloquent French-Canadian, the open air idea was decided upon.

As yet the route of the tour has not been decided upon.

"We are at work upon the itinerary," said Mr. Inwood. "But until we decide upon what places Sir Wilfrid will speak at, it is better to mention no names."

It is almost certain, however, that Niagara Falls, Strathroy, and North Bay will be among the lucky places.

That the visit of the Premier will rouse the utmost enthusiasm is a certainty. All he has to do is to appear in Ontario, and from the turnouts are assured. However, this is not to be a spectacular but a tour meant to produce results.

It is two years ago since Sir Wilfrid appeared in this city, and the magnificent welcome extended to him at Massey Hall will be easily recalled. Burdened as he is by a thousand duties, he has very little time to go a-visiting, but on the eve of a general election a tour of Ontario was deemed a necessity. The Liberal Parliamentary Committee suggested the idea and the Ontario Reform committee are carrying out the details.

The tour will last about three weeks, after which, it is said, Sir Wilfrid will travel west across the continent. A few meetings in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia will follow, and the campaign before the general elections will be closed by a series of demonstrations in Quebec.

Sir Wilfrid, though far from being a young man, is in splendid health, and is well able to stand such a tour.

Some time during the month of September, also, another tour will be made of Ontario. This time all the cities and Conservative strongholds will be visited. The speakers will be the eloquent members of the Federal Cabinet, and they will do their utmost, without the presence of their leader, to stir up enthusiasm in the breast of every citizen who looks forward to another term of good government.

Met with a Severe Accident

The six-year-old daughter of Mr. F. E. Kline of Lakefield, met with a severe accident a few days ago. The youngster fell off a wood pile onto a cross-cut saw, inflicting a cut in her left arm over three inches in length.—Lakefield News.

—The fire brigade was called out yesterday morning about 11.30 to the residence of Richard Haly, Hilliard street. The fire was started by a number of children playing with matches in a bedroom when the clothes on the bed caught fire, and was soon all ablaze. The house could not reach the fire and so the chemical tanks were used. The loss was about $15.

He was surprised at how the Three Bottles of ... took ... New Method Treatment for a serious blood disease with which I had been afflicted for twelve years. I had consulted a score of physicians, taken all kinds of blood medicines, visited Hot Springs and other mineral water resorts, but only got temporary relief. They would help me for a time, but after discontinuing the medicines the symptoms would break out again—running sores, blotches, rheumatic pains, looseness of the hair, swellings of the glands, palms of the hands scaling, blotches of the skin, dyspeptic stomach, etc. I had given up in despair when a friend advised me to consult you, as you had cured him of a similar disease 8 years ago. I had no hope, but took his advice. In three weeks' time the sores commenced to heal up and I became encouraged. I continued the New Method Treatment for four months and at the end of that time every symptom had disappeared. I was cured 7 years ago and no signs of any disease since. South River Farmer was Shot for a Bear

South River, Ont., Aug. 14.—A shooting accident occurred near here Wednesday evening by which Mr. Sam Richmond, a farmer, aged 36, lost his life.

It appears that Mr. Richmond and Geo. Dunker, a neighbor, were out hunting, each taking a different route. Dunker shot at what he took for a cub bear on the trunk of a tree. The animal, which was really a porcupine, fell to the ground. Richmond hearing the shot started towards the sound. The rushing sound he made caused Dunker to think the mother bear was charging him, and he fired the shot taking effect in Mr. Richmond's groin.

LIVED TO MAKE HIS WILL.

He was procured and the man removed to his home about a mile and a half from the village. Dr. Harrour was called, but the case was hopeless. Mr. Richmond lived long enough to outlive and sign his will.

CAME FROM MEAFORD.

Mr. Richmond came here from Meaford, about a year ago, and was held in the highest esteem. He leaves a wife and three children. The body was sent to Meaford, local Orangemen looking after the arrangements.

Blackhand Society at Work in Lindsay

That the Black Hand Society have started operations in Lindsay is evident from a letter received by a local business man, says the Free Press. Whether it is the genuine article, from the hands of a real live anarchist, is the question that is troubling this merchant. The writer, however, only used one sheet of paper to make his demand. It bore all the insignia of the order; the skull and crossbones in pencil served as a monogram. Dirty finger marks, which are all over the paper, is the only clue the police have as to the identity of the writer, and no doubt Chief Vincent, who is well up in the mysteries of the Bertillion system, will have the culprit locked up before long.

The communication made a big demand for coin, which is going to be treated by silent contempt. The merchant, however, felt very uneasy about it all morning, but said they could not bunco him.

No General Elections Until Next Year

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—W. S. Calvert, M. P., chief government whip, in an interview intimated that he had no knowledge as to a prospective general election this fall, and the matter, in his opinion, has not yet been decided by the premier. Several other prominent politicians have expressed the view that the federal government has no intention of bringing on the general elections so soon. However, the order has gone forth to have the voters' lists printed at once and the government staff in the printing bureau will be put to work on these lists this week. It will take fully two months to get them ready and no Dominion election can be held in the meantime. There seems to be little activity in Liberal circles, as few nominations have been made, but it is expected that when the cabinet ministers have had a short vacation, after the arduous work of the recent session and the present departmental reorganization is completed under the new civil service bill, things will begin to get active in political circles and Sir Wilfrid will open the campaign by visiting some of the more important political centres, and unfolding the government policy in a series of campaign speeches.

Bad Stomach Makes Bad Blood.

You can not make sweet butter in a foul, unclean churn. The stomach serves as a churn in which to agitate, work up and disintegrate our food as it is being digested. If it be weak, sluggish and foul the result will be torpid, sluggish liver and bad, impure blood.

The ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery are just such as best serve to correct and cure all such derangements. It is made up without a drop of alcohol in its composition; chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol. Now this glycerine is of itself a valuable medicine, instead of a deleterious agent like alcohol, especially in the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia and the various forms of indigestion. Prof. Finley Killingwood, M. D., of Bennett's Medical College, Chicago, says of it:

"In dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. . . . It is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon enfeebled, disordered stomachs; especially if there is ulceration or catarrhal gastritis (catarrhal inflammation of stomach), it is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve many cases of pyrosis (heartburn) and excessive gastric acidity. It is useful in chronic intestinal dyspepsia, especially the flatulent variety, and in certain forms of chronic constipation, stimulating the secretory and excretory functions of the intestinal glands."

When combined, in just the right proportions, with Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark, Queen's root, Bloodroot and Mandrake root, or the extracts of these, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, there can be no doubt of its great efficacy in the cure of all stomach, liver and intestinal disorders and derangements. These several ingredients have the strongest endorsement in all such cases of such eminent medical leaders as Prof. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, Chicago; Prof. Robert A. Hare, M. D., of Medical Department, University of Pa.; Prof. Laurence Johnson, M. D., Medical Department, University of New York; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., Hahnemann Medical College, Chicago; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., and Prof. John King, M. D., Authors of the American Dispensatory, and scores of others among the leading medical men of our land.

Who can doubt the curative virtues of a medicine the ingredients of which have such a professional endorsement?

Constipation cured by Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One or two a dose.

Eczema

SKIN ITCHES INTENSELY.

BECOMES RED AND CRACKS.

BLEEDING SORES DEVELOP.

CRUSTS AND DISCHARGES.

The prevalence of Eczema is due in every case to the presence of humors and poisonous acids in the blood.

These poisons come from fermentation of undigested food in the upper bowel or from discharged fecal matter in the lower bowel.

It is a waste of time to employ ointment or washes.

No lasting benefit can be had from doctoring the skin when the cause lies in the blood.

Rich, pure blood will bring new life to the skin—will surely restore beauty and richness of complexion.

Ferrozone is the best treatment.

It acts on the blood instantly, acts with a purifying, healing effect—neutralizes the acids—destroys the poisons—drives every humor from the blood.

So rich and nourishing does Ferrozone make the blood so cool and healthy, that the sores are healed—itchiness is soothed away—every trace of eczema poison removed.

If Ferrozone won't cure them nothing will—in all blood disorders its effect is instant—cure guaranteed. Try Ferrozone, thousands it has cured—will cure you too. In 50c. boxes at all dealers.

BOARD OF EDUCATION IN SPECIAL SESSION

A special meeting of the Board of Education was held last night to deal with the report of the Committee of Appointments. The following members were present, Chairman R. Fair, W. H. Hill, W. G. Morrow, W. T. Nelson, D. W. Dumble, Dr. Morrison, J. Crane, Dr. Burnham, and Inspector Mowat.

A communication was received from H. R. H. Kenner, in regards that each student who uses the physical and chemical laboratories give a security of $1, so that those who break any articles through carelessness during the term should pay for them, and at the end of the term their forfeit be given back to them minus the cost of their breakages.

This was left to the Supervision Committee with power to act.

Your committee appointed to confer with the principal of the Normal School regarding the Queen Alexandra staff leave to report;—

1. That the appointment of Mr. Dunlop and Walker has been approved.

2. That Misses Lockhart, Watt, Perrin, Carlisle, E. Morrow and Mr. Morrow have been appointed as assistants to the staff.

3. That Miss Warner and Miss Gillespie be given charge of the kindergarten class as previously arranged by the board.

The new members of the staff, Misses Lockhart, Watt and Carlisle, all hold first-class certificates, which meet the requirements of the Board of Education.

W. H. HILL.

Your Collegiate Institute Building Committee beg leave to report that they asked for tenders for the tables and cupboards for the physical and chemical laboratories, cap and cloak horses required for the Collegiate Institute, and beg to report that we accepted the tender of the Mann Lumber and Chair Box Co., of $1000. This sum is to include two keyboards not mentioned in the specifications with rubber figures.

Your committee recommends that 500 chairs in sections of two be purchased from the American Seating Co., at the price per sitting, to be delivered F.O.B. Peterborough duty paid. Your committee recommends that screens be purchased for the four west windows in the basement, and that Mr. Duranceau be interviewed to put in 1 1-2 hose for the stand pipe.

W. A. MORRISON.

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education;

Gentlemen.—Your committee appointed to confer with the Education Department regarding the engagement of special teachers beg leave to report as follows;—

1. The Education Department proposes the joint engagement of four teachers viz., A teacher of manual training; a teacher of domestic science; a teacher of art, and a teacher of music. The department will require the services of these teachers at the Normal School for 2-5's of their time, leaving the remaining 3-5's at the disposal of the board.

2. Your committee believes that the present is an opportune time to secure the services of a class of teachers that will do much to advance our schools. This board has on several occasions favorably considered the introduction of manual training and domestic science into our schools, and only the lack of a suitable building has prevented the board taking action in the matter in the past. The educative value and refining influence of music and art, which includes all forms of drawing, are so manifest that your committee feels sure that these subjects, too, will meet with the favorable consideration of the board.

The old Collegiate Building is now available for public school purposes and rooms can easily be fitted up in this building, for the manual training and domestic science classes.

Your committee has carefully considered the question of expense and feels that the Board is being offered generous terms by the Education Department.

The department agrees to contribute the following amounts,—

A. Grants to salaries, per year.

(a) Manual training teacher ...$550

(b) Domestic science teacher .. 400

(c) Art teacher 550

(d) Music teacher 550

B. Grants to maintenance and salary;

(a) Manual train $350 per yr. and 10 per cent. on all salary over $600

(b) Domestic science $200 per year, and 20 per cent. on all salary over $500.

C. Grants to equipments

(a) Twenty per cent. per year for five years on manual training equipment up to $500.

(b) Twenty per cent. per year for five years on domestic science equipment up to $300.

Regarding the equipment, the department pays the whole amount in five annual grants as the cost will not exceed the above mentioned amounts.

Not taking into consideration the grants towards equipment the department will contribute annually towards the expenses in connection with the special teachers, the sum of $2740, leaving $1060, to be defrayed by the board. The board, however, will be put to the expense of supplying the rooms, heating them, furnishing supplies and such like.

3. Your committee favors the joint engagement with the department of four special teachers and after consulting with the principal of the Normal School together with our public school inspector would recommend, subject to the approval of the Education Department, the engaging of the following applicants;

(1) Mr. A. W. Scarrow of Owen Sound, to be teacher of manual training at a yearly salary of $1200.

(2) Miss E. Steinhoff of Stratford, to be teacher of domestic science at a yearly salary of $900.

(3) Miss Jean C. McRae of Belleville, to be teacher of art at a yearly salary of $1000.

(4) Miss Helen Davies of Peterborough, to be teacher of music at a yearly salary of $700.

(5) Your committee would further recommend that the manual training and Domestic science classes for the present be formed from the first forms of the Collegiate Institute and the entrance classes in public schools.

Respectfully submitted.

W. H. HILL,
Chairman Appointments Committee.
Board Room, Aug. 14th, 1908.

New Collegiate will be Completed in Two Weeks

The new Collegiate Institute is nearly ready and is expected to be taken off the contractors' hands within the next ten days. Mr. D. Bellhouse is at present installing 450 seats which it will have completed in the course of a few days. The seats of desks in commercial form are to be chairs which will swing in any direction, and make it more comfortable for the pupils. The building of this new Collegiate has been a question which has been argued for the past number of years and the citizens of Peterborough will be glad to know that the fine new building is nearly completed.

About 1.45 this morning, the fire brigade was called out to extinguish a fire in Mr. Le Bar's house, west of Ireland's blacksmith shop. The origion of the fire is unknown.

A WOnderful Remedy

Orange Lily is daily curing the most obstinate cases of female disorders, falling of the womb, leucorrhoea, painful and suppressed menstruation, etc., are all of them relieved from the start by its use, and a few weeks' or months' treatment accomplishes a complete cure. This remedy is a positive, scientific preparation, and is based on the discoveries of Pasteur and Lister. It is an Applied treatment; that is, it is not taken internally, but is applied direct to the suffering parts, and it, therefore, acts with all the certainty of the known laws of chemical action. As it comes in direct contact with the diseased tissue, its antiseptic and nerve-food properties cannot help but have a beneficent influence. I receive from 50 to 60 letters daily, speaking of the benefits and cures it is performing; and so sure am I that it will do what is claimed for it that I will send, absolutely free, a 25 cent box to every suffering woman who will write for it. Price $1.00 per box, which is sufficient for one months' treatment. Address, with stamp,

A PROPOSED CONFERENCE

The following interesting announcement appeared in a recent issue of the London Morning Leader:—

Imperial conferences and meetings of many kinds have been held of late years; but there is one which still remains to be convened. The representatives of the newspapers of the British Empire have never yet found the opportunity of making acquaintance with one another and exchanging views on those political and professional topics in which they are interested. Considering the great and growing importance of that played by the press in all the states of the Empire, there can be no body of persons whom it is more desirable to bring into personal contact. A serious attempt is now to be made to attain this end. It is proposed that at the end of next May the editors of the principal newspapers of the British Empire beyond the seas shall be invited to this country as the guests of the Press of Great Britain. A strong committee, with Lord Burnham as president, has been formed to promote this object. We hope that the invitation will be accepted by the most influential journals of the self-governing States of the Empire, by those of India, and the other Imperial Dependencies, and by those of the Crown colonies. Apart from discussion of the various questions which interest journals and publicists, some of our guests will be visiting Great Britain for the first time; others will be glad to renew their acquaintance with the Old Country. We hope that they will spend an enjoyable holiday, and carry back pleasant reminiscences of British hospitality; that they will have the opportunity of inspecting the naval, military and industrial resources of the Old Country, and that they will see something of our social life in its best aspects. Guests, and hosts have alike much to learn from this mutual intercourse, and that the occasion, if wisely used, will conduce to the unity and solidarity of the Empire as a whole we entertain no doubt whatever.

No doubt an exchange of views between some of the people who make the newspapers of the Empire, would prove exceedingly valuable, but even more valuable would be the opportunity afforded by such a conference as is proposed in bringing Colonial newspaper men in touch with the conditions obtaining in the United Kingdom to a greater degree than is possible in any other way. As a means of making the people of the Empire better acquainted with each other, nothing much better than the suggested conference can well be devised.

CANADIAN FORESTS

Dean Fernow, of the faculty of forestry at the Toronto University, says that Canadian forests are not as extensive as many Canadians think. He is to be the first movement towards the is inclined to the opinion that many thickened areas are not as valuable as they have been supposed to be, and he suggests that each provincial government ought to take steps at an early day to ascertain how much commercial timber approximately there may be within their respective jurisdictions. A step of this kind would probably prove, adoption of a policy of reforestration, in which none of the governments seem ready to engage because the need of doing so is not absolutely apparent. We are of the opinion that if the amount of timber in the country could be approximated, and some estimate could be made of the probable future consumption, we would find that a shortage is not nearly as remote as seems probable, in view of the vast area covered by forest growth of some kind.

A recent writer says that it was not Rome that destroyed Carthage, but Carthage itself, which recklessly cut down the forests that once covered northern Africa, and thus made the rebuilding of the city useless. Other instances might be cited where the destruction of trees has meant the destruction of nations, and yet we keep on cutting down and burning up our forests as though their only value lay in what we could get out of selling them, and as if they were in point of fact largely a nuisance. No single thing has contributed more to the prosperity of modern Germany than the admirable policy of forest preservation that has been followed during the last century. Of course there is no likelihood of such a destruction of Canadian forests that the climatic conditions of the country will seriously suffer during the present or even the next generation, but the exportation of commercial timber is not by any means beyond measurable distance. The custom is to speak of our forests as inexhaustible, but it is only a short time ago that the forests of the United States were so characterized. It may be conceded that in this province there are other matters which appear to call for more immediate consideration, than reforestation, but in view of the time required for the growth of trees to a commercial value, we are not so sure upon this point as we would like to be. We are not sure that it would not be wise for the government to give this subject consideration now, and that the early inauguration of such a line of action would be at all premature. The owners of privileged lands might very well take into account the need of planting new forests. We suggest to the Chief Commissioner, the advisability of having a synopsis of the laws and practices of other countries in regard to forest preservation and restoration prepared for the information of the public, who are really not alive to the importance of these subjects.

A CANDID FRIEND

The Liberal Montreal "Witness" in a review of the work of the Parliamentary session, does not hesitate to criticise the government for some of the acts for which it is responsible. It admits that the Opposition made out its case in the charges brought against the Department of the Interior, "that political friends of ministers were favored bidders for timber and other desirable lands." It also condemns the purchase by a private individual of land at St. Boniface and the immediate sale of it afterwards to the Government as a railway terminal site at more than double the price that should have been paid. Other matters on which the "Witness" says "the Government does not come very well", are the Quebec Bridge fiasco and the connection of Mr Frederick Borden with a business transaction in the Maritime Provinces. "But", as the "Witness" remarks, "a government majority, whether in the House or a committee, was always ready with the inevitable coat of whitewash."

In regard to its financial record for the present year, the "Witness" considers that the enormous votes passed during the session will make a heavy tax on the community, now and for some years to come. The total estimates amount to $129,000,000 and that does not include the various bonuses and subsidies to industrial and railway schemes. These may require in the course of the present fiscal year thirteen or fourteen millions additional. Besides these there is any liability that may attach to the Government on account of the accident to the Quebec bridge, and also other items that in an administration of a country as large as Canada are frequently being presented for payment. The article in the "Witness" shows that the lavish expenditure indulged in by the Government during the last few years is not viewed with approval by the more careful observers in the own party, and that the criticism by the Opposition of the national expenditures will not lack approval from an important and influential section of the Liberal party.

The reception given by the public to the loan recently negotiated by the Dominion in London was of a character to show Mr. Fielding that in the world's money markets are additions to debt in a period of great prosperity, and when the revenue largely exceeded the estimates made in advance of its probable yield, are not viewed with favor. That the comparatively small amount of subscriptions to the loan was not called by any lack of available capital was shown by the subscriptions sent in for the new Irish Land Loan which exceeded the authorised amount by from fifteen to twenty times the sum required.

Nor can the "Witness" forbear calling attention to the report made by the Commission on the unbusinesslike methods under which the Government is carried on. The article, taken in conjunction with more than one that has recently been published in other newspapers, presumedly supporters of the present administration, seems to show that there is no little dissatisfaction among the rank and file over the present official slackness and the feeling that by some means or other a change for the better must be brought about.

BRITISH EMBARGO ON CATTLE

The hope that at last the British Government would remove the embargo on cattle imported from Canada does not appear to be likely to be realised. This is, perhaps, the one grievance that Canada has any justification for holding against the Mother Country. It is, of course, not only reasonable but necessary, in the interests of the agricultural community of the United Kingdom, that the Government should take all proper precautions to prevent the native cattle from being infected by the importation of stock from abroad. There appears, however, to be no reason to doubt that any danger of the kind will be incurred by permitting the importation of cattle from Canada under the strict regulations which the Dominion Government is ready to carry out to prevent any infected cattle from the United States being sent to Great Britain through Canadian ports. While naturally British breeders desire to keep their home market for themselves there is a demand for "stockers" which Canadian growers could supply to mutual advantage. It is to be hoped that there may still be some means found for removing the opposition to the importation of cattle from Canada.

News in Brief

Midway, Ky., Aug. 13.—This town, half way between Lexington and Frankfort, was the scene of a fire that for a time threatened it with destruction last night. The fire, which is believed to have been of incendiary origin, destroyed five warehouses of the S. J. Greenhum Distilling Company, entailing a loss estimated at $250,000.

The flames caused by the burning of the 47,000 barrels of whiskey turned a creek nearly into a fiery stream that could be seen for ten miles. The flames as them coursed down the surface of the creek, destroyed the Southern Railway trestle and half a dozen negro cabins.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 13.—The firing of an imperial salute to-day will herald the birthday of the future monarch of Russia, little Alexis, the czarevitch of the land of the great white czar. The only son of Emperor Nicholas is to-day 4 years old. He is a beautiful child, and has already shown signs of intelligence unusual in one of his age.

The birth of the czarvitch dispelled the superstitious fear of many Russians, who had seen ill omens for the Russian house in the fact that the first four children of the czar were girls.

Man Can Live Forever

Washington Priate Says Death is a Man-Made Condition

Washington, Aug. 12.—"Death is a man-made condition; the control of mind over matter is so supreme that death can be indefinitely postponed. By exercising will power we can live."

This is the teaching of Bishop Oliver C. Sabin, of the Evangelistic Christian Church, of this city.

"If everyone at a certain hour should resolve hereafter to believe explicitely that there was no such thing as death; that we might all live as long as the world so believed, the limit of human life would increase in proportion to the strength with which this conviction spread and death would ultimately be vanquished," claims Bishop Sabin.

SAYS MAN REDUCES LIFE.

"From the foundation of the world", continued the bishop, "man by his own acts and through his own fault, has been reducing the life limit. In olden days we read in the Bible that man lived to be 800, 900 and 1,000 years of age, approximately. Fast living, subordinate mentality and resignation to death at any time it might show indications of approach, gradually reduced man's life to about 33 years at the time of Christ.

"We have grown to accept what comes to-day. The centenarian is a marvel, whereas he might be commonplace. Man has no one but himself to blame. If the people of this world, or even the vast majority of them, would for once become convinced that death was unnecessary, that it was created by man; that by the universal concentration of our minds upon the determination to live, we may continue to live, death overthrow would be easy and one might just as easily live 1,000 years as 50.

"Instead we have the overpowering dominant presence about us at all times of thought waves, all charged with the conviction that death is a natural consequence, that it must occur. And death, thus re-enforced by the subconscious resignation of many minds, steps in and conquers the feeble will of an individual who battles unsuccessfully against millions of combined minds stronger than his own."

GEORGE STREET PETERBOROUGH

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces, excepting 8 and 26 reserve, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father or mother.

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

Cough Caution

Never, positively never poison your lungs. If you cough—even from a simple cold only—you should always heal, soothe, and ease the irritated bronchial tubes. Don't blindly suppress it with a stupefying poison. It's strange how some things finally come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has constantly warned people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now—a little late though—Congress says "Put it on the label, if poisons are in your Cough Mixture." (and) Very good! Hereafter for this very reason mothers, and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's—and none in the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance then, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and note the difference. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding

Wedding Bells

Port Hope, Aug. 14.—A quiet wedding took place at the residence of Mr. Malcolm Brand, "The Maples," Lake Shore Road, Port Hope, on Wednesday afternoon, August 12, when his second daughter, Olga Winona, was married to Mr. Charles Lee Brewer, late of Montreal. The marriage service was performed by the Rev. H. E. Abraham, B.A., pastor of St. Paul's church, in the presence of a goodly number of friends.

After partaking of a sumptuous repast, the happy couple left on the 10.39 train for Montreal and other eastern points. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Brewer will take up residence in Peterborough.

The footprints of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For this druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. First, these tiny inside Stomach, Heart, and Kidney nerves fail. Then gas bloating, heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment, you will realize the gain. A test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

A CASE OF NERVOUS PROSTRATION

Pe-ru-na is a Systemic Catarrh Remedy.
Especially Adapted to Cases of Nervous Prostration
Caused By Overwork, Mental Strain or Extreme Summer Heat.

IN latitudes where warm weather is of long continuance, the inhabitants become more or less accustomed to it.

In Temperate Zones, however, where the change from winter to summer is great, the system is sometimes poorly prepared to meet the exigencies of hot weather. This is the cause of much sickness.

Stomach catarrh, indigestion and dyspepsia are not among the least of summer ailments.

When the digestion is disturbed, the assimilation is also affected, and as a result the body does not receive the nourishment it should. Lassitude, weakness, brain fag, loss of flesh and nervous prostration are the natural results.

INDIGESTION CAUSES WEAKNESS.

What is needed is a remedy that will restore the digestive organs to their normal condition.

Such a remedy has been found in Peruna. It has proven itself of great value in thousands of cases of this kind.

Its action has been remarkable at times in restoring some patients who had given up all hope of recovery.

But there is nothing strange about Peruna's action. It simply tones up the mucous membranes of the organs involved, restoring them to their normal condition and leaving Nature to perform her duties unhindered.

PE-RU-NA'S BENEFICIAL EFFECT.

That person who has sound, healthy mucous membranes lining the entire digestive tract is well-guarded against the usual summer ailments.

Peruna is the means whereby to attain this most desirable condition.

If you suffer from any of the above mentioned symptoms, try a bottle of Peruna.

One bottle of this remedy is often sufficient to convince any one of its merit as a safe and reliable remedy for all catarrhal conditions.

We have many letters of gratitude received from persons who have experienced its benefits.

These testimonials are proof to us that Peruna has not failed in the mission for which it was intended, that of relieving suffering and restoring health.

MR. P. BRIEN, 28 Third Street, Limoilou, Quebec.

"The fatigues entailed by my duties as accountant began to weaken my system about a year ago. I felt that I would not long be able to withstand the severe strain upon my nerves, as, a thing unknown to me before, I would long for office hours to be over in order to rest.

"I gradually grew weaker and a few months later my sight was impaired. I then broke down completely and was obliged to take to my bed. I was also suffering from palpitation of the heart.

"After a few weeks' treatment by a local physician, I was in the same critical condition and as the doctor held out no great prospects for me, I decided to experiment on myself.

"I took several remedies advertised as tonics, but did not derive any benefit.

"Peruna was then given a trial, and before I had taken it a week I felt my condition improving. After a few weeks more had elapsed, during which time I followed the directions carefully, my shattered nervous system became firmer, my sight stronger and I hoped to be out soon again.

"My expectations were realized, for in three weeks I assumed my duties as accountant at the office.

"Peruna certainly worked wonders on my system, and for persons run-down from overwork, I believe it is the most efficacious tonic."

Kidneys and Liver.

Mr. George E. Hess, 1611 Broadway, Supervisor of the 2nd District Watervliet, N. Y., writes:

"It is but just to you to acknowledge with thanks the great help I have received from the use of Peruna. Two years ago I was a sick man. My kidneys and liver were out of order, and the pain in my back and head was at times so severe that I was obliged to give up my work.

"At this time a club friend of mine spoke to me of Peruna, and induced me to try it. The effect it had on me from the first was most remarkable. I knew at once that I had secured the right medicine, and was entirely cured in ten weeks."

Distress After Eating.

Mr. J. W. Pritchard, Columbia City, Ind., writes:

"I am pleased to say that I have been cured of catarrh of the stomach by Peruna.

"I could hardly eat anything that agreed with me. Before I would get half through my meal my stomach would fill with gas, causing me much distress and unpleasant feelings for an hour or two after each meal.

"But, thanks to your Peruna, I am now completely cured, and can eat anything I want to without any of the distressing symptoms. I can now enjoy my meals, and it is all due to Dr. Hartman and his wonderful medicine."

THREE DEAD, SCORES HURT, IN RACE RIOT FOLLOWING NEGRO'S ASSAULT UPON A WOMAN

Two Score of Houses Burned by Incendiaries—Night of Carnage

Many Troops Called Out

The scene of the race riot is within half a mile of the old home-stead of Abraham Lincoln, the only residence ever owned by the martyred president. The house now is the property of the state. A monument there marks the grave of the emancipator.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 15. — Two white men were killed, an unknown negro was lynched and nearly a hundred persons were injured and two score of houses, mostly occupied by negroes, were burned last night as the result of an attempt by a mob to lynch a negro who had assaulted a white woman. After a night of riot, arson and slaughter the state troops were called out by the governor and succeeded early today in restoring a semblance of order and stopping the fire. One thousand militiamen, including three companies from this city and companies from Bloomington, Decatur, Peoria, Pekin and Pontiac, are patrolling the streets, and it is believed that further disorder will be prevented.

The First Infantry of Chicago was also ordered today to start for Springfield on the first train that could be made to carry them. When this organization arrives the town will be protected by three full regiments.

W. H. Bowe, chief clerk in the county treasurer's office, was precariously wounded in a fight at Fourteenth and Mason streets, three blocks from the scene of the lynching. Mr. Bowe was set upon by a number of negroes, and was shot through the body. One bullet grazed the liver and inflicted a dangerous wound.

The county official was then robbed and beaten and would have been killed had not one of the negroes recognized him and persuaded the others to desist.

SEVENTY WOUNDED.

The most serious part of the rioting came shortly before daybreak this morning, when the mob, after lynching the negro, Charles Hunter, at 12th and Madison streets, was fired on by Company H, Fifth Infantry from Decatur. After an attempt to disperse the mob the soldiers fired two volleys over the heads of the rioters and then shot low, wounding two men.

More than 70 persons so far have been hurt in the riots, those most dangerously wounded being as follows; John Caldwell, shot in stomach by militia, may die; Louis Bowen, shot in chest and chin by militia, may die; Robert Oakley, negro, former policeman and leader in resistance to mob's attack, shot in eye, chest and ear, will die; Tomal Foley, leader of union coal miners, shot in stomach with buckshot. Albert Sidney, shot below eye, probably will die; W. H. Bowe, shot in chest, wound in lung feared serious.

The majority of the others were shot in the body or legs by soldiers who dispersed the mob.

The city grew comparatively quiet late today. The burned district and the wrecked Loper Restaurant near Fifth and Monroe streets were meccas for crowds of sight-seers, early trains bringing people by hundreds.

Many of the larger stores have closed to avoid trouble and to prevent loss by fire at raids and robbery.

Citizens are leaving town and women and children are departing on every train and interurban cars for places of safety.

HOW IT COMMENCED.

The rioting was precipitated by an assault committed early yesterday morning by a negro upon Mrs. Mabel Hallam, wife of a street railway conductor. While the woman slept alone in her home on a populous residence street, awaiting the return of her husband, the man broke into the house, dragged her into the rear yard and assaulted her.

Before noon George Richardson, a young negro, was arrested by the sheriff's force, charged with the crime. The victim partially identified the prisoner. Crowds quickly gathered about the police so that were able to preserve order until nightfall, without difficulty.

Shortly after 5 o'clock a successful rush was worked by the authorities and Richardson was spirited away to safety, while the assembled crowds held at bay by the officers a false run by the fire department temporarily drew the attention of the crowd, during which time the negro was hurried down an adjoining alley, and at the first corner was pushed into an automobile owned by Harry T. Loper, a restaurant keeper, who had been sworn in as a deputy sheriff.

Before the crowd realized what had happened, Richardson was being rushed to a point north of the city, where a Chicago and Alton train was stopped and he was put aboard with a heavy guard and conveyed to Bloomington and later was taken to Peoria.

Along with Richardson was Joe James, another negro prisoner in the county jail, who is accused of killing Clergy Ballard, a state mine inspector, after attempting an assault upon Ballard's daughter. Ballard went to his daughter's rescue and was stabbed to death.

"ON TO LOPER'S."

After the darkness had gathered crowds assembled in the vicinity of the county jail. The mood of the masses was ugly and appeals by Sheriff Werner were without effect. The sheriff offered to let a committee from the crowd search the jail, assuring them that both negroes were gone.

"We will all go through," shouted some one in the crowd and the cry was taken up by hundreds.

Then some one in the crowd mentioned that Harry Loper, the restaurant man, had furnished the automobile in which the escape of the prisoners had been effected.

"On to Loper's," they shouted, and by this time the maddened mob was ready for anything.

A rush was made upon Loper's restaurant, five blocks away. The proprietor was warned, but failing to appreciate the seriousness of the situation, did not attempt to escape until the mob was upon the place.

WRECKED RESTAURANT.

He was pushed by employes of the place, together with his wife, into a basement room in temporary safety.

Short work was made of the restaurant. The automobile in which the rescue had been effected had been left in front of the place. It was quickly turned upside down and fire was set to the machine.

While the machine blazed frenzied hundreds poured into the cafe, tore fixtures and decorations from their places and piled them upon the blaze. Even the sideboards and kitchen were stripped and all the tableware and dishes piled upon the blaze.

The fire department, which had been called out a half dozen times in efforts to disperse the crowds, again made a run to the restaurant, but was powerless. Every line of hose that was stretched was cut before a stream of water could be forced into it. The restaurant was stripped clean by the mob, which destroyed, without hindrance, until its work was nearly completed.

The local companies of militia, consisting of a company of infantry and a troop of cavalry, and a gatling gun section, which had been ordered out by Governor Deneen early in the afternoon, was busy near the jail and the local authorities had no men to spare for the Loper place. Finally, in a desperate effort to restore order, the cavalry troop was despatched to the restaurant.

Then the rioting broke loose in serious form. Shots were fired and the air was filled with missiles. Many fell in the melee and it was here that Louis Johnson met his death. After the mob had moved to other scenes Johnson's body was picked up in the rear of Loper's place.

After nothing of Loper's place remained, a rush was made for the levee, which is usually populated with negroes, but most of them had disappeared.

Attacks were made upon several store buildings, in which it was believed negroes had been hidden. Entrance was forced to these places and stocks of merchandise turned topsy-turvy in the search for refugees.

MOB ARMS ITSELF.

Shortly before midnight the mob broke into Fishman's pawn shop and secured a quantity of rifles, shotguns, revolvers and ammunition. With these they armed themselves and started to march the streets in control of the situation.

"Stand back, gentlemen, or I'll shoot every one of you who touches this man," were the words of Eugene W. Chafin, Prohibition candidate for president, who faced a mob that had attacked a negro while Mr. Chafin was delivering a public address on the east side of the square last night.

For this act Chafin was struck on the left side of the face with a brick but backed by a member of the mob. Chafin was well along in his speech when a negro, pursued by a mob, came toward the speaker's stand from Fifth and Washington streets, where he had been pulled from a street car.

The crowd closed in on the negro and had him on the ground beating him with their fists and clubs. The negro finally got away and jumped on the platform.

CHAFIN THREATENS TO SHOOT.

It was at this point that Mr. Chafin stopped the frightened man, put his hand to his hip pocket and threatened to shoot anyone who touched the negro. Mr. Chafin's threat had the desired effect, although he had no weapon.

During the fight the negro pulled a knife from his pocket and slashed several white men. Mr. Chafin was not seriously injured. James Scott was struck by a heavy built and almost instantly killed.

After burning many houses in the negro quarter, the mob, which became more desperate as the night passed, finally gratified its thirst for blood this morning at three o'clock, when an unknown negro was lynched at the corner of 12th and Madison streets, right in the heart of the so-called "red lights."

Troops arrived at the scene too late to prevent the lynching. Some of the members of the mob declared that the negro lynched had shot two white men. They said that in a fight with the whites the negro was forced into a corner at the saloon and grocery, on the corner of 12th and Madison streets. When retreat was cut off the negro is said to have opened fire, wounding two. Then came the cry "get the rope."

All the members of the mob eagerly took up the cry. The negro was caught and dragged to the street. Here he was beaten and shot five times, and then a rope was swung around his neck and the other end of the rope was thrown over the limb of a tree in front of the store. With a cry of satisfaction, the negro was swung high off the ground. He was dead in a few minutes.

After riddling the body with bullets, the mob commenced to dance around the tree. At this point a company of troops from Decatur arrived and commenced firing, causing the rioters to disperse in a hurry. By daylight the streets had practically been cleared, and the troops were in control of the situation.

The dead are; Lewis Johnson, white, aged 17 years; James Scott, white, aged 70, and Charles Hunter, colored, who was lynched.

The injured today number 75.

Mr. Ernie Best Retiring from Business

Mr. Ernie Best, who has been for the past seven years manager of the Best Stove Company, has decided to retire and devote his time to Y. M.C.A. physical work. With that end in view Mr. Best will leave next month for Springfield, Ill., to enter the Y.M.C.A. Training College, where he expects to put in about two years. Mr. Best will leave Peterborough about the middle of September and his departure will be sadly felt by the host of friends he has made during his long residence in this city. While here Ernie was a member of the Y.M.C.A. and B.A.C. and was prominently connected with several amateur sporting organizations. He made a name for himself as a lacrosse player a few years ago and has been one of the best all-round athletes the city has ever had. In his business ventures Mr. Best has also been singularly successful, having made the local branch of the Best Stove Company, one of the finest and most progressive business houses of the city.

LACROSSE.

Lacrosse games played on Saturday resulted as follows;

Tecumsehs 11, Nationals 6.
Cornwall 6, Shamrocks 4.

A Number of Petty Robberies in the City

The local police have been hearing a number of complaints about the petty robberies committed in the west end of the city.

On Thursday entrance was made to the cellar of Mrs. Giles, Park street, and pies, cake, a large piece of cheese and other things were stolen. It would be a good thing for the community all the thieves could be lodged behind the bars, as depredations are becoming altogether too frequent.

Demanded a Ticket for the North West

The local relief officer, Mr. F. W. Miller has troubles of his own, while fulfilling his duty. The other day a man called at his office, and demanded two tickets for the West at the city's expense or keep them all winter. Mr. Miller told the man that his request was absurd. Not long ago the relief officer received a similar request. Evidently there are some people who look upon Mr. Miller as a Santa Claus.

Boasts that Canada and Australia Combined Could Not Bar Japs

London, July 16.—In an article on "The Color Prejudice," the Statist remarks that Canada with a population about the size of London's, and occupying, or pretending to occupy, a territory nearly as big as Europe, takes upon itself to exclude Indian fellow subjects representing a population equal in number to the whole population of Europe. The Canadian people, it says, have no right to take up this attitude, except the right of mere brute force.

In regard to Japan, the Statist says that neither Australia nor Canada nor the two combined have power to exclude the Japanese if Britain stood aside.

Retreat Concluded on Saturday

The annual retreat of the Sisters of St. Joseph was concluded Saturday.

Eleven novices made perpetual vows of poverty, chastity and obedience and three young ladies received the holy habit. They were Miss Coleman, in religion, Sister Mary Dominica; Miss O'Neil, Sister Mary Meinna, Miss O'Brien, Sister Mary Lucy.

His Lordship, Bishop O'Connor officiated at the mass and was assisted by Rev. Archdeacon Casey and Rev. Father McColl.

An eloquent sermon was preached by Rev. Father Bonaher, of Chicago.

Were Remanded Until Friday

Friday evening about five o'clock Abraham Aboud, an Assyrian, James Baldwin, and Constable Purson, of Buckhorn, waited upon Magistrate Edmison. It appears from Aboud's story that he was assaulted by Baldwin, who used a club on him and afterwards robbed him of $100.

Baldwin admitted striking the Assyrian, stating that it was done in self defence. He said that he was accosted on the road by Aboud who demanded with an open knife a dollar he owed him. He had the money and had to defend himself with the club.

Both men were remanded. The case will come up next Friday. Aboud secured bail this morning he having been arrested on a charge laid by Baldwin.

Physician Declares Autos Preserve Health

London, Aug. 15.—The death rate in London last week was only 10 per 10,000, the lowest rate in over half a century. A physician whose anonymity is preserved declares this is due to the decrease in horse traffic and especially the increase in motor traffic.

The fumes from the motor cars and motor buses, according to this authority, are the finest possible disenfectant, clearing the air of germs and impurities. He says the burr carbonized matter is a splendid antiseptic and the creosote vapors that come form the motor are in reality a health tonic and preser.

There has been a campaign recently against the motor buses in London, the charges against them being that they are driven to the common danger, create a tremendous noise, and make the air reek with a foul stench. Those who object on the last mentioned ground are now brought to regard it as a blessing in disguise.

Self Delusion

Many People Deceived by Coffee

We like to defend our indulgencies and habits even though we may be convinced of their actual harmfulness.

A man can convince himself that whiskey is good for him on a cold morning, or beer on a hot summer day—when he wants the whiskey or beer?

It's the same with coffee. Thousands of people suffer headache and nervousness year after year but try to persuade themselves the cause is not coffee—because they like coffee.

"While yet a child I commenced using coffee and continued it," writes a Wis. man, "until I was a regular coffee fiend. I drank it every morning and in consequence had a blinding headache nearly every afternoon.

"My folks thought it was coffee that ailed me, but I liked it and would not admit it was the cause of my trouble, so I stuck to coffee and the headaches stuck to me.

"Finally, the folks stopped buying coffee and brought home some Postum. They made it right (directions on pkg.), and told me to see what difference it would make with my head, and during that first week on Postum my old afflictions did not bother me once. From that day to this we have used nothing but Postum in place of coffee—headaches are a thing of the past and the whole family is in fine health.

"Postum looks good, smells good, tastes good, is good, and does good to the whole body." "There's a Reason."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Scott Government Has a Majority of Two --Returns Incomplete

Results Show Scott Twenty-One and Haultain Nineteen--Cabinet Ministers were Defeated

Regina, Sask., Aug. 16.—The returns available indicate the election of the Scott Government by a small majority—so small, indeed, that it may require his resignation.

In estimates made last night both parties claimed Moosejaw county and Saskatoon county. Latest returns indicate they will be divided. In the former, Dorrell, Conservative, leads by 120 on 32 polls, with 13 polls to hear fro. Sutherland has 30 majority in Saskatoon county, with one poll to hear from.

Calder, the defeated minister of education, admits that Whitmore has 143 majority in Milestone, with eight polls to hear from, which may slightly reduce the total. He attributes his defeat to the dead set made on him and says the constituency was flooded with imported speakers and workers.

The standing of the parties at present is;

Mr. A. P. Marshall Writes About the Fernie Fire

In a letter received by Mr. G. Marshall of The Times, from his brother Mr. A. P. Marshall of Cranbrook, B.C., the latter tells of some of his experiences during the great Fernie fire. Mr. A. P. Marshall, who is an engineer on the C.P.R. running from Cranbrook, says; "Our escape was miraculous. I never hope to see the like again, we thought our time had come." After representing his lodge at the convention at Columbus, Ohio, Mr. Marshall will pay a visit to his brother here in Peterborough, some time during September.

Over 2,000 Sheep and Calves were Burned

Buffalo, N.Y., Aug. 16. — Fire which broke out early today in the sheep sheds of the New York Central stock yards at East Buffalo, destroyed all of them, and some adjoining buildings. Between 1,500 and 2,000 sheep and calves were burned to death.

Supt. Henry Leigh this morning estimated the loss at $100,000.

Good Prospects for a Successful Fair

Persons wishing to have prize lists of the Peterborough Fair may do so by making application to Mr. T. J. A. Hall. The list is larger than that of last year, and a number of special prizes will be offered.

If the Peterborough Industrial Fair of 1908 is not the biggest success in any way of any exhibitions ever held here then the present calculations and prospects are away out. The directors are doing everything possible to make it such and are working conscientiously and systematically for the accomplishment of that object. From all indications, the entry lists for the various exhibits will be record breaking.

A number of excellent vaudeville artistes and acrobatic performers have been secured and they will give an entertainment every day in front of the grandstand.

The horse races on Friday and Saturday also promise to be excellent and taking the interest the horsemen are taking in them, there should be some fast horses start in all of the four classes.

Keep Your Nerves Strong

No Surer Road to Ill-Health Than Neglect of the NERVES.

The nervous system ministers equally to man's physical as it contributes to man's intellectual powers.

Mostly its activity, we have various forms of hallucination, mental depression, sleeplessness and hysteria.

If you say a man is strong it implies that his nervous system is strong.

If you say that a woman's nerves are weak, you affirm what is absolutely true, that her whole physical condition is so far below the par that collapse may easily follow.

No remedy has ever been devised that will compare with Ferrozone in nervous maladies.

Ferrozone does not affect the nerves as hypnotics or sedatives which lull them into obedience—it makes them strong, because it contains the constituents that are necessary to make nerve strength.

Ferrozone makes blood.

Ferrozone gives strength.

Ferrozone forces appetite, assures assimilation of food.

Ferrozone imparts to the whole organism vim, endurance, buoyancy.

The Semi-Centennial Atlantic Ocean Cable

Fifty Years Ago Today the First Message was Sent Under the Ocean

New York, Aug. 16.—To-day is a notable anniversary in the history of the progress of inventive genius, since it was just fifty years ago that the first Atlantic Cable flashed its first message under the seas and wedded the new world to the old. Queen Victoria sent the first message to President Buchanan, and on the following days the entire country celebrated. While this cable did not long remain in operation, it demonstrated the feasibility of the scheme which had, in the years preceding, been denounced as a foolhardy project. Cyrus W. Field was promoter of the Atlantic cable, and its final successful installation was attributed to his genius and perseverance. The semi-centennial anniversary of the linking of the two continents by submarine telegraph has not passed unnoticed in New York, although there has been no extensive celebration. The wireless telegraphy and other wonders of the last decade have somewhat tarnished the fame of the cable system, considered as the supreme test of man's inventive genius, as it was considered fifty years ago.

The period from August 5, when the cable was landed, to the last of August, 1858, was one of rejoicing in New York. Festivities of all kinds were indulged in by the people of the city, and the sending of the first message was declared to be the greatest event of the century.

One of the features of the celebration was a great procession, headed by the firemen and the police, and including eleven hundred laborers and eight hundred carts from the Park and the Croton Reservoir, then in process of construction, all led by Messrs. Olmstead, Waring, Miller, and Grant. Altogether, the procession was three miles in length, and was properly reviewed at the City Hall by Mayor Tieman. As it passed the Manhattan Hotel, a Waldorf-Astoria of the day, its members read this sign;

MARRIED, AUGUST, 1858,
BY
CYRUS W. FIELD,
OLD IRELAND AND YOUNG AMERICA.

"May their honeymoon last forever."

Mr. Field was well entitled to all the praise showered upon him. He had been scoffed at, ridiculed, dubbed a crazy man, and had sacrificed his business and his own means, and had previously made two attempts to lay the cable, only to be thwarted.

Unfortunately for all the rejoicings, for some unknown reason, the cable stopped working just at the time of the great official celebration in Trinity Church, and of the dinner of the Common Council to Mr. Field, at which there served no less than eighteen entrees in addition to five roasts, boiled turkey and mutton and full thirty-nine desserts.

For Mr. Field this meant doing the work over again. The old company had exhausted its means, which were gone for all time; a new one had to be formed and fresh capital raised. There were endless trips to be made to the other side, his business again had to be neglected, and finally abandoned. The civil war came, next; but this proved a help rather than a hindrance, and Mr. Field's alert brain made the most of it. He suggested cables between the Union posts in Charleston harbor; he pointed out how the existence of a cable would have robbed the Mason-Slidell crisis with England of much of its danger and made of it an incident of days instead of months, without the consequent ill-feeling and heavy expenditure on the British side for war preparations. Mr. Field did yeoman's work, too, in upholding the cause of the north in England when it was highly unpopular, and began a friendship with Gladstone to put the case of the North before him as strongly as possible. But his main efforts were devoted to the laying of a cable that would work, and this he finally accomplished, by the aid of the Great Eastern, on September 8; 1858, after another failure in 1865.

The Prince of Wales Saved Rochette's Life

Montreal, Aug. 14.—An interesting story comes from Quebec regarding the commuting of the death sentence of Omer Rochette to imprisonment for life. This man, a member of a prominent French-Canadian family residing at Quebec, poisoned his wife and fled the country with another woman. He was finally captured at Detroit, brought back to Quebec, where he was convicted and sentenced to death.

WAS TO HANG TODAY.

Every possible appeal was made to the Government to commute the death sentence, but in vain, and had the law had its way he would have been hanged today.

His Royal Highness, Prince George of Wales is the cause of saving Rochette's life. During the Prince's visit to Quebec he visited the seminary at St. Joachim Cape, dining with the priests, among them being some of the faculty of Laval University.

It so happens that upon the Laval faculty is a man who married Rochette's sister, and it was whispered to the Prince during the course of the entertainment that they would deem it a great favor if he would reconsider for the murderer. This, it appears, he did, asking his father the King, and the sentence of death was commuted to one of imprisonment for life.

BLEEDING CANDIDATES

Much outcry was heard a few years ago over the increase of indemnity by the members of the Dominion Parliament from $1,500 to $2,500. It was called a "salary grab", and it probably was a grab, but all the blame does not attach to the members. They were partly forced to it in self-defence by the system which has grown up in the constituencies of "bleeding" parliamentary candidates for subscriptions of all kinds. A remark by the Paris Star that such bleeding has created a system from which sensitive men shrink with disgust, leads the Toronto Star to moralize on the situation. It says that as soon as a man resolves a nomination he seems to be expected to attend every church picnic held in his district, be is counted on as a supporter of all hockey and other athletic organizations, and no charity subscription list is complete without his name on it.

All this sort of thing costs money, a great deal more money than the individual recipients have any idea of. But this is only part of it. In many cases the candidate is expected to meet a large part of the cost, if not the whole cost, of maintaining club rooms during several weeks prior to voting. Livery rigs and halls used during the canvas are in many instances paid for out of his pocket. Advertising is another addition to the financial burdens allowed to rest on his shoulders.

Altogether, even if the candidate is the first year's sessional indemnity meets the cost of his campaign. But the expenditure does not end with the winning of the election. Contributions for local, religious, athletic, and charitable organizations must be continued and increased during the whole Parliamentary term.

The tax put upon candidates in this way is one of the main causes for that other evil—levying upon corporations by politicians for campaign funds. The candidate who is compelled to provide for outlays in connection with his election which he cannot well afford to most naturally looks for relief from some other source, and the corporation or private interest which is ready to contribute cash in return for legislative favors is the readiest source available.

To enact stringest laws against bribery is a good thing; it is well to provide for publicity in election funds; but a reform of equal importance would be affected in the education of the voter up to a standard which would cause him to experience a feeling of shame in asking a candidate for Parliament for a contribution which would not be solicited from the same individual as a private citizen.

News in Brief

Halifax, N. S., Aug 17.—In connection with the annual meetings of the Maritime Board of Trade, a celebration of the 150th anniversary of the establishment of responsible government in Nova Scotia was commenced here today.

Toronto, Aug. 16.—The succession duties collected by the Ontario government so far this year amount to $789,000. The sum of $63,000 was paid in a few days ago on account of the Patton estate of this city and the Eaton estate, Toronto, paid $62,000 on account.

Ottawa, Aug. 16.—In a few weeks the old age annuities act will be brought into active operation. Actual tables are being prepared by the experts in the finance department and as soon as these are complete the government will take steps to put the act in force. Sir Richard is arranging the details for the administration of the act and will very shortly appoint an actuary who will have charge of the measure and who will be assisted by a competent staff.

London, Aug. 16.—That the use of brushes provided at public baths is highly hazardous is the assertion of Dr. Priestly, a prominent English health officer. Dr. Priestly recently made examinations of bath brushes and found in the bristles a collection of nearly all the dangerous microbes and bacilli known to science.

Among the animals found by the scientists in the bath brush menagerie were the micrococcus, bacillus prodigiosus, proteus vulgaris, bacillus coli communocous, the deadly torulee, and many others equally as formidable.

Ottawa, Aug. 16.—Supplies flowed in freely from all parts of Canada and the Western States last week to the fire sufferers in British Columbia. Food stuff and clothing were sent in large quantities and nearly $50,000 in money was received up to last Saturday. Much more is needed, but the work of raising subscriptions is being taken up energetically, especially throughout Western Canada, and a generous response is being made. Already a start has been made.

Ottawa, Aug. 16.—The statement of revenue and expenditure for the past four months of the current fiscal year as indicated by the returns of the finance department still show a falling revenue. As compared with the previous four months of 1907 the Dominion revenue decreased by $6,749,589 and the total public debt at the end of the month stood $275,511,872, as compared with $253,401,867 on the corresponding date last year.

Ischl, Austria, Aug. 13.—King Edward left for Murzsteg, where he will take the waters, this morning. Emperor Francis Joseph, who displayed wonderful activity during King Edward's visit, was at the railway station to bid his royal visitor farewell.

The Emperor last night entertained King Edward at a gala dinner during the course of which toasts were exchanged expressive of the mutual pleasure of the visit, the King congratulating Emperor Francis Joseph on the celebration of his jubilee, and both dwelling with satisfaction on the friendly relations existing between the two countries.

The dinner was followed by a serenade given by the Vienna Mannerchor, during which, in obedience to flashlight signals, beacon fires were lighted at 200 points in the surrounding mountains. The two monarchs then drove through Ischl to view the public fete and illuminations until nearly midnight, when the Emperor escorted his royal guest back to the hotel.

Montreal, Aug. 13.—The worst rain and wind storm in years visited this town yesterday afternoon. Beginning at four o'clock the rain fell in torrents and down town streets soon resembled roaring rivers. Cellars were flooded, gratings were washed in the streets and mud and refuse deposited where least wanted. The wind storm was a veritable tornado in the south end of the town. The park with its beautiful groves of maples was left in a state of chaos. Over forty large trees were uprooted or snapped off. Several large trees fell into Mayor Ekhardy's yard, one of them smashing the roof of his residence, making a big hole through which the heavy rain poured, damaging a bedroom considerably. Another tree fell on the roof of Mr. A. J. Craig's house, causing some damage, while two other trees fell into his yard. Streets were blocked by trees falling across them. In the park the storm took the form of a whirlwind, for trees are lying in various directions. Fortunately no houses were demolished other than the two mentioned. The damage to the park will be irreparable. It is reported that Capt. Sodon's bush north-west of the park is almost destroyed, fallen trees blocking traffic on the road leading to Wyebridge.

August time, this on the nerves. But that aperitless, no ambition feeling can be easily and quickly altered by taking what is known by druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Within 48 hours after beginning to use the Restorative, improvement will be noticed. Of course, full health will not immediately return. The gain, however, will surely follow. And best of all, you will realize and feel your strength and ambition as it is returning. Outside influences depress first the "inside nerves" then the stomach, Heart and Kidneys will usually fail. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and see how quickly health will be yours again. Sold by all dealers.

THE LAND OF GRAVES.

Ancient Egyptians Believed In Constant Reminders of Death.

To the Egyptian death was but the beginning of a career of adventures and experiences compared with which the most vivid emotions of this life were tame. He lived with the fear of death before his eyes. Everything around him reminded him of that dreadful initiation into the mysteries of the tremendous after life for which his present existence was but a preparation. His cemeteries were not hidden away in remote suburbs; his dead were not covered with mere grassy mounds or a slab of stone. The whole land was his graveyard; its whole art was of the mortuary. "Are there no graves in Egypt that thou hast brought us into the wilderness to die?" asked the Israelites in derision, and we may believe that Moses winced at the sarcasm.

Egypt is the land of graves, and the whole energy of the people that could be spared from keeping life together was devoted to death. The mightiest tombs in the world—the pyramids—were raised upon the deaths of multitudes of toiling slaves. The hills were honeycombed passages and galleries, chambers, pits, all painfully excavated in honor of the illustrious dead and sculptured and painted with elaborate skill to make them fit habitations for his ghost.

Wherever he looked the Egyptian beheld preparations for the great turning point of existence. The mason was squaring blocks for the tomb chamber; the potter molded images of the gods or bowls and jars to be placed in the grave for the protection or refreshment of the Ka, exhausted with the ordeals of the underworld; the sculptor and painter were at work upon the walls of the funeral chamber, illustrating the scenes through which the ghost was to pass or depicting the industrious life of the departed.

The very temples which cluster along the levels beside the Nile were in a sense but vestibules to the tombs in the hills behind. The sacred lake, now the weedy, picturesque haunt of waterfowl, was then the scene of solemn ferryings of the dead. The temple walls were covered with the terrors of the judgment to come. The houses of the living, indeed, were built of perishing mud, but the homes of the dead and the shrines where supplication was made to the gods who ruled their fate were made to last forever. On them all the strength, the science and the Physician—Have you any aches or pains this morning? Patient—Yes, doctor; it hurts me to breathe—in fact, the only trouble now seems to be with my breath. Physician—All right. I'll give you something that will soon stop that!

If the Earth Should Stop.

The stopping of a projectile always results in the generation of heat. The velocity and weight of a projectile being known, the amount of heat developed by its stoppage can be calculated. In the case of large bodies moving rapidly the result of the calculation is something astounding. For example, the earth weighs 6,000,000,000,000 tons and travels in its orbits at the rate of over eighteen miles a second. Should it strike a target strong enough to stop its motion the heat developed by the shock would be sufficient not merely to fuse the earth, but also to reduce a large portion of it to vapor. It has been calculated that the amount of heat generated by a collision so colossal would equal that obtained from the burning of fourteen globes of coal each equal to the earth in size. And should the earth after its stoppage fall into the sun, as it certainly would do, the amount of heat developed by its impact on the sun would be equal to that generated by the combustion of 5,000 earths of solid carbon.

American Farmers Flocking to Canada

Canada is passing through a period of reduced immigration similar to our own, with an exception of especial interest to ourselves, says the New York Times editorially. The Dominion arrivals have decreased by almost half for the first six months of the current year, but the decrease I entirely from Europe and Asia. The immigration from the United States is not only keeping fully up to unusual proportions, but the immigrants from this side the border are naturalizing themselves to a exceptional extent. No less than 7,370 of Uncle Sam's sons changed their allegiance last year, and it is now said that the total of citizens we have presented to Canada has reached 40,000 in the last half dozen years. Before that time it would hardly have been thought possible. It has seemed so natural for other nationalities to become Americans, but so contrary to the course of nature for Americans to forswear their county.

The explanation of the decrease of Canada's immigration is doubtless like our own. They are industrial workers who are not reaching our shores in these depressed times, and who even are leaving us. The increase of arrivals from the United States is also easily explained. They are agriculturists, and there is no depression in the farmers' business anywhere. Moreover, there is a particular reason why agricultural arrivals into Canada should be stimulated just now. Railway enterprise is dead in the United States, but construction is active in Canada. New lands are being opened constantly, and the later arrivals will fare wose. It is easier to understand this American emigration than to reconcile ourselves to it, and the hardest thing of all is to believe that for whatever reason the feeling of the American citizenship is weakening. It would be more comprehensible if it were necessary to become naturalised to hold land in Canada. It might then seem as though they were selling their birthright, but th choice might be thought worth while. As it is the chance of citizenship appears an unnecessary, and therefore a gratuitous, selling out of what Americans have been accustomed to think almost priceless.

Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each on and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father or mother.

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We tell and abide fully recommend

C. B. FOSTER, Dist. Pass. Agt., C.P.R., Toronto

To Canadian Investors

The undersigned has received an allotment of unsold portion of $100,000 of

7 Per Cent. First Mortgage Five-Year Gold Bonds

dated January 11, 1908, and maturing January 11, 1913. These Bonds are offered at par and accrued interest by Metropolitan Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, trustees.

SECURITY—The Entire Property and Improvements Owned THE URES CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY in the District of Ures, State of Sonora Mexico, Free from Mortgage or Bonded Indebtedness except this present Bond Issue.

An Unusual Opportunity for Investment in Sound Security

The Ures Consolidated Mining Company offers $100,000.00 of First Mortgage Gold Bonds. This issue of bonds is the only mortgage or bonded indebtedness ever placed on the company's properties.

These bonds are in the denomination of $100.00, and bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, July and January, and are redeemable on or before five years from date at the company's option at $110.00 and accrued interest.

$100.00 Stock Bonus Given with Every $100.00 Bond

With each bond issued there will be given $100.00 par value of the capital stock of the company as a bonus, and in addition thereto there will be placed in escrow with the Trustee additional stock which will be available to the bondholders at their option any time within a period of three years, the bondholder being entitled to surrender his bond any time within said period and receive in lieu thereof stock for every dollar of indebtedness to him on account of said bonds.

The Security Back of these Bonds

The company owns twelve claims situated in the district of Ures, State of Sonora, Mexico, free from mortgage or bonded indebtedness, except the present bond issue.

On one of these properties (The Ramona Mine) 5,600 feet of underground development work has been done, consisting of an inclined shaft to the depth of 400 feet with drifts in three levels to the North and South of the shaft.

An average value of ore worth $11.47 per ton is exposed throughout the mine, from the collar of the shaft to the extreme parts in the drifts, all of which is above water level.

The company has made surface improvements and mine improvements to the extent of $60,000.00 in the way of machinery, skids, trams, steam hoists, mill and nearly everything necessary to make the mining camp complete.

In addition to the absolute ownership of these twelve valuable claims, the company has a lease on the San Jose Mine, adjoining its property, in which the company has been operating in high grade ore.

During the past sixty days the company has extracted and delivered to ore buyers and the bank at Hermosillo, $5,000.00 worth of ore and bullion, the ore having been reduced to bullion through the company's mill, with the exception of 1,400 pounds, which was sold to an ore buyer for $500.00.

The Money Derived from the Sale of These Bonds

This issue of bonds is made for the purpose of securing money at once in order to extend the development work more quickly than the company's present means will permit.

With the high grade ore in sight to the distance of 50 feet to the South of the shaft, the management is assured that within six months from date of making the improvements now necessary the company's properties will be on a self-sustaining and dividend-paying basis.

The Stock which is Given with these bonds will be as valuable as the Bonds when the Company has the ready capital to push operations

Men who invest in these bonds will have no cause or reason to regret their action, for the bonds afford an investment in a security which is absolutely safe—much better than ordinary city or country real estate, which is considered perfectly safe if the property put up to secure a mortgage is double the face of the loan. The security given on these bonds is better than 7 to 1, for the Ures Consolidated Mining Company has refused an offer of $750,000.00 for the property upon which this $100,000.00 worth of bonds is issued.

These bonds are an investment with all speculative risk eliminated —an investment with absolute security.

Make your reservation at once. This is small and promises to be quickly sold.

To whom it may concern:—

We hereby beg to state that The Ures Consolidated Mining Company has during the past five years made several deliveries of bullion to this bank, and it is the opinion of mining men here that they have the making of a fair mine, and further, that the properties owned and controlled by them bid promise of becoming paying properties.

From our knowledge of the men connected, we believe they are doing all in their power to bring about the results above mentioned.

RAWHIDE-DULZURA

1 CENT A 2 SHARE

Send us your name as a member in this new company, with your remittance for as many thousand shares as you can take at $5 per thousand.

This is a short-time offer on a hurry-up proposition. Our vice president is up at Rawhide now putting the miners at work. We want to raise the necessary funds for development as quickly as possible. Therefore, we offer the first block of stock at $5 a thousand shares. This subscription must be all cash. We want the money in hand. We mean to work without letup, and we have made it an iron-clad rule not to run in debt. Cash counts now.

Our prospectuses are out. Send for one.

Make reservation of stock. If you do no more. But, remember, this present offer of stock at Half a Cent a Share is now open, and will be closed as soon as enough cash subscriptions are in hand. Don't wait, or you will get left.

The gold mining property owned outright by the company consists of 7 claims, 5 in the Rawhide district of Nevada, and 2 in the Dulzura district of Southern California.

The Rawhide district to-day is more famous than Goldfield, Tonapah, Bullfrog, or Searchlight were at the same stage of exploration and development. The Dulzura discovery is one of the most sensational in the history of California.

Ten samples of ore which were among the first assayed, run as high as $7,462.87 to the ton, and all ten averaged over $1,500 a ton.

In both camps we located early, and our locations are choice. Our own officers will superintend the mining.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Weary, Worn Out Tired

If You Feel Poorly this Spring this Article is worth Considering.

Nothing in life keeps people from advancement like poor health. If the nerves are weak, if the stomach, liver, bowels or kidneys, fail to work properly, health surely suffers. Spring is the hardest time on health—the season when the system calls for active cleansing medicine.

The best plan is to entrust your condition to a physician of reputation like Dr. Hamilton, who has had years of experience in compounding tonics. For the dull and tired feeling of spring Dr. Hamilton says nothing is better than Mandrake and Butternut Pills, and this is well proven in the case of James Burton, of Lewistown. "I had grip and it left me very weak. The disease settled in my back and side, which ached day and night. I had a nagging cough. My appetite was all gone. My nerves unstrung. I could not sleep well. I struggled against growing pale, thin and weak—but it was no good. Spring brought depression, overpowering weakness and bad headaches. But my life was spared, simply because I learned off the wonderful merit in Dr Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. The result was marvellous. I gained rapidly, became strong, ruddy, vigorous, perfectly well. I urge every man and woman to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly.

You'll brighten up, have clearer blood, stronger nerves, better spirits after using Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c at all dealers. Guaranteed safe, sure helpful for old and young.

One Cent Drop Letters

The one cent drop rate went into effect in Canada Monday last, and Peterborough and all other cities in Canada possessing a letter carrier service shall pay a rate of only one cent. per ounce on all letters for local delivery instead of two as heretofore. This reform will be of great convenience to business men who send out a large local mail. The expense has been found so great under the old rate that many firms and business people have for some years delivered their accounts and advertising letters either by private carriers or through local messenger agencies and the postoffice department has thus lost a large revenue. It is estimated that the increased volume of business in the postoffice department will more than compensate for the reduction in postage.

Insects Destroying Pea Crop

Some insect has made an attack on the late peas, and destroying them very rapidly, says the Lindsay Post. It is of much the same appearance as the turnip louse, and does its work first in patches but rapidly spreads. It has not yet made its appearance in Victoria county but it is particularly bad in Monaghan and part of Cavan. Being a new pest to this part of the country the farmers are at a loss to know what to do. It is hoped it will not ruin the whole late crop in the districts affected.

Will Visit Astronomical Society

Professor W R Warner, F.R.A.S., of Cleveland, Ohio., a man of marked eminence, the consulting engineer of the continent, and the designer and maker of what are claimed to be the greatest telescopes in the world—those of the Yerkes and Lick Observatories —will visit Peterborough at no distant date. He is an intimate personal friend of Rev. Dr. Marsh, and at the latter's solicitation in the interests of Peterborough, he has consented to be entertained by the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada and deliver an address upon a subject whose title and date of delivery will be announced later. This visit is something which can be looked forward to with interest.

In Fernie Fire

The Lakefield News says that Mr. and Mrs. J. H Peck, of Vancouver, who were visiting in Fernie, B. C., at the time of the fire had a narrow escape from death. Mrs. Peck was formerly Miss Alice Strickland, daughter of Mr J. P. Strickland of Lakefield. A letter was received on Friday from Mrs. J. H. Peck, dated Fernie, August 3rd, 1908, in which she stated that there were only fourteen houses standing, the large Elk Lumber Co's mill was completely destroyed and all the lumber. Over 30 persons were either burned or killed and 62 met death in a lumber camp. Mrs. Peck said it was a terrible sight to see the city in flames on every side, and many lost their homes, clothing and money. Mr. and Mrs. Peck had a most anxious time for some hours as Mr. Peck could not get to his wife until 7.30 in the evening and when he did manage it he had to go through the fire and cross the river on a boom. In the meantime the fire was so great that Mrs. Peck was only able to save their clothes and leave the house to save her life. Some kind friends took them in and they left on Tuesday for their home in Vancouver, feeling very thankful that their lives had been preserved and their sufferings less than those of many others.

Wedding Bells

A very pretty wedding took place Saturday at the residence of Mr. Giles Stone, when his daughter Madeline, was united in marriage to Mr. Reginald T. Hick of Toronto.

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt of St. Luke's church, was the officiating clergyman.

The bride was given away by her father, and as she descended the stairs, Mrs. Thackeray played Mendelssohn's wedding march. Miss Frank's Stone, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and the groom was supported by Mr. G. Duncan, of Toronto.

The bride was attired in a rich gown of cream colienne over silk a la princess and shirred bodice with bertha of Irish lace. The costume was completed by a veil of silk chiffon and orange blossoms. Miss Stone carried a bouquet of white roses and ferns and the bridesmaid, Miss Frank's Stone, who was tastefully attired in a dress of cream nuns veiling and silk carried a bouquet of pink asters and ferns. Previous to their departure on the 4.28 train for points west, luncheon was served and cordial congratulations extended to the principals in the pleasing function.

The bride's going away costume was a pearl grey tailored suit with white hat and plumes to match.

The wedding gifts both in number and quality were worthy of the occasion.

Among the invited guests included friends from Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, Penoka, Saskatchewan, Wichita, Kansas, Hamilton and Toronto.

PROST—ASHLY

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lesson, on Saturday evening, August 1st, when Miss Eliza Violet Ashby, sister of Mrs. Lesson, was married to Mr. Frank H Frost, of Peterborough. The bride was handsomely gowned and carried a lovely bouquet of white roses. Rev. A. J. H. Sirrick, pastor of the Methodist church, performed the ceremony.

After the ceremony the guests who were all friends of the bride and groom, sat down to a sumptuous wedding supper. After the honeymoon the happy young couple intend to make their home in Peterborough, where Mr. Frost has a splendid position.—Campbellford Herald

The footprints of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the Stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For this druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. These tiny inside Stomach, Heart, and Kidney nerve feed. Then gas bloating, Heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or at multiply the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. Within 48 hours after starting this Restorative treatment you will realize the gain. A test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

POLICE

Crowded out of Saturday's issue.

The first case at the afternoon session of the police court was that of Walter Mahaffy and Frank Hamilton, charged with stealing a bicycle, the property of W. Walker.

The first witness was Mr. Walker, who stated that he was an insurance agent. He left his wheel in front of the Bank of Commerce, and that he missed it between five and six o'clock. The next he saw of his wheel was at Young's bicycle store, George street. He valued the wheel at $35.

A number of witnesses were called who stated that Hamilton had tried to sell the wheel to them. Hamilton himself, then gave evidence, in which he stated that he had met Mahaffy at the corner of Aylmer and Charlotte street, and he asked him if he would sell a wheel belonging to him as he was going out West. He asked Mahaffy if the wheel was stolen, but he said that he bought it at Banks' Bicycle store.

The magistrate in summoning up the evidence stated that there was no evidence that could convict Hamilton, and so after giving him a warning he dismissed him.

In Mahaffy's case he said that it was a case of which the wheel was stolen and then tried to be disposed of so as to receive money. He said that it was a serious case and sentenced Mahaffy to three months in the county jail.

The next case was that of John Kerr, who was charged with selling tobacco to a minor. Mr. E. A. Peck appeared for the defendant, and pleaded not guilty, and asked that the case be enlarged for a week as he wanted to search the records as to the boy's age. This was allowed, and he is to appear next Thursday.

The third case was that of W Conroy, who was charged with stealing 15 cement bags, the property of the city. The boy was remanded till next Thursday.

The last case was that of J. Lavarwur, who was charged with selling liquor without a license. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for the defendant and pleaded not guilty. Mr. Stewart, license inspector, was the first witness, and stated that he and P. C. McHarry found a large amount of liquor under the floor of the defendant's shack in the southern part of the city on Sunday last. A number of witnesses were called by both sides and after summing up the case the magistrate reserved judgment till 8 pt. 1st.

DO YOU KNOW

That Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only medicine sold through druggists for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments that does not contain large quantities of alcohol? It is also the only medicine, especially prepared for the cure of the delicate diseases peculiar to women, the maker of which is not afraid to take his patients into his full confidence, by printing upon each bottle wrapper all the ingredients entering into the medicine. Ask your druggist if this is not true.

"Favorite Prescription," too, is the only medicine for women, all the ingredients of which have the unqualified endorsement of the leading medical writers of the several schools of practice, recommending them for the cure of the diseases for which the "Prescription" is advised. Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free booklet, and read the numerous extracts from standard medical authorities praising the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are made, and don't forget that no other medicines put up for sale through druggists for domestic use can show any such professional endorsement. This, of itself, is of far more weight and importance than any amount of so-called "testimonials" so conspicuously flaunted before the public, in favor of the alcoholic compounds.

The "Favorite Prescription" cures all woman's peculiar weaknesses and derangements, thus banishing the periodical headaches, backaches, bearing-down distress, tenderness and dragging-down sensations in lower abdomen, accompanied by weakening and disagreeable catarrhal, pelvic drains and kindred symptoms.

Dr. Pierce and his staff of skilled specialists may be consulted free by addressing as above. All correspondence is treated as sacredly confidential. By consulting in this way the disagreeable questionings and personal "examinations" are avoided.

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser contains some very interesting and valuable chapters on the diseases peculiar to women. It contains over one thousand pages. It is sent post paid, on receipt of sufficient in one-cent stamps to pay cost of customs and mailing only, or 21 cents for a copy in flexible paper covers, or 50 cents for a cloth-bound copy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce as above.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative, two or three cathartic.

Sensational Shooting Tragedy in N.Y. --Another Thaw Case

With Less Sordid Features—Brother of Murderer Aided Him and Held Back the Crowd

New York, Aug. 17.—A case almost on a par with the Thaw case, but with less that is sordid in it, came to light Saturday, when Captain Peter Conover Hains, Jr., U.S.A., son of Brigadier-General Peter Conover Hains, U.S.A., retired, fired five shots of a revolver into William E. Annis of New York, owner and publisher of Burr McIntosh's Monthly and other magazines. The tragedy was enacted on the landing stage of the Bayside Yacht Club, Flushing, Long Island. Annis, whom Captain Hains' brother accused of having been improperly attentive to the captain's wife, died in the Flushing hospital a few hours after the shooting.

A crowd of gaily dressed women and yachtsmen, among whom were Mrs. Annis, witnessed the tragedy

WERE DISEMBARKING.

Capt. Hains, accompanied by his brother, Thornton Jenkins Hains, well known as an author and amateur yachtsman, walked to the landing stage of the club as Annis and a club member named Harway were disembarking from a boat, and at once opened fire. Annis attempted to get behind Harway, but Captain Hains, reaching under Harway's arm, emptied his revolver upon his enemy, five shots taking effect.

Immediately there was commotion on the club verandah, where Mrs. Annis had fainted, and a dozen yachtsmen rushed to the float to the assistance of Annis. Before they could get to the side of the wounded man, however, T. J. Hains, the captain's brother, had whipped out a revolver and threatened to shoot the first man who interfered.

BROTHER HELPED HIM.

"This is an affair between these two," he said calmly.

Annis, with two bullets in his abdomen, one in the arm and two in his legs, was hurried to the Flushing hospital.

Captain Hains and his brother, neither of whom appeared in any way disturbed, awaited the arrival of police on the club float, where they surrendered themselves.

At the police station the captain refused to divulge the motive that had prompted him to shoot Annis, but his brother declared that Annis had paid improper attentions to his brother's wife, and that the latter had no other course open to him than to kill Annis.

VICTIM WOULDN'T TALK.

Annis, shortly after arriving at the hospital, revived sufficiently to say a few words, but soon relapsed into unconsciousness. To the hospital authorities who questioned him as to the causes which had led to the attack upon him, he replied that he preferred to say nothing. He died at 7.16 without regaining consciousness. Dr. Amber, coroner of Flushing, arrived at the hospital after the wounded man had lost consciousness and was unable to obtain an ante-mortem statement.

After examining a number of witnesses the coroner ordered Captain Hains and his brother held for arraignment before a magistrate on Monday.

PRISONERS RETICENT.

Police Captain Ruthenburg, in command of the Flushing precinct, was unable to elicit any statement from either of his prisoners, both declaring that they would have nothing to say until after they had consulted their lawyer.

Annis was about to take his wife and two friends out sailing, when he was intercepted on the landing stage of the club. He had just brought his sailing yacht, the Pam, to the float preparatory to taking his guests out on her. When Captain Hains opened fire on him.

DISTINGUISHED PERSONS

Captain Hains is attached to Fort Hancock as quartermaster, having entered the army at the finish of the Spanish-American war with the rank of 2nd Lieutenant of artillery. He is a graduate of the Naval Academy of Annapolis, but left the navy in 1904 shortly after graduation. His father, Brig.-Gen. Peter Conover Hains, is a West Point graduate, with a distinguished war record.

Divorce proceedings instituted by Captain Hains, in which it was said Annis' name figured, were pending at the time of the shooting.

Brother is Accused of Abetting Murder

New York, Aug. 17.—Capt. Peter C. Hains, Jr., U.S.A., who shot and killed William F. Annis at the Bayside Yacht Club Saturday, was arraigned today in the first district court in Long Island City, before Magistrate Matthew J. Smith. Arraigned with the captain was his brother, T. Jenkins Hains, who kept back the crowd with a revolver while his brother slew the man whom he asserted had ruined his home.

The two men were yesterday taken from the Flushing police station, where they had been confined during the night to Long Island city, where the magistrate read the charge against them. As counsel for the men had not arrived, the hearing was postponed until today, in the meantime the Hains brothers being kept in the Queen's County jail.

T. Jenkins Hains who was first held on a charge of attempted felonious assault, was later charged with being an accessory to the killing of Annis.

Before the arraignment today Harvey G. Rockwell, who had been a close friend of Wm. Annis, the slain man, turned over to the district attorney of Queen's County a package of letters received recently by Annis, in which he was warned that his life was in danger. It was said that the last letter received cautioned him against visiting the Bayside Yacht Club Saturday. The Hains brothers when brought into court today seemed little disturbed by the proceedings.

FATHER AIDS HIS SONS.

Gen. Peter C. Hains, father of the young men, was in court today, looking after the interest of his sons. Yesterday young Mrs. Hains, who, it is said, had been on terms of close friendship with Mrs. Annis, widow of the slain man, came hurriedly to New York from her home in Winthrop, Mass., and went to Fort Hancock, on Sandy Hook, in an effort to get possession of her three children, who have been living with Gen. and Mrs. Hains. Mrs. Hains did not succeed in her mission, and it was believed she left the city for her father's home in Massachusetts.

The body of Wm. Annis was removed yesterday by a Flushing undertaker to his former home in Claremont avenue, Manhattan. Mrs. Annis was completely prostrated by the killing of her husband, and is under the constant care of physicans.

Captain Peter C. Hains was arraigned on a charge of murder and his brother on a charge of being an accessory before the fact. Attorney Percy, counsel for the brothers, asked for an adjournment of one week to prepare for a hearing. District Attorney Darrin agreed and the case was put over.

HANDCUFFED TOGETHER.

Gen. Hains, father of the two brothers, sat in the court room and nodded to his two sons, but did not have much opportunity to talk with them. The two brothers were handcuffed together, and were required to walk all the way from the magistrate's court to the county court house, a mile away. They were followed by a crowd of men and boys.

District Attorney Darrin said that he does not think counsel for the Hains will attempt to have either of the brothers admitted to bail. They are held without bail and the District Attorney says he will vigorously oppose any application for a bond. He considers that it was a cold-blooded, premeditated murder, and that, although Capt. Hains did the shooting, his brother is equally guilty, being an accessory before the fact.

The district attorney added that he should present the case to the October term of the grand jury, and would end ever to have the case disposed of by a speedy trial. District Attorney Darrin is already in possession of the names of many persons who will appear as witnesses for the prosecution. Most of these witnesses actually saw the shooting.

The Company's Show at Franco-British Attracts Much Attention

The splendid exhibit which the Grand Trunk have put up at the Franco-British exhibition is attracting a great amount of attention and the English people are getting an idea of what a Canadian Railway really is. The views of the double track scenes, the heavy motive power, the splendid equipment and the beautiful reproductions of photographs from scenes along the line, together with the specimens of trophies of fish and game which are on view, are both pleasing to the eye and attractive to the mind of the visitor. The total attendance in the Grand Trunk building from May 14th (the opening day) until July 23rd, amounted to 106,607 people. Letters have been received from Canadians and others profuse in their praise of this handsome building and exhibit which is a credit to the railway and a big advertisement for the Dominion.

Western Call for Men

25,000 Harvesters are Needed and Good Wages Offered

Preparations have commenced in earnest for the handling of the Northwest's big wheat crop, the only difficulty experienced by farmers being the scarcity of labor in the harvest fields. To induce men to go to the West the C.P.R. has made the remarkably low rate of ten dollars from Ontario. This fare carries the ticket holder to any point on the company's lines east of Moose Jaw; trains are run direct to Winnipeg, and the men are re-ticketed there for the points where they wish to work. After at least one month's work in the field, laborers are issued tickets back to Ontario starting point at $18.00. Leaving dates of Canadian Pacific excursions are Aug. 18, Sept. 1, 8, from stations north-west of Toronto, Aug. 18, 19, Sept. 1, 2, from stations southwest of Toronto, and Aug. 20, 22, 27, Sept. 8, 11, 14 from stations east of Toronto. The most important excursions are Aug. 18 and 20, and on these dates special trains will be run from all C.P.R. stations, times of which agents will furnish. The C.P.R. is the only Canadian route to the West, and the only line carrying Farm Laborers through without change. Apply to ticket agents, or C. B. Foster, District Passenger Agent, Toronto, for full information.

HON. G. P. GRAHAM WILL BE HERE THURSDAY

The Minister of Railways and Canals will be Accompanied by Mr. J. Butler, Chief Engineer of Department—A Public Reception for Them—Council in Session

At the council meeting last night, R. R. Hall, M.P., J. H. McClelland, superintendent of the Trent Valley Canal, and Dr. Morrison, representing the Board of Trade, were a deputation with a view to getting the council to arrange for a reception to the Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, who will visit Peterborough on Thursday next, in company with Mr. J. Butler, chief engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals.

The minister will leave Hastings on the Government boat, "Hassie Butler," Thursday morning, and depart from Gore's Landing for Peterborough at four o'clock, reaching this city at about seven p.m.

It was decided that some representative men should meet the minister at Gore's Landing and accompany him up to Peterborough. Also that a suitable reception be tendered him in the evening, when the need of the earliest possible completion of the Lake Ontario outlet will be urged upon the hon. gentleman, together with improved wharfage, etc.

Mr. McClelland pointed out that the outlet of the canal into Lake Ontario as arranged for by Hon. G. P. Graham, will put Peterborough on the lake board, when upon the shallow lake and Ontario steamboats will be able to reach this city as a terminus.

R. R. Hall, M.P., is going to meet the minister at Hastings. He will also prepare the address to be presented Hon. G. P. Graham in the evening.

Ald. Bradburn moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston.—That the mayor and a representative of the Board of Trade meet the Hon. G. P. Graham at Gore's Landing on Thursday next at four o'clock. Also that arrangements be made by the Reception Committee for a reception to the honorable gentleman and his companion at evening in the city council chamber.—Carried.

The city council met in Committee of the Whole last night. There were present, Mayor Harry Rush, and Aldermen Phelan, Tovey, Bradburn, J. J. Turner, jr., Bull, r, McIntyre, Elliott, Morgan and Johnston.

In the absence of City Clerk Armstrong, who is on his holidays, City Treasurer Frank Adams acted as clerk.

Dr. Boucher asked why it is that the Peterborough Bowling Club should be asked to take down the streamer they had erected across the street, advertising their excursion to Cobourg. Other banners advertising excursions, Peterborough Fair, etc., have been allowed to remain across the street. He wanted to know why it is that the Bowling Club should be made an exception of.

The mayor stated that there had been a number of complaints about this streamer, and the chief of police had spoken to him of it. As it was contrary to an existing bylaw the chief ordered the removal of the banner in question.

But as other organizations were allowed to leave their banners up, Ald. Phelan moved, seconded by Ald. Tovey, that the banner of the Peterborough Bowling Club be allowed to remain until after Thursday, the date of their excursion.—Carried.

AN UNSETTLED QUESTION.

Messrs. Adam Hall and Meldrum of the Canada Flakes Co., waited upon the council, and asked that the trouble existing between them, the city and Col. J. Z. Rogers, concerning the water front be settled definitely at once. The Canada Flakes Co., have disposed of their building removing since the fire to parties who intend using the site and building for manufacturing Diamond Cork Horse Shoes and electrical heating appliances.

Messrs. Collier Bros., who are interested in the manufacturing project above alluded to, pointed out that in assuming the site and building of the late Canada Flakes Co., the property will be utilized by two amalgamated companies, viz.; The Diamond Cork Horse Shoe Co., and the Canada Electrical Co. And they wished to know if the city would allow them the privilege of operating under the same bylaw passed in favor of the Canada Flakes Co., as to free site, fixed assessment, etc.

Ald. Phelan moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott,—That this matter be referred to the Finance Committee to report.

Mr. Harry Rutkins asked that King street be put into decent shape as soon as possible, as to water, a crossing, sewage, etc. The crossing will be constructed at once, and the other matters attended to in the usual course of things.

MONEY SCARCE.

Ald. Phelan reported that the Board of Works' appropriation has been exhausted, excepting the amount of about $2,000, and there was lots of work yet to be done.

The mayor said there is plenty of work demanded by ratepayers, and should their demands be decided to work would be furnished many men who need it.

Ald. Morgan—Would the same men be continued in employment, who are on the pay roll now, or other needy men employed.

The mayor.—I presume all men employed by the city are ratepayers.

Incidentally it transpired that both the appropriations of the Board of Works and the Fire, Water and Light committee will be overdrawn this year.

The Board of Works will report on their position at next council meeting.

It was also shown that the Romaine street sewer is again choked up with sand.

A voice.—"We had better dig it up and build a new one."

Street Commissioner Evans advised that the sewer be again cleaned out as before. This advice was adopted.

DIVERSION OF STREAM.

W. R. Tatin of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, wrote agreeing to paying $300 toward the diversion of the Ayhmer street stream. This was accepted.

The same also agreed to recommending the city getting the privilege of erecting a foot bridge across the unused right of way of the Chemong branch at Conger street.

INSTITUTE SIDEWALK.

Dr. Morrison urged upon the council the need of a sidewalk being constructed to the new Collegiate Institute, which will be opened in a couple of weeks.

The Board of Works will meet on this matter at an early date, and invite some members of the School Board to be present.

SMITH STREET BRIDGE.

Ald. Phelan again drew attention to the unsatisfactory condition of Smith street bridge, which now requires another expenditure for repairs to the amount of $140. A definite move should be made in the direction of erecting a permanent structure at Smith street as early as possible. Ald. Phelan has been urging this movement all year.

Engineer Hay offered that some time ago he gave an estimate for a new permanent bridge at Smith St., which was considered too expensive. He then explained that his estimate was not at all high when it was considered that it would cost the interest on the amount estimated to keep the present bridge in repair. His opinion had been justified by the repairs since executed.

Ald. Turner remarked that a good permanent bridge should at an early date be constructed as the Street Railway Co., will want to cross the bridge in the near future.

Ald. Neill was not sure of Ald. Turner's contention. But he had reason to believe that the Government has in consideration the creation of a deep waterway from Peterborough to the St. Lawrence. In such an event a permanent swing bridge would be needed by the Quaker Oats Company at Hunter street, and that is a measure which should be urged upon the Minister of Railways and Canals on his visit next Thursday.

MUST REMOVE BUILDING.

Ald. Phelan moved, seconded by Ald. Neill,—That the Legal Committee see that Bradley Bros. remove their building from off King St., as soon as possible, in accordance with a resolution passed some months ago.—Carried.

This building stands on the public right of way.

Examination of Brain and Spinal Cord

Philadelphia, Aug. 16.—Preparatory work for the examination of the brain and spinal cord of Mrs. Anna Rule, who died at the Philadelphia Hospital last Saturday from hydrophobia, has been completed, and the organs are immersed in a solution that will harden them so that they may be used in sections at the final microscopic examination.

While the disease may be cured or prevented if treated in time, many persons are careless about dog bites, and think no danger will be incurred, as in the case of Mrs. Rule. The puppy that bit her was shot, while, according to Dr. L. D. Prescott, assistant chief resident physician of the Philadelphia Hospital, if it had been brought to the hospital and some other dog inoculated with the serum in order to determine the course of the disease, Mrs. Rule could have taken the Pasteur treatment and been cured.

Dr. L. G. Rowanberger, of the bacteriological department, will make the final examination, and, besides acquainting the medical profession better with the course of the disease, he will be able to verify the diagnosis made.

Sir Wilfrid Fires First Gun on September 15th

Toronto, Aug. 17.—Both party organizations are busily arranging for the tours of their Dominion leaders. Mr. F. G. Inwood, Liberal organizer, is today rapidly covering Western Ontario fixing dates and places of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Ontario tour. The first meeting to be addressed by the Premier will be at Niagara Falls on Tuesday, September 15.—Beyond this nothing has been definitely settled. The next meeting will probably be at Strathroy, and two other communities which are assured of a visit from Sir Wilfrid are Jackson's Point and North Bay.

Mr. R. L. Borden's tour begins on Monday, September 14th, and the Conservative organizer, Mr. J. S. Carstairs, is getting the plans for the Ontario end of the journey. "No dates beyond the opening have been settled as yet," said Mr. Carstairs this afternoon. "But Mr. Borden will not be through with Ontario until at least two weeks after the Halifax meeting."

GAINED BOTH IN STRENGTH AND WEIGHT

Another Case That Proves The Merit of

Ferrozone

"I was in poor health nearly all last winter," writes Mrs. Cross, of Wakefield, Ont. "My appetite was variable, I was weak and unfit for work. I suffered a good deal from nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart. My digestion was generally out of order. By springtime I had lost flesh, color, and had a bad cough. The doctor didn't help me very much, so I decided to try Ferrozone. It did me ever so much good in one week. I gained strength, looked and felt a lot better. When I had used six boxes of Ferrozone I weighed myself and found a gain of fifteen pounds. Ferrozone rebuilt my constitution, and made me a new woman. I consider Ferrozone worth its weight in gold to every weak woman. It cures quickly and saves big doctors' bills. (MRS.) R. CROSS."

Eight English Families Deported from Deseronto

Belleville, Aug. 18.—Eight English families were deported from Deseronto, near this city, on Wednesday morning last. They will be taken back to England.

The men were shiftless, and would not work, and the town authorities decided to be burdened with them next winter. The eight families numbered 48 people in all. Immigration Inspector Devlin went to Deseronto on a visit of inspection, and the deportations were made as a result of his visit.

What the Star Says About the Longboat-Simpson Exhibition 3-Mile Run

The first mile in 5.20, loafing, and talking to his opponent.

The second in 5 minutes flat.

The third in 5.04.

Victory by half of a quarter-mile track.

That is, in brief, the story of Tom Longboat's first step back toward the top of the ladder of fame.

It was Saturday at Bobby Kerr's meet in Hamilton, and the man he beat was Fred Simpson, the Missisauga Indian, whom Will Sherring picked to win the Olympic Marathon. He finished sixth.

Fred Simpson came to Hamilton to add himself to Bobby Kerr's list of athletic celebrities. He came expecting to do an exhibition two-mile run, just to let Hamilton people see him run.

Tom Longboat was asked to meet Simpson in a two-mile race. He came expecting a race, and after an hour's communion with himself rejected a proposal that the pair just do a friendly gallop and demanded a real race.

Simpson wasn't ready for a two-mile race, and does not profess to be a short-distance man, but he was game and said he would run Longboat five miles. Longboat refused five, and they compromised on three. At the pistol Tom took the lead, and after loafing the first mile to give Simpson a chance to loosen up, let out in real earnest. For a period, Simpson clung on, and then slowly went back. Longboat, hovering right up, ran the next two miles in 10.01, a remarkably good performance, when it is considered that most two-mile races around here are won in 10.30, while in England the topnotch two-milers win in 9.40. The Onondaga did his three miles in 15.24, or 31 seconds faster than Fred Meadows' three miles in the five-mile race, and Meadows was chased all the way, while Longboat ran alone. Simpson was never dangerous.

While the two Indians were together the critics got a chance to study their respective strides. "There is no use talking, Longboat has the better stride," said Dr. Thompson. "He has improved greatly in style."

The fickleness of a crowd was well illustrated in Saturday's race. When Longboat, once the idol of Canada, appeared, there was a faint cheer, and some hisses. Simpson got a good cheer.

"No faking, now," some one shouted.

When he won the crowd received him with hearty cheers, and swarmed about him in the same old way.—Toronto Star.

Nature's Way Is Best.

The function strengthening and tissue building plan of treating chronic, lingering and obstinate cases of disease as pursued by Dr. Pierce, is following after Nature's plan of restoring health.

He uses natural remedies, that is extracts from native medicinal roots, prepared by processes wrought out by the expenditure of much time and money, without the use of alcohol, and by skillful combination in just the right proportions.

Used as ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Black Cherry-bark, Queen's root, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot and Stone root, specially exert their influence in cases of lung, bronchial and throat troubles, and this "Discovery" is, therefore, a sovereign remedy for bronchitis, laryngitis, chronic coughs, catarrh and kindred ailments.

The above native roots also have the strongest possible endorsement from the leading medical writers, of all the several schools of practice, for the cure not only of the diseases named above but also for indigestion, torpor of liver, or biliousness, obstinate constipation, kidney and bladder troubles and catarrh, no matter where located.

You don't have to take Dr. Pierce's say-so alone as to this; what he claims for his "Discovery" is backed up by the writings of the most eminent men in the medical profession. A request by postal card or letter, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a little book of extracts from eminent medical authorities endorsing the ingredients of his medicines, will bring a little book free that is worthy of your attention if looseness of flesh, aids, reliable remedy of known composition for the cure of almost any old chronic, or lingering malady.

The most valuable book for both men and women is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A splendid 1008-page volume, with engravings and colored plates. A copy, paper-covered, will be sent to anyone sending 21 cents in one-cent stamps, to pay the cost of mailing only, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps.

MINIMUM WAGES NEXT IN ENGLAND

Those who believe that the old age pension act is dangerously and terribly socialistic will complain even more bitterly of "another plunge" that is recommended by a select parliamentary committee. The committee was appointed to inquire into the sweating evil and its effect on the national health and standard of living, and to recommend remedies. A strongly indorsed private bill for the regulation by law—that is, by boards provided for by law—of minimum wages in sweated industries, in order to do away with parasitism and excessive competition, prompted the appointment of the committee, and there was little opposition to the principle of the bill.

The select committee has reported in favor of legislation with regard to the rates of payment made to home workers employed in the production or preparation of articles for sale by other persons." This legislation should be "tentative and experimental," and should for the present be limited to "home workers engaged in the tailoring, shirt-making, underclothing and baby linen trades, and in the finishing process of machine-made lace." The committee indorses the plan of having wage boards appointed for these several trades, each board to be composed of employers and employed in the trade to be regulated by it. The board is to fix the minimum wage for time and piece work, and once such a wage is fixed no employer is to have the legal right to pay a lower rate to any employee.

It is believed that parliament will pave the bill thus indorsed by the select committee. For at the hearings before that body the employers professed entire readiness to accept the minimum wage principle, pointing out that the fear of ruthless underselling, and unscrupulous exploitation has in the past driven many a decent and generous employer to adopt the sweating methods of the worst rival.

In England this establishment of wage standards by law would be a startling innovation. But, in the words of a great and able liberal organ, "what has really happened is that the misery and wickedness of sweating have so stirred the public conscience that men and women of all parties have joined hands to see if something cannot be done"—conflicting theories and "isms" aside—"to ameliorate the lot of the underpaid home worker." Regard for the national health has also been a factor of importance, for sweating is incompatible with elementary rules of sanitation and hygiene and the observance of the decencies of life.

GRAFTERS

The imprisonment of four of the London, Eng., local politicians, for taking a "rake-off" from municipal contractors should interest many in Canada. One of the guilty Londoners was sentenced to jail for two years with hard labor and fined $1,250 besides another for fifteen months, the third for a year and the fourth four nine months. The London cases invite a comparison between British and Canadian practice in such matters, says the Ottawa Journal. In the mother country, we find receivers of a rake-off branded as criminals, treated like common thieves and sent to jail as convicted felons. In Canada, progressive up-to-date, moral, modern Canada, we are liable in our politics at least to send our grafters to parliament, or put them in well-paid federal offices or give them high positions in the service of the Machine.

The result of the two systems is, in Great Britain grafting remains the exception, while in Canada the extent to which it is carried is limited only by the opportunities, of which the party placed in power by the electors are willing to avail themselves. Grafting in the British Isles is unprofitable for, when discovered, it is swiftly punished. In Canada, it is profitable and protected by the higher authorities and upheld as one of the main sources of revenue for campaigning purposes. From the standpoint of the national welfare, grafting is a poor investment for Canada. It has encouraged easy money-making by methods which are nothing more or less than shameless robbery, and make vice a cheap commodity in many forms. It is creating a race of low-down swindlers, whose highest idea of patriotism and public duty is to sacrifice every interest to party and self. It is constantly lowering the standard of party politics, parliamentary life and social ethics and degrading the public service. There will be no change for the better until the British system of punishing grafting by imprisonment is adopted and faithfully administered in Canada, as it is in the Mother Country.

STRANGE BUT TRUE

Has anybody ever seen a farmer who told his men to let the weeds stand and neglect the corn? Was there ever a manufacturer who told his hands to produce shoddy instead of salable cloth, or an employer who punished or discharged his man for doing their best, but rewarded them for sloth and carelessness? Can a condition be found in which men prefer ugliness to beauty, barrenness to fertility, the depressing desolation of a desert to a blooming garden?

Somebody will answer these evidently senseless queries, says the Windsor Record, by saying that such blindness and stupidity could be found only in a community of lunatics. This, however, would be a hasty and utterly ridiculous conclusion. Strange as it may seem to some, Ontario's methods of taxation are exactly of this nature, and not only those of Ontario, but of most civilized lands. Taxation instead of promoting progress hinders progress. Impoverishes the subject and produces perjury and fraud.

Men of enterprise may clear farms and erect model buildings, they may employ labor to make houses more abundant and cheap, they may employ industry to add to the wealth and prosperity of the country, or of their immediate community, but under the law enacted by wise men, they will be harassed and harried, every additional blade of grass produced, every sweet blossom created, every brick laid on another will only furnish an excuse for increased taxation.

On the other hand, a man may put his hand to the worst, use in the world, he may keep it vacant and thus force men into idleness, he may gain wealth by creating poverty and squalor, but in the wisdom of the same legislatures it is provided that he shall be encouraged as a non-producer by the imposition of a merely nominal taxation. The laborer makes the laborer makes the wilderness to blossom as the rose and he is fined for doing so, the land speculator "sits tight" on the desert and his taxes are diminished. The better a man does for his country or community the worse it does for him. Curious, is it not? Yes; but sadly true.

A new section is needed in the liturgy of social life. "Save us from our stark stupidity and our monstrous mistakes. Let our eyes be opened to what is honesty and what is legalized extortion and unholy fraud?

August time, tells on the nerves. But that spiritless, no ambition feeling can be easily and quickly altered by taking what is known by druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Canada and U. S. Have an Agreement

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—The Canadian government has passed an order in council approving of the recommendation of the minister of the interior that Canada concur in the proposal of the United States government that joint action be taken for the reservation of a strip of land 60 feet wide on each side of the boundary line between Canada and Alaska, and suggesting also that both governments take into consideration the possibility of making a similar reservation along the whole length of the 1,895 miles of international boundary not comprised in the water boundary. Along the British Columbia side of the international boundary that province has already reserved a strip 66 feet wide. East of the Rocky mountains the Dominion government reserved road allowances in some places, but these have now passed into control of the provinces, but it is expected that these provinces will agree to reserve them permanently in consideration of a similar agreement on the part of the United States government. On that part of the boundary from the St. Lawrence to the St. Croix river, there has been found great difficulty in enforcing the law on account of the so-called "line houses" which are made the centres for smuggling operations. If these houses are not removed an effort will be made at least to prevent the erection of any more of them on the international boundary. The proposal to make a boundary reservation came originally from the American government through the imperial ambassador at Washington and is looked upon favourably here as being a practical one, enabling both governments to more effectively enforce the revenue laws.

Crimes of Inmates Treated as Diseases

Coming now to their treatment of criminals, we find the same discrimination on the part of the Japanese as to the wisest modern methods, and the same readiness to adopt the best and discard the harmful and obsolete. They are working on the theory which only our most advanced penologists agree to, and which few institutions have put into effect, that crime is a disease. The administrative ability which effected so much for the army in the field is turning its attention to social reform.

All prisons are to be reformatories, and they are managed on a system quite the reverse of ours. The restriction of the prisoners' liberty is reduced to a minimum, and the entire supervision of his individual volition abandoned. Every case is as carefully studied, diagnosed and treated as though every prison were a hospital. Every convict remains a person and is not reduced to a number, and the attempt is made to build up his character, just as a patient's body would be built up. His physical condition is carefully looked after at the same time and he is given an opportunity for a new start in life, and that when it is over, the reproach of his crime will have been wiped out.

Great importance is given to employment and every one is allowed to earn according to his ability. The quarters are made light and well ventilated, and the prisoner is permitted, when unemployed, to have books and to write. These heathen methods seem to be far more humane and rational and more promising of good results than our Christian ones. They will be everywhere watched with the greatest interest.

Robbers Tortured by Mexican Police

Pittsburg, Aug. 15.—Police officials here have received news of the torturing of two local men, who were arrested recently in Mexico City, Mexico, on a charge of robbing a bank messenger. William Moffatt and Edward Maloney are the men, and the police here say they were well known to them before leaving for Mexico. Two companions escaped the officers when the Pittsburgers were arrested, and the Mexico police demanded their names. Refusing to betray their companions, the men allege that they were strapped to the bars of their cell by the wrists, while officials with forceps tore the nails from their hands. Unable to bear the agony, the men gave up the names of their companions.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces, excepting 8 and 26 reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming lands owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father or mother.

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

Forcing the Crops by Electricity

London, August 15.—The forcing of wheat and other crops by electricity has been carried on at Bevington, Kent, for three years, under the direction of a son of Sir Oliver Lodge. A plot of 9 1-2 acres is covered by a network formed of a number of lines of stout telegraph wire with thin galvanized iron cross wires, the whole supported on 42 large poles 15 feet high and a two horse power oil engine drives a dynamo generating current that is transformed to about 100,000 volts, and is connected by the negative pole to earth and by the positive to the overhead wires. A specimen crop is 35 1-4 bushels per acre of Canadian wheat from the electrified area and only 26 1-2 from neighboring land—an increased yield of 40 per cent. from the new method.

The Countess of Yarmouth Free

London, Aug. 16.—The decree granted Feb. 5 by Sir Birrell Barnes, president of the divorce court, to the Countess of Yarmouth, who was Miss Alice Thaw of Pittsburg, nullifying her marriage to the Earl of Yarmouth, has been made an absolute divorce by the court, the necessary six months having elapsed. The case is described on the records as "Yarmouth, otherwise Thaw, versus Yarmouth". This leads to the presumption that the countess contemplates resuming her maiden name.

Securing Country for a Negro Fiend

Norfolk, Va., August 14.—A posse of Portsmouth city and Norfolk county officers and fifty citizens are scouring the county near Portsmouth with bloodhounds for a negro who attacked Mrs. Katherine Powell, aged 75 years, in her home, with a knife, and, after overpowering the defenceless woman, assaulted her, leaving her in a serious condition. This is the second time in two weeks that the aged woman has been similarly assaulted by a negro. Feeling is intense.

A New Metal

London, August 15th.—The advent of flying machines driven by petrol motors at an extremely high velocity has proved that bearings and axles subjected to at least 5,000 revolutions per minute are heated so quickly that the necessity has arisen for some metal which will stand the strain and velocity without wearing or heating.

This has now been found in the metal titanium, of which rutile is the purest ore. Rutile has hitherto been considered of little or no commercial value. Deposits have been found near Queensland, however, occurring with wolfram and tin, and which is a titanium dioxide, containing from 79 to 98 per cent. of titanic acid, chiefly depending upon the quantity of iron present. Pure rutile contains 98 per cent. of titanic acid and 2 per cent. of iron.

Samples submitted to the severest tests possible at Sydney gave very satisfactory results.

News in Brief

Kittanning, Pa., Aug. 15.—Harrison Bowser, who lives near McGrann Post office, some days ago went to a celebration, where he looked on the wine. When he reached home and could not find his wife, he came to Kittanning and inserted in the town paper an "ad" that his wife had left his "bed and board."

Mrs. Bowser reached home in the morning. A very badly battered Mr. Bowser paid for the following "ad" in the country paper the same day;

"Last week I advertised that my wife had left my bed and board. This was only imaginary. My wife was on a visit to neighbors, and when I returned home under the influence of drink, I imagined she had left me, and without any cause hastened to advertise that she had gone. I do this now to assure the public that there was no blame on my wife, that it was all mine."

Waterbury, Conn., Aug. 14.—Fred Holland, a deaf mute subject to epilepsy, who sells popcorn here for a living, has been married in Lynn by a magistrate to Agnes Sexton, a mute and an invalid, who has spent much time near Revere Beach in hopes of gaining strength. She was never fully sane or capable of taking care of herself, it is said. Boston authorities have taken steps to have the marriage annulled. The bride has been in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Alpt, Swampscott, Mass., who says the girl was lured into the marriage, but Holland says:

"When I met her she told me in our sign language she would like a husband and I told her I would like a wife and we were engaged for a day, then married."

August time, tells on the nerves. But that spiritless, no ambition feeling can be easily and quickly altered by taking what is known by druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Within 48 hours after beginning to use the Restorative, improvement will be noticed. Of course, full health will not immediately return. The gain, however, will surely follow. And best of all, you will realize and feel your strength and ambition as it is returning. Outside influences, depress first the "inside nerves" then the stomach. Heart, and Kidneys will usually fail. Strengthen those failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and see how quickly health will be yours again. Sold by all dealers.

The undersigned has received an allotment of unsold portion of $100,000 of

7 Per Cent. First Mortgage Five-Year Gold Bonds

dated January 11, 1908, and maturing January 11, 1913. These Bonds are offered at par and accrued interest by Metropolitan Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, trustee.

SECURITY—The Entire Property and Improvements Owned THE URES CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY in the District of Ures, State of Sonora Mexico. Free from Mortgage or Bonded Indebtedness except this present Bond issue.

An Unusual Opportunity for Investment in Sound Security

The Ures Consolidated Mining Company offers $100,000.00 of First Mortgage Gold Bonds. This issue of bonds is the only mortgage or bonded indebtedness ever placed on the company's properties.

These bonds are in the denomination of $100.00, and bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, July and January, and are redeemable on or before five years from date at the company's option at $110.00 and accrued interest.

$100.00 Stock Bonus Given with Every $100.00 Bond

With each bond issued there will be given $100.00 par value of the capital stock of the company as a bonus, and in addition thereto there will be placed in escrow with the Trustee additional stock which will be available to the bondholders at their option any time within a period of three years, the bondholder being entitled to surrender his bond any time within said period and receive in lieu thereof stock for every dollar of indebtedness to him on account of said bonds.

The Security Back of these Bonds

The company owns twelve claims situated in the district of Ures, State of Sonora, Mexico, free from mortgage or bonded indebtedness, except the present bond issue.

On one of these properties (The Ramona Mine) 5,000 feet of underground development work has been done, consisting of an inclined shaft to the depth of 400 feet with drifts in three levels to the North and South of the shaft.

An average value of ore worth $11.67 per ton is exposed throughout the mine, from the collar of the shaft to the extreme parts in the drifts, all of which is above water level.

The company has made surface improvements and mine improvements to the extent of $60,000.00 in the way of machinery, skids, trams, steam hoists, mill and nearly everything necessary to make the mining camp complete.

In addition to the absolute ownership of these twelve valuable claims, the company has a lease on the San Jose Mine, adjoining its property, in which the company has been operating in high grade ore.

During the past sixty days the company has extracted and delivered to ore buyers and the bank at Hermosillo, $3,000.00 worth of ore and bullion, the ore having been reduced to bullion through the company's mill, with the exception of 1,464 pounds, which was sold to an ore buyer for $662.50.

The Money Derived from the Sale of These Bonds

This issue of bonds is made for the purpose of securing money at once in order to extend the development work more quickly than the company's present income will permit.

With the high grade ore in sight to the distance of 30 feet to the South of the shaft, the management is assured that within six months from date of making the improvements now necessary the company's properties will be on a self-sustaining and dividend-paying basis.

The Stock which is Given with these bonds will be as valuable as the bonds when the Company has the ready capital to push operations

Men who invest in these bonds will have no cause or reason to regret their action, for the bonds afford an investment in a security which is absolutely safe—much better than ordinary city or country real estate, which is considered perfectly safe if the property put up to secure a mortgage is double the face of the loan. The security given on these bonds is better than 7 to 1, for the Ures Consolidated Mining Company has refused an offer of $700,000.00 for the property upon which this $100,000.00 worth of bonds is issued.

These bonds are an investment with all speculative risk eliminated —an investment with absolute security.

Make your reservation at once. This is small and premium to be quickly sold.

Banco de Sonora,
Hermosillo, Mex.,
Feb. 11th, 1908.

To whom it may concern:—

We hereby beg to state that The Ures Consolidated Mining Company has during the past five years made several deliveries of bullion to this bank, and it is the opinion of mining men here that they have the making of a fair mine, and further, that the properties owned and controlled by them bid promise of becoming paying properties.

From our knowledge of the men connected, we believe they are doing all in their power to bring about the results above mentioned.

Respectfully,

RAWHIDE-DULZURA

1 CENT A 2 SHARE

Send us your name as a member in this new company, with your remittance for as many thousand shares as you can take at $5 per thousand.

This is a short-time offer on a hurry-up proposition. Our vice president is up at Rawhide now putting the miners at work. We want to raise the necessary funds for development as quickly as possible. Therefore, we offer the first block of stock at $5 a thousand shares. This subscription must be all cash. We want the money in hand. We mean to work without let-up, and we have made it an ironclad rule not to run in debt. Cash counts now.

Our prospectuses are out, send for one.

Make reservation of stock. If you do no more. But, remember, this present offer of stock at Half a Cent a Share is now open, and will be closed as soon as enough cash subscriptions are in hand. Don't wait, or you will get left.

The gold mining property owned outright by the company consists of 7 claims, 3 in the Rawhide district of Nevada, and 4 in the Dulzura district of Northern California.

The Rawhide district to-day is more famous than Goldfield, Tonopah, Bullfrog, or Searchlight were at the same stage of exploration and development. The Dulzura discovery is one of the most sensational in the history of California.

Ten samples of ore which were among the first assayed, ran as high as $7,463.87 to the ton, and all ten averaged over $1,500 a ton.

In both camps we located early, and our locations are choice. Our own officers will superintend the mining.

How to Tell

If the Kidneys and Liver are Not Acting Well.

Thousands die every year from aggravated kidney distress that could have been saved if they only knew.

Your back may ache, you think it's tiredness or physical weakness.

You grow irritable and nervous—it's put down to loss of sleep.

Joints ache, muscles get sore,—that's all put down to bad weather.

Can't you see it's all from your overworked kidneys, which can't keep the body clear of poisons that are now surging through the whole system.

Cure your kidneys with Dr. Hamilton's pills.

"When I was so stooped and back weary, so lame and sore with kidney and bladder trouble, I cured myself quickly with Dr. Hamilton's Pills" writes C. C. Ferrier, a well known merchant in Plainville. "Dr. Hamilton's Pills touched the spot at once, gave my back ease, lifted depression and weariness, made a new man of me. I can also say for a good spring medicine to clear and enrich the blood Dr. Hamilton's Pills have no equal."

The housewife whose aching back makes every little duty a burden, the working man who is tired all day and can't rest at night, whose back aches, and whose feet swell—these people have kidney trouble. Women whose kidneys are sick, suffer continually from blind and sick headaches, faint and dizzy spells, bearing down pains, sharps twinges when stooping, distressing urinary troubles, aching muscles and joints, lack of appetite and loss of sleep. Reach the cause. Cure the kidneys. Use Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills, which have cured thousands. 25c. at all dealers.

Chief Black Cloud's

medicines—roots herbs and barks—are all manufactured by himself.

If you have rheumatism don't fail to see this widely known medicine man.

The footprints of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the Stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For this druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. First, these tiny inside Stomach, Heart, and Kidney nerves feel. Then gas bloating, Heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment, you will realize the gain. A test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

Breathing is a Business for Fat Folks in Hot Weather

Watch a fat man or woman breathe this sultry season and you will see some earnest work. The air goes in with difficulty and it comes out with still more difficulty. Hot days are "lazy days" for fat folks.

If you know one of these victims—help him or her. Tell him that exercise (which he wouldn't attempt) and starvation (which few have resolution enough to try) are not incumbent nowadays on those who wish to reduce. Tell him that a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime, of this, 1-2 ounce Marmola, 3-4 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 4 3-4 ounces Sirup Simplex, has taken their place.

This pleasant home mixture, tell him, gets results on the fat itself without injury to the taker. It doesn't interfere with his habits, affect his meals, disturb his stomach, or even bother his pocketbook worth mentioning. If it be a lady, you can assure her that, further more, although it can remove a pound or more of fat a day, it does not cause wrinkles.

Sad Drowning Accident at Moore's Lake

A sad drowning accident occurred about seven miles from here at Moore's Lake, on Sunday, August 7th, when Tom Burns and his oldest son, Will, started to go up the rocks to pick huckleberries. They attempted to run their boat over Moore's Falls, and in some way the boat capsized and Tom Burns was caught in the current and the swift water and drowned, but his son clung to the boat and was saved. Much sympathy is felt for his wife and eight small children.—Lindsay Post correspondent from Norland.

RUNNING.

On Saturday afternoon Fred Simpson expected to have run a five-mile exhibition race, but instead of that was matched against Tom Longboat for three miles. Longboat won by about 25 yards in 15.24. Simpson ran 12 pounds heavier than normal weight and considering the fact that he had not a running shoe on since the Marathon, and that he has never gone in a three-mile race before did well. Bobby Kerr's meet was a great success there being more than 3,000 paying all.

An old couple in Glasgow were in a very depressed state, owing to dull trade.

Thinking their son in America would help them, they wrote, stating their trouble, and that if he did not help them they would have to go to the poorhouse.

"Dear Mither and Faither,—Just wait anither fortnicht an' I'll come hame an' gang wi' ye. Your affectionate son."

PLANNED FOR HUSBAND TO KILL THE ENEMY OF HIS HOME

Brother Arranged Details of the Annis Tragedy Having Brought Captain Hains Home by Telling Him His Wife was Untrue

New York, Aug. 18.—The details of the Hains-Annis tragedy are becoming known. Every fact emphasizes the deliberate nature of the shooting. The brothers were almost equally concerned. Annis' half-rater's mainsail was between her passengers and the score or more persons on the float as she approached. Just as she pulled up to the edge, Capt. Hains stepped forward and his brother stepped back. Both drew pistols from inside their coats. Capt Hains' weapon was a magazine pistol of the latest design; his brother carried an army Colt. Both were of large calibre, about .45. T. Jenkins Hains turned and covered the crowd on the float and his brother lifted the boom of the little sloop to raise the sail out of the way.

Half a dozen men jumped forward, but T. Jenkins Hains put his revolver at the breast of the nearest, Burchfield, with the words, "I am running this business. If you interfere I will shoot you."

Capt. Hains, his left hand holding up the boom and the sail flapping about his face, leaned forward and levelled his pistol. He first pointed it at Annis' companion, Hathway, but seeing his mistake, quickly turned it toward the other man and began firing.

SIX SHOTS—ALL EFFECTIVE.

Six shots Capt. Hains fired in all, and each one took effect. One struck Annis in the groin, two in his abdomen, one in his right leg, one in his left, and one in his right arm. After the first shot he grasped at the mast, clutched it for a moment, and then staggered to the float. Then he toppled forward and fell into the water.

At the splash of the body falling into the water, T Jenkins Hains turned, and, seeing that Annis had fallen, lowered his revolver. John Tonning, a boatman employed by the club, leaped at Capt. Hains, and grasping his gun arm and holding it drew back to strike him. T. Jenkins Hains caught Tonning's arm.

"That's all right," he said. "It's all over now."

GIVE UP THEIR PISTOLS.

Charles H. Roberts, who lives on Ash street, Waldheim, and another man pulled Annis' body out of the water, and several men carried it to the club house verandah. Capt Hains handed his pistol to one of the members standing by, and his brother followed his example, first breaking the breech of his Colt to show the cartridges, and calling attention to the fact that the revolver had not been discharged. Three or four of the club members grabbed the two men, but they raised their hands, remarking that violence was unnecessary and that they were going to wait until the police arrived.

"You had better telephone for them," T. Jenkins Hains added.

On the verandah, Dr. Harris Houghton, a member of the club, who had just driven up in his automobile, was dressing Annis' wounds and doing what he could for the man, who then was unconscious. Mrs. Annis assisted him and other women stood by ready.

To the universal cry of those present, "What does it all mean? Who are these men and why was Annis shot?" Mrs. Annis answered, "I know all about it—who they are and why one of them wanted to shoot him," but would not say anything more.

SHOT THE WRONG MAN.

The telephone brought an ambulance from the Flushing Hospital, and Annis was lifted in. He recovered consciousness a few minutes later and said;

"I know why he shot, but he shot the wrong man."

Later on he signed a brief written statement at the request of Dr. Houghton, in which he merely gave the name of the man who had shot him. Then he swooned again and died at 7.15, nearly five hours after the shooting. He had been put on the operating table, but it was of no use, as the shots in his body had torn him badly.

Capt Hains and his brother remained on their chairs on the verandah, guarded by a number of men while the injured man was being put into the ambulance and it drove off.

SENT TELEGRAMS.

On the way to the police station, Capt. Hains asked to send two telegrams. One of these was to his father, Gen. Peter C. Hains, U.S.A., retired. When Capt. Hains started to write the telegram he began, "Annis is dead." One of the detectives looking over his shoulder, reminded him that Annis was not dead yet.

"Damn him! He ought to be!" Capt. Hains exclaimed. "He wrecked my home!"

The telegram was changed to read; Gen. Peter C. Hains, Quarters 15, Fort Hancock, N.J.:

Have shot Annis. Come to Flushing police station. Peter.

Gen. Hains had been visiting his son at Fort Hancock. When he got the message he started at once for Flushing. Capt. Hains was not assigned to any of the companies at Fort Hancock. It was said that his military equipment had not arrived. He had been on leave of absence for some days.

MARRIED MRS. HAINS SECRETLY.

Capt. Hains met his wife, who was a Miss Libby of Boston, in 1900, when he was a lieutenant stationed at Fort Banks. They became acquainted in a boarding house kept by her mother, and soon afterward were married secretly, the only witness to the ceremony being T. Jenkins Hains. They lived happily together, and three children were born to them, and not until T. Jenkins Hains called on his sister-in-law at Fort Hamilton in the captain's absence had anything come between the husband and wife to mar their domestic life.

Capt. Hains was transferred to transport duty last October, and went to San Francisco, leaving his wife and three children at Fort Hamilton. He was in command of a transport plying between San Francisco and the Philippines, and in his absence he hadn't the slightest suspicion that there was anything wrong at home.

BROTHER WARNED HIM.

His brother, T J nkins Hains, author of "The Windjammers" and other sea tales, and a well-known contributor to the magazines, made a visit to his sister-in-law at the post while Capt. Hains was in Manila. As a result of what he found there he wrote to the captain, urging him to hurry home on the first vessel out. When Capt. Hains reached Fort Hamilton he was satisfied that his brother's suspicions were true and began the divorce suit.

All of the officers and their families at the garrison and at other posts where Capt. Hains had served were thunderstruck at the allegations. At Fort Hamilton everybody knew that the man named as co-respondent had been a constant caller at the captain's home in the latter's absence on transport duty, but nobody had any suspicion of wrongdoing, as the visitor was known to be an intimate friend of the family.

When Capt. Hains got back from the Philippines on Decoration Day, he found his wife seriously ill at the home at Fort Hamilton as the result of an operation. There was a stormy scene, and soon afterwards she went to the home of her parents in Boston, where she has since been living. Their three children were sent to the home of Capt. Hains' father, Gen. Peter Conover Hains, U.S.A., retired at Washington.

ONLY 25 YEARS OLD.

Mrs. Hains, who is a pretty woman of 25 years, had made many friends at the post, and many were loath to believe the stories that were circulated at the time the suit was brought.

Lieut.-Col. Ludlow, commanding Fort Hamilton could hardly believe the charges made by Capt. Hains, and straightway he ordered an investigation. The officers at the post and their wives told of the visits of the co-respondent in the captain's absence in the Philippines, but all had to admit that they never suspected anything wrong.

Gen Hains came on from Washington and conferred with Lieut-Col. Ludlow. The result was that an order was issued from the post headquarters forbidding civilians from visiting the reservation after the sundown gun. At that time there was a lot of talk about the right of officers to shoot civilians found nosing around the quarters in officers' row.

THE UNWRITTEN LAW

New York, Aug. 18.—General Hains, a tall, erect, splendid figure of a military man, stated yesterday that he had no fear of the outcome of the case, and neither had his son. "We shall fight it out to the end," he said, "and I think we shall win. All I ask at this moment is that the public holds its judgment in abeyance until all the facts are laid bare at the trial.

"The defense? Well, Annis was the man who ruined my son's home, and was named as co-respondent in his divorce action. I guess that supplies both motive and defence. However, we will have much more to say on this score later on."

Attorney Percy at this point made the direct statement about the defence which the old general had hinted at.

"We have in our possession," he said, "the signed confession of Mrs Hains. We expect it to be our principal defence. That is all I can say now. I cannot make this confession public or even intimate closely its nature until it has been examined by prominent criminal lawyers who will be associated in the defence." Who these criminal lawyers are Mr. Percy refused to state.

NO INSANITY PLEA.

From all indications the trial of the brothers will be even more striking as a legal battle than either of

Weary Willies are Too Numerous in Ontario

Toronto, Aug. 18.—There's a tramp scare in Ontario, and the Ontario Government has been asked to send detectives to various centres to round up vagrants, but there are only four Provincial inspectors and they are busy.

Generally these requests for Government aid in chasing hoboes close with these words, "the high constable has taken no action."

The Government's attitude seems to be this, that the country should be able to handle tramps, many of whom are not at all violent, merely lazy. An expert detective is not needed in guarding or arresting tramps. Ordinary men with some strength and courage are good enough.

Fully Answered

Dr. McNamara, a member of the British Parliament, tells of a schoolteacher who was endeavoring to convey the ideal of pity to the members of his class. He illustrated it. "Now, supposing", he said, "a man working on the river bank suddenly fell in. He could not swim and would be in danger of drowning. Picture the scene, boys and girls. The man's sudden fall, the cry for help. His wife, knowing his peril and hearing his screams, rushed immediately to the bank. Why does she rush to the bank?

The Company's Show at France-British Attracts Much Attention

The splendid exhibit which the Grand Trunk have put up at the France-British exhibition is attracting a great amount of attention and the English people are getting an idea of what a Canadian Railway really is. The views of the double track scenes, the heavy motive power, the splendid equipment and the beautiful reproductions of photographs from scenes along the line, together with the specimens of trophies of fish and game which are on view, are both pleasing to the eye and attractive to the mind of the visitor. The total attendance in the Grand Trunk building from May 14th (the opening day) until July 23rd, amounted to 106,607 people. Letters have been received from Canadians and others profuse in their praises of this handsome building and exhibit which is a credit to the railway and a big advertisement for the Dominion.

Annis Admitted Wrongdoing

Told Doctor who Attended Him After the Shooting that He was Paying with his Life for Wrong Doing He Committed

New York, Aug. 18.—New light is expected at the inquest tomorrow night into the death of William E. Annis, who was shot at the Hayside Yacht Club Saturday by Capt. Peter C. Hains of the U.S. army. Dr. Henry Houghton, the physician who was at the side of Annis when he lost consciousness, was quoted today as informaring that Annis made a statement before his death in which he acknowledged that he was paying with his life for a wrong he had committed.

"He told certain things to me," Dr. Houghton is quoted as saying, "which no one else heard, and which I have told to no one. When I am called on to testify before the coroner's jury I will probably make it public.

The physician is further quoted as asserting that, taking into consideration what Annis told him, he hardly thought it possible that an officer of the United States army would shoot down in cold blood a man in the presence of his wife and children without having a great and good cause. That there was absolutely nothing in the attitude of either of the Hains to indicate that they were laboring under any delusion or any great excitement at the time of the shooting, was declared by the doctor.

It was learned today that Frederick L. Norton, of Boston, Mrs. Hains' counsel in the divorce action brought by her husband, would visit this city today in reference to his client's affairs. It was understood that Mrs. Hains intends to take some action toward compelling the return of her children to her.

A Wonderful Record.

As made up by improved and exact processes Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the woman ly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. It cures the backache, periodical headaches, the dragging-down distress in the pelvis region, the pain and tenderness over lower abdominal region, dries up the pelvic catarrhal drain, so disagreeable and weakening, and overcomes every form of weakness incident to the organs distinctly feminine.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, the makers of which are not afraid to print their formula on the bottle wrapper, thus taking their patrons into their full confidence. It is the only medicine for women, every ingredient of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the most eminent medical practitioners and writers of our day, recommending it for the diseases for which "Favorite Prescription" is used. It is the only put-up medicine for women, sold through druggists, which does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, so harmful in the long run, especially to delicate women. It has more genuine cures to its credit than all other medicines for women combined, having saved thousands of sufferers from the operating table and the surgeon's knife. It has restored delicate, weak women to strong and vigorous health and virility, making motherhood possible, where there was barrenness before, thereby brightening and making happy many thousands of homes by the advent of little ones to strengthen the marital bonds and add sunshine where gloom and despondency had reigned before.

Alleged Brutual Attack on Belleville Woman While Out Camping

Belleville, Aug. 18. — Albert Greaves, a married man, was arrested here at midnight last night on the charge of brutality towards his sister-in-law, Mrs. Fred Renfrew.

Greaves, with his wife and family, with Renfrew and his family, had been camping on Zwick's Island, in the Bay of Quinte for the past month. Last night Greaves went home drunk and in a quarrel which ensued it is alleged Greaves kicked Mrs. Renfrew in a brutal manner as well as using his fists.

The physician is unable at present to state the extent of the injuries, but they are severe. Greaves was remanded to jail for a week to await the outcome.

Rival Wheat Interests Try to Overpersuade the Farmer

A Battle Royal on Between Some of the Largest Milling Interests and Wheat Exporters--Hold for Big Prices

Montreal, Aug. 18.—There is a battle royal on between some of the largest milling interests and wheat exporters regarding the outcome of the wheat crop in the Canadian West, and interesting developments may be looked for from now on.

On one side are arrayed some large milling interests in league with large exporters and these are claiming a crop of over 110,000,000 bushels of wheat and advising the farmers to get rid of all their old wheat, while on the other hand are some large milling interests who claim that the crop will not total more than about 100,000,000, and that not more than 90,000,000 bushels will be offered for sale. The latter are advising the Western farmer to continue to hold all the old wheat he has, and not to be led into selling it. Should the interests claiming a bumper crop persist in their plans it is likely that the other interests will issue a circular to the farmers advising them not to sell, as the plan is to simply deprive them of a profit that will surely be theirs if they hold onto their wheat.

Some seven years ago some of the same interests had a similar fight regarding the Ontario wheat crop, and the interests who advised the farmers to hold on to their wheat not only won out, but all the farmers who followed their advice made good money. It remains to be seen on what side victory will rest this year.

REID--STEWART

A very pretty and quiet wedding took place yesterday morning at the residence of the bride's parents, when Margaret, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stewart, was united in marriage to Mr. Percy Reid. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. A. Parson, of the George street Methodist church.

The bride was given away by her father and was attended only by the ring bearer, her sister, Miss Eva, who wore a dress of cream mull and carried a basket of oak roses.

The bride was attired in a semi-princess gown of cream mass-quisette over taffeta trimmed with satin and lace and carried a bouquet of white roses.

After the ceremony the party sat down to a wedding breakfast prepared by Long & Hooper in their usual efficient style.

Miss V. Palmer provided the wedding music. The groom's present to the bride was a loop of pearls and to the ring bearer and pearl gold bracelets.

Had a Narrow Escape from Drowning

On Monday night Peter Butler, an 11-year-old boy had a narrow escape from drowning near Luverne Park. Had it not been for Mr. Jessie Airries a river driver, he would undoubtedly have lost his life.

Young Butler was swimming with a number of other boys when he got beyond his depth and went down. His companions realized his danger and called for help. Fortunately, Mr. Airries was fishing about fifty yards away and came to the rescue. Stopping only to throw off his coat he plunged into the water, and swimming out to the drowning lad he seized him and got him safely on shore. The little fellow grabbed his rescuer around the neck and handicapped as he was by heavy clothing and boots Mr. Airries had a hard struggle to make the recipe, but he pluckily persisted until he got young Butler out of danger. The little fellow soon revived and is none the worse for his adventure.

Berlin Mayor Removes the Clerk, Engineer and Solicitor

Berlin, Aug. 18.—Municipal matters in Berlin became a little more muddled than ever at the council meeting yesterday. There has been friction for months between Mayor Huber and the council, and it reached a climax in this stormy session, by council almost unanimously passing a vote of censure on Mayor Huber for his violent, abusive and insulting language when in the chair.

MAYOR CHARGES FRAUD.

Some days ago Mayor Huber charged fraud in connection with the purchase of tile from a local firm. He forbade the road foreman and town engineer from using any more tile of this make, but on the town solicitor's advice his mandate was disregarded. He suspended both officials and now the list of "suspended" victims includes the town solicitor, town clerk, engineer and road foreman. In every instance the council has turned down the mayor and backed up the officials.

An investigation committee dealt with the fraud charges and found them without any substantiation. The mayor refused to put the motion to adopt this report, which he called a "lying report." He charged aldermen with being untrue, and was bitterly criticised by the council.

Skin Cleared

By Simple Change in Food

There's undoubtedly much truth in the statement, even to the cause of many unsightly eruptions, which many suppose can be removed by applying some remedy on the outside.

By changing her food a Kan. girl was relieved of an eczema which was a great annoyance to her. She writes:

"For five months I was suffering with an eruption on my face and hands which our doctor called eczema and which caused me a great deal of inconvenience. The suffering was almost unbearable.

"The medicine I took only gave me temporary relief. One day I happened to read somewhere that eczema was caused by indigestion. Then I read that many persons had been relieved of indigestion by eating Grape Nuts.

"I decided to try it. I liked the taste of the food and was particularly pleased to notice that my digestion was improving and that the eruption was disappearing as if by magic. I had at last found, in this great food, something that reached my trouble.

"When I find a victim of this affliction I remember my own former suffering and advise a trial of Grape-Nuts food instead of medicines." "There's a Reason."

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 19, 1908.

A SENSIBLE STEP

A sensible step has been taken by the authorities of the Salvation Army, at the headquarters in London, in cancelling the charters of seven of its steamships that had been engaged for the service of emigration to Canada. Canada with a population of seven millions or so has not yet solved the problem of absorbing European immigration anything like as fast as the United States, with its enormous manufacturing, industrial and commercial developments. For a considerable period during the past twelve months there were more emigrants going back from the United States to Europe than immigrants coming in. If Canada's factories get busy enough, the coming fall, to employ all the labor seeking employment they will be doing mighty well.

A GOOD COUNTRY

Surprise is expressed by the New York Times at the comparatively large number of United States citizens who have changed their allegiance and become subjects of King Edward. "It has seemed natural," says the Times, "for other nationalities to become American, but contrary to the course of nature for Americans to forsweat their country." The new-comers have found life and property safe in Canada and the laws and institutions to their liking. They have settled down permanently and propose to exercise all the privileges of native-born Canadians. Another proof of the native shrewdness and common horse-sense usually attributed to the average farmer of the Western states.

THE POLITICAL OUTLOOK

A contributor to The National Review, of London, Eng., who was a voter in Saskatchewan in the general election of 1904, writes of the present prospects of the two parties, according to his viewpoint. He says that the tide of public opinion seems to be setting against the Liberal party in several sections of the Dominion. "But whether it will rise high enough to overwhelm them at the coming election remains to be seen."

In some respects the political situation reminds him of that in 1896, "when the Conservative party, despite the heroic campaign of Sir Charles Tupper, was routed rather than defeated." The writer voted for Laurier, because it seemed to him that the country was on the eve of a new stage of development, and to change the personnel of the Federal Administration could do no harm, and might result in good. The charges and counter-charges of corruption brought by both parties in the field did not affect his decision. Much money, he says, was spent, and an intolerable deal of whiskey spilt without changing the judgment of the Saskatchewan electorate to an appreciable extent.

The writer asks: Has Canada turned up its mind to dispense with the services of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mr. Fielding and the others? He fears to prophesy, but thinks that the Conservatives have a fighting chance. "In the first place, it is impossible to say, as could be justly said in 1900 or 1904, that the Liberals are infinitely superior to their opponents as regards their personnel of leadership. Sir Wilfrid and Mr Fielding remain, but the rest hardly count. Mr. Sifton—the best mind in Canada, perhaps in all Greater Britain—has gone; Tarte, Mulock, Blair, Cartwright and other good men have gone; the new hands are not the equals of their predecessors."

He continues: "On the other side, there is Mr. R. L. Borden, whose personal integrity is beyond criticism. He is not much of an orator, and magnetism is not one of his personal qualities, but I think he can choose the right man for the right department, that he has the grit to rule a Cabinet, that he would make good if he succeeded to the Premiership. He would have no difficulty whatever in building up a good working Cabinet out of the young men of his party." He speaks of Mr. George E. Foster as the ablest financial critic in the country.

Men, rather than measures, he considers are generally the chief issues of a general election in Canada. Therefore, because of the Leadership of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his "high position in the ranks of Imperial statesmen" the Liberal party has a certain advantage, which, however, to use the writer's words, "might easily be overrated." In the matter of the means for fighting a campaign the Liberals, he says, have a still greater advantage. But in other respects the Opposition "pulls the balance down."

As reasons for Conservative hope he gives: (1) the report of the Civil Service Commission, which was honestly outspoken and seriously affected the reputation of two Cabinet Ministers; (2) the recent remarkable victory of Sir James Whitney in the general Province, where he increased his majority from forty-two to sixty-eight; (3) the development in Quebec of an effective Opposition to the Laurier interest, as indicated by the personal triumph of Mr. Bourassa in the Provincial election.

The writer probably errs in several particulars. In the first place there is a deep seated feeling throughout the country against Hon. Mr. Foster, Mr Borden's lieutenant, on account of his connection with the insurance investigation. Then, again, the writer overlooks the fact that many think it unwise to have Federal and Provincial governments of the same political complexion, what it is productive of evil. Nor is it likely all Sir Wilfrid is likely to have the support of the Hierarchy, which means a lot. In fact, figuratively speaking, he will play the game with "loaded" dice.

August time fits on the nerves. But that spiritless, no ambition feeling can be surely and quickly altered by taking what is known by druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Flinty Plant Covers.

When Sir Humphry Davy was a boy about sixteen, a little girl came to him in great excitement:

"Humphry, do tell me my these two pieces of cane make a tiny spark of light when I rub them together?"

Humphry was a studious boy, who spent hours in thinking out scientific problems. He patted the child's curly head and said:

"I do not know, dear. Let us see if they really do make a light, and then we will try to find out why."

Humphry soon found that the little girl was right. The pieces of cane if rubbed together quickly did give a tiny light. Then he set to work to find out the reason, and after some time, thanks to the observing powers of his little friend and his own kindness to her in not impatiently telling her not to "worry," as so many might have done, Humphry Davy made the first of his interesting discoveries. Every reed, cane and grass has an outer skin of flinty stuff, which protects the inside from insects and also helps the frail looking leaves to stand upright.

Table Manners in Old France.

Could we restore for half an hour the dinner table of old France and obtain half a dozen instantaneous photographs of a royal banquet at any era between the reigns of Francis I and Louis Quatorze such a "cataract of laughter" would be heard as might disturb the serenity of Louis in paradise. The duchess, her napkin tied securely round her neck, would be seen mumbling a bone, the noble marquis surreptitiously scratching himself, the belle marquise, withdrawing her spoon from her lips to help a neighbor to sauce with it, another fair creature scouring her plate with her bread, a gallant courtier using his doublet or the tablecloth as a towel for his fingers and two footmen holding a yard of damask under a lady's chin while she emptied her goblet at a draft. During a feast of inordinate length it was sometimes necessary to substitute a clean cloth for the one which the carelessness or bad manners of the guests had reduced to a deplorable condition. —"An Idler In Old France."

The Midget Snakes.

"I see by your paper," says a correspondent, "that you want to find a man who can tell a snake story with the sound of originality to it. Here it is: Nearly forty years ago in the woods of Indiana I captured three snakes, each less than three and one-fourth inches in length, a combined length of less than ten inches, a little longer and a little larger in the middle than an old fashioned wool darning needle. Although these snakes were so small they would crawl around with their heads up and dart out their tongues like larger snakes, I put these reptiles in an eight ounce bottle, and they had plenty of room to crawl around on the bottom of it without crowding. These were not the kind of snakes generally seen in bottles, but genuine snakes. Among those who saw them was a minister of the gospel, and he had not been taking anything to make him see snakes either."—Emporia Gazette.

The Pirates.

The Chicago News fails to name the hero of this story, but has it that the visitor to the home of a well known Hoosier State author found his three youngsters romping in the hallway.

"What are you playing, boys?" he inquired.

"We are playing pirates," elucidated the smallest.

"Pirates? Why, how can you play pirates in Indiana? There are no seas bordering on this state."

"Oh, we don't need any seas. We are literary pirates, like pa."

And five minutes later a chorus of yells from behind the barn told that the hand that wields the pen can also wield the shingle.

Outside of His Practice.

"All that is the matter with you, sir," said the eminent physician after a thorough examination, "is lack of nutrition. You don't eat enough."

"I eat all I can hold, doctor," said the attenuated caller.

"Then you need to have your capacity enlarged, and that's a case for a surgeon. Five dollars, please. Good morning."—Chicago Tribune.

Overstudy.

Books are pleasant, but if by being overstudious we impair our health and spoil our good humor, two of the best pieces we have, let us give it over. I, for my part, am one of those who think that no fruit derived from them can recompense so great a loss.—Montaigne.

Piles helped at once with Dr. Shoop's Magic Ointment. Just to prove it, a trial box will be mailed on request, by writing Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. Itching, smarting, bleeding piles, internal or external, get quick and certain help from Magic Ointment. Large box 50c. Sold by all druggists.

Missed a Chance.

"But, Tommy," said his mother, "you asked for two cakes and I gave them to you. Aren't you satisfied?"

"No, I ain't," growled Tommy. "You was so easy I'm kickin' meself now 'cause I didn't ask fur four."—Philadelphia Press.

Driven to Drink.

His Friend—Ah, some powerful portrayal of baffled passion, I suppose?

Artist—Oh, no; it's a horse approaching a water trough!

If the Earth Should Stop.

The stopping of a projectile always results in the generation of heat. The velocity and weight of a projectile being known, the amount of heat developed by its stoppage can be calculated. In the case of large bodies moving rapidly the result of the calculation is something astounding. For example, the earth weighs 6,000,000,000,000 tons and travels in its orbits at the rate of over eighteen miles a second. Should it strike a target strong enough to stop its motion the heat developed by the shock would be sufficient not merely to fuse the earth, but also to reduce a large portion of it to vapor. It has been calculated that the amount of heat generated by a collision so colossal would equal that obtained from the burning of fourteen globes of coal each equal to the earth in size. And should the earth after its stoppage fall into the sun, as it certainly would do, the amount of heat developed by its impact on the sun would be equal to that generated by the combustion of 5,000 earths of solid carbon.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Germany Supreme in the Airship

"Brittannia rules the waves," is likely to remain true for many years to come. But if England is supreme on the sea, it seems that Count Zeppelin and other aeronauts of the Fatherland, by their invention of successful dirigible balloons, will give Germany the supremacy of the air.

At any rate the whole world is stirred over aerial navigation both from the point of view of transportation and of "air fleets" for offensive warfare. Germany, England, France and the United States are busy with the problem, and a competitive prize of $12,000 has been offered for a successful airship. In Canada, Graham Bell and Casey Baldwin are struggling with this problem. Why should not the air rest become wider and more Canadian, and the prize, with credit to himself and glory to his country.

As this subject of air navigation is so much to the front at the present time, The Sunday World has secured an article on aviation from J. R. d. Almada, formerly master at Bishop Ridley College, St. Catharines, who has given several years of research and study to the subject and who claims to have an invention which is quite equal at least to anything which has yet been built in any part of the world. He writes:

THE MOST SUCCESSFUL MACHINE

In writing an article on this subject for the perusal of "the man in the street," one has either to explain in ordinary language, very scientific term used and interpret into ordinary phrases all technical and abbreviated expressions, or be careful to describe things in ordinary popular language and phraseology. I prefer the latter course.

The machine of machines is not that as far shown the best results is unquestionably that of Wright Bros. Orville and Wilbur, of Dayton, Ohio, for their hav flown distances of 18, 24 and 42 miles at one go. To quote from the Scientific American, a paper of the highest standing in the scientific world, and thoroughly reliable, which, in a recent issue, published photos of Wright Bros.' machine in actual flight round Kill Devil Hill, in North Carolina; "The greatest value of these photographs lies in dispelling all doubt as to the ability of the Wright machine to fly and to make good its engineers' claim. All those who witnessed the flights agree that the performance of the machine was marvellous, and that the speed attained with the small motor of 30 horse power was remarkable." Elsewhere this is computed at 47 miles an hour.

The Total Grain Output of West

Brandon, August 11.—The great achievement in colonization by the United States during the nineteenth century, the transformation of the west from a savage wilderness to a highly fertile, prosperous and populous community, is now being repeated north of the forty-ninth parallel by Canada. In some measure the new feat is the more remarkable because the Canadian west is being settled in the main by colonists induced to emigrate to Canada from other lands, while the Western States were filled by the westward pressure of a great native population.

Thus recently wrote John W. Dafoe, one of the best posted men in Western Canada, in the American Review of Reviews. There are several very peculiar and remarkable features connected with the great development going on in Western Canada, not the least important of which is the special character of the great Canadian track to which Mr. Dafoe refers. As we travel through the country we find whole communities of the most desirable element in which almost every type of educated European is to be found. Side by side with the Scotchman is the Icelander, with many of the same characteristics. The German and Irishman, the Yorkshire "blade," the Cornishman and the pure blood d Cockney shaking hands over the garden fence with the United States-er, and men of the best Teutonic stock who have grasped the wonderful possibilities of this great country. Here they are living side by side, building the foundations of a great nation, regarding themselves, and being in reality Kings, by indefeasible right in their own small domains.

WHAT IT MEANS IN DOLLARS.

What all this means in dollars and cents to Canada is what we wish to show in these articles.

Six million acres of wheat.

Two million six hundred and seven thousand acres of oats.

Eight hundred and fifty-six thousand acres of barley.

One hundred and twenty-three.

Twenty per cent. increase in wheat acreage over last year, ten per cent. in oats, nine per cent. in barley and two per cent. in flax. These figures give the gross crop acreage of Western Canada for 1908.

August time, tells on the nerves. But that sparkless, no ambition feeling can be easily and quickly altered by taking what is known by druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Within 48 hours after beginning to use the Restorative, improvement will be noticed. Of course, full health will not immediately return. The gain, however, will surely follow. And best of all, you will realize and feel your strength and ambition as it is returning. Outside influences, depress first the "inside nerves" then the stomach, Heart, and Kidneys with usually fail. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and see how quickly health will be yours again. Sold by all dealers.

To Canadian Investors

The undersigned has received an allotment of unsold portion of $100,000 of

7 Per Cent. First Mortgage Five-Year Gold Bonds

dated January 11, 1908, and maturing January 11, 1913. These Bonds are offered at par and accrued interest by Metropolitan Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, trustees.

SECURITY—The Entire Property and Improvements Owned THE URES CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY in the District of Ures, State of Sonora, Mexico. Free from Mortgage or Bonded Indebtedness except this present Bond Issue.

An Unusual Opportunity for Investment in Sound Security

The Ures Consolidated Mining Company offers $100,000.00 of First Mortgage Gold Bonds. This issue of bonds is the only mortgage or bonded indebtedness ever placed on the company's properties.

These bonds are in the denomination of $100.00, and bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, July and January, and are redeemable on or before five years from date at the company's option at $110.00 and accrued interest.

$100.00 Stock Bonus Given with Every $100.00 Bond

With each bond issued there will be given $100.00 par value of the capital stock of the company as a bonus, and in addition thereto there will be placed in escrow with the Trustee additional stock which will be available to the bondholders at their option any time within a period of three years, the bondholder being entitled to surrender his bond any time within said period and receive in lieu thereof stock for every dollar of indebtedness to him on account of said bonds.

The Security Back of these Bonds

The company owns twelve claims situated in the district of Ures, State of Sonora, Mexico, free from mortgage or bonded indebtedness, except the present bond issue.

On one of these properties (The Ramona Mine) 5,000 feet of underground development work has been done, consisting of an inclined shaft to the depth of 400 feet with drifts in three levels to the North and South of the shaft.

An average value of ore worth $11.67 per ton is exposed throughout the mine, from the collar of the shaft to the extreme parts in the drifts, all of which is above water level.

The company has made surface improvements and mine improvements to the extent of $60,000.00 in the way of machinery, skids, trams, steam hoists, mill and nearly everything necessary to make the mining camp complete.

In addition to the absolute ownership of these twelve valuable claims, the company has a lease on the San Jose Mine, adjoining its property, in which the company has been operating in high grade ore.

During the past sixty days the company has extracted and delivered to ore buyers and the bank at Hermosillo, $4,000.00 worth of ore and bullion, the ore having been reduced to bullion through the company's mill, with the exception of 1,464 pounds, which was sold to an ore buyer for $668.00.

The Money Derived from the Sale of these Bonds

This issue of bonds is made for the purpose of securing money at once in order to extend the development work more quickly than the company's present means will permit.

With the high grade ore in sight to the distance of 50 feet to the South of the shaft, the management is assured that within six months from date of making the improvements now necessary the company's properties will be on a self-sustaining and dividend-paying basis.

The stock which is Given with these bonds will be as valuable as the bonds when the Company has the ready capital to push operations

Men who invest in these bonds will have no cause or reason to regret their action, for the bonds afford an investment in a security which is absolutely safe—much better than ordinary city or country real estate, which is considered perfectly safe if the property put up to secure a mortgage is double the face of the loan. The security given on these bonds is better than 7 to 1, for the Ures Consolidated Mining Company has refused an offer of $700,000.00 for the property upon which this $100,000.00 worth of bonds is issued.

These bonds are an investment with all speculative risk eliminated—an investment with absolute security.

Make your reservation at once. This is small and promises to be quickly sold.

Banco de Sonora,
Hermosillo, Mex.,
Feb. 11th, 1908.

To whom it may concern:—

We hereby beg to state that The Ures Consolidated Mining Company has during the past five years made several deliveries of bullion to this bank, and it is the opinion of mining men here that they have the making of a fair mine, and further, that the properties owned and controlled by them bid promise of becoming paying properties.

From our knowledge of the men connected, we believe they are doing all in their power to bring about the results above mentioned.

Respectfully,
BANCO DE SONORA,

1 CENT A 2 SHARE

Send us your name as a member in this new company, with your remittance for as many thousand shares as you can take at 35 per thousand.

This is a short-time offer on a hurry-up proposition. Our vice president is up at Rawhide now putting the miners at work. We want to raise the necessary funds for development as quickly as possible. Therefore, we offer the first block of stock at 35 a thousand shares. This subscription must be all cash. We want the money in hand. We mean to work without let-up, and we have made it an ironclad rule not to run in debt. Cash counts now.

Our prospectuses are out. Send for one.

Make reservation of stock. If you do no more. But, remember, this present offer of stock at Half a Cent a Share is now open, and will be closed as soon as enough cash subscriptions are in hand. Don't wait, or you will get left.

The gold mining property owned outright by the company consists of 7 claims, 5 in the Rawhide district of Nevada, and 2 in the Dulzura district of Southern California.

The Rawhide district to-day is more famous than Goldfield, Tonapah, Bullfrog, or Searchlight were at the same stage of exploration and development. The Dulzura discovery is one of the most sensational in the history of California.

Ten samples of ore which were among the first assayed, run as high as $7,462.57 to the ton, and all ten averaged over $1,600 a ton.

In both camps we located early, and our locations are choice. Our own officers will superintend the mining.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces, excepting 8 and 26 reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each and every year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father or mother.

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

Appetite Gone Nerves Badly Run Down

A Strong Moral Well Exemplified in Mrs. Wilson's Case.

Like thousands of other people at this season of the year Mrs. E. P. Wilson was tired and worn out—winter sorely tried her health and vigor. But now she is robust and well, eats well, sleeps well, feels invigorated and braced. "For some years," writes Mrs. Wilson of Watmore P.O., "I suffered from systematic weakness, billiousness and depressing headaches. I could take little nourishment and grew thin and pale. If I ate a hearty meal the result was dreadful. Pains started at my chest, and spread all through my body going across my stomach, back and right side. I was discouraged till a friend insisted on me taking Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They made a new woman of me, and for the past eight months my health has been perfect. For a good cleaning, rejuvenating medicine I urge every one to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

There is extraordinary and magic power in Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they bring vigor, tone, health and spirits—are compounded from the most wonderful and healing juices and essence in vegetable life—are safe for young and old, and guaranteed to kindle renewed activity and strength in every system that is weak, sickly or run down from kidney, liver, stomach or bladder trouble. The footprints of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the Stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For this druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. First, these tiny inside Stomach, Heart, and Kidney nerves fail. Then gas belching, Heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment, you will realize the gain. A test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

SEVENTY ENGLISH MINERS ENTOMBED --A HORRIBLE DEATH

Eighteen Mutilated Bodies Have Been Recovered at Wigan--Women and Children Wait at Pit Head

Wigan, England, Aug. 19.—It is not believed a single man of the 70 miners who were entombed by an explosion which occurred yesterday in the Maypole Coal Mine here, survived the disaster. The four men reported rescued yesterday were engaged in an adjoining building. The ventilating fan, which was put out of order by the explosion, was repaired this morning, and the mine having been cleared of gases, the rescue party again descended. The sight which met their eyes were horrifying. Not far from the bottom of the shaft 18 bodies were found, all frightfully mutilated, legs and arms being blown off and heads battered almost beyond recognition.

The manager of the mine declares that between sixty and seventy men were under ground at the time of the explosion, and that there is no hope that any one will be brought out alive. The women and children, however, who remained at the pit head all night refused to leave until the bodies of their dead are brought to the surface. Nothing less will convince them of the hopelessness of waiting.

Attorney Darrin Says Unwritten Law will Not Help in Trial

New York, Aug. 19.—With an appearance of unconcern, if not of defiance, Captain Peter C. Hains, jr., and his brother, T. Jenkins Hains, met the charges of homicide in the killing of William S. Annis. Their calm did not desert them as they were led handcuffed, through the streets, followed by a curious throng, nor did they manifest any unusual feelings when, a few hours later, they were photographed for the Rogues' Gallery, and their measurements taken by the Bertillon system in police headquarters in Brooklyn.

AN EARLY TRIAL.

Before they had returned to their cells in the Queens county jail, where they will stay until they are placed on trial, the machinery of the law was set in motion by District Attorney Darrin, to collect the evidence that will be used in the prosecution. The district attorney declared that he would see that the case comes into court with all expedition, and he strongly intimated that he would apply to Governor Hughes to call an extraordinary session of the grand jury to procure the indictment of the two brothers, so that their trial may begin either next month or early in October.

Amplifying his statement of Sunday that he regarded the case as one of exceptional deliberation, Mr Darrin said yesterday he felt sure no jury would hold any plea of the "unwritten law" specially as, even if it were true that Annis had wronged Hains, the latter had lost all claim in that direction by the delay in seeking vengeance until after he had appealed to the courts for redress.

TO KEEP OUT "CONFESSION."

In view of the fact that Hains had first brought his divorce action and that alone the man he accused, Mr. Darrin said, every effort of the prosecution would be bent to eliminate from the trial all acts or writings which antedated the shooting of last Saturday. He had special reference to the "confession" which Mrs. Mrs. Hains signed and then repudiated as she now says, because she was forced to sign it after she had been drugged.

As to T. Jenkins Hains, the district attorney said he was in a worse position than his brother, because he could show no possible motive. His participation, had been so active, and from all that he had been able to learn, so deliberate, that while he might be called an accessory, he was in fact, a principal.

MOTHER SEES CHILDREN.

After having made in effort to obtain her children from the custody of their grandfather, who is at Fort Hancock Sandy Hook, Mrs. Hains and her mother, Mrs. Libby, returned to this city, and their whereabouts was kept a mystery. The young woman was permitted to see her children, but was denied permission to remove them. This was explained yesterday by Gen. Hains, who said;

"Through an arrangement with her husband, Captain Hains, Mrs. Hains was permitted to see her children once in two weeks That arrangement is still in force, but I cannot surrender the boys unless requested to do so by my son."

WIFE VISITED WIDOW!

It was said Mrs. Hains had spent several hours on Sunday night at the home of Mrs. Annis, with whom despite the fact that the latter's husband had been named as the corespondent in the divorce case, she has always been on intimate terms. This was denied at the Annis apartment, No. 47 Clarement avenue, last night by Mr. Rockwell, who, acting as spokesman for the widow, said;

"Mrs. Hains has not been here. We know of no reason why she should come here, and she is not expected. Neither Mrs. Annis nor myself knows where she is. There is nothing to say on behalf of Mrs. Annis at this time.

TAKING FINGER PRINTS.

While one of the policemen was taking his finger prints, T. Jenkins Hains turned to his brother with a smile and asked;

"Do you take finger prints in the service, Peter?"

"Yes, and pictures, too, the captain replied.

"But they don't take your measurements, do they?" question of the captain's brother.

"No," returned Captain Hains.

Then they were taken back to the Queen's County Jail.

Mr. Darrin declined to discuss his clients' case in any way, and when asked who would assist in the defence would only say that he would be aided by some of the best criminal lawyers in the State.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie Bought Out the Board

When the bidding commenced at yesterday morning's meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board the session came to a close in a very little over two minutes to five 12 7-16 chalks on after the boardings of every factory gave the board which usually has several different prices on it, a very unusual appearance. One buyer Mr. G. A. Gillespie of the firm of White and Gillespie bought out the cheese board at the figure mentioned above.

Several bids were made by other buyers in attendance but when Mr. Gillespie reached his figure they did not go any higher. He named all the factories listed.

How Zam-Buk Saved A Girl's Hair

A LESSON TO ALL MOTHERS.

When eczema, ulcers or ringworm break out on the scalp, generally the first thing the doctor orders is to have the hair cut off. Don't do it before trying Zam-Buk, which can cure without such a sacrifice. Mrs. J. Hutter, of 5 Hainsockburn avenue, Montreal, says;—

"My daughter, Annie, caught eczema. It broke out on her face and scalp, and the disease was quickly transmitted to Hubert and Edith, and in their cases not only their hands and faces were covered with sores and scaly places.

I tried various blood-purifying remedies in vain and then consulted a doctor. He applied all kinds of lotions but the sores remained the same. He next ordered that the hair be shaven off from the girls' heads in order to get down to the disease on the scalp. They each had nice long hair and I thought it such a pity to cut it all off. I refused. He thereupon withdrew his services altogether.

After that I bought first one thing and then another, but it was all no good until we got Zam-Buk. That proved equal to the case and in a few weeks it cleared every trace of skin disease from each child. With it in use there was no need to cut off the girls' hair or take any other extreme measure. It just went to work and healed the sores in fine shape."

Zam-Buk cures blood poisoning, cuts, bruises, old wounds, running sores, ulcers, boils, eruptions, scalp sores, eczema, itch, barber's rash, burns, scalds, and all skin injuries diseases. Best cure for piles, yet known. All druggists and stores at 50c. a box, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

Chief Clarke Killed as He Bravely Led His Men Into the Building

Two Other London Firemen Carried to Death by Collapse of Floors

The Brave Rescuers

London, Aug. 19.—Three of London's citizens are cold in death as the result of being caught in the ruins of a disastrous fire at Westman's hardware store at 121 Dundas street. The fire broke out at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and raged for several hours.

The victims are Fire Chief Lawrence Clark, Sergeant Cockburn of the R.C.R., and Fireman Wynn. The bodies were recovered after a long search, during which much heroism was shown.

Firemen Cole and Robinson were at first reported dead, but after three hours in the debris were taken out alive, and at the hospital hopes for their recovery are entertained.

Chief Clark was a brave and fearless fire fighter, and the city will mourn a loss hard to replace.

WENT IN WITH MEN.

It was about 6.30 when Chief Clark, observing that the flames were confined chiefly to the basement of the building ordered his men to invade the first floor of the doomed structure with a hose line and grabbing a portion of the hose near the nozzle, he himself led the brave firemen in the pursuance of their duties.

A few seconds afterward an awful crash was heard. The second story floor had fallen. Then the other floors gave way. The building had three floors. With the roof they all tumbled down and carried with them such materials as the fire had not consumed. On the top floor of the Westman building there was a large quantity of stoves stored. On the same floor of the adjoining building, Parch & Hunger's premises, there was a large Gordon press. The fire burned its way through to the roof, but the presence of this great weight doubtless contributed towards causing the collapse.

PUMPED OUT CELLAR.

At 6.45 Assistant Chief Aitkens assumed charge of the remaining firemen, and ordered the high pressure stream that was being played on the building to be stopped, so that the big steam engine utilized could be used for the purpose of pumping out the basement, which had been filled to overflowing by the many streams of water directed against the burning structures. At 7.30 almost three feet of water had been pumped out, and this left only about two and one-half feet of water in the cellar.

BRAVE RESCUERS.

Firemen Taylor and Milligan grasped a hose that was thrown them and bravely proceeded to search the cellar. Through the dense smoke and filthy air caused by the burning of the chemicals contained in the stores at the time of the conflagration they forced their way from one end of the cellar to another.

Fireman Cole was with the eighth party in the building who had a miraculous escape being dug out as the ruins at 10 o'clock not seriously hurt.

How Cole escaped he cannot say. He became separated from his fellows and was pocked under a caving floor, saving his life.

Cockburn, who is well-known to the firemen, had been lending a hand in the emergency and was with the squad.

WYNNE QUITE DEAD

The work of rescue was vigorously prosecuted under dangerous conditions. The recovery of Fireman Cole gave encouragement, but an hour later Wynne was found quite dead though the body was not badly marked.

At midnight the chief's body was found. It was terribly crushed, the fine hang smashed to a pulp. Cockburn's body was found later.

CAME FROM HAMILTON.

Chief Clark, it is singularly tragic to note, succeeded Chief Roe, who was killed by a falling wall four ago last winter. He came from Hamilton and was highly esteemed here, having improved the department and held it up to a high standard. He leaves a widow and son of 18, and a daughter.

Wynn was unmarried. Fire Chief Bestland, of Woodstock, is a brother in-law.

Cockburn was well-known, having been drum-major of the 7th Regiment for many years. He was of magnificent stature.

The men responded to the first alarm with their customary alacrity, but when they strayed the flames were already shooting from the cellar, and the place was a dense mass of smoke. Numbers of streams were brought to play on the fire, but although the firemen displayed much heroism, they could not enter the building, and were forced to play streams from the front of the premises on Dundas street and also from the Market square.

This did not accomplish much, as the water did not penetrate to the middle of the 150-foot building, where the fire had its own way, and swept up to the roof without much difficulty. It was this fact which caused the fire chief and the brave men who accompanied him to go into the building when the first opportunity offered.

China Wants Help to Resist Japan

The United States May Enter Into Treaty for This Purpose

New York, August 20.—The Herald's Washington says: That the Chinese Government will officially, though secretly, propose closer relations with the State Department, looking to an early alliance between China and the United States, is believed probable here. No confirmation could be obtained, but all information gleaned pointed to the accuracy of the information.

Dr. Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese minister, said: "China and the Chinese government are of course deeply interested in the problem proposed. It is of importance and the Chinese officials recognize this."

Persons here connected indirectly with the Chinese legation and directly with Chinese financial institutions having bonds here said: "There is no doubt China will propose closer relationship with the United States looking toward an early alliance. In financial circles the tremendous advantage to China is evident, and Chinese realize that the United States has also her own interests to serve in advocating an alliance with China. From all sides it looks as if the alliance is now only a question of time. We have heard from several sources that business concerns and important institutions in China will use every effort to induce the Chinese Government to propose an alliance."

Lau Chu Pak, once president of the Chinese Commercial Union, considers that the alliance would place China on her feet. She is now browbeaten, owing to her weakness and inability to protect herself, and is at the mercy of whoever may strike, as witness Japan in the Tatsu Maru affair. China has said, is now more ready than ever for reform, the spread of newspapers and railways being an influence of great good. An alliance with a first class Power would complete the transformation.

GREAT FEAR OF JAPAN.

China fears Japan, he said, which has long maintained to bring influence to bear to gain ascendancy of power in China. Some years ago she tried to get Fukien Province in extension of Formosan territory, and lately failed owing to the vigorous protest made by the Chinese people. But she has not given up hope, and her subjects are now doing the utmost to win the whole province. She has a dominant influence in three Manchurian provinces, which is bound to spread unless checked. China's eyes are opened to Japan's objects. She is gradually dismissing the Japanese teachers that Japan induced her to employ, and also is finding her students educated in Japan inefficient and revolutionary. China is realizing that if she must learn she must be taught by a master and not by a pupil, as Japan is. China needs assistance which an alliance with America would insure. Lau Chu Pak hopes the way may be paved by a change in American views of the Chinese to permit an alliance.

A Tokio despatch to the Herald says: G. V. Patterson, a prominent New Zealand merchant, who is passing through Japan after a business tour in Manchuria, said to-day: "The situation in Manchuria is of the gravest character. The Chinese are so incensed at their treatment by the Japanese that they would welcome Russians back with open arms. There can only be one end to it—war between China and Japan. Russia would be glad to see China the aggressor and would come in later on."

JAPAN DEPRECATES ALLIANCE.

Tokio, Japan, August 18.—The suggestion of an American-Chinese alliance was quoted and discussed at length in the vernacular press. The Asahi Shimbun does not believe Minister Wu, in his Washington interview, gave an expression capable of being interpreted as charging Japan with bad faith and ill treatment of China. His friendly feelings toward Japan after the Chinese war are recalled, but the paper says if he committed a diplomatic breach he should be immediately recalled.

The Asahi Shimbun declares the suggested alliance is wholly unnecessary in view of the friendly relations between Japan and America and the utter absence of evidence showing any unfairness by Japan toward American interests. The Yomiuri Shimbun says the only benefits of the proposed alliance is to drive Japan from the Far East, and it would precipitate trouble instead of assuring peace.

The Chou Shimbun considers the talk most inopportune though suggesting that an alliance is manifestly impossible.

Bull Killed a Pioneer Farmer Near Belleville

Belleville, Aug. 19.—Charles Ketcheson, sr., a pioneer, as well as one of the best-known residents in Sydney Township, while bringing in cows from pasture last night on his farm, was attacked by a bull and injured in such a manner that he died four hours later. Both legs were broken as well as other injuries being received. Ketcheson was about 75 years of age, and leaves a grown-up family.

Chief Clarke's Wife Carried His Lunch as Husband was Lying Dead

London, Aug. 19.—Chief Clark leaves two children, a son and a daughter. The son, Gordon, is believed to have left Toronto at eight o'clock last night on the harvester excursion. Friends wired to North Bay to have him come back, at once, telling him his father had been badly hurt, but nothing has been heard yet. One report is that the boy, who is 19 years old, went to Detroit instead.

Mrs. Clark is prostrated with grief. She did not know until 11 o'clock last night that her husband was dead. At 9 o'clock she came down to the scene of the fire with a lunch for her husband. It was this from her intuition, for no one had the heart to tell her that it was feared her husband's dead body was in the debris. City Clerk Baker broke the sad news two hours later.

TWO SISTERS' GRIEF.

Standing in the glare of lights close to the front of the building during the fire, stood two women, sisters of Wynne, and when the news came that he was dead inside, their grief was heartrending. A carriage was called, and one of them was taken home. The other, an unmarried woman, refused to leave, and not until the body was brought out, did she leave the scene. Her grief was dignified.

Around Wolsely Barracks last night and this morning a subdued hush prevailed, because of Sergeant Jack Cockburn, whose relatives live in Toronto. He was perhaps the most popular military man in the district, and is well known in military circles all over Province.

For twenty-one years he looked after the canteen. It will not be opened until after the funeral is over.

COCKBURN'S TWO CHILDREN.

Cockburn is survived by a wife and two small children. It was the drum major of the Seventh Regiment, and his imposing appearance leading the regiments always caused admiration when the regiment was on parade.

Mayor Stevely paid a fine tribute to Chief Clark; "He was a man among a million, and how we will ever fill his place I do not know. I never knew of a public official who was so universally beloved as he was. As a fire-fighter I do not think he had an equal."

LIKE THE REID BUILDING.

The scene amidst the building after the fire was almost the exact duplicate of the Reid disaster, and the victims were pinned and meets in much the same manner. In the Reid disaster seven were killed. It took place at three in the afternoon, on July 13, one year ago. Fire Chief Clark, on that occasion, had charge of the rescue work, and was on continuous duty for 48 hours, when the last body was brought out.

Wynn was unmarried.

Tom Longboat "Got His"

The Toronto Star of yesterday's date, commenting on the police games held in Toronto Tuesday, says;

Tom Longboat got his good and plenty in the five-mile open race. Percy Sellen, his little English stablemate, trimmed him to the Queen's taste. Sellen beat the erstwhile pet of Canada 220 yards in the fastest time ever made for five miles in Canada, for only the doubtful 28 minutes of Gorg Adams at St. Kitts a year New Year's, 1907. Sellen ran the five miles in 25.21 1-5. The fastest time made before that was his own, 26.28, made at the same police games a year ago.

There were seven starters in the race, Longboat, Sellen, Geo. Black, Ernie Woods, and W. H. Otto, the Irish-Canadian, and B. Fairborn of the British United. Wood led a lap, and then the Indian went up. Sellen stuck, and they ran the first mile in 4.56 1-5. Then the Indian started a sprint, and gained fifteen yards at the mile and a half. Sellen came back again, and Black, who was then third, came strong. The two miles was run in 10.15 2-5, with Sellen tucked right in behind the Indian. The Indian led at the third mile, which was done in 15.43 But Sellen plainly bothered him. On the third tenth lap they caught Wood, and then Sellen made his effort. He shot out at a red-hot clip. The Indian stuck for half a lap and then went back. Sellen made the four-mile post in 21.03, and in the last mile attacked his 50-yard lead into 220 yards. He finished with a grand sprint. Longboat was plainly distressed and complained of his stomach. It was a simply the case of a well-trained good runner against a cracker jack out of shape. Sellen ran a grand race—a race that would likely beat anything in Canada, but Tom Flanagan only says; "He'll train steadily now and show them all." Longboat's time was 27.05 1-5.

George Black was third and Wood fourth.

Sellen will represent the I.C.A.A.U. championships at Halifax, August 29.

In The Realm of Sport

The Peterborough bowlers are now in the fourth round for the Walker trophy. They are up with the very best and have downed a number of them. This is what the Toronto Star had to say about the game yesterday.

Balmy Beach and Peterborough had a close struggle.

In the first two ends Van Valkenburg piled up 4 points against 0, and kept ahead of his opponents until the 10th end. The score tied again on the 13th, and at the end of the 16th stood 15 to 11. Peterborough made 5 in the 17th and 1 more in the 18th, and won. It was anybody's game throughout. Peterborough, Fitzgerald, sk. 17; Balmy Beach, Van Valkenburg, 15.

DIED SUDDENLY OF HEART DISEASE.

How frequently does a head line similar to the above greet us in the newspapers. The rush, push and strenuousness of the American people has a strong tendency to lead up to valvular and other affections of the heart, attended by irregular action, palpitation, dizziness, smothered sensations and other distressing symptoms.

Three of the prominent ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made are recommended by some of the leading writers on Materia Medica for the cure of just such cases. Golden Seal root, for instance, is said by the UNITED STATES DISPENSATORY, a standard authority, "to impart tone and increased power to the heart's action." Numerous other leading authorities represent Golden Seal as an unsurpassed tonic for the muscular system in general, and as the heart is almost wholly composed of muscular tissue, it naturally follows that it must be greatly strengthened by this superb general tonic. But probably the most important ingredient of "Golden Medical Discovery," so far as its marvelous cures of valvular and other affections of the heart are concerned, is Stone root, or Collinsonia Can. Prof. Wm. Paine, author of Paine's Epitomy of Medicine, says of it:

"I not long since, had a patient who was so much oppressed with valvular disease of the heart that his friends were obliged to carry him up-stairs. He, however, gradually recovered under the influence of Collinsonia (medicinal principle extracted from Stone root), and is now attending to his business. Heretofore physicians knew of no remedy for the removal of so distressing and so dangerous a malady. With them it was all guess-work, and it fearfully warned the afflicted that death was near at hand. Collinsonia unquestionably affords relief in such cases, and in most instances effects a cure."

Stone root is also recommended by Drs. Hale and Ellingwood, of Chicago, for valvular and other diseases of the heart. The latter says: "It is a heart tonic of direct and permanent influence."

"Golden Medical Discovery," not only cures serious heart affections, but is a most efficient general tonic and invigorator, strengthening the stomach, invigorating the liver, regulating the bowels and curing catarrhal affections in all parts of the system.

Late Chief Clark was a Warm Friend of Local Chief

The late Larry Clark, the chief of the London Fire Department, who was killed Tuesday, by the second floor of Westman's Hardware Company collapsing during a fire on the building and burying him and two comrades, was a very intimate friend of Chief Howard. They were both members of the London Fire Brigade at the same time, and became very much attached to each other. Mr. Howard stated that Mr. Clark was one of the finest fellows, and one of the bravest and best firemen on the continent. Mr. Howard is very much put out over his death, and expects to be able to get away to his former comrade's funeral.

The Reception to Hon. G. P. Graham

Many of the citizens have been lead to believe by misleading reports of the reception to the Minister of Railways and Canals, that it will be a big public demonstration. There will be no public reception, merely the officials and other prominent men of the city will meet the boat tonight and the Hon. Geo P. Graham will be driven around the city and then to the council chambers where an address will be read by the mayor and short speeches will be made by prominent citizens.

THE POLITICAL POT

In a speech at Truro, N. S., last week, Hon. G. E. Foster referred to the fact that since 1900, four of the seven old provinces of the Dominion have turned Conservative—Manitoba, British Columbia, Ontario, New Brunswick. He expressed a hope and conviction that in the coming Dominion general election, two more of these seven, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, would follow suit. As a matter of fact Prince Edward Island already returns a conservative majority to the Dominion House.

The Ottawa Journal thinks it a good while to refresh the memory with what has happened.

Prior to 1900, every province in Canada, was under Liberal rule in politics, as well as Federal affairs at Ottawa. The Conservative case looked absolutely hopeless. And, with such a tremendous official influence against the defeated Conservative cause, the latter would have been hopeless for a generation probably had Liberal administration of affairs the Dominion or the provinces been reasonably free from error.

But in Ontario and other provinces it was not. And so, within four years of the great Liberal federal victory of 1896, the tide began to go Conservative in the Province. Lack of honest principle in party leaders, extravagance and wastefulness in administration, rapidly pulled down the Liberal strength in Provincial legislature.

Towards the close of 1900, the first break came. A general election in Manitoba in October of that year smashed Liberal rule there, installing the Roblin government.

In 1903, British Columbia followed. It had had a succession of Liberal or coalition administrations until the Conservatives broke loose, and in a straight party fight in June of 1903 placed Mr. McBride in power. He was returned with an increased majority in 1905.

Then came Ontario. In February, 1905, the Ross Liberal government was overwhelmed by a popular revolt, and this year the Conservative administration which followed was endorsed by the most decisive popular vote ever recorded in Canadian politics.

New Brunswick was the fourth to change. Last year, Mr. Hazen led the Conservative party in that province to a victory as sweeping as it was unexpected.

So far as the Dominion is concerned, the Conservative press are hopeful of carrying the country on the forthcoming elections.

This might be made easier if the party would change itself of some of its leaders, who are regarded with distrust, and whose public records are not of the best.

German War Scare Again Agitates Britain

New York, Aug. 19.—A London cable to the Times says: The distrust of Germany, to which reference has been made on several occasions, has attained the proportions of something like a panic. Judging by the talk current in many quarters and by the articles printed in many newspapers and periodicals, a great number of Englishmen are firmly convinced that a Teuton invasion may be expected at any moment. Some prophets, who seek to confirm the air of knowledge with their prognostications, say that it will undoubtedly be attempted within the next two years.

Finally, it was said, was the great port crushed for the attack upon England. Miles of quays, in which was until lately a village devoted to herring fishery, would have no other purpose. A new harbor capable of containing 200 torpedo boats had been constructed; eighteen lines of railway ran to the ports; the Tenth Army Corps was stationed close by; miles of quay space were fitted with sidings, cranes and all the apparatus for the rapid handling of troops and war stores. Two canals, one communicating with the naval arsenal, the other deep enough for fighters carrying 900 tons, tapped the concentration area. Emden was proclaimed to be the storm-centre of Europe.

Arnold White has turned to history for arguments, and has demonstrated to his own and other scaremongers' satisfaction that twice in forty-four years had European states been struck down by Germany, and that England would inevitably be the next object of Teuton aggression.

Mr. White, from intrinsic evidence, would seem to be the author of the Emden articles, for he says in a letter: "Within the last fortnight I have been in Emden, and in one of our own territorial camps, with the result that whatever may be the consequences, I should continue to attempt to wake England from her sleep. Between the dominion of the world and the German Empire the only obstacle is the British people who have allowed a student of Karl to break up the English military system. Mr. Haldane went to Berlin for ideas, and the German General Staff deserve well of this country by persuading the English War Minister to abolish the old territorial force without replacing it".

Mr. White proceeds to expose those of the Socialists who have been, like himself, crying: "Germany, then, is the danger!" "The Socialist is all for rifles. The mouth of Hyndman and the Social Democratic Federation is inspired," declares Mr. White, "not by the dread of Germany, but by the hate of English capitalists. The rifles for which they ask are not intended by them for use against German troops, but to obstruct controls of the machinery of government in the United Kingdom."

The Socialists are split into two camps upon the German question, Kier Hardie, who sailed Saturday for Canada, and the United States, said before he departed that the threatened German invasion was a deliberately manufactured scare, connected by the ghouls of both countries who live by preying upon the credit of the public.

August time, it is on the nerves. But that spiritless, no ambition feeling can be easily and quickly altered by taking what is known by druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Within 48 hours after beginning to use the Restorative, improvement will be noticed. Of course, full health will not immediately return. The gain, however, will surely follow. And best of all, you will realize and feel your strength and ambition as it is returning. Outside influences depress first the "mind nerves" then the stomach. Heart and Kidneys will usually fail. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and see how quickly health will be yours again. Sold by all dealers.

What a Great Navy Will Cost

London, Aug. 17.—A vessel like the Dreadnought with a complement of 730 men has an admiral aboard her whose pay is £1,825 a year. Her captain gets over £900, including allowances, and her two commanders about £400 apiece. She has about a dozen lieutenants, who manage various departments,—navigation, gunnery, torpedoes, etc.—and their combined pay is, roughly, as figured by London Answers, £3,800. Her half-dozen engineer officers are rather better paid. They take £1,600 between them. She has a chaplain, two doctors, a naval instructor, accountant officers, a paymaster and his staff. There are four warrant officers, who each draw about £120 a year; a number of midshipmen, or naval cadets; a sick-bay staff, carpenters and artisans, cooks and domestics, bandsmen and ship's police, besides all the petty officers, seamen, boys, engine-room artificers and stokers. She carries also marines, both artillery and light infantry. So it is not wonderful that the total pay roll exceeds £40,000 a year.

The cost of victualing varies greatly in different places. In some places you can buy beef as cheaply as 4d a pound; in others—such as Ascension—it costs 2s 6d a pound. The men nowadays get five meals a day, if you include the early morning cocoa, until lately they had three only. In round figures the feeding of a Dreadnought's crew costs £18,000 a year. Coal is, of course, an item which depends upon the distance travelled and the speed. Although the Dreadnought's turbines can drive her through the water at twenty-four miles an hour, she usually travels at an economical cruising speed of about 10 knots. Even so, the 2,000 tons of best Welsh which her vast bunkers contain will carry her only 5,000 sea miles. Besides the vast amount which she uses for steaming, she needs coal for distilling, for making electric light and for the pumping and other auxiliary engines, of which she has no fewer than 364 aboard her. The coal costs about a pound a ton and the bill for fuel—coal and oil together—comes to about the same as that for victualing. The value of the stores carried by a ship like the Dreadnought is about £120,000. Stores include paint, rope, lubricating oil, boats, tools, forges, etc. The amount used yearly would average about £7,000. Add £6,000 for depreciation and the stores figure out at £13,000 a year.

Ammunition is not counted among stores. In these days of keenly competitive target practice, when every ship in a squadron is trying to wipe its neighbor's eye, the target practice allowance is large. The Dreadnought has eight 12-inch guns, which cost about £12,000 apiece. To fire a single shot from one of these weapons cost no less than £30. There are also a number of quick-firing field guns and other smaller guns; and quite £500 has to be allowed for rifle cartridges for small-arm practice. Torpedoes cost £300 apiece, and a ship usually loses at least one during the course of a year. Eighteen thousand pounds is the lowest figure at which you can put the one item—ammunition.

Repairs are always a big matter; but they vary so greatly from year to year that it is almost impossible to make anything like a correct estimate. The effective life of a modern steel battle ship is not, at the outside, more than twenty years. And at the end of that time a million pound vessel becomes, perhaps, £5,000 as old iron.

The Committee of Public Accounts in a report just issued, say that the total loss incurred by the wreck of the battleship Montagu on Sandy [illegible] was £1,059,290.

Arrival of the Onion Farmer

The onion farmer is a comparatively new arrival upon the scene of industrial activities in Texas. He is now one of the large contributors to the wealth of the state. In a little more than eight years the value of the annual production of onions in Texas for the market has reached approximately two million dollars. When the fact is considered that this enormous wealth is derived from only about twenty-five acres of land something may be said of the abundance of the yield and the good prices that are obtained for the product. Onion growing has done another thing to help Texas. It has been the direct means of adding $2,500,000 to the intrinsic value of her lands. Inasmuch as the growers put a good portion of their annual earnings from the industry into property improvements in town and country the increase in taxable wealth from this source has also been considerable.

The wonders which were wrought by the magic touch of Aladdin's lamp were no greater than the transformation which onion growing has brought to certain portions of Texas during the last few years. Land which, from the time of the early visit of the Spaniards to the Rio Grande border section, was thought to be almost worthless, and at the very most only fit for goat grazing, is now bringing in an annual net return of from $300 to $500 per acre from the onions which it produces. Before the unauguration of onion-growing any of this land could have been purchased at prices ranging from one dollar to two dollars per acre. It has now so established value for the reason that none of its owners are willing to sell. They will not fix a value upon the land. Some of them are free to say that land which has such large qualities ought to be worth not less than $1000 per acre. Some of the onion-growers say they would not be willing to accept less than $2000 per acre for their lands. Even at that price the annual net return will average nearly 25 per cent. on the investment.

Korean Assassin on Trial for Murder

San Francisco, Aug. 17.—In Wan Chang a Korean, was placed on trial Saturday for the murder of Durham White Stevens, adviser to the Korean government. Mr. Stevens was shot by Chang on March 23 last. The diplomat, who was the personal representative of the Korean emperor, is alleged to have aided Japan in gaining control of Korea, and Chang declares that his act was "an expression of patriotism."

It is understood that Chang's attorneys will make a plea of patriotic insanity in behalf of their client. Local Korean sympathisers have raised funds for his defense, and it is likely that a long legal battle will be fought for his life.

Mr. Stevens was shot as he was about to board a ferryboat in this city en route to Washington. He died March 26, after the most hopeful reports of his physicians for his recovery. Chang, the assassin, whose first shots had seriously wounded M. W. Chan, one of his associates, was captured on the spot and has since been held in jail awaiting trial.

Chang, Chan, and it is believed, two other Koreans, who have never been apprehended, lay in wait for Mr. Stevens and, as he alighted from an automobile at the ferry, one of the Koreans walked up and struck him a vicious blow in the face. Mr. Stevens started in pursuit of his assailant, when Chang, who had a revolver in his hand, covered by a handkerchief began firing. His first shot struck Chan, his associate, and seriously wounded him. Two more shots were fired, both striking Mr. Stevens, one in the back near the right shoulder, and the other several inches lower, the bullet deflecting and passing through the abdomen. Japanese Consul General Koike came to the rescue of Mr. Stevens, placed him in an automobile and rushed him to the harbor emergency hospital. Subsequently he was taken to the St. Francis hospital where he died three days later.

Ample funds for his defence have been provided by Koreans in this country as well as in Korea.

Durham White Stevens had long been prominent in oriental public life. He was secretary of the United States legation at Tokio in 1872, subsequently becoming counselor to the Japanese legation at Washington. Thence he went to Tokio where after service in the foreign office, he became a member of the commission sent by Japan to Korea to adjust difficulties which threatened to involve Japan and China in 1887. Afterward he held various posts under the Japanese government and enjoyed the confidence of the emperor and the highest government officers. He was sent to Korea by the emperor of Japan after the Russo-Japanese war and became the confidential adviser of the Korean emperor, a post which he filled to the highest satisfaction of both the Korean emperor and the Japanese government. He was several times decorated by the emperor of Japan.

The King has consented to have his portrait painted by Mr Lambert, an Australian artist, for hanging in the Imperial and Colonial Club, which is to be opened this month.

"This agreement is subjected to the regulations now in force, or which may at any time hereafter be in force during the construction of the works hereby contracted for, made under the authority of the Department of Labor, and which are, or shall be, applicable to such works." (The schedule of minimum wages determined upon by said Department will form part of the contract).

Negro Business Men Meet in Convention

Baltimore, Aug. 19.—One of the most representative gatherings of colored business and professional men ever held in this country marked the opening morning of the ninth annual session of the National Negro Business League, of which Dr. Booker T. Washington is president. A cordial welcome was extended to the visiting negroes by official representatives of the city, state and colored citizens. Delegates are here from all over the land, although the southern states are most largely represented. The roll of visitors and their occupations shows that negroes are now engaged in nearly every business, trade and profession.

Scores of speakers will speak briefly before the convention and will tell of their experiences in various lines of business and the methods by which they have won success. The National Negro Bankers' Association, the National Negro Undertakers' Association and other bodies affiliated with the league will hold sessions.

A novel feature will be the addresses of two colored women who have won success as pharmacists, Mrs. Amanda V. Gray of Washington, and Mrs. J. P. H. Coleman, of Newport News, Va. The Right Rev. I. B. Scott of Monrovia, Liberia, will deliver an address to-morrow on "The Business Development of Africa."

The city government of Baltimore has recognized the importance of the convention by installing elaborate illuminations along Druid Hill Avenue, a handsome thoroughfare occupied largely by negroes, who own their own homes and business establishments.

On Monday, following the close of the Baltimore convention, the delegates will go to Washington, where they will be entertained by the Frederick Douglass Memorial Association with a trip down the Potomac. The receipts from this outing will go to the Frederick Douglass memorial home fund.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible, but I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this hereditary and disorderd disease. These small blue granular wafers, found in Rheumatic Blood serum to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

News in Brief

Paris, Aug. 19.—Mr. Roumegoux, of Montreal, has arrived here to experiment with an aeroplane of his own design, the special feature of which is that it can rise direct into the air without having recourse to wheels.

It is stated that the aeroplane manoeuvres freely in the air, and the inventor claims to be able to lift a ton weight with his machine.

Mr. Roumegoux, who has lived for many years in Canada, was born at Tarbes, in the Hautes Pyrenees. He will begin his experiments in a few days at the Maison Lafitte at Colombes.

Berlin, Aug. 19.—The coming visit to Berlin of David Lloyd-George, the British Chancellor of the Exchequer, is causing much speculation even in upper official circles, where the purpose of the British Minister here-to-fore was believed to be only to study the German administration of the old age pension system. Hints, however, have fallen that Mr. Lloyd-George also will probably discuss an arrangement between the two countries for a reduction in the outlay for armaments.

Spokane, Wn., August 19.— One of the most daring hold-ups ever attempted on a transcontinental railway befell Northern Pacific train No. 3, almost within the city limits of Spokane. Two masked highwaymen stopped the train at Otis and boarded the engine. After a brief encounter with the engineer and fireman, the mail car next to the engine was detached, and one of the highwaymen, taking charge of the engine, the party came on west to Trent where the trainmen were dismissed by the robbers. The bandits then proceeded to within a mile of Yardley, where they robbed the mail car. The baggage car and the express car were uncoupled, and one of the passengers were murdered. Tricked by the wit of the mail clerks, their booty is believed to have been secured by the two masked men. Warned that the robbers were coming, the clerks took advantage of the time after the train had been cut in two, and threw the local registered packages into a newspaper sack where they were not noticed.

Camden, N. J., August 19.—The finding yesterday of a man in an old trunk concealed in a cattle car at Mount Ephraim has given the authorities one of the most mysterious crimes to solve that has ever been reported here.

A party of picknickers, seeking water in a ravine, came across an old traveling trunk, tied with ropes and half buried in the undergrowth under a deep bank.

On raising the lid they found the body of a man tightly packed in the trunk. The body was packed in straw and old newspapers and was partly clothed. Over the features was a newspaper of the issue of November 9, 1907. The man evidently was about 25 years old. The body was badly decomposed and had apparently been in the trunk for several months.

The police and coroner, after a superficial examination declared that the man had been murdered.

Toronto, Aug. 18.—The state into which so-called "amateur" ball has got itself in regard to amateurism has been a topic of conversation among sporting men for a long time. Recently, however, the subject has received the attention of some of the men in authority. Before very long it will undoubtedly be sufficiently to warrant the application to it of the term, "a real live topic." The question will probably be threshed out before the opening of the season next year.

It is well known that with many of our ball clubs and leagues the word "amateur" is nothing short of an ornament, and sometimes a blind. It is quite generally used, in many cases, in conjunction with professionalism, either open or partially hidden. The term, as largely used today in Toronto, simply means as a distinction between those of our local boys who play ball and those men hired by the Toronto Ball Club who make their living at the business. The spirit of money-making in both cases is identical.

Now comes a hint of the drawing of a line. From a remark dropped this morning by one of the governors of the C.A.A.U., the amateur standing of the players in the city and other minor baseball leagues through out the Province is being quietly investigated by the Registration Committee of that body. From what the gentleman hinted, there is a probability that the players in these leagues will be refused registration by the C.A.A.U. In that event, they would be unable to enter into any amateur competition held under the auspices of the governing union. Many clubs and leagues are recognized as strictly amateur, and, of course, these would receive proper recognition in the event of action being taken.

To Canadian Investors

The undersigned has received an allotment of unsold portion of $150,000 of

7 Per Cent. First Mortgage Five-Year Gold Bonds

dated January 11, 1908, and maturing January 11, 1913. These Bonds are offered at par and accrued interest by Metropolitan Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, trustees.

SECURITY—The Entire Property and Improvements Owned THE URES CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY in the District of Ures, State of Sonora Mexico, Free from Mortgage or Bonded Indebtedness except this present Bond Issue.

An Unusual Opportunity for Investment in Sound Security

The Ures Consolidated Mining Company offers $150,000.00 of First Mortgage Gold Bonds. This issue of bonds is the only mortgage or bonded indebtedness ever placed on the company's properties.

These bonds are in the denomination of $100.00, and bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, July and January, and are redeemable on or before five years from date at the company's option at $110.00 and accrued interest.

$100.00 Stock Bonus Given with Every $100.00 Bond

With each bond issued there will be given $100.00 par value of the capital stock of the company as a bonus, and in addition thereto there will be placed in escrow with the Trustee additional stock which will be available to the bondholders at their option any time within a period of three years, the bondholder being entitled to surrender his bond any time within said period and receive in lieu thereof stock for every dollar of indebtedness to him on account of said bonds.

The Security Back of these Bonds

The company owns twelve claims situated in the district of Ures, State of Sonora, Mexico, free from mortgage or bonded indebtedness, except the present bond issue.

On one of these properties (The Ramona Mine) 5,000 feet of underground development work has been done, consisting of an inclined shaft to the depth of 400 feet with drifts in three levels to the North and South of the shaft.

An average value of ore worth $11.47 per ton is exposed throughout the mine, from the collar of the shaft to the extreme parts in the drifts, all of which is above water level.

The company has made surface improvements and mine improvements to the extent of $60,000.00 in the way of machinery, skids, trams, steam hoists, mill and nearly everything necessary to make the mining camp complete.

In addition to the absolute ownership of these twelve valuable claims, the company has a lease on the San Jose Mine, adjoining its property, in which the company has been operating in high grade ore.

During the past sixty days the company has extracted and delivered to ore buyers and the bank at Hermosillo, $8,000.00 worth of ore and bullion, the ore having been reduced to bullion through the company's mill, with the exception of 1,464 pounds, which was sold to an ore buyer for $562.50.

The Money Derived from the Sale of These Bonds

This issue of bonds is made for the purpose of securing money at once in order to extend the development work more quickly than the company's present means will permit.

With the high grade ore in sight to the distance of 50 feet to the South of the shaft, the management is assured that within six months from date of making the improvements now necessary the company's properties will be on a self-sustaining and dividend-paying basis.

The stock which is Given with these bonds will be as valuable as the bonds when the Company has the ready capital to push operations

Men who invest in these bonds will have no cause or reason to regret their action, for the bonds afford an investment in a security which is absolutely safe—much better than ordinary city or country real estate, which is considered perfectly safe if the property put up to secure a mortgage is double the face of the loan. The security given on these bonds is better than 7 to 1, for the Ures Consolidated Mining Company has refused an offer of $150,000.00 for the property upon which this $100,000.00 worth of bonds is issued.

These bonds are an investment with all speculative risk eliminated —an investment with absolute security.

Make your reservation at once. This is small and promises to be quickly sold.

To whom it may concern:—

We hereby beg to state that The Ures Consolidated Mining Company has during the past five years made several deliveries of bullion to this bank, and it is the opinion of mining men here that they have the making of a fair mine, and further, that the properties owned and controlled by them bid promise of becoming paying properties.

From our knowledge of the men connected, we believe they are doing all in their power to bring about the results above mentioned.

1 CENT A 2 SHARE

Send us your name as a member in this new company, with your remittance for as many thousand shares as you can take at $5 per thousand.

This is a short-time offer on a hurry-up proposition. Our vice president is up at Rawhide now putting the miners at work. We want to raise the necessary funds for development as quickly as possible. Therefore, we offer the first block of stock at $5 a thousand shares. This subscription must be all cash. We want the money in hand. We mean to work without let-up, and we have made it an ironclad rule not to run in debt. Cash counts now.

Our prospectuses are out. Send for one.

Make reservation of stock. If you do no more. But, remember, this present offer of stock at half a Cent a Share is now open, and will be closed as soon as enough cash subscriptions are in hand. Don't wait, or you will get left.

The gold mining property owned outright by the company consists of 7 claims, 5 in the Rawhide district of Nevada, and 4 in the Dulzura district of Southern California.

The Rawhide district to-day is more famous than Goldfield, Tonopah, Bullfrog, or Searchlight were at the same stage of exploration and development. The Dulzura discovery is one of the most sensational in the history of California.

Ten samples of ore which were among the first assayed, run as high as $7,462.57 to the ton, and all ten averaged over $1,500 a ton.

In both camps we leased early, and our locations are choice. Our own officers will superintend the mining.

Says This Medicine Has Mystic Powers

Will Assist Anyone in Work. Pale, Nervous Condition to Robust, Hearty, Health.

It's in the spring that health gives out—that folks begin to feel draggy, weary, restless,—hate to eat, look pale, feel discouraged.

If you've reached this state, read what J. W. Jerrett, well known in Marrstown, has to say about the medicine that cured him. "Last winter I caught a heavy cold that settled in my back. My kidneys and liver were affected and my health failed. By spring I was in bad shape—couldn't sleep like I used to—felt tired in the morning—at very little—was terribly depressed, pale and anxious looking. Twinges of rheumatism, frequent neuralgia attacks over the trouble, made matters worse. The doctor prescribed three times, but didn't help. Then I heard of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.—They possess mystic power surely, for I gained and improved day by day and now am in perfect health again. I will praise and use Dr. Hamilton's Pills till I die."

The ingredients in Dr. Hamilton's Pills are pure and wholesome—come right from the storehouse of Nature in the form of vegetable juices and extracts,—consequently this gentle invigorating laxative tonic and blood purifier is safe for old and young alike. We assure you of enormous benefit from Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which revitalize delicate glands, search out the seat of hidden disease, flood the body with vigor and health that has caused thousands of broken-down, despairing men and women to join in a mighty song of praise for the beneficient aid that comes from this king of all tonics. Constable Fought Italian Desperado Who Struck Him on Head with Rifle

Parry Sound, Aug. 20.—Some time ago three Italians broke into a boarding house at Key Harbor Junction, on the C.P.R. and stole a considerable sum of money. Two of the thieves were subsequently arrested arrested by Provincial Constable Knight after an exciting experience. One of them afterwards escaped from a special constable who was temporarily left in charge of him, but was caught again by Constable Knight, and both were lodged in Parry Sound jail, but subsequently they managed to escape from there.

Tuesday Constable Knight and District Constable Madigan, who were scouring the country for the escaped Italians, learned that the third man, named Frank Sporance, who was supposed to have taken the money, was working in a field near Byng Inlet. They went to the place which was owned by a Mr. Rooney, and found the wanted man there. He had stolen a repeating rifle, and as the constables advanced toward him he opened fire on them.

SHOT HIM IN THIGH.

The Italian fired five shots, the constables replying with their revolvers. Constable Knight, feigning to have been hit, fell to the ground among some bushes. Constable Madigan, imagining his companion was killed or seriously wounded, started for Byng Inlet to procure assistance. Meanwhile, as soon as Knight was satisfied the Italian had emptied the rifle, he got up and advanced toward the man, who, turning to run, was struck in the thigh by a bullet from Knight's revolver.

As the constable closed on him the Italian attacked Knight with the rifle, striking him over the head and cutting it so badly that five stitches were necessary to close the wound. The constable, however, felled the Italian with the butt of his revolver. He was just able to handcuff his prisoner before he became exhausted from the wounds on his head. Constable Madigan, returning with assistance, found Knight with the Italian in charge.

CONSTABLE IN BED.

Constable Wm. Madigan and Geo. S. Kerr arrived here yesterday with Sporance, and lodged him in the district jail. Knight being confined to his bed by the injuries inflicted on his head.

The search is being continued for the other two Italians who escaped from the jail here.

Constable Knight is getting a good deal of praise for the plucky way he stuck to the man, in spite of his being armed and evidently bent on murdering the constables.

Indications That the Government Will Go to Country this Fall

Are Getting the Voters Lists Ready in Different Sections of the Country

Election Day October 23

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—Information from a source, usually authoritative is that the Federal general election will take place on Friday, October 23.

Toronto, Aug. 20.—A significant indication that the elections are not far away is found in the fact that a special staff of men is engaged in revising the voters' lists in Toronto.

Mr. Howard and a couple of more gentlemen from the Department of Printing and Stationery at Ottawa have possession of the board room in the Methodist Book Room building, and assisted by a staff of local clerks they are very busy.

When a reporter called this morning, the staff seemed particularly energetic in correcting proofs which were being brought and taken away by messengers from the local printing offices that got a share of the business.

"You can only say this is an overflow of the business at Ottawa," said Mr. Howard, who went on to explain how business had gone back in the department owing to the length of the late session. They are working day and night down there, four extra months of Hansard providing no small amount of additional work.

"As far as I am aware, our work here has nothing to do with the time the elections are to be held. The lists have to be ready, whenever it is," he said.

"I'm an old newspaperman myself, so now let me ask you a question," said Mr. Howard, who asked;

"Who told you we were here?"

It seems pretty safe to bank on an early election. At previous elections where there was no long session of the House to use as an excuse there have been similar bands of workers engaged a couple of months before the voting day. Both parties have adopted the same plan. Sometimes the work is strenuous, and at other times when the printers are slow in sending along the proofs there are some loafing spells. The proofreaders, however, work right through with what they have got, and sometimes it keeps them pretty late. There is no doubt that this staff is hurrying.

Mr. Howard explained that the work being done now was not confined to Toronto or this district. It was general work of the department.

Will the Ontario Rugby Union Disband This Fall?

Toronto, Aug. 20.—Will the Ontario Rugby Football Union be in existence this coming season. This is a question which is on the lips of every rugby football player at the present time. And it looks as if the once strongest football union in the Province, an organization which for the last twenty-five years has had great success, will fall through. In past years it has been represented by teams in nearly all the football towns in both Western and Eastern Ontario.

The prospects of the Ontario Rugby Football Union have not been bright since Mr. George Ballard, the former president of the organization, threw in his lot with the Federalists, and became the backbone of the Inter-Provincial League, consisting of Ottawa, Montreal, Argonauts and the Hamilton Tigers. The Inter-Provincial later on added an intermediate section, including London, Hamilton and Argonauts II., which practically demoralized the intermediate section of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, having only three Toronto teams to battle for the intermediate championship, while the senior series of the O.R.F.U., minus the Hamilton Tigers and the Argonauts, was practically nothing but an intermediate league.

The junior series had fair success, but the changing of the age limit a few years ago, added to the downfall of the intermediate series, while it did not greatly improve the junior because it has made it harder for the young players to break into the game at the present age. Only the larger towns and cities, which could organize city leagues, had a chance to develop young players. With the age limit again fixed at 21 years, thus forcing the old players into the intermediate or senior leagues, the O.R.F.U. might regain some of its former strength. There is some talk of doing this.

The Inter-Provincial Executive Committee last year refused to accept the ruling of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Association in regard to the amateur status of one of its players, Russell, of Montreal. This appears to be the only drawback to the Inter-Provincial becoming the all-powerful organization this fall.

Was Driven About the City

The Hon. Geo. P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, with Mr. M. J. Butler, the Deputy Minister and Chief Engineer of the Trent Canal, arrived in the city last night at seven o'clock. They first visited the lift lock, and then the most principal establishments in the city. The Hon. Mr. Graham expressed himself as being very favorably impressed with our city.

Three Newcastle-on-Tyne boys who place rows of sheep stones on the highway to wreck motor cars and then sat on a wall to watch the result were admonished and ordered to pay costs.

RECEPTION TO HON. G. P. GRAHAM, MINISTER OF RAILWAYS AND CANALS

The Hon. Gentleman Believes in the Trent Valley Canal Scheme as One of great Importance

Government will Complete the Work if Given the Opportunity

The work of connecting the two big lakes by this stretch of waterway will not cease until the whole route is finished. I believe the scheme is all right, and as far as I am concerned it will be pressed till completed. The Government is committed to the canal; we have put our hands to the work, do not intend to recede, and will, if the opportunity is given us, complete the Trent Valley Canal."—Hon. G. P. Graham.

The Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, was tendered a warm greetings on his visit to Peterborough, at a reception held in his honor at the City Hall last night. The hon. gentleman was accompanied by Mr. M. J. Butler, chief engineer for the department.

The hall was crowded by a representative gathering of citizens, amongst who were R. R. Hall, M.P.; T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P.; Alex. Grant, chief engineer of T.V.C.; R. F. McWilliams, Aldermen, Gillespie, Neale, McIntyre, Elliott and Bull; D. W. Dumble, W. H. Denham, W. H. Moore, J. H. Farmouth, City Treasurer Frank Adams, H. R. H. Keenor.

The program consisted of an official city address of welcome and speeches by prominent speakers, followed by the minister's reply.

MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

His Worship Mayor Harry Rush extended the greetings of Peterborough in the following address;

Hon. G. P. Graham,
Minister of Railways and Canals,

On behalf of the City Council of Peterborough, and the citizens generally, I extend to you a cordial welcome to our city on the occasion of your first visit, and to congratulate you upon your appointment to the important position of Minister of Railways and Canals, and we feel certain from the situation you have given your duties, that the choice has been a good one.

Regarding the Trent Canal, that long talked of project, we appreciate what the department has already done and proposes doing on it in our vicinity, and we would like to impress upon you the importance, not only to the City of Peterborough, but to the whole country, of its early completion.

As there are several of our citizens who may wish to say a few words along these lines, I will call upon them to make a few remarks.

MR. W. H. MEDBURN.

First addressed the minister, and amongst other things pointed out the vital importance to Peterborough that the Trent Valley Canal should be completed as early as possible. He also complimented the department upon their much appreciated efforts in the way of conserving the waters of the back lakes. The water transportation problem is one that cannot be overlooked in the interest of this city, which must have ready and cheap freight facilities.

W. H. MOORE,

Contended that the completion of the Trent Valley Canal was necessary in order to afford speedy means of transporting the great Northwest crop. We look upon this canal as a national work, one that is in the general interests of the whole Dominion.

D. W. DUMBLE

Remarked that the Panama canal will be finished in five years, at a cost of a billion of dollars, while the Trent Valley canal will cost but one per cent. of that amount. And he did hope to have a sail along the whole Trent Valley Canal's length before he crossed the great divide. He offered that the Government was committed to this canal as a great national scheme. Ours is not merely a canal, it is a chain of lakes, connected by rivers and stretches of canal. There would be, he was convinced no limit to the capacity of the Trent Valley waterway. The Grand Trunk Pacific realizes the cheapness of water transportation as compared with rail in building a stretch of canal on their own system.

W. H. DENHAM.

Manager of the Quaker Oats Co., read many reasons why this canal will be a popular means of transportation, all of which were indisputably weighty and showed the vital national importance of the Trent waterway. The Quaker Oats Company he said owed this waterway's completion badly. In 24 hours they run 22 to 23 car loads of grain in manufacturing 1800 barrels of Quaker Oats and 1800 barrels of flour. And there has been times when the railways could not send them grain, and again times when they could not handle their product, in this way his company had been crippled at both ends. This not only effects their business, but also the interests of Peterborough citizens, for when they are crippled as above mentioned the mills have to close down with a consequent effect upon the pay roll. "We want this canal finished at both ends," continued Mr. Denham, "at Midland for the transportation of our grain, and at Lake Ontario to give us coal, and an outlet for our product. We have been crippled and our mills closed down owing to lack of means of transportation."

R. R. HALL, M.P.,

Bid the visitors a hearty welcome to this city, and said it would be out of place for him on this occasion to repeat the many arguments he has submitted to the Hon. G. P. Graham from time to time, in favor of hurrying forward the canal's completion. He pointed out the good results of the Government's actions in conserving the waters from back lakes, thus giving sufficient water in our rivers for transportation and power purposes.

T. E. BRADBURN, M.P.P.

Briefly addressed the minister, welcoming him to Peterborough, and endorsing the previous speakers' faith in the value of the canal as a means for cheap transportation.

ALD. ELLIOTT.

Said the whole Midland district are a unit in demanding the early completion of the Trent Valley Canal, in which we all have every confidence as its vital importance as a national highway for transportation to and from the west.

HON. G. P. GRAHAM.

Here rose to reply and was enthusiastically received. All the previous speakers had faith in the Trent Valley Canal, the hon. gentleman expressed his realization of its importance, and his audience apparently had much faith in the distinguished visitor's influence to assure this waterway's early completion.

The minister expressed his pleasure at the reception and entertainment offered him in Peterborough, although it was a mistake to think this he had not been here before. He congratulated Peterborough upon having at its doors cheap water power when so many towns are making great efforts to receive cheap power. Transportation facilities, he continued, are a national problem. In dealing with problems by which this producer can get his products to the consumer in the least possible time and at the cheapest possible rate. If believed that Canada can afford to spend millions of money in improving her transportation facilities. We are spending considerable money in that direction, and are confident that the returns will justify such expenditure. He eulogized the improvements made in railway transportation facilities, which still have been congested year by year when Canada's big grain crop was moving, and when he expected will again be found inadequate this fall. He great cry today is for improved transportation facilities, and Canada will have to spend more money upon them. He offered that the Grand Trunk Pacific will have 700 miles of railway hauling western grain this fall, but only to Winnipeg, whence it will have to be transported by other means to the seaboard. In a few years the Great Northern will be available for the same freight trade, and yet when these two lines are completed, Canada will no even then have sufficient transportation facilities. Continuing, the hon. gentleman went on to say that Canada has not to-day the best water-ways. All told, she has spent $120,000,000 in canals, a very large amount of money for a young country like this Dominion to expend in that direction. And the Trent Valley Canal has had its share of consideration, $3,000,000 have been spent upon it, and of this $1,000,000 during the last twelve years. This year the Government put a million in its appropriation for the Trent Valley Canal, and the work will cost more than two millions more before it is completed. The work of connecting the two big lakes by this stretch of waterway will not cease until the whole route is finished. "The Government is committed to this canal. I believe the scheme is all right, and as far as I am concerned, it will be pressed till completed." Continuing, the Minister pointed out that there are two ends to the waterway, as to all transportation, rail and the problem is to get something with which to fill the grain barges on their return trip in order to secure the proper rates. The lack of package freight for the West is Canada's big transportation problem, however he believed would be overcome as the country fills up. During the last 20 years Canada has experienced 623 per cent. increase in its canal traffic while the year ending December 31st last, the freight tonnage through the canals showed an increase of 100 per cent more than that of the preceding year. The honorable gentleman here went into a lengthy eulogy of our waterways, which he characterized as a healthy regulator of freight rates all the year round, for if water transportation is cheap producers will lay up as much freight as possible in winter to take advantage of our water highways during their season.

"There is no another side to this question," said the Hon. G. P. Graham," and one which has perhaps never struck you." By opening up this waterway there ought to be the development of a tourist trade alone that would surprise you. In the State of Maine last year there were spent $16,000,000 by summer tourists holidaying along its waterways, and Maine has not the scenery to equal in any way what you have along the Trent Valley waterway route. Then why should not you get a like revenue from the people who can afford it."

In conclusion, the hon gentleman said he had no promises to make. "We cannot say we are going to build this canal because we are now working on it. The Government is committed to the canal; we have put our hands to the scheme, do not intend to recede, and will, if opportunity is given us, complete the Trent Valley Canal."

Leaders will Tour Country Election Close at Hand

Toronto, August 20.—Mr. J. S. Carstairs, organizer for the Liberal-Conservative Association, announced that Mr. R. L. Borden, the Conservative leader, and Hon. Sir J. P. Whitney, Premier of Ontario; Hon. R. P. Robin, Premier of Manitoba; Hon. Richard McBride, Premier of British Columbia, and Hon. J. D. Hazen, Premier of New Brunswick, will address these meetings in Ontario as follows:—

Pembroke, September 21 (afternoon).
London, September 22 (evening).
Toronto, September 23 (evening).

The Conservatives of Wellington and adjoining counties have asked that the Conservative chieftain and the provincial Premiers hold a meeting at Guelph on the afternoon of the 22nd and this may be arranged for. Mr. J. W. H. Bennett, and other leading Conservatives in the north hope to arrange for a meeting at Orillia on the afternoon of September 24.

The Ontario tour of Sir Wilfrid Laurier will commence at Niagara Falls on September 18. Mr. T. C. Inwood secretary of the Ontario Reform Association, is at present arranging the remainder of the dates. It was stated that the gatherings probably would be confined to large county centres, where the agricultural classes would be enabled to attend.

MR. PATTERSON'S PLANS.

Montreal, August 20.—Hon. William Paterson, Minister of Customs, was in the city last night. He will spend the remainder of the week in the constituency in Brant. Next week Mr. Paterson expects to accompany Hon. Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, through the Eastern Townships of Quebec. He likely will be present at the opening meeting of Mr Wilfrid Laurier's Ontario tour at Niagara Falls on September 18.

SIR WILFRID FOR OTTAWA.

Toronto, August 20.—An Ottawa despatch to the Mail says: The report is current that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will withdraw and run off both Mr. A. W. Fraser and Dr. Chevrier from the nomination for the Houses of Commons for Ottawa. The story runs that Sir Wilfrid would stand as the French-Canadian candidate, taking as a running mate, Hon. Clifford Sifton, who has been a resident here for 12 years. Then, after the general election, Sir Wilfrid would resign and retain his seat in Quebec.

American Army Misses Canteen

New York, August 20.—Members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union in New York, expressed indignation over statements made by General F. D. Grant to the effect that the health of the United States army is worse than that of any other army in the world, and that the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is in a great measure to blame for this condition of affairs.

"It is a fact, according to the statistics submitted to me, that the health of the United States Army is worse, on the whole, than that of any other of the world's armies. There are many reasons to be found in connection with the restrictions placed upon the men as the result of Women's Christian Temperance unions and other such movements.

"One has to speak plainly in dealing with such matters, and it is no good mincing things. Take a lot of men out to camp for manoeuvres such as we have been having at Pine Camp, New York State, and deprive them of their canteen. What happens? Simply this: So soon as they are free the men get away to the nearest saloon and drink. They are some distance from their quarters and may not go back and forth at will, so they stay as long as they can at the saloon bar. Instead of having one or two drinks, they have many. The longer they can stay the more they drink and the worse their condition.

"We had much less trouble when we had the canteen. The men go to the canteen and get a drink, and because it is open all hand, are satisfied with one for the time being. They may get another later on, but their drinking is limited. A man is more under the eye of others, too, when the canteen is in camp, and the actual opportunity or temptation, say, for him to become intoxicated is less.

Crowd Wanted to Cheer Jury's Verdict Against the Hains Brothers

New York, Aug. 20.—Before leaving for the Pacific in October, Capt. Hains turned his automobile over to Mr. Annis with the injunction to keep it for him and also to take Mrs. Hains out in it once in a while. This Mr. Annis did. Sometimes, it is said, they went to a theatre in Manhattan and Mr. Annis drove Mrs. Hains home in the car after the show. Whether they made a practice of taking another along or not at these times people at the fort seem not to have noticed. Annis was not well known at the fort. Those who knew him liked him.

New York, Aug. 20.—John W. McIntyre, counsel for Capt. Hains, said yesterday that the captain's defence will be insanity, and that it will be easily proved.

The mystery of the so-called "threatening letters" written by Captain Peter C. Hains to William E. Annis, his victim in the Bayside tragedy of Saturday, was cleared up last night.

CHALLENGES TO DUEL.

The letters were challenges to a duel, in them the army officer demanded that he be allowed "a gentleman's satisfaction" by meeting on the field of combat the wrecker of his home.

When Annis made no reply to the first and second, Captain Hains warned him, in the third, to prepare for a duel without not time or place—told him to arm himself, for there would be shooting whenever Hains next met him.

It is believed by the district attorney that the feud between the men was not of long standing, and that they were on apparently friendly terms less than three months ago. It is alleged that there is evidence to show that Captain Hains was under the influence of his brother Truxtun Hains.

JURY'S VERDICT.

The coroner's jury last night after being out 22 minutes brought in a verdict that Wm. E. Annis came to his death as the result of pistol shot wounds inflicted by Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr., U.S.A., aided and abetted by Thornton Jenkins Hains. When the verdict was announced Coroner Amsler had to rap with his gavel and court officers had to caution the spectators, as an attempt was made to applaud.

The wife of Captain Hains is very bitter against her husband. She denies any wrong-doing with Annis and declares the latter was simply a good fellow. The confession she made when her husband threatened to kill her also absolutely repudiates.

fifteen Men Injured in a Dynamite Explosion

Amherstburg, Ont., Aug. 20.—To premature explosion of nearly three tons of dynamite placed in holes for blasting on the new Livingston channel in the Detroit river, back of Bois Blanc, yesterday, nearly annihilated the drill boat Destroyer, owned by M. Sullivan, and injured every man of the 15 who make up the crew.

Heavy blasting operations this season have accustomed the people of this town to severe shocks, and the noise and insid nt shock of this explosion went almost unnoticed until the shrill blasts of tug whistles on the river told that something unusual had happened. Great excitement prevailed, as the men employed on the drill boat were nearly all from town. Sullivan's tug Columbia put out at the first intimation of danger, and brought in the wounded men. By that time the dock was lined with the anxious relatives of the men. All the town physicians were on hand and took charge at once.

THREE RIBS BROKEN.

Gilbert Morrande, runner in charge of the drill, had his left shoulder dislocated, three ribs broken, back sprained, more or less bruised all over the body, left leg wrenched, body and head cut, is in a serious condition.

Stephen Annis had three terrible cuts on the skull and right ear, and his shoulder fractured.

Gus Belleour was hurt inwardly, especially about the stomach, and bruised on all parts of the body. He has a bad cut on the head.

A FRACTURED ANKLE.

Alex. Amelie had his left ankle broken, and was bruised all over the body.

John Belleour was cut about the head, has should r strained, and was badly shaken up.

Oscar Trudel was badly injured about the ankles, and injured in the breast.

Ernest McGee, Elmer Carpenter, John Morey, Joseph Merrifield, Ed. Dorman, David Long, and Inspector Paul Trudale were more or less shaken, but are not supposed to be seriously injured.

The accident was caused by an attempt to drill out a hole which was partly charged with dynamite. The explosion of that charge set off 140 other holes which had been charged during the night. The drill was badly wrecked. It was towed to Amherstburg, and a force of men put to work making repairs. It will be three weeks before it is ready for work again.

Carried Dead Body in Satchel

Montreal, Aug. 20.—"I want to bury this child in the Jewish cemetery, and I have come all the way from Macaze, Que. for that purpose."

Shortly before noon to-day Samuel Bozer, a Russian Jew walked into the Coroner's office, carrying in his right hand a small valise containing the body of a baby boy. He placed the valise on the table as he made this statement.

The stranger spoke broken English, and at first he had some difficulty in making the coroner understand that there was the body of a child in the bag. He finally unlocked the valise and handed — the coroner the baby. At first the coroner thought that it might be another Boston suit case affair, and immediately summoned a physician. No marks of violence were found, and it was decided that the baby had died of natural causes. The child had only lived seven days, and as it was not a coroner's case Bozer was sent to the Board of Health. Bozer had no death certificate from a doctor, and he was sent back to the Coroner. He pleaded to be allowed to place the body of the little tot in the Jewish cemetery in Montreal, and after the coroner had satisfied himself that no crime had been committed the usual certificate was given.

Bozer said he had come to the city by the C. P. R. train yesterday. He had kept the body in the valise all day, and had carried it with him wherever he went.

POLICE

At police court yesterday morning two men were charged with securing liquor, while on the blacklist. Both were dismissed.

John Donaghue was charged with having, after being served with a notice that he was blacklisted, procured or attempted to procure liquor from a local hotel man. The prosecution swore unable to prove that Donaghue had attempted to procure liquor, and the case was thrown out.

Mr. Joe. Lavasseur, Jr., the man who was charged with selling liquor without a license, has now to face the charge of perjury. When in the witness box he swore that he bought the liquor for persons who had ordered it from him. When the brewing company's case was going on it turned out that he sold liquor to two young men. They were down in Monaghan two consecutive Sundays and on each occasion they procured liquor from Lavasseur, and paid for it.

After the brewing company's case was finished the chief walked over to Lavasseur, and escorted him to the prisoners' box, and he is now in jail on the charge of perjury.

Losing Muscular Power?

The First Sign of Mental Decay — The Warning of General Break-Down.

Changes in the nervous system manifest themselves slowly.

They show first by muscular weakness—a feeling that threatens paralysis, or by a fullness in the head that indicates approaching apoplexy.

It seems like sadness but you soon discover there's a lack of power—that the endurance of this or that muscle is not what it ought to be.

Your friends may notice a slight thickness of speech, or that your memory is decidedly failing.

These symptoms may grow worse very quickly if they are not treated by Ferrozone. You must build up the nervous system. This can be accomplished in no other way as thoroughly and permanently as by the use of Ferrozone.

This remarkable remedy, which has cured tens of thousands of Canadian people, increases enormously the digestive power, stimulates the formation of blood, the rich, red kind that puts new life into the nerves.

The first result of these changes is increased strength.

Natural circulation quickly follows, and that follows in the head, so disturbing and alarming, too, quickly passes away.

These changes are wrought in a natural way, for the reason that Ferrozone treats the causes that excite these troubles.

For the aged and weak, who need strength—for those run-down and thin—for the sickly and nervous who lack staying power—nothing compares with Ferrozone.

No tonic gives such lasting good health; try it yourself. Sold by all dealers in Ferrozone.

AS OTHERS SEE US

The United States has long been famous for the value of commercial and other publications, covering not only every phase of public life within the borders of the Republic, but also affecting other countries. Naturally Canada is not overlooked and a recent publication from Washington, entitled "Consular Reports — Annual Series No. 4, Canada, Trade for the year 1907", contains many things interesting to every Canadian. Full tables of our trade and given and comparisons instituted, which are worth the careful attention of those amongst us who make such matters a study.

One paragraph shows the importance of the Canadian market to the States. Out of our total imports of $[illegible] (the year ending 30th June) 66 per cent. came from the States, while only 26.5 per cent. from Great Britain, leaving 34.5 per cent. to all other countries. The increase of imports over the previous year was come upon by millions of dollars and shows an expanding trade which could not be other than satisfactory to all concerned.

In the same period our exports amounted to $373,245,000, of which the United States took $117,654,775, an increase of nearly ten millions of dollars over the preceding twelve months. While the United Kingdom took $125,347,946, these figures showed a decrease of nearly eight and a half millions as compared with 1906 and the compilers of the report observe that "considering the preferential tariff in favor of Great Britain averaged at 33 1/3 per cent. she made little headway in competition with the United States in the Canadian market". Canada affords a better market to the United States than all the rest of North America, including Cuba and the West Indies, and far better than South America or the whole of Asia.

Under the circumstances it is natural that United States capital should play an important part in the industrial development of Canada, and it is stated that one hundred and fifty industries have been established in the Dominion with capital from the Republic, while one hundred and twenty-two of their leading firms have established branch plants in Canada.

The contribution of the States to the upbuilding of the Canadian western provinces has long been recognized as an important factor in their rapid development. In 1907, 58,312 immigrants came from the States, bringing in property estimated at $40,000,000. It will thus be seen how very important in various ways are United States influences upon Canadian development. Such a peaceful invasion followed by many beneficial influences is welcome and must lead in time to a nearer understanding between neighbors who are so deeply interested in each other's future. It is good of the States authorities to give us this opportunity of knowing how we are regarded over there.

Under instructions issued by the Board of Education of the United Kingdom, medical inspection of school children is now in operation. Three inspections must be made during the life of every child attending the elementary schools, at entry and then years and six years later. The object of inspection is to provide against the future "physical unfitness" of the people by such measures as the medical officers may determine for the execution of which the local authorities are held responsible. This is a sensible and commendable departure.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Why We Are All Mimics.

"If we did not cough in church, the human race would not exist." And the professor, twiddling a piece of chalk in his hand, regarded the sophomores with a quizzical smile.

"What I mean," he continued, "is that the cause of coughing is the cause of our survival. That cause is mimicry. Mimicry is a better life preserver than fleetness or strength. For by mimicry we manage not to attract attention, and in prehistoric times they who attracted attention were hunted down by the tribe and roasted for dinner or hunted down by the saber tooth tiger and taken raw.

"Since those dark days mimicry has been instinctive with us. Mimicry is what causes us to follow the fashions. It causes us, when in England, to say 'rawn't' and 'lawf.' If your friend yawns, you yawn—that's mimicry. If he laughs, you laugh—mimicry again. If he snuffles, you snuffle—mimicry. And if he coughs in church, straightway you and all the rest of the congregation cough, the reason being the same one which saved our forefathers from extermination."—New York Press.

Famous Floggers.

Among English schoolmasters whose names have come down to posterity with the dubious reputation of great floggers Dr. Busby of Westminster school is the generally acknowledged chief.

Of him it is recorded that, one of his head boys having insulted a young French viscount who came to the school to demand satisfaction, he flogged the viscount first for the bloodthirsty intentions and next his friend who was the bearer of his challenge.

Dr. Valpy, too, who edited an edition of the classics, was a potent wielder of the rod. Archdeacon Groom, who was a pupil of his, tells a story in illustration of his prowess. One of the boys had been flogged by the redoubtable dominie, and the lad's father came to complain.

"Sir," said Valpy to him, "I flogged your son because he richly deserved it. If he again deserves it, I shall flog him again, and," rising, "if you come here, sir, interfering with my duty I shall flog you."

The parent fled.

A Famous Architect's Trick.

When Sir Christopher Wren was building the town hall of Windsor, a fidgety member of the corporation, as the story goes, insisted that the roof required further support and desired the architect to add more pillars. In vain did Sir Christopher assure him that the danger was imaginary. He knew better. The alarm spread, and the great architect was worried into adding the desired columns.

Years passed, and in later times, when architect and patrons were dead, cleaning operations in the roof revealed the fact that the supposed additional supports did not touch the roof by two inches, though this was not perceptible to the gazers below.

By this ingenious expedient did Wren pacify his critics, while vindicating his own architectural skill to future generations.

I'm Telling You.

Pat Murphy, who was in lodgings, was greatly annoyed by the landlady helping herself to his provisions. She began by taking a piece of his butter, and when Pat came home she said:

"Pat, I'm taking a little of your butter, but I'm not like other landladies—I'm telling you."

Next day it was an egg, and so on. Every day there was something taken and put off with the remark, "I'm not like other landladies—I'm telling you."

Of course there was never any reduction in Pat's bill. One Saturday his bill came to a larger amount than usual. Pat looked at it, bundled up a few things in his handkerchief, walked to the door and said:

"Landlady, I'm sloping. I'm not like other lodgers—I'm telling you."—London Answers.

Beautifully Arranged.

Brown—Well, you've got the quarter. Is your sister coming down?

"I've arranged it beautifully, old chap. I told her it was you first, and she said to tell you she was out, and then I said I was fooling and that it was Charley Jones, and you ought to have seen her hustle to get into a clean shirt waist! She'll be right down!"

SAILORS' UNIFORMS.

Copied From England and Not Representative of America.

All are familiar with the American man-of-war sailor's suit, but has any one ever stopped to consider how he comes by it and what the origin of it is? With the exception of the fit itself and the stars in the corner of the collar the whole suit is copied from the English. One would have thought that by this time the American nation would have fallen upon some original costume for its navy in some way more representative of America.

In the early days of the British navy it was still the custom to tie the hair in a cue after well greasing it, but much annoyance was felt by the men in consequence of the oil getting on the rough serge of their jumpers or blouses. This caused the bine collar of the same material as the jumper to be added, but without much success, as the collar looked quite as untidy, so at length the idea of putting the blue drill one over the serge was adopted, the drill collar being a separate appendage and therefore easily washed and kept clean. The lanyard was worn to represent the ropes and rigging of the ship, and the jackknife indicated that (to be paradoxical) the bluejacket's object in life was death—to his enemy.

In those days the neck was exposed, but as time went on and more thought was given to the welfare of the men this was found to be injurious to the health; hence the substitute of the white neck flannel, white being used to give the effect of the uncovered neck.

The two rows of white braid at the top of the cuff represent England and Ireland, the one row at the bottom showing that Scotland had not become annexed. The rows of braid on the collar represent wholly and solely the victories of Nelson.

At the opening of Lord Nelson's proud and happy man, and he became still prouder and happier when Aboukir was followed by Nelson's greater victory at Copenhagen, and the second row was added. But he became the proudest and happiest man and, alas, also the most sorrowful and grief stricken, when that great hero and magnificent example of naval courage lost his life in his last victory at Trafalgar, and so the third row of braid went on, but there was no more to come after it, for "the last pipe" had sounded for the gallant sailor, his last fight fought, his last victory won. To signify the mourning which filled the hearts of all English sailors the black scarf was added. This was the origin of the British tar's uniform, which is both historical and biographical and dear to the heart of all English people.

A Tiny State.

The miniature republic of San Marino is a mere dot on the map of Europe, being the smallest state in the world as well as the oldest independent republic. Its area is thirty eight square miles, only little less than twice that of the island of Manhattan. It lies entirely in Italy, but is wholly independent. Its situation is on the easterly side of the Etruscan Apennines and about twelve miles from Rimini, on the Adriatic sea. The frontier is only twenty-four miles in length, and the population would make only a small city ward, numbering less than 12,000. There is no public debt, and the annual expenses met by taxation amount to $60,000. The country has bronze and silver currency, coined by Italy, 158,000 lire of the latter and 105,000 of the former. The principal exports are wine, cattle and stone. The military force of the republic numbers 38 officers and 950 men.

Plenty Plant Covers.

When Sir Humphry Davy was a boy about sixteen, a little girl came to him in great excitement:

"Humphry, do tell me my these two pieces of cane make a tiny spark of light when I rub them together?"

Humphry was a studious boy, who spent hours in thinking out scientific problems. He parted the child's curly head and said:

"I do not know, dear. Let us see if they really do make a light, and then we will try to find out why."

Humphry soon found that the little girl was right. The pieces of cane if rubbed together quickly did give a tiny light. Then he set to work to find out the reason, and after some time, thanks to the observing powers of his little friend and his own kindness to her in not impatiently telling her not to "worry," as so many might have done, Humphry Davy made the first of his interesting discoveries. Every reed, cane and grass has an outer skin of flinty stuff, which protects the inside from insects and also helps the frail looking leaves to stand upright.

Table Manners in Old France.

Could we restore for half an hour the dinner table of old France and obtain half a dozen instantaneous photographs of a royal banquet at any era between the reigns of Francis I and Louis Quatorze such a "cataract of laughter" would be heard as might disturb the serenity of Louis in paradise. The duchess, her napkin tied securely round her neck, would be seen mumbling a bone, the noble marquis surreptitiously scratching himself, the belle marquise, withdrawing her spoon from her lips to help a neighbor to sauce with it, another fair creature securing her plate with her bread, a gallant courtier using his doublet or the tablecloth as a towel for his fingers and two footmen holding a yard of damask under a lady's chin while she emptied her goblet at a draft. During a feast of inordinate length it was sometimes necessary to substitute a clean cloth for the one which the carelessness or bad manners of the guests had reduced to a deplorable condition. —"An Idler in Old France."

The Midget Snakes.

"I see by your paper," says a correspondent, "that you want to find a man who can tell a snake story with the sound of originality to it. Here it is: Nearly forty years ago in the woods of Indiana I captured three snakes, each less than three and one-fourth inches in length, a combined length of less than ten inches, a little longer and a little larger in the middle than an old fashioned wool darning needle. Although these snakes were so small they would crawl around with their heads up and dart out their tongues like larger snakes. I put these reptiles in an eight ounce bottle, and they had plenty of room to crawl around on the bottom of it without crowding. These were not the kind of snakes generally seen in bottles, but genuine snakes. Among those who saw them was a minister of the gospel, and he had not been taking anything to make him see snakes either."—Emporia Gazette.

The Pirates.

The Chicago News fails to name the hero of this story, but has it that the visitor to the home of a well known Hoosier State author found his three youngsters romping in the hallway.

"What are you playing, boys?" he inquired.

"We are playing pirates," elucidated the smallest.

"Pirates? Why, how can you play pirates in Indiana? There are no seas bordering on this state."

"Oh, we don't need any seas. We are literary pirates, like pa."

And five minutes later a chorus of yells from behind the barn told that the hand that wields the pen can also wield the shingle.

Outside of His Practice.

"All that is the matter with you, sir," said the eminent physician after a thorough examination, "is lack of nutrition. You don't eat enough."

"I eat all I can hold, doctor," said the attenuated caller.

"Then you need to have your capacity enlarged, and that's a case for a surgeon. Five dollars, please. Good morning."—Chicago Tribune.

Overstudy.

Books are pleasant, but if by being overstudious we impair our health and spoil our good humor, two of the best pieces we have, let us give it over. I, for my part, am one of those who think that no fruit derived from them can recompense so great a loss.—Montaigne.

Funerals in Peru.

According to social usage, women in Peru cannot attend funerals, and they do not appear at weddings unless they are very intimate friends. When a funeral procession passes through the streets the coffin is carried upon the shoulders of the pallbearers, who are followed by an empty hearse drawn by two, four or six horses, according to the means of the mourners and their desire for display. All the male members of the family and friends of the deceased follow on foot, with a line of empty carriages behind them. As long as they are in the presence of the dead it is considered a proper and necessary evidence of respect to walk. After the body has been committed to the grave those who attend the funeral are brought home in carriages.

Reciprocity with U. S. Would Hurt England

London, Aug. 18.—Mr. G. T. Blackstock, K.C., of Toronto, speaking at a tariff reform meeting at Musselburgh, said that if the United States offered Canada free trade or a more generous treatment the position of Britain in the Dominion would be perilous.

The scope of the committee of inquiry into the meat trade, recently appointed by the Government, is to be limited to the dead meat trade. There will be no reconsideration of the removal of the embargo on Canadian cattle.

"This agreement is subjected to the regulations now in force, or which may at any time hereafter be in force during the construction of the works hereby contracted for, made under the authority of the Department of Labor, and which are or shall be, applicable to such works." (The schedule of minimum wages determined upon by said Department will form part of the contract).

"The contractor shall in connection with the whole of the said work, as far as practicable, use only mineral, machinery, plant, supplies and rolling stock manufactured or produced in Canada, providing the same can be obtained as cheaply, and upon as good terms, in Canada as elsewhere, having regard to quality and price."

The contractor shall conform to the general regulations adopted by the Commissioners, and also to the laws and regulations respecting fires in the different provinces where the work is being performed.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.
Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood elements.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and all discharges, while the Restorative, enemy nerve nourishment, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

Put Through His Paces.

The wealthy Briton is confessedly the most fastidious man living as to the quality of his personal domestic service. The concentrated energy with which an Englishman will rebuke his servant for an offense so slight that the average American fails to observe it bears out the above statement. Those who propose changing servants are not content with references and a perfunctory interview with the man or maid under consideration, but insist upon a full dress rehearsal of both manners and appearance. The servant in livery is put through all his paces, must display the size of his calves, the haughtiness of his pose as well as breeding in handling a card, announcing a guest or serving at the table. Nothing is taken for granted. The master and the mistress sit by and discuss the points of groom or butler as they would those of a high priced horse or valuable dog. Domestics are taken with great seriousness by the upper class Englishmen, and for that reason nothing is left to luck in peopling the servants' hall.

Wink at Some Things.

"When you have mastered the gentle art of winking," said Lord Beaconsfield, "you hold the key to success in your hands."

Every one's personality is made up of trivial failings and trivial talents. Foster the good qualities in your friends and subordinates and wink at those failings so dear to their possessors. Not to see everything is a rule which will strengthen friendships and help you to get the best results from your fellow workers.

"He is no good," said the great Napoleon of one of his officers. "He is continually looking into the private' stew pot!"

"I want a man who can keep his eye on the ultimate result and ignore little failings, never mind how aggravating," said Nelson. And General Gordon once remarked that the man who lost his temper because a private's boot lace was tied loosely on the day of a battle did more to lose the day than all the enemy's guns.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

A BAD PLAN OF TRAVEL.

The Scheme That Worried One Woman on Her Trip Abroad.

"When I hear of people joyfully making plans for their first trip abroad," said a man who has made many a transatlantic voyage, "I am tempted to give them a little bit of advice, based, of course, on my own observations, but particularly upon a remark made to me by a middle aged woman whose seat in the saloon was next to mine on my return trip last summer. This woman had a husband, and it was to him that she referred in answering my question one day. I asked her what she had been doing on the other side. She looked half quizzically, half reproachfully, at her spouse and said, 'Well, my principal occupation was trying to keep track of John.'

"It developed that her concern was not over what John might do in European capitals, but simply related to the difficulty each had in meeting the other after pursuing their several ways in a strange city, she to browse among the shops and he, an inveterate sightseer, to visit this, that and the other spot of interest. Their general scheme, as I was informed, was to diverge, say, in the morning, following their respective bents and arranging to meet at a certain place at a certain time. The plan sounds feasible, but it is experimental, and, as both of them found, it was an experiment that didn't work well. First one would be delayed and then the other, and if you have ever waited for a person in a foreign city you can appreciate the particular variety of anxiety that comes in about ten minutes. There's a feeling that something has happened to the missing person, for one thing, and, for another, there's an increasing realization that you yourself are wasting time. If you start out to look up the delinquent, the case becomes practically hopeless. The needle in the haystack is easy compared to that search. When the reunion does come at dinner time in the hotel or pension, explanations are received with tears or haughty disdain. Oh, I know; I've been through it."

A Kaleidoscope of Fashions.

For my part I commend a quick changing fashion and could I have chosen my period would have fixed on the fickle years of the first empire, when fashions shifted from week to week, and that, too, with such fine shades of difference that only the most frivolous could follow them. Then the great conqueror brought to Paris finery from the ends of the earth, muslins from India, garlands of roses from Bengal, stuffs shining with gold and silver from Cairo; from Turkey, of course, turbans, and from the far east shawls—shawls from Kashmir, from Persia and from the Levant; shawls particolored, blue—bright blue—and red and green and black and the clear yellow of the sun; shawls patterned with all the interlacings of Asian caprice and fit not only to hang from the shoulders of the fair, but to give a coquette of eastern fancy day long visions of the orient. From the past, for all time as well as all the earth was then Napoleon's, came the fashion of the troubadours—chapeaux a Creneaux, sleeves a la mameluk, cheveux a l'enfant, lending to a very modern period who can say what charming Gothic airs? How do not such revolutions of fashion enlarge the feminine heart and teach it to live in all ages and all climates!—Lucy M. Donnelly in Atlantic.

The Adored One.

He is a confirmed bachelor. In fact his attitude toward women is almost that of a mysogynist. His particular bete noire is a new acquaintance of his sister, Miss Blank.

He met her in the street the other day and, seeing no way out of it, stopped and spoke to her. She saw how he was fidgeting to get away and said:

"You seem very preoccupied. Ah, I know! You are thinking of the one you adore."

"I adore no one," was his stiff rejoinder.

"You can't deceive me. I know you are deeply in love. Besides, your sister showed me a photo of the object of your devotion only last night. It isn't a type I admire. But, there, every one to his taste. I won't tell any one. Goodby."

And before he could reply she was gone.

When he reached home he said to his sister:

Then it dawned upon him what Miss Blank was driving at.—London Scraps.

Automatic Salt Works.

About a hundred miles north of Lima, near the town of Huacho, is one of the great curiosities of nature, a salt factory on an automatic plan. When the tide comes in it fills a lot of shallow basins, and the water is prevented from flowing back into the sea by closing the gates. The atmosphere is so dry that the water evaporates rapidly and leaves a sediment of salt in an almost pure state, which is scraped up, packed into sacks and shipped to market. Within the coast a little farther the percolation of sea water through the porous rocks into pits and hollows has caused immense deposits of salt to accumulate. The salt is taken out in blocks six or eight inches square and sold in that form. As soon as the salt is excavated the water comes in again and in a year or two has solidified and is ready for the market. Wells driven into the sand disclose strongly impregnated water at a depth of twenty-five feet, which seems to be a great deal heavier than the sea water, and is drawn off into vats for evaporation.

7 Per Cent. First Mortgage Five-Year Gold Bonds

dated January 11, 1908, and maturing January 11, 1913. These Bonds are offered at par and accrued interest by Metropolitan Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, trustees.

SECURITY—The Entire Property and Improvements Owned THE URES CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY in the District of Ures, State of Sonora Mexico, Free from Mortgage or Bonded Indebtedness except this present Bond Issue.

An Unusual Opportunity for Investment in Sound Security

The Ures Consolidated Mining Company offers $100,000.00 of First Mortgage Gold Bonds. This issue of bonds is the only mortgage or bonded indebtedness ever placed on the company's properties.

These bonds are in the denomination of $100.00, and bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, July and January, and are redeemable on or before five years from date at the company's option at $110.00 and accrued interest.

$100.00 Stock Bonus Given with Every $100.00 Bond

With each bond issued there will be given $100.00 par value of the capital stock of the company as a bonus, and in addition thereto there will be placed in escrow with the Trustee additional stock which will be available to the bondholders at their option any time within a period of three years, the bondholder being entitled to surrender his bond any time within said period and receive in lieu thereof stock for every dollar of indebtedness to him on account of said bonds.

The Security Back of these Bonds

The company owns twelve claims situated in the district of Ures, State of Sonora, Mexico, free from mortgage or bonded indebtedness, except the present bond issue.

On one of these properties (The Ramona Mine) 5,000 feet of underground development work has been done, consisting of an inclined shaft to the depth of 600 feet with drifts in three levels to the North and South of the shaft.

An average value of ore worth $11.67 per ton is exposed throughout the mine, from the collar of the shaft to the extreme parts in the drifts, all of which is above water level.

The company has made surface improvements and mine improvements to the extent of $60,000.00 in the way of machinery, skids, trams, steam hoists, mill and nearly everything necessary to make the mining camp complete.

In addition to the absolute ownership of these twelve valuable claims, the company has a lease on the San Jose Mine, adjoining its property, in which the company has been operating in high grade ore.

During the past sixty days the company has extracted and delivered to ore buyers and the bank at Hermosillo, $8,000.00 worth of ore and bullion, the ore having been reduced to bullion through the company's mill, with the exception of 1,454 pounds, which was sold to an ore buyer for $567.50.

The Money Derived from the Sale of These Bonds

The issue of bonds is made for the purpose of securing money at once in order to extend the development work more quickly than the company's present means will permit.

With the high grade ore in sight to the distance of 80 feet to the South of the shaft, the management is assured that within six months from date of making the improvements now necessary the company's properties will be on a self-sustaining and dividend-paying basis.

The Stock which is Given with these bonds will be as valuable as the bonds when the Company has the ready capital to push operations

Men who invest in these bonds will have no cause or reason to regret their action, for the bonds afford an investment in a security which is absolutely safe—much better than ordinary city or country real estate, which is considered perfectly safe if the property put up to secure a mortgage is double the face of the loan. The security given on these bonds is better than 7 to 1, for the Ures Consolidated Mining Company has refused an offer of $750,000.00 for the property upon which this $100,000.00 worth of bonds is issued.

These bonds are an investment with all speculative risk eliminated—an investment with absolute security.

Make your reservation at once. This is small and promises to be quickly sold.

To whom it may concern:

We hereby beg to state that The Ures Consolidated Mining Company has during the past five years made several deliveries of bullion to this bank, and it is the opinion of mining men here that they have the making of a fair mine, and further, that the properties owned and controlled by them bid promise of becoming paying properties.

From our knowledge of the men connected, we believe they are doing all in their power to bring about the results above mentioned.

1 CENT A 2 SHARE

Send us your name as a member in this new company, with your remittance for as many thousand shares as you can take at 35 per thousand.

This is a short-time offer on a hurry-up proposition. Our vice president is up at Rawhide now putting the miners at work. We want to raise the necessary funds for development as quickly as possible. Therefore, we offer the first block of stock at 35 a thousand shares. This subscription must be all cash. We want the money in hand. We mean to work without let-up, and we have made it an ironclad rule not to run in debt. Cash counts now.

Our prospectuses are out. Send for one.

Make reservation of stock, if you do no more. But, remember, this present offer of stock at Half a Cent a Share is now open and will be closed as soon as enough cash subscriptions are in hand. Don't wait, or you will get left.

The gold mining property owned outright by the company consists of 7 claims, 5 in the Rawhide district of Nevada, and 4 in the Dulzura district of Southern California.

The Rawhide district to-day is more famous than Goldfield, Tonapah, Bullfrog, or Searchlight were at the same stage of exploration and development. The Dulzura discovery is one of the most sensational in the history of California.

Ten samples of ore which were among the first assayed, ran as high as $7,461.57 to the ton, and all ten averaged over $1,600 a ton.

In both camps we located early, and our locations are choice. Our own officers will superintend the mining.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Wedding Bells

BRAY-GREEN

On Wednesday, August 12th, Abbey Cottage, Stratford, the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Stoll, was the scene of a very quiet and pretty wedding, when Mrs. Stoll's sister, Miss Mary E. Green was united in marriage to Mr. Harry Bray, of Campbellcroft. The ceremony took place at half-past one in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties, the Rev. Mr. Sykes, of Trowbridge, being the officiating clergyman.

The bride was gowned in white mull trimmed with lace and insertion. The bride entered the room leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. W. Green of Peterborough, who conducted her to the alcove where the groom awaited his bride. After the usual congratulations the company repaired to the drawing room, where a dainty wedding dinner was served. They received many handsome, as well as useful presents. The groom's gift being a gresceni pin with pearls.

Among those from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. W. Green, of Peterborough, and their daughters, Lillian and Gladys; Mr. and Mrs. R. Green, of Catuga, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Johnston of Silcote.

MARETT—PEARCE.

Miss Jessie Elmira Pearce, youngest daughter of Mr. J. W. Pearce, M.P.P., North Hastings, was quietly married at her home in Marmora on Tuesday to Mr. Frank Newton Marett. The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in white paillette silk and tulle veil with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Her only ornament was a pearl sunburst, the gift of the groom. She was attended by her sister, Miss Bessie, who wore pale blue silk with white hat and carried pink roses, and Miss Margaret Pearce, a four-year-old cousin. The groomsman was Mr. G. R. Simpson of St. Catharines.

Mr. and Mrs. Marett left for a trip down the St. Lawrence to Montreal and Quebec and up the Saguenay.—Hastings News.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription,

Is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse because of the uncertainty as to their harmless character, but is a medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. The "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is in fact the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, sold through druggists, that does not contain alcohol and that too in large quantities. Furthermore, it is the only medicine for woman's special diseases, the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of some of these endorsements will be sent to any address, postpaid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't forget that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for woman's weaknesses and delicate ailments, is not a patent or secret medicine, being the "Favorite Prescription" of a regularly educated and graduated physician, engaged in the practice of his chosen specialty—that of diseases of women—that its ingredients are printed in plain English on every bottle-wrapper; that it is the only medicine especially designed for the cure of woman's diseases that contains no alcohol, and the only one that has a professional endorsement worth more than all the so-called "testimonials" ever published for other medicines. Send for these endorsements as above. They are free for the asking.

If you suffer from periodical, headache, backache, dizziness, pain or dragging down sensation low down in the abdomen, weak back, have disagreeable and weakening, catarrhal, pelvic drain, or are in distress from being long on your feet, then you may be sure of benefit from taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best laxative and regulator of the bowels. They invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative; two or three a cathartic.

Obituary

The death occurred Wednesday of Mrs. V. E. Paul of Bridgenorth, aged 33 years. On learning of her illness her husband went to phone for medical assistance, but before the doctor arrived she had passed away. Her maiden name was Miss Lizzie McConkey, and she leaves four children, the youngest being only ten days old, to mourn her loss. Death was due to convulsions.

The funeral will leave the family residence on Friday afternoon, August 21, at 4 o'clock, and proceed to the Little Lake cemetery for interment.

MRS. W. YOUNG.

The death occurred Wednesday morning of Mary Jane Young, wife of Wellington Young, 240 Dublin street, after two years' illness. Deceased was 62 years of age and was formerly of Belleville. She is survived by her husband, three daughters. Mrs. Monk of Toronto, Mrs. Milne of Peterborough and Mrs. Scanton of Kingston, and one son Frank at home.

HIGHER EDUCATION.

"Higher education is fitting women to earn a living, and I do not think that higher education in politics would cause them to cease to love their homes or care for their husbands and children," said Lady Wimborne at St. Leonards.

Why We Are All Minics.

"If we did not cough in church, the human race would not exist." And the professor, twiddling a piece of chalk in his hand, regarded the sophomores with a quizzical smile.

"What I mean," he continued, "is that the cause of coughing is the cause of our survival. That cause is mimicry. Mimicry is a better life preserver than fleetness or strength. For by mimicry we manage not to attract attention, and in prehistoric times they who attracted attention were hunted down by the tribe and roasted for dinner or hunted down by the saber tooth tiger and taken raw.

"Since those dark days mimicry has been instinctive with us. Mimicry is what causes us to follow the fashions. It causes us, when in England, to say 'cawn't' and 'lawf.' If your friend yawns, you yawn—that's mimicry. If he laughs, you laugh—mimicry again. If he snuffles, you snuffle—mimicry. And if he coughs in church, straightway you and all the rest of the congregation cough, the reason being the same one which saved our forefathers from extermination."—New York Press.

Famous Floggers.

Among English schoolmasters whose names have come down to posterity with the dubious reputation of great floggers Dr. Busby of Westminster school is the generally acknowledged chief.

Of him it is recorded that, one of his head boys having insulted a young French viscount who came to the school to demand satisfaction, he flogged the viscount first for the bloodthirsty intentions and next his friend who was the bearer of his challenge.

Dr. Valpy, too, who edited an edition of the classics, was a potent wielder of the rod. Archdeacon Groom, who was a pupil of his, tells a story in illustration of his prowess. One of the boys had been flogged by the redoubtable dominie, and the lad's father came to complain.

"Sir," said Valpy to him, "I flogged your son because he richly deserved it. If he again deserves it, I shall flog him again, and," rising, "if you come here, sir, interfering with my duty I shall flog you."

The parent fled.

A Famous Architect's Trick.

When Sir Christopher Wren was building the town hall of Windsor, a fidgety member of the corporation, so the story goes, insisted that the roof required further support and desired the architect to add more pillars. In vain did Sir Christopher assure him that the danger was imaginary. He knew better. The alarm spread, and the great architect was worried into adding the desired columns.

Years passed, and in later times, when architect and patrons were dead, cleaning operations in the roof revealed the fact that the supposed additional supports did not touch the roof by two inches, though this was not perceptible to the gazers below.

By this ingenious expedient did Wren pacify his critics, while vindicating his own architectural skill to future generations.

I'm Telling You.

Pat Murphy, who was in lodgings, was greatly annoyed by the landlady helping herself to his provisions. She began by taking a piece of his butter, and when Pat came home she said:

"Pat, I'm taking a little of your butter, but I'm not like other landladies—I'm telling you."

Next day it was an egg, and so on. Every day there was something taken and put off with the remark, "I'm not like other landladies—I'm telling ye."

Of course there was never any reduction in Pat's bill. One Saturday his bill came to a larger amount than usual. Pat looked at it, bundled up a few things in his handkerchief, walked to the door and said:

"Landlady, I'm sloping. I'm not like other lodgers—I'm telling you."—London Answers.

Beautifully Arranged.

Brown—Well, you've got the quarter. Is your sister coming down?

"I've arranged it beautifully, old chap. I told her it was you first, and she said to tell you she was out, and then I said I was fooling and that it was Charley Jones, and you ought to have seen her hustle to get into a clean shirt waist! She'll be right down!"

The Greatest Man.

Who is the greatest man who ever lived? The question went round a dinner table, and controversy raged from the fish onward. There were two who plumped for Julius Caesar, two more for Napoleon; one, thinking of statues, said Shakespeare, and somebody else, who did not get a hearing at all, murmured Buddha at intervals, while most of the people present who did not know Greek said Aeschylus. But Aristotle won easily. It was not a particularly scholarly assemblage, and one wondered rather how many of Aristotle's enthusiastic devotees could have quoted accurately from him—had ever read him, indeed—since they left college. And all the while probably the greatest man of all ages is pegging away among us unnoticed, unrecognised, while we snapshot and interview all the little men or go back to some one who has been dead long enough for us to find out that we may safely praise him.—London Chronicle.

Still Possible.

Clara—When Tom proposed to me he admitted that he had more money than brains.

Maude—Well, I've no reason to doubt it, although I understand he hasn't a dollar to his name.

Why She Asked.

"Have you ever kissed a girl before?" she asked.

"Why do you put that question to me?" he replied.

"I only wished to know whether it was lack of experience or natural awkwardness that made you go about it in such a ridiculous way."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Pretty Quarrel.

"Yes," said the suburban citizen, "it is a very pretty quarrel as it stands."

"No hard words, I hope."

"None whatever. My folks are trying to play the piano late enough every night to make the lawn mower artists next door oversleep themselves next morning."—Washington Star.

Flinty Plant Covers.

When Sir Humphry Davy was a boy about sixteen, a little girl came to him in great excitement:

"Humphry, do tell me my these two pieces of cane make a tiny spark of light when I rub them together?"

Humphry was a studious boy, who spent hours in thinking out scientific problems. He patted the child's curly head and said:

"I do not know, dear. Let us see if they really do make a light, and then we will try to find out why."

Humphry soon found that the little girl was right. The pieces of cane if rubbed together quickly did give a tiny light. Then he set to work to find out the reason, and after some time, thanks to the observing powers of his little friend and his own kindness to her in not impatiently telling her not to "worry," as so many might have done, Humphry Davy made the first of his interesting discoveries. Every reed, cane and grass has an outer skin of flinty stuff, which protects the inside from insects and also helps the frail looking leaves to stand upright.

Table Manners in Old France.

Could we restore for half an hour the dinner table of old France and obtain half a dozen instantaneous photographs of a royal banquet at any era between the reigns of Francis I and Louis Quatorze such a "cataract of laughter" would be heard as might disturb the serenity of Louis in paradise. The duchess, her napkin tied securely round her neck, would be seen mumbling a bone, the noble marquis surreptitiously scratching himself, the belle marquise, withdrawing her spoon from her lips to help a neighbor to sauce with it, another fair creature scouring her plate with her bread, a gallant courtier using his doublet or the tablecloth as a towel for his fingers and two footmen holding a yard of damask under a lady's chin while she emptied her goblet at a draft. During a feast of inordinate length it was sometimes necessary to substitute a clean cloth for the one which the carelessness or bad manners of the guests had reduced to a deplorable condition. —"An Idler in Old France."

The Midget Snakes.

"I see by your paper," says a correspondent, "that you want to find a man who can tell a snake story with the sound of originality to it. Here it is: Nearly forty years ago in the woods of Indiana I captured three snakes, each less than three and one-fourth inches in length, a combined length of less than ten inches, a little longer and a little larger in the middle than an old fashioned wool darning needle. Although these snakes were so small they would crawl around with their heads up and dart out their tongues like larger snakes, I put these reptiles in an eight ounce bottle, and they had plenty of room to crawl around on the bottom of it without crowding. These were not the kind of snakes generally seen in bottles, but genuine snakes. Among those who saw them was a minister of the gospel, and he had not been taking anything to make him see snakes either."—Emporia Gazette.

The Pirates.

The Chicago News fails to name the hero of this story, but has it that the visitor to the home of a well known Hoosier State author found his three youngsters romping in the hallway.

"What are you playing, boys?" he inquired.

"We are playing pirates," elucidated the smallest.

"Pirates? Why, how can you play pirates in Indiana? There are no seas bordering on this state."

"Oh, we don't need any seas. We are literary pirates, like pa."

And five minutes later a chorus of yells from behind the bars told that the hand that wields the pen can also wield the shingle.

Outside of His Practice.

"All that is the matter with you, sir," said the eminent physician after a thorough examination, "is lack of nutrition. You don't eat enough."

"I eat all I can hold, doctor," said the attenuated caller.

"Then you need to have your capacity enlarged, and that's a case for a surgeon. Five dollars, please. Good morning."—Chicago Tribune.

Overstudy.

Books are pleasant, but if by being overstudious we impair our health and spoil our good humor, two of the best pieces we have, let us give it over. I, for my part, am one of those who think that no fruit derived from them can recompense so great a loss.—Montaigne.

A Tiny State.

The miniature republic of San Marino is a mere dot on the map of Europe, being the smallest state in the world as well as the oldest independent republic. Its area is thirty eight square miles, only little less than twice that of the island of Manhattan. It lies entirely in Italy, but is wholly independent. Its situation is on the easterly side of the Etruscan Apennines and about twelve miles from Rimini, on the Adriatic sea. The frontier is only twenty-four miles in length, and the population would make only a small city ward, numbering less than 12,000. There is no public debt, and the annual expenses met by taxation amount to $60,000. The country has bronze and silver currency, coined by Italy, 158,000 lire of the latter and 105,000 of the former. The principal exports are wine, cattle and stone. The military force of the republic numbers 96 officers and 950 men.

Dream Troubles.

"Once when I was blue," said a loud, mean man, "a friend told me I was worrying over imaginary troubles. He cheered me up with a yarn about his little nephew. This little fellow's sister said one morning:

"'Oh, Gussie, I had such a lovely dream last night! I dreamed I was at a cake shop, and I had such loads of good things—ice cream, pie, strawberry shortcake, chocolates, jelly sweetmeats, kisses and lots of other things besides.'

"The little boy's eyes glistened. He smiled with delight.

"'And what was I eating?' he asked eagerly.

"'Oh, you wasn't there, Gussie.'

"Then, overwhelmed with sorrow, little Gussie hid his face in his hands and wept bitterly."

Three Lindsay Men Locate a Crib of Sunken Oak Timber

Along Shore of Lake Scugog--Has Been Sought for Years--Value of Find Believed to be Fully $65,000

From the Lindsay Post.

Some 30 or 40 years ago great quantities of oak and elm timber were cut and squared in this district and floated to Quebec for shipment to England. When for any reason, such as low water, or a dispute as to price with the prospective buyer, it frequently happened that cribs were held over for several seasons, the result was loss by sinking.

For a number of years past there has been a tradition among old timber men in town that a fortune awaited the discoverers of a sunken crib of white oak timber said to have gone down in Goose Lake or in the bay near Pleasant Point, Sturgeon Lake. Various parties have taken soundings of the lake bottom at these points, and no longer ago than last fall it was reported that a Kingston man, who had been here and employed a diver, had located the timber, but the talk and "away into the "I told you so" order.

About three weeks ago Messrs. Bert. McGrath, Dave Watson and W. Raymond, of Water street, south ward, happened in the vicinity of Bruce's landing, Lake Scugog, about thirteen miles south of the town. Their business there was the raising of sunken sawlogs belonging to local lumberman, varied with fishing when the weather was favorable. On the morning in question their punt was blown in close to shore and the fishing line fouled on a snag where no obstruction of the kind was looked for, owing to the nature of the bottom. Having a pikepole and a "peavy" in the boat, McGrath's curiosity led him to lift the end of the log in order to free the bait. What! Surely not!! Eureka!!! the hooks were fast in a white oak log. On prodding into the mud in the vicinity the pikehole disclosed the presence of other logs, and it was at once surmised that the long-lost crib of white oak had been located.

The discoverers at once took into their confidence Mr. I. E. Weldon, who visited the spot in a tug, satisfied himself as to the bonafides of the case, and then proceeded to back the discoverers in the matter of preliminary expenses. Half-a-dozen men were sent to the scene, along with one of Bustard's stump-pullers, and it is reported that the work of raising the huge sticks of timber is proceeding apace. The value of the "find" is estimated all the way from $15,000 to $65,000.

United States Could Win Against Japan

Admiral Evans Says That the American Navy Would Succeed

Lake Mohonk, N. Y., August 22. — Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, who has just been placed on the retired list after forty-eight years of active service, said yesterday with characteristic emphasis and positiveness that the navy of the United States was superior to that of Japan, and that in the improbable event of a war between the two nations the people of this country could rest secure in the knowledge that they have a navy fully capable of maintaining their supremacy.

That there will be such a war seems absurd and preposterous to Admiral Evans.

"Why the people of Japan have too much common sense to go to war with us, and we have too much forbearance to force them into a fight," he exclaimed. "Despite what some hired newspapers say and despite the harm they do, there won't be any war between Japan and ourselves — not for the present, anyhow.

"I believe," said Admiral Evans, "that at present our navy could defeat that of Japan. The marksmanship of our gunners is unquestionably superior to that of the Japanese. We can shoot better than they can, but the reason for this can be readily seen. Compare the amount of money this country can and does expend annually on giving its sailors target practice with the amount Japan can and does expend for the same purpose. You will see how much more we spend; consequently, how much more practice our gunners are able to get. Japan hasn't got the money to spend on target practice that we have; she can't afford it. This, then, is one material reason why we are superior in gunmanship to the Japanese. But what fine gunners we have it!"

Wealthy Boston Woman Arrested

Chicago, August 22.—United States customs officials here have seized tapestries, paintings, statuary and rare pieces of armor, valued at $30,000, the property of Mrs. Jack Gardner, of Boston, which was bought abroad for Mrs. Gardner's Palace in Pack Bay Fens. The goods, the customs officials allege, were brought into the United States as household goods of Mrs. Emily Rockwell Crane Chadbourne, of this city, a friend of Mrs. Gardner, on which Mrs. Chadbourne, the Government officials say, placed a valuation of $5,000. An investigation was begun by the customs authorities, and when the real value of the goods was discovered, the tax of $30,000 was placed upon them by Collector of Customs Ames, and fines and penalties for alleged evasion of the customs laws were fixed at $70,000, which it is said has been paid. However, it is declared that $30,000 additional will have to be paid before possession of the property can be secured.

The Sad Death of Miss Evva Curry

A very sad death occurred last night about 12 o'clock, when Miss Evva Curry, youngest daughter of Mr. W. S. Curry, McDonald street, passed away in the Nicholls Hospital after an illness of very short duration. In company with her parents she had been spending a few weeks the guest of her sister, Miss Lizzie, at Port Elgin, returning home about a week ago when she took ill and on Wednesday was removed to the hospital, where she passed away last night.

The deceased was a very bright and active young girl. She was a member of St. Andrew's church and Miss B. King's Sunday school class, and also a member of the Girls' Mission Band, and an active worker in the Young People's Society.

The deceased was 18 years of age, and leaves to mourn her loss besides her parents, three sisters, Miss Gertie and Lizzie, Mrs. J. Curtis, and a brother Elzie.

A memorial service will be held Sunday evening in St. Andrew's church.

Lonely Without Her Husband, Annis' Presence Caused Her to Forget Him

Plans to Assail the Captain's Honor Destroyed His Self-Control

Made Four Confessions

New York, Aug. 21. —Mrs. Claudia Libby Hains wife of Captain Peter Hains, made four separate and distinct confessions of her wrongdoing with William E. Annis, the victim of her husband's pistol, according to John F. McIntyre, senior counsel for the brothers. Each, the lawyer declares, was made in the presence of different witnesses, and each was more detailed than the last.

FORGOT HUSBAND FOR ANNIS.

"In this first confession," said Mr McIntyre, "made to the old general and his wife, who had always loved their son's wife as their own daughter, Mrs. Hains tearfully admitted that Annis had caused her to forget her husband.

"I was so lonesome after Peter had gone away," she said, "that I could hardly live. Mr. Annis first made me forget my loneliness, and later made me forget my husband. I had never smoked a cigarette or taken a drink of intoxicating liquor, and I refused to drink or smoke with him. He persuaded me, however, that there was no harm in an occasional cigarette and an occasional drink, and knowing that he was my husband's friend I believed him and smoked and drank with him as he pleaded. He was so interesting and jolly that I was always glad when he came, and he came often. Finally I became conscious of the fact that he was caring for me, and that I, unconsciously almost, was caring for him, almost as much as for Peter."

PROMISED TO AVOID HIM.

General Hains and his wife, it is said, were greatly surprised and shocked at these admissions of their son's wife, but on account of the fact that she declared emphatically to them that her acts had been only indiscreet, they decided not to inform the captain of her confessions.

In a fatherly way the general talked the affair over with the young woman, and gave her some advice. At the same time he exacted a promise that she would avoid Annis in the future and refuse to permit his visits.

"Later Mrs. Hains made a second confession to General Hains," said Mr. McIntyre, "and this time she admitted that her former confession had been partial only."

The subsequent confession is said to have been so full and complete that it was decided, at a Hains family council, that the only thing to be done was immediately to cable the Captain, who was then in the Philippines. This was done, and his return was suggested.

"THE MATCH TO A MINE."

"Mrs. Hains' plans for a divorce were made known to Capt. Hains' lawyer by her own counsel," continued Mr. McIntyre. "The information was the match to a mine. Perhaps Capt Hains' mind had been gravitating towards the point which carried him where it did on Saturday last, but the information that Mrs. Hains was still under Annis' control and contemplating doing him an unspeakable and irretrievable injury made it impossible for his self-control to hold him any longer.

"I have just returned from an interview with Capt. Hains and his brother. Candidly I think the captain is shattered. I don't think his mind will ever recover fully from the shock of what he has been through in the last few months. He is no weakling, and I should say that such he was, himself he was a keen, sharp soldier and officer. Between the captain and his brother there exists a wonderful affection. It is such love as a mother would feel for child that each of them has for the other. The troubles of one have been the troubles of the other always.

"It was but neglect that led to the estrangement between Capt. Hains and Mrs. Hains, but the army system. They were happy together, and they loved each other, and if his duty had not been constantly taking him away from her and his children, all this had happened would not have come to pass.

The much-talked-of "confession" of Mrs. Haines relations with Annis is now safely locked in Mr. McIntyre's safe. Mr. McIntyre said last night that her statement would have a most important bearing on the case and scoffed at the idea that it had been obtained under duress.

MRS HAINS WOULD RETURN

Mrs Hains, for whose sake alone, it has been believed her husband, Capt. Peter C. Hains, jr., slew William R. Annis on Saturday last, stands ready and eager and willing to become reconciled to the father of her children. The woman would take her place as a wife at the side of the captain now and throughout the trial which he and his brother, Thornton Jenkins Hains, must undergo for the killing of Annis. She stands ready to go to him at a word. She but awaits the assurance that her husband will not repulse her.

But no matter what Mrs. Hains may desire, no matter what her motive or hopes may be, the only ground upon which her husband will consent to meet her again is that she shall go upon the witness stand at his and his brother's trial or trials and tell the truth.

"MY HUSBAND WAS LOYAL."

On her return from the burial of her husband in St. Michael's cemetery, Astoria, Mrs. William E. Annis made, through a friend in her home, No. 47 Clarmont avenue, this statement:

"When Capt. Hains brought a suit for divorce from his wife, and it became known that he blamed my husband, Mr. Annis went to him prepared to prove conclusively that his suspicions were unfounded. Capt Hains refused to listen to reason.

"I still know that my confidence in my husband was not misplaced. He was absolutely loyal to me. In fact, his devotion was in contrast to an unusual degree. I was present with him on nearly all of the occasions when Mrs. Hains accompanied us on automobile rides. I was obvious that nothing more than friendship existed between my husband and Mrs. Hains.

TWENTY-FOUR WOUNDS.

Dr. Walter G. Grey, physician for the coroner who performed the post mortem examination on the body of Annis, testified at the inquest that the ball is from the magazine revolver used by Captain Hains literally had riddled his victim, there having been no fewer than twenty-four wounds of entrances and exit on the body. One bullet alone, said Dr. Grey, had made six entrances and exits, so great was its velocity, and the body, all of them having bored entirely through it.

Canadian Pacific Rolling Stock

Ottawa, August 22.—It is understood that the investigation into the complaint of Ald. McArthur, of Winnipeg, that the Canadian Pacific Railway trains were being run in a dangerous condition, showed there was no foundation for the complaint. It was found that the company was taking the usual precautions to test the wheels, and that all the rolling stock was in first-class condition.

Rush May Clean Out the Prairie Elevators

Winnipeg, August 22. — Many cars of new wheat are now coming in and by the close of the month the movement eastward will be under way. The announcement that the Grand Trunk Pacific would handle this year's harvest from Winnipeg to Battle River, a distance of six hundred miles, has helped to improve the situation. The strike is not expected to impede the movement of grain very much.

The increased price of four is occasioning much comment in the west and causing many farmers to talk of rushing to market with their wheat which they usually hold back for an easier moment. If the present price of wheat and flour continues, it is believed the elevators through the Prairie province will be cleaned out by the rush to market.

Man Fell Into Threshing Machine and was Partly Torn to Pieces

Chatham Aug 21.—A very unfortunate accident occurred on the Dubuque farm, in Dover township, at 6 o'clock last evening, when by Joseph Charron, a laborer, lost his life.

Mr. Dubuque was threshing yesterday, and he had a big gang of men helping him. The work was concluded at six o'clock, and the last sheaves were being put through, when the men commenced cleaning up around the machine. A man named McIntyre was feeding the machine with half of the feed board slowed down. Charron got on top of the machine while it was yet running and began sweeping off the chaff and straw. McIntyre warned him to keep away from the feed board and advised him to wait until the machine stopped before he cleaned off the tops. Charron, however, seemed to have no fear and he continued sweeping. He got too near the feed board, and the jarring of the machine caused him to miss his foothold, and he fell into the feed hole. His leg was dragged into the cylinder, and the limb was completely chewed up before the machine could be stopped. Part of his body was also drawn in, tearing his abdomen in a most sickening manner. Had not one of the feed boards been down, there is no doubt that the man would have been pulled right through the machine. After the accident the cylinder was a mass of human flesh and blood.

Charron, who was about 40 years of age, had been in Canada only about a month. He formerly lived in River Rouge, Mich. His wife is living in Detroit.

The funeral took place this afternoon at 2.30 to the Big Point Catholic Church.

Coroner Dr. Bray visited the scene this morning.

Magistrate Dumble Doubled Term of Statute

Peterborough Girl Sentenced to a Year, Wants Writ of Habeas Corpus

Toronto, Aug. 21 —Quinnie Grant of Peterborough, who was convicted on February 29th by Magistrate Dumble of being an inmate of a house of ill-fame, must remain in the Mercer Reformatory for a few weeks longer than the six months' term the law allows for such sins as hers.

The magistrate in his zeal sentenced her to a year in the Mercer, but the statute clearly says that he can only give a six months' term, or a fine not exceeding $100, or both, for such an offence.

T. B. Phelan applied to Judge Latchford at Osgoode Hall, this morning for a writ of habeas corpus and certiorari in the case—the preliminary step towards freeing the girl.

Her six months would expire on Aug. 29th, but it will be several weeks before the matter can be argued and decided.

Though the facts are clear, the Minister of Justice refused to interfere when Lawyer Phelan appealed to him to set Quinnie free on Aug. 29th.

The footprints of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the Stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For this, druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. First, these tiny inside Stomach, Heart, and Kidney nerves fail. Then gas belching, Heart palpitation or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It's the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment, you will realize the gain. A test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

SHOT HERSELF BECAUSE HER HUSBAND THREATENED TO LEAVE

Filled with Remorse He Shot Too and Died with His Wife's Arms Around His Neck

New York, Aug. 21.—Edward H. Hacker, a traveling salesman, employed by the McCall Pattern Company, and his young wife, to whom he had been married only ten months, shot and killed themselves yesterday afternoon in the apartment in which they lived, at No. 400 West 118th St.

Mrs. Hyda Hacker, the wife, committed suicid because her husband had told her he intended to leave her. He killed himself five minutes later because of remorse. During those few minutes he used the revolver with which his wife had killed herself to hold at bay a physician and several neighbors who had broken a window to get into the apartment that they might go to the assistance of the dying woman.

After Hacker had fired five shots in his body, and lay dead in a front room his wife crawled to him, and put her arms around his neck. She died in that position a few minutes later.

HAD BEEN DIVORCED.

Hacker, who was thirty-five years old, was the son of Mrs. Ida E. Hacker, an employe of Tiffany & Co. who lives in Newark, N.J. His wife, who was twenty-eight years old, was until three years ago the wife of J. A. Tibbs of No. 723 East 73d street, Kansas City, Mo., from whom she said she had been divorced. She almost immediately married Hacker.

More than two hundred letters which had been written to Hacker by his wife while he was in the South and West on business trips were found in his rooms after the tragedy. In all of the letters the young wife had written that she loved her husband devotedly, and that she resented her jealousy of her.

THOUGHT IT A BLUFF.

At two o'clock in the afternoon Miss Margaret Guinon, who was in the apartment, heard Mrs. Hacker say to her husband;

"If you were a man who drank I would pay no attention to what you are saying, but you don't drink, and I am afraid you mean what you say. I want to tell you that if you leave me I will kill myself."

"That's only a bluff," Hacker said, and he began packing three suit cases.

As he opened the door of one of his rooms to step into the hall, his wife fell upon her knees and clung to him.

"If you go I will kill myself," she said.

Hacker laughed and said;

"I'm not going this minute."

"I'm going this minute."

He went back into the room and continued his packing. His wife went into a front room where she knew there was a loaded revolver.

A few seconds later there was a report of a pistol shot. Miss Guinon ran to Hacker's door and knocked, saying;

"Mrs. Hacker has killed herself. I heard the shot."

"She shot out of the window to frighten me," said Hacker. "She won't kill herself."

SENDS FOR A PHYSICIAN.

When smoke from the revolver began to study into the hall where Hacker stood by his open door he said;

"I think she did shoot herself. Get a doctor quick, and don't let anybody into the apartment."

He ran into the front room to find his wife kneeling upon the floor against a piano in her right hand she held a revolver.

Hacker took the revolver from his wife and went back into the hall.

"If you come any nearer I'll shoot."

He backed into the room, and once he nearly shot with the revolver. Shots Miss Guinon ran in the hall finally crowded into the room they saw Mrs. Hacker leaning against the piano and her husband lying on his back on the floor a few feet away. He held the revolver.

DIED, HER ARMS AROUND HIM

He was not dead, but his wife was not long to remain so. She crawled toward him, reaching him by getting her arms around his neck. Dr. Dolphin said that Hacker was dead, and as he was speaking, Mrs. Hacker died.

One of the letters which Mrs. Hacker had written to her husband during his last trip to the West, and which he had brought back with him, was dated July 8, and read:

"My darling;

"I wish you could know that although I am very lonely without you I try to be brave, telling myself that you will soon be home again. You have a hard life, dearest, with so much travel, and with so much hard work. But do not let it make your life any brighter to know that there is in New York one woman who adores you and whose only thoughts are of you and your happiness! I wish with all my soul that you could have this trading to some body else and settle down with me alone in some cottage far away from cities and business. My life, which was sad enough in the past, God knows, has been glorified by your love, and I am ashamed of myself when I feel as I do sometimes that I do not mean to you all that I want to mean.

"I should think that a man who possesses the love of a woman as you possess mine, and whose welfare and happiness are the only things in the world for which that woman cares would find that there are not quite so many shadows in life as you seem to find.

"Dear heart, I love you with all my soul, but I shall never be happy till I have you always, and not as I have you now for only a few weeks at a time. You are a good man, and a man who can go far. I don't want you to waste yours if upon work that is not worthy of you. I want you to go and do something for yourself, because it will only be when you are perfectly happy that I shall have any happiness."

Montreal, Aug. 21.— The Stanley Cup trustees—Messrs. P. D. Ross and William Foran—have two cup challenges at hand. One from the Edmonton Hockey Club has been accepted, and Wanderers of Montreal, will be asked to defend the trophy on dates which will be mutually agreed upon by the two clubs, but which will be at a time, says Mr. Foran, that will in no way interfere with the hockey season in the east.

The other challenge is from Renfrew, and, as far as accepting it goes, the trustees have not yet given it any consideration, merely placing it on file. Mr. Foran, however, states this challenge will be taken up shortly by the trustees.

Peterborough may see a world's championship wrestling match pulled off here this autumn, nothing less than a match between Frank Gotch, who now holds the title, and Yankee Rogers, ex-champion of America, in a catch-as-catch-can match for the heavyweight championship of the world. The announcement was made yesterday by Mr. W. B. Naylor of Montreal, the manager of Yank Rogers, who is the authority for the statement that the two men have signed articles for a match this autumn. It was Mr. Naylor's intention to have the match take place in the ring at St. Brooks, Quebec, but this will not be possible, and it is quite likely that the two will meet here.

Hotel at Huntsville Destroyed by Fire

Huntsville, Ont., Aug. 21. — The Flynn Hotel took fire this morning while the kitchen girls were lighting the kitchen stoves in preparation for breakfast, and before help could reach the place the flames had spread through the whole eastern wing.

Guests were hurriedly aroused, and all turned in to save what was possible of the furniture. The western wing is of frame construction, and so rapidly did the flames spread, that the inmates were only able to rescue their personal belongings. All the furniture save a few bedroom suites was destroyed, and the building is a total wreck.

The eastern wing is of brick, and separated from the burned portion by fire-proof passage. This part is untouched.

The fire has destroyed the kitchen outfit, and that branch of the business will be suspended for a time at least.

CANADA AND THE PEERAGE

In view of the persistent rumors as to the probability of Sir Wilfrid Laurier being raised to the peerage, the following letter, which recently appeared in the London Telegraph, showing that there was once a Viscount Canada, will be of interest in the Dominion:—

Sir,—I have before me an article headed as above which appeared in the Daily Telegraph a few days back. The writer points to a rumor that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is about to receive a peerage and goes on to say there was once an Earl of Stirling and Viscount Canada, but that the titles ceased for so short a period that almost all memory of them has disappeared. My object in writing to you is to point out that the titles exist now, and always have existed, since their creation in 1621, and belong to my family, as the sole direct representatives of Henry Alexander fifth Earl of Stirling. In the early part of the last century the title, but not the property, was claimed by a member of another branch of the family, but on his claiming the privileges of a peer in some law proceedings the case was tried in Scotland, the judge deciding that Lady Downshire, my Baroness Sandys, was the rightful holder of the titles, which she assumed, and they became but for the time by her using the superior title of Marchioness of Downshire. Among some of the rewards my ancestor received for his many services in the State in general and to Canada in particular, were the grants of Nova Scotia, the Dominion of Canada, and Staten Island, or as it was afterwards called, Long Island, on which a large part of New York is built. He also had the right of creating Nova Scotia baronets, making himself the first in 1625.

The question of the right or justice of alienating the Original properties of the Stirling family without compensation has never been shown; regarding the titles, there is no question.

I must apologize for taking up so much of your valuable space on what is something of a personal matter, but it may some public interest at the present moment, bearing in mind the great part Lord Stirling played in the creation of the Dominion. I beg to remain, sir, your obedient servant,

SANDYS.

SOCIAL PROGRESS IN NEW ZEALAND

The remarkable experiments along political lines that New Zealand has been making have attracted the attention of the world. Nowhere else as there been such a fine field for experiment, and nowhere else have such radical experiments made been so successful. With an area of 103,658 square miles, or about six-tenths that of Great Britain and Ireland, and a population of about one million, of whom a third or more are Maoris, the Prime Minister, Mr Joseph Ward, was able to announce a few weeks ago that the revenue amounted to $45,000,000, the highest on record. During the past twelve years only one law has been passed increasing taxation—that imposing a graduated land tax on estates exceeding $250,000 in value. The object of this law was not revenue but to induce large owners to sell. Revenue is largely derived from the State railways and a graduated income tax.

The chief measures now being considered are an amendment of the Civil Service, the Conciliation, Arbitration and Mining Acts and the proposed adoption of old age pensions.

Not only has legislation been adopted with a view to diminishing the amount of land held by the large landowners, but there soon will be 1,500000 acres of new land opened for settlement in the North Island. Mr. McNab, Minister of Land and Agriculture, in a recent speech declared that unskilled farm laborers were required in every part of the Dominion.

In the matter of strikes the Conciliation and Compulsory Arbitration Acts have on the whole worked well. Their working, however, has revealed some small points, and these it is now proposed to remedy. During the last thirteen years there have been only eighteen strikes, and all these were small and unresolved, as in the case of the Auckland tram railway strike in May last, which ended last a day. Yet it has become manifest that the Compulsory Arbitration and Conciliation Acts need strengthening. Parties to a strike are inclined to disregard the fine for non-compliance, and public sentiment will not yet tolerate imprisonment as a penalty. The general impression seems to be that New Zealand, like New South Wales in a recent act, must aim at the suppression of the strike as a social offence.

Much is hoped from the proposed Conciliation Council, and also from the "minimum wage" proposal, by which worker and employer may agree as to extra pay for extra work. The necessity for such agreement is argued from the fact that the production of certain workers in the industry had decreased 15 to 20 per cent. under uniform wages.

PROVISION OF FUEL IMPORTANT PROBLEM

We agree with the Belleville Chronicle that no subject is of more importance to the people of Canada than that of the provision of ample supplies of fuel. Our coal deposits are confined to the eastern and western provinces, so that the centre of the Dominion is dependent for its fuel largely upon that imported from the United States or upon wood. It is estimated that Canada burns at least seven and a half million cord of wood each year, as well as over 15,000,000 tons of coal, so that it can be easily understood how important it would be if some substitute could be found for either.

Such a substitute lies within our grasp in our peat deposits, which are roughly estimated to cover no less an area than 47,000 square miles. This figure is given by Dr. R. Chalmers, of the Geological survey, but it is quite evidently below the mark, as up to the present time no systematic investigation of the peat bogs has been undertaken and these are undoubtedly many which have not been included in that estimate.

Several attempts have been made in Canada to manufacture peat fuel, but in most cases results have been financial failures which have caused a certain distrust among capitalists and the general public in everything connected with peat and the utilization of the peat bogs. With the view, however, of learning from the experiences of other countries which have utilized their peat deposits, Mr. Eugene Haanel, Dominion of Mines, last year instructed Mr. Erik Nystrom of the Mines branch to proceed to Sweden, Norway, Finland, Denmark, Germany, Holland and Ireland to study and report upon the peat industries in those countries. Mr. Nystrom has just completed his report, and a most valuable volume it is.

He shows clearly that if our people will but learn from the experience of the peat bog owners of Northern Europe, there is no reason why we should not develop these natural stores of fuel to the advantage of our fuel consumers and with profit to the capitalists. Modern methods must, of course, be adopted, but with their use he shows how peat fuel could be produced at a cost of two dollars a ton, which on an investment of $37,500 for a 100 acre bog, would give yearly profit of $7,500. The peat industry is subsidized substantially by most of the governments of Northern Europe, and it might be a good policy for the Dominion Government to consider whether it shall follow in the same course. If peat is a profitable commodity with fuel on the other side of the Atlantic, and the facts prove that it is, there is no reason why it should not be the same in this country. The Russian Government is anxious to make Russia independent of imported fuel, and gives to private persons or companies owning peat plants a loan of forty per cent. of the cost of the plant. This loan can be paid back in peat products. In Holland peat fuel has been used for centuries, and at present the production is over one million tons per year. The worked out peat bogs are chiefly for agricultural purposes and annually about one thousand of such lands are gained. The government always uses peat fuel in its buildings, and although coal could be cheaply obtained from England and Germany, the Hollanders prefer to use the peat fuel.

A NEW KIND OF WHEAT

Writing in The Saturday Evening Post under the heading "A Miracle in Wheat", Mr. Orsal (F. G. Day of Minneapolis presents some distinctly startling figures relative to a new kind of wheat which is being experimented with in Idaho and other states. The wheat was found growing wild on the east coast of Alaska, and attracted the attention of a prospector by reason of its immense size—the head being, with its beard, four inches in length.

Failing to find gold, the prospector returned to Idaho and planted the seeds of the Alaskan wheat. He found that it grew quite as well in Idaho as in Alaska, and after a sufficient crop had been harvested he submitted it to the government experiment station for a test.

The station chemist reported that the kernels would doubtless grade No. 1 and that it would probably take rank with the best Bluestem for flour. The experimenter then planted his grain in the autumn and found that it grew an excellent grade of winter wheat. The test was repeated in the south with equal success.

The extraordinary thing about the wheat is that its average yield is said to be 622 bushels to the acre, while the world's average yield is only 12.7 bushels, with a fair yield for exceptional land of 30 bushels. Brokers and farmers to whom it is said, have accepted this news with a certain skepticism.

If the wheat should prove to be all that is claimed for it, however, it would revolutionize the price of foodstuffs throughout the world. In the present incomplete stage of knowledge of this grain speculation would be idle, but further experiments should elicit much attention.

INVESTORS AND THE BLIND POOL

We do not know how Tom Lawson's "friends, the fellow American people", have responded to his extraordinary invitation, which appears in leading U. S. papers as well as Toronto contemporaries. It is not likely that many experienced or well-to-do investors have been or will be misled by the get-rich-quick promises of the frenzied speculator from Boston. But the small investors, with whom, as all social students recognize, the question of how to dispose of their little saving is always serious, need to be reminded of the preposterous nature of Lawson's bid or proposal.

He asks "the American people" to put him in absolute control of their private finances, to enter a blind pool, ask no questions, trust to his infallibility and financial omnipotence, and let him juggle with their capital in stock gambling. He would substitute for the speculations and manipulations of the "system" his own uncontrolled and irresponsible speculation—and this at the expense of others, generosity of people who can ill afford to lose a dollar in any form of gambling and who have no business in the "square of the stock market."

The "call" is as audacious as its terms are wildly absurd. To restate it in plain words is assuredly sufficient to warn off any man of ordinary prudence and ordinary sense.

The remedies for the evils of frenzied finance are publicity, honest corporation laws and effective control. What Lawson offers is worse than anything in any objectionable system. It means secrecy, dark and devious ways, one-man power and the Lawsonization of corporate finance by means of the small accumulations of poor men.

Apropos of the controversy on the demand of the woollen manufacturers for increased duties, the Winnipeg Tribune sums up the case against the demand in these words: "The people of Canada could afford to close all the woollen factories in Canada, pension all the employees, pay the farmers for all the wool, letting them retain the wool, and then be millions in pocket. Such is the effect of the Laurier protective Tariff Policy." That is to say money would be saved in lower prices to the consumer if prices were not kept up by high duties on the imported article.

An Unsought Pardon.

Among the stories of that former governor of Texas familiarly known as Sam Houston is more than one amusing tale.

There was a financial agent of the penitentiary who had warmly opposed the election of Governor Houston, but was particularly anxious to retain his own pleasantly lucrative position. Consequently the new governor was soon in receipt of a petition in which the man's years of faithful service and special qualifications for the place were set forth in glowing terms by himself.

The governor sent for him and said gravely, "It appears from this petition that you have been in the penitentiary eight years."

"I have," was the reply.

"And during that time you have performed faithfully every duty that has come in your way to the best of your ability?"

"I have," answered the agent, his courage swiftly rising.

"Then, sir," said the governor, with the air of one conferring a priceless favor, "I pardon you out."

Put Out of Commission.

Abernethy was supposed to influence people by a brusqueness amounting to absolute rudeness. It is related that one day a very voluble lady took her daughter, who was ill, to see him.

"Which of you two wants to consult me?" said Abernethy.

"My daughter," replied the elder woman.

Abernethy then put a question to the girl. Before she had a chance to reply her mother began a long story. Abernethy told her to be quiet and repeated his question to the girl. A second time the woman began a story, and a second time he told her to be quiet. Then she interrupted him a third time.

"Put your tongue out," he said to the mother.

"But there's nothing the matter with me," she exclaimed.

"Never mind, put your tongue out," he commanded.

Thoroughly overawed, the woman obeyed.

"Now, keep it out," said Abernethy, and he proceeded to examine the girl.—Grand Magazine.

SUNSET AT GUAYAQUIL.

There is No Twilight, No Interval Between Daylight and Dark.

The days and nights at Guayaquil are of equal length. The sun knocks off promptly at 6 o'clock in the evening and gets up at 6 in the morning with equal regularity the whole year around. There is no twilight, no gloaming, no interval whatever between daylight and dark—only a brilliant illumination, the sudden disappearance of a red ball into a blue ocean, a spread of flame color over all the western sky for a few minutes and a purple haze in the east.

Then the surface of the ocean, like the heavens, is lighted with millions of strange and shifting stars, for the water is so impregnated with phosphorus that each tiny wave is tipped with light, and the foam that follows in the wake of the vessel is often like a stream of fire. Sometimes you can see porpoises swimming along the bow of the vessel livid with phosphorescent light and followed by a streak of sparks like a comet's tail.

The Southern Cross, with the right arm tipped out at proper angle, lies straight ahead in the midst of myriads of unknown worlds that look strange to those accustomed to the northern constellations. Under the left arm is a large black spot in the heavens, brightened by only a single modest star, which the sailors call "the devil's dinner bag." Over the stern of the vessel in the early evening you can plainly distinguish the familiar constellation of the Great Bear, but it goes to bed with the children.

Fine of $150 and Costs was Imposed

A charge of violation of the Indian Act, regarding the bringing of intoxicants to Hiawatha Reserve on August 5th, was tried there yesterday. Mr. Edmonson, police magistrate of Peterborough, and Crown Attorney Wood, also of Peterborough, had charge of the prosecution and Mr. Gordon was the lawyer for the defence. The minimum fine of $50 and costs was imposed with a warning that on a second offence the maximum penalty of $300 and costs, would be imposed. It is to be hoped that this conviction will deter other white men from bringing liquor on the reserve.

Corrected.

A little girl in Rhode Island, the daughter of a clergyman, once sat at the table with a bishop who was visiting her father.

When they had finished she observed that he did not fold his napkin. Dismissed, she said:

"We always fold our napkins here."

"Yes, my dear," said the bishop. "But that is because you use them again. In the case of a visitor you don't do that."

"Oh, yes, we do," said the little girl.—New York Life.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause in congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—eases blood pressure away from pain centers, effects a charming, pleasingly delightful, Gently, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure.

If it's painful periods with women, same cause.

If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is so certainly, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop pain in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Strike your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

A Trying Moment.

Professor Leopold Schroetter was called to see the Crown Prince Frederick in 1887 before Sir Morrell Mackenzie had reached San Remo. The prince, evidently suspecting the worst, turned to Schroetter after the examination and said, "I request the truth as to my ailment." Schroetter hesitated and made an effort to direct the conversation in another direction, but Frederick insisted. "I am a soldier," he said, "and can look death in the eye. I ask you now plainly, to the point. Is my complaint cancer?" Schroetter could hardly contain himself, and years after the scene when he recalled it he spoke of it as the most painful in his life. He conducted the crown prince to a chair and asked him to be seated. Then he said, "Your imperial highness, you are suffering from a serious complaint, and it is possible that it may develop into carcinoma, but that cannot be determined positively at this moment." Frederick became deathly pale, but never for a moment lost his self control and smiled grimly when he thanked the physician for his honesty.

Coming to an Understanding.

In the amiable way of villagers they were discussing the matrimonial affairs of a couple who, though recently wed, had begun to find the yoke of Hymen a burden.

"'Tis all along o' these hasty marriages," opined one caustic old gentleman, who had been much to the fore in the discussion. "They did not understand each other. They'd nobbut knowed each other for a matter o' seven year."

"Well, that seems long enough," said an interested lady listener.

"Long eno'! Bah! Ye're wrong! When a body's courtin' he canna be too careful. Why, my courtship lasted a matter o' nineteen year!"

"You certainly were careful," agreed the lady listener. "And did you find your plan successful when you married?"

"Ye jump to conclusions," said the old man impatiently. "I understood her then, so I didna marry her!"—St. James' Gazette.

A MOTHER'S HELPER.

Girls Who Assist in the Small Household Duties.

Most of the little things that a girl can attend to are the tasks which her mother has in mind, but is too busy to carry out. She can see that the house plants are watered every day, and she can cut a blossom now and then for the table. She can plant a few pansy roots in one of her candy boxes, lined with oil paper, and set it on a small platter in the middle of the dining table for a centerpiece.

She can remove the spots that her mother is too busy to take out of the tablecloth between launderings by putting a few drops of hot or cold water, as the case may require, on them. She can keep a little parsley bed of her own, so that meats and vegetables can come to the table with a fresh garnish.

Keeping the rugs in the living room straight can be one of her tasks; also seeing that the window shades are all raised to the same height. When the furniture gets a slight scar she can rub it off with beeswax, a trick which keeps furniture fresh, but which her mother may not have time for.

She can see that the front door plate, the electric light switches and the door-knobs all over the house are kept polished. The smooches on mirrors can be rubbed off with a piece of crumpled tissue paper.

She can make a pretty wastebasket for the living room or any room that needs one out of strong cardboard covered with wall paper or chints, and she can see that the younger children use it. Pieces of her cotton dresses she can make into covers for the sofa pillows which will be tossed about in the hammock and on the porch this summer.

Mothers and fathers like to see their daughters appear domestic in these days, when girls have so many outside interests, and any girl can charm her father by wearing a tiny white apron around the house. It needs be only a man's handkerchief with ribbon strings, but it will please her father and protect her dress. Wearing an apron is only one way of appearing freshly laundered and bright, which is the biggest part of being a real ornament to one's home.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Warm salad oil will relieve earache.

Always try to pass at least one hour a day in the open air.

Never let a child or infant sleep in the room with a sick person.

Never use on the face a wash rag which is not scalded each day.

Do not think that scrubbing will injure your complexion, for it will not.

Cocoa butter will smooth the rough elbows, but it must be persistently used.

Quickly apply raw egg to a cut. It will allay the pain and quickly heal the wound.

If possible have children sleep in darkened rooms, as a light is bad both for eyes and nerves.

The Example of Birds.

Some birds are typical examples of human attributes. The dove symbolizes innocence, and the eagle represents majesty, but the robin redbreast teaches the best lesson of all, for he sings as joyously in the dark, dreary winter days, when the earth is frost bound and snow covered, as in pleasant summer days, when food is plentiful and life is merry. Thus in his humble way he teaches the lesson of patience and gratitude.—Home Notes.

A Fulfillment.

They said he'd make his mark 'mongst men.
It was a prophecy profound,
He bought himself a fountain pen
And when he shook it now and then
Made marks on every one around.
—Washington Star.

A Query.

"Of course she's excited. You see, her fiance has just been arrested."

"That so?" Automobilist or just a decent crook?"—Judy.

A Possible Explanation.

"So many lies stalk in daylight!"
Remarked the observant youth.
"Perhaps that's why, howe'er we try,
It's hard to tell the truth."
—Catholic Standard and Times.

From Her Standpoint.

"What are 'mournful numbers?'"

"They are the figures which a woman sees when she has to give her real age."—New York Press.

Keep It to Yourself.

Aye, "know thyself!" Naught matters so
You gain that information.
But then don't let your neighbors know.
You'd lose your reputation.
—Philadelphia Press.

Defined.

"Uncle Henry, what are pajamas?"

"Pajamas, my boy, are the masculine substitute for the bloomer costume."—St. Louis Republic.

When Experts Disagree.

Those experts claim the man is sane.
Those experts prove his lack of brain.
The reason that they don't agree
Depends upon the pay, you see.
—Des Moines Register.

They Killed Him.

Smithson—Poor chap! I understand that he was clubbed to death.

Jonesby—Yes. He belonged to four, I think.—Judge.

No Rest For the Weary.

If a man sits down at set of sun
To count the things that he has done
His good wife will suggest a few
More things that he ought to do.
—Detroit Tribune.

A Way Out.

"Scientists say the supply of coal is nearly gone. Then what'll we do?"

"Oh, burn coke, I suppose." — New York Times.

These bonds are in the denomination of $100.00, and bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, July and January, and are redeemable on or before five years from date at the company's option at $110.00 and accrued interest.

$100.00 Stock Bonus Given with Every $100.00 Bond

With each bond issued there will be given $100.00 par value of the capital stock of the company as a bonus, and in addition thereto there will be placed in escrow with the Trustee additional stock which will be available to the bondholders at their option any time within a period of three years, the bondholder being entitled to surrender his bond any time within said period and receive in lieu thereof stock for every dollar of indebtedness to him on account of said bonds.

The Security Back of these Bonds

The company owns twelve claims situated in the district of Ures, State of Sonora, Mexico, free from mortgage or bonded indebtedness, except the present bond issue.

On one of these properties (The Ramona Mine) 6,000 feet of underground development work has been done, consisting of an inclined shaft to the depth of 400 feet with drifts in three levels to the North and South of the shaft.

An average value of ore worth $11.67 per ton is exposed throughout the mine, from the collar of the shaft to the extreme parts in the drifts, all of which is above water level.

The company has made surface improvements and mine improvements to the extent of $60,000.00 in the way of machinery, skids, trams, steam hoists, mill and nearly everything necessary to make the mining camp complete.

In addition to the absolute ownership of these twelve valuable claims, the company has a lease on the San Jose Mine, adjoining its property, in which the company has been operating in high grade ore.

During the past sixty days the company has extracted and delivered to ore buyers and the bank at Hermosillo, $3,000.00 worth of ore and bullion, the ore having been reduced to bullion through the company's mill, with the exception of 1,464 pounds, which was sold to an ore buyer for $562.50.

The Money Derived from the Sale of these Bonds

This issue of bonds is made for the purpose of securing money at once in order to extend the development work more quickly than the company's present means will permit.

With the high grade ore in sight to the distance of 85 feet to the South of the shaft, the management is assured that within six months from date of making the improvements now necessary the company's properties will be on a self-sustaining and dividend-paying basis.

The Stock which is Given with these bonds will be as valuable as the bonds when the Company has the ready capital to push operations

Men who invest in these bonds will have no cause or reason to regret their action, for the bonds afford an investment in a security which is absolutely safe—much better than ordinary city or country real estate, which is considered perfectly safe if the property put up to secure a mortgage is double the face of the loan. The security given on these bonds is better than 7 to 1, for the Ures Consolidated Mining Company has refused an offer of $750,000.00 for the property upon which this $100,000.00 worth of bonds is issued.

These bonds are an investment with all speculative risk eliminated —an investment with absolute security.

Make your reservation at once. This is small and promises to be quickly sold.

1 CENT A 2 SHARE

Our prospectuses are out. Send for one.

Make reservation of stock, if you do no more. But, remember, this present offer of stock at Half a Cent a Share is now open, and will be closed as soon as enough cash subscriptions are in hand. Don't wait, or you will get left.

Send us your name as a member in this new company, with your remittance for as many thousand shares as you can take at $5 per thousand.

This is a short-time offer on a hurry-up proposition. Our vice president is up at Rawhide now putting the miners at work. We want to raise the necessary funds for development as quickly as possible. Therefore, we offer the first block of stock at $5 a thousand shares. This subscription must be all cash. We want the money in hand. We mean to work without let-up. And we have made it an iron-clad rule not to run in debt. Cash counts now.

The gold mining property owned outright by the company consists of 7 claims, 4 in the Rawhide district of Nevada, and 3 in the Dulzura district of Southern California.

The Rawhide district to-day is more famous than Goldfield, Tonapah, Bullfrog, or Searchlight were at the same stage of exploration and development. The Dulzura discovery is one of the most sensational in the history of California.

Ten samples of ore which were among the first assayed, ran as high as $17,461.57 to the ton, and all ten averaged over $1,500 a ton.

In both camps we located early, and our locations are choice. Our own officers will superintend the mining.

Clean Up Inside

Blood and System Cleansing in the Spring Makes Good Health all Summer.

In spite of all your careful habits, its safe to say that in the spring you feel poorly—have a tarnishing sensation in the head—skin is pale or yellow, with dark rings under the eyes. If not absolutely bilious the system is re full of bile that you feel heavy and tired all day long.

Clean up, work off the winter's accumulation of waste, purify your blood. Do this and you'll feel fresh as a prize-fighter. "For ten years, says W. B. Sangster, of Concord, "I suffered greatly from impure blood, which made me feel debilitated and unfit for work. I had no appetite, suffered from indigestion and gas, had some pains in the back, caused by poor kidney action. Spring was the hardest time of all, and many a time I felt despondent and languid enough to throw up the sponge. I was impressed by the marvellous work done by Dr. Hamilton's Pills and tried them. They suited me exactly. In one week I felt like new. I was braced up, got rid of blood weakness, gained in flesh, got back my old time appearance and spirits. Dr. Hamilton's Pills will clean all the sickness out of a man in short order and I urge young and old to use this grand tonic medicine."

Tanks Burst and Flooded Grounds

On Saturday the concrete slurry tanks at the Cement Works burst out and flooded the ground on the west side of the works and part of the railway track. The tanks are built of concrete, and the pressure must have been tremendous, as large parts of the cement walls were hurled across the tracks, nearly to the road at the west. The slurry and large pieces of cement were piled on the track to such a depth that the afternoon train had to go through the lumber yards to get to Peterborough.—Lakefield News.

A Wonderful Remedy

Orange Lily is daily curing the most obstinate cases of female disorders, falling of the womb, leucorrhoea, painful and suppressed menstruation, etc., are all of them relieved from the start by its use, and a few weeks' or months' treatment accomplishes a complete cure. This remedy is a positive, scientific preparation, and is based on the discoveries of Pasteur and Lister. It is an Applied treatment; that is, it is not taken internally, but is applied direct to the suffering parts, and it, therefore, acts with all the certainty of the known laws of chemical action. As it comes in direct contact with the diseased tissue, its antiseptic and nerve-food properties cannot help but have a beneficent influence. I receive from 10 to 50 letters daily, speaking of the benefits and cures it is performing; and so sure am I that it will do what is claimed for it that I will send, absolutely free, a 25 cent box to every suffering woman who will write for it. House Destroyed by Fire and Mrs. Mann Seriously Burned

Bethesda, Aug. 20—The house of Mr. James Mann of Trent River, 9th miles south of here on the Trent River, was completely destroyed by fire this morning and Mrs. Mann was painfully and severely burned.

Tar was being boiled in a pot on the stove in the kitchen with which to tar the roof, when it took fire and soon was a blazing mass. Mrs. Mann made an heroic attempt to save the house from fire by trying to carry the pot of fire outside, but had only taken a few steps when the heat of it became unbearable and she had to drop it. The blazing tar at once rolled over the floor, immediately setting fire to the house. The house was completely levelled to the ground with other small buildings adjoining it. Mrs. Mann was badly burned, most seriously about the head and hands. It is reported here that her clothing was completely burned off her by the fire and that she is in a very critical condition.

Habit-forming Medicines.

Whatever may be the fact as to many of the so-called patent medicines containing injurious ingredients as broadly published in some journals of more or less influence, this publicity has certainly been of great benefit in arousing needed attention to the subject. It has, in a considerable measure, resulted in the most intelligent people avoiding such foods and medicines as may be fairly suspected of containing the injurious ingredients complained of. Recognizing this fact some time ago, Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., "took time by the forelock," as it were, and published broadcast all the ingredients of which his popular medicines are composed. Thus he has completely forestalled all harping critics and opposition that might otherwise be urged against his medicines, because they are now of KNOWN composition. Furthermore, from the formula printed on every bottle wrapper, it will be seen that these medicines contain no alcohol or other habit-forming drugs. Neither do they contain any narcotics or injurious agents, their ingredients being purely vegetable, extracted from the roots of medicinal plants found growing in the depths of our American forests and of well recognized curative virtues.

Instead of alcohol, which even in small portions long continued, as in obstinate cases of diseases, becomes highly objectionable from its tendency to produce a craving for stimulants, Dr. Pierce employs chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine, which of itself is a valuable remedy in many cases of chronic diseases, being a superior demulcent, antiseptic, antiferment and supporting nutritive. It enhances the curative action of the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark and Bloodroot, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery," in all bronchial, throat and lung affections attended with severe coughs. As will be seen from the writings of the eminent Drs. Grover Coe, of New York; Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, Phila.; Scudder, of Cincinnati; Ellingwood, of Chicago; Hale, of Chicago, and others, who stand as leaders in their several schools of practice, the foregoing agents are the very best ingredients that Dr. Pierce could have chosen to make up his famous "Discovery" for the cure of not only bronchial, throat and lung affections, but also of chronic catarrh in all its various forms wherever located.

Rain Ensures End of the Famine in India --Is Worth Millions

Saving of Human Life and Suffering Alone is Said to be Enormous

Relief Works are Closing

London, Aug. 22—The highly satisfactory information that there has been a good rainfall over the greater portion of Indian, thus ensuring the end of the famine which began last autumn, has been received with feelings of great relief in both governmental and business circles in this country.

In a cablegram, dated August 3, from the Viceroy to the Secretary of State for Indian, it is stated that the rainfall has encouraged agricultural operations, that there has been a further decrease of nearly 50,000 in number of persons in receipt of relief from the State, that several relief works in the United Provinces have been closed, and that if the rains continue many of the remaining works will be similarly dealt with.

The value of the general rainfall to India cannot be stated in round figures, but it will be enormous both in material gain and in the saving of human life and suffering. In the famine of 1900-1-2 the government of India spent over £7,000,000 in direct relief, and lost about an equal sum through the remission of land and other revenue and as compensation allowance to civil servants and the army in view of the dearness of provisions.

In those years millions of acres went out of cultivation and the trade of the country was dislocated with the result that there was widespread ruin among agriculturists, shopkeepers, and merchants. Of a population of close on three hundred millions nearly three-fifths depend on agriculture for a living, and this industry is, of course, dependent upon the seasons. In the preceding famine of 1896-7-8, which reached its height in May and June 1897, during those two months 3,-650,000 persons were relieved each day.

The present welcome rains will not only restore millions of acres to cultivation and induce general prosperity, but they will also stay the spread of fever, cholera, and other diseases which in India are always rife when the common people are weakened by famine.

Frost Did Little Harm in West

Very light frosts are reported from Manitoba and Southern Saskatchewan, but they were not heavy enough to cause damage. The only station where is reported frost is Minnedosa, which had a temperature of 32.

SLIGHT DAMAGE.

Winnipeg, Aug. 23 —Severe frost visited some parts of the West last night, notably Indianapolis, where 25 degrees was recorded. Three degrees of frost was registered at Brandon, and at many other points in Manitoba and Saskatchewan the mercury was around freezing.

The high wind will mitigate the crop damage, but the wheat suffered where over two degrees was recorded.

Masquerade Ball and Corn Roast

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Matthews Gave a Delightful Entertainment at Their Summer Cottage, Chemong Park

On Friday evening last a very enjoyable affair took place at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Matthews, Chemong Park, consisting of a masquerade dance and corn roast. The house and grounds were beautifully illuminated with colored lights presenting a very fascinating appearance. There were a large number of guests present from the city and from a distance. A feature of the function was that many of the guests represented characters, which was maintained throughout the evening. In this connection a number of prizes were offered for the best representation, and these were awarded as follows; First prize, Miss Wolfe, Buffalo, representing corn; second, Miss Loomis, Toronto, Japanese; third, Mr. McWilliams, Toronto, Chinaman; fourth, Mr. Loomis, Toronto, Turk.

Mrs. Hopwood of Peterborough, who wore an Indian costume, received great praise for its originality and beauty.

The affair was exceedingly enjoyable and everybody was more than charmed.

Bumper Crop of Wild Rice on Rice Lake

Keene, Aug. 22—There is every promise of a bumper crop of wild rice on Rice Lake this year. The straw is so very heavy that it is nearly impossible to push a canoe through it. Harvesting will commence in about two weeks With the present high price for wild rice the Indians ought to make extraordinary wages harvesting it. The parched rice sold last year for fifteen cents a pound —three times the price of seven or eight years ago. The heavy crop of rice should also make the ducks plentiful this fall as there will be an abundance of feed for them. Local sportsmen are anticipating sport when the season commences on September 1st.

Captain Hains Tried to Strike His Brother --Became Excited

Story Goes Back Six Years--Said to Still Love His Wife Devotedly

Enraged by Interruption

New York, July 22.—Captain Peter C. Hains is on the verge of a violent collapse, according to the keepers and those who have kept him under observation in the Long Island City jail since his incarceration on the charge of killing William E. Annis. He was in a state of great excitement yesterday, when, during his talk with Attorney Joseph S. Shay, he attempted to strike his own brother, Major John P. Hains, who has come to New York to the aid of the two brothers and the family.

Major Hains and Mr. Shay called on the two brothers in the jail, it being the first meeting between the prisoners and their counsel. As the four men sat together around the table in the counsel room of the jail Mr. Shay started to extract from Hains the full story of his life with his wife, and his relations with his friend, Annis. During the recital of the story, Captain Hains became greatly excited.

ENRAGED BY INTERRUPTION

"Then I met Bill," he exclaimed— and Major Hains, interrupting, said, "You mean Annis."

Captain Hains was so enraged by the interruption that he rose from his chair and with both fists clenched and as if to strike the major.

Mr. Shay jumped up from his seat, at the long table, and, placing a hand on the captain's shoulder, said;

"There, there, captain, that's all right."

What might have been a fratricide ended right there and then. But the demeanor of the prisoner throughout the interview with his counsel was such that when Mr. Shay, accompanied by Major Hains, left the jail and met a reporter, he said:

"It has been utterly impossible for me to obtain a complete statement from my client today. I tried to get him to tell the full story of his life, this being the first time I have met him. He talked rationally enough until the name of Annis was mentioned. Then he went up in the air. I mean by that that he could not talk rationally about Annis at any time, and I'm convinced the man certainly today, is not in his right mind.

"Captain Hains is madly infatuated with his wife today, as he always has been. He fell in love with her on first sight. If Hains has her today as devotedly as on the first day that he saw her. This man Annis, according to what my client tells me, had been a snake in the grass for at least six years. Mrs. Hains made four different confessions, three of them verbal and one written, as to her relations with Annis.

"'It has been reported,' suggested the reporter, 'that Mrs. Hains still desires the reconciliation with her husband. Do you think that Captain Hains is of the mind to make such an arrangement?'

"There is no telling what Captain Hains wants to do or might do," said Mr. Shay. "I shall see him in the morning, when I hope he will be more calm, and perhaps then I will be able to answer that question."

BEGAN SIX YEARS AGO.

Mr. Shay said the friendship between Annis and Mrs. Hains began six years ago. He said when the full story became public, which it soon would, the sympathy of the world would be with the accused captain.

Major Hains, who had listened to Mr. Shay's account of the scene in jail, and who was apparently much broken up after his interview with his brother, said;

"This is a terrible story. Nobody has yet any idea of what it is. It began six years ago. My brother's mind is gone on that thing."

District Attorney Darrin yesterday said he was convinced the brothers Hains were already beginning to fear the punishment which comes to every man who commits murder. Mr. Darrin said he would make no order for extra guards on the cell in which Captain Hains is confined, because so far as he has been able to learn the prisoner's condition was not such as to indicate mental derangement or suicidal impulses.

STATE ALIENISTS.

Asked if he had already engaged alienists, Mr. Darrin said;

"Dr. Platt, the jail physician, has seen these two prisoners since they have been in jail. From the talks I have had with the doctor I do not understand that either of them is insane or in need of medical or special treatment.

"The County of Queens at present would not allow its prosecutor's office to spend $20,000 on a trial, which this trial would certainly cost if we had to hire high priced experts. The present appropriation in my office, which is supposed to run the office to the end of the year is $7000.

"The ordinary cost of a homicide case such as this to the county should be from $1,000 to $1,200. I shall consult Comptroller Metz tomorrow and see if it is possible to obtain for the office a further appropriation. We certainly need more money, not only to try the two Hains brothers, but to try five other persons who are in the county jail charged as the Hains brothers are, with homicide."

Lynch Law in United States

One of the most scandalous racial riots that have ever taken place in the United States, was that perpetrated by an infuriated white mob at Springfield, the capital of the state of Illinois, a few days ago. A negro had assaulted a white woman in a more than ordinary brutal manner, and a negro, not the perpetrator of the foul crime, was lynched by a resolutely determined mob. The city was for a whole night in the hands of rioters and lawbreakers, and other lives were lost in the fray.

All this happened, not in a semi-barbarous because slavery-cursed South, not even in one of the proverbially rough border States, but in one of the most staid and respectable of the middle western communities, within little more than two hundred miles of Chicago, and in the city where Abraham Lincoln practised law more than half a century ago. Many of the lynchings that have taken place in the United States have been excused on the grounds that the barbarous outbreaks of lawlessness were survivals of frontier life, mere sudden impulses of communities in which at one time in their evolution the only means of ensuring the public safety was the vigilance committee and where it was inconvenient to keep convicts because there were no jails. Nothing of this sort can be pleaded for Springfield. It never had a frontier community existence or history. It has always been staid, and respectable, if not what might be called cultured.

This Springfield incident must be regarded as an instance of reversion, not as survival from primative conditions. It is a pure proof of the deterioration of a society that has always stood for law and order till now. It becomes a serious question for the American people to consider whether this reversion is typical and how far and fast it may be spreading. Our neighbors, in their wide departure from the "simple life" have become regrettably indifferent to the value of human life and the comparative absence of shock caused by such an outbreak as the one at Springfield may be due to this form of degeneracy.

Against such forms of lawlessness it is necessary for all civilized communities to guard. On those who are charged with the tasks of enforcing law and keeping order rests a heavy responsibility. Canadian shave been long accustomed to see crime punished with almost absolute certainty. Even in our district and not long ago inaccessible West there has never been a "frontier" stage of lawlessness. We have kept up at great expense a body of mounted police who proved singularly inefficient, and who are now quietly giving way to no less efficient local guardians of the peace. But it will not do to leave such matters to settle themselves. The newer provinces of the West and the older provinces of the East must valiantly guard society against crime by prosecuting criminals.

Expired Suddenly While Taking a Bath

Word was received from Havelock by Coroner Dr. Gray yesterday of the sudden death of Mr. Dingwk, dentist, of that village. Mr. Dingwk was taking a warm water bath when he suddenly expired while in the bath tub. Dr. Crawford was summoned but life was extinct.

Coroner Gray was communicated with and after hearing the circumstances decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Heaviness, Lassitude Drowsy and Dull

DO YOU FEEL THAT WAY?

How provoking these symptoms are!

You sleep well, but when you awaken there is none of the exhilaration that sleep and rest should confer.

Instead of being alert, having quickness of apprehension, there is languour, dullness, a disinclination to do things.

Three causes for this feeling.

Lazy liver, lazy kidneys, and a mighty lazy stomach which does its work very poorly and comp is the other organs to do things they are unequal to for any length of time.

Note the consequence— blood is filled with wastes—poisons weigh down the nervous system—rebuilding process are absolutely stopped.

You'll note an instant change when you take Ferrozone.

Appetite improves, digestion becomes good as ever—skin grows ruddy and clear, all sense of languor, unsteadiness and depression fades away and finally disappears.

Ferrozone clarifies the brain, supplies tone and vigor, imparts clearness and strength. You feel like a new person, full of life, full of ambition, ready to do things,—and able to do them also.

Think it over. Ferrozone is a tonic that uplifts, upbuilds, that nourishes and restores the sick by supplying the elements their weakened system need.

It can't help but do you good. For men, women and children, in fact anyone seeking strength and health, Ferrozone is invaluable; try it, sold by all druggists in 50c boxes.

U. S. Government to Fight Standard Oil Co.

Chicago, August 22.—The government's petition for a rehearing by the United States Court of Appeals, of the case against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, was filed today and represents, it is authoritatively stated, the administration's attempt to save the Elkins Act and the Interstate Commerce Law from becoming futile.

The filing of the petition marked the appearance of Attorney General Bonaparte in the case as well as that of Frank B. Kellogg, who is a special assistant to the attorney general.

Besides these two names the petition is signed by Edwin W. Sims, U. S. district attorney at Chicago, and Special Assistant, James H. Wilkerson, both of whom practiced the government's side of the case in the hearing before Judge Landis, who administered the famous fine of $29,240,000 against the defendants.

"On but a single point involved in the trial up to the return of the verdict of guilty," says the petition, "are the rulings of the trial court criticized by the Court of Appeals. In all other particulars his rulings are sustained. The point on which the trial judge is reversed by the Court of Appeals relates to his ruling on evidence and his charge to the jury with reference to ignorance of the part of the Standard Oil Company of the lawful rate as a defense. The Court of Appeals in its opinion has not correctly stated how the judge ruled on this subject."

Continuing the petition declares that whereas the opinion of the Court of Appeals states that Judge Landis refused to admit evidence to the effect that the Standard Oil Company did not know what the lawful rate was, the record of proceedings in the lower court shows that such evidence was admitted.

The footprints of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the Stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For this, druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr Shoop's Restorative. First, these tiny inside Stomach, Heart, and Kidney nerves fail. Then gas belching, Heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment, you will realize the gain. A trial will tell. Sold by all dealers.

Sir Wilfrid Will Attend Six Open-Air Meetings to Take Form of Picnics

Toronto, Aug. 22.—The tour of Sir Wilfrid Laurier through Ontario has now been arranged, the program as outlined below, having been determined on after conference held between Mr. F. G. Inwood, Liberal general secretary, and local party officers.

It will be seen that the places have been selected as central points from a rural point of view. It will not be a city tour. The cities and large towns will be visited by other ministers and Liberal speakers. Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Railways, will accompany the Prime Minister at these meetings, as follows;

Niagara Falls, Queen Victoria Park Tuesday, Sept. 15, 2 p.m.

Strathroy, Saturday, Sept. 19th, 2 p.m.

Tilbury, Monday, Sept. 21st, 2 p.m.

Clinton, Wednesday, Sept. 23rd, 2 p.m.

North Bay, Friday, Sept. 25th, 2 p.m.

Jackson's Point, Lake Simcoe, Monday, Sept. 28th, 2 p.m.

These are all open-air meetings, arranged on the plan of a political picnic. In case of inclement weather, full arrangements are being made to meet under cover.

Between Sept. 15th and 19th Sir Wilfrid will probably attend the Manufacturers' banquet at Montreal.

Mr. Inwood emphasizes the point that these six meetings are his instructions to date, and that no other meetings can be arranged for west of Toronto.

Big Gathering of the Clans at Belleville

Mr. Robert Grieve, Organizer of the Sons of Scotland, was in the city Saturday, and stated that his visit at Campbellford has been attended with splendid results. He has initiated 16 new members into the local camp and notes a revived interest in the work he represents. He returned to Campbellford on his way to Belleville, where the gathering of the Clans will be held on Aug. 26th Grand Organizer Grieve hopes to see all the Camps he has visited well represented on this occasion. The band of the 48th Highlanders, Toronto, will be in attendance and $500 will be devoted to prizes in Caledonia games. Peterborough Camp will visit the "sleepy" city in full strength.

Business Revival in Canada

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—During the past fortnight the Canadian imports have taken a jump, which indicates that the tide has turned, and the decline which has persisted for the past ten months has been checked. It is predicted that the customs revenue will steadily swell again. The falling in the imports, and consequently in the revenue, was very great, and was due to two facts. The imports of two years ago were phenomenal, showing that the merchants had stocked up as never before. Then came the business decline throughout the country and the merchants were unable to dispose of their big stocks.

It is well known that the business conditions in Canada began easier some time ago, but the customs stocks were being disposed of. Apparently this has been done in a large measure, for orders for more goods have been placed abroad, and these goods are now passing the customs. While the imports of this year will not be up to those of two years ago, still the total will by no means be as bad as the first four months indicated.

Pretty Village of Fenelon Falls Named After Sulpician Priest

Was Brother of Famous Abbe Fenelon Archbishop of Cambray, France--Pickering Harbor Also Connected with His Labors in Canada

Lindsay Free Press referring to the enquiry of the Fenelon Falls correspondent in Tuesday's issue of The Free Press has to the origin of this name "Fenelon Falls", for the pretty cataract which supplies light and heat for Lindsay, we find, on looking up the matter in Gardiner's "Nothing but Names", the following:—

"This place is called Fenelon from a brother of the French Archbishop Fenelon, to whom the following account is given:—

"In the autumn of 1666 two Sulpicians, Messieurs Fenelon and Trouve, established a mission at a village of the Cayugas, on the Bay of Quinte. This M. Fenelon has often been mistaken for the celebrated Archbishop of Cambray. The Canadian missionaries' labours in Central Ontario are commemorated by the recurrence of the name 'Fenelon' in the County of Victoria. Our Canadian Abbe was not the Abbe Fenelon who wrote Telemaque and became Archbishop of Cambray; the missionary-explorer of our lake shores was the Archbishop's elder brother. They were both sons of Count Fenelon-Salignac, though by different marriages.

"'Abbe Fenelon spent part of 1671 at Pickering Harbor, which for over two centuries bore the name of Fenelon's Bay.'

Aid Husband If He Gives Money and Children

Boston, Aug. 22— Mrs. Peter C. Hains, Jr., wife of the army officer in jail at Long Island City for killing Wm. E. Annis, at the Bayside Yacht Club last Saturday, will come to the defence of her husband at the forthcoming trial, if by so doing she can obtain her children.

When her husband shot Annis, Mrs. Hains was bitter toward the former, and expressed the belief that he should be punished for the deed. Since then she has swung around to the position, that for the sake of her children and to insure her own future, she can afford to submerge sentiment as to the crime.

From a close friend of Mrs. Hains it was learned today that if she receives assurance of the custody of her children, and a substantial sum as alimony, she will allow matters to rest as they are, pending the outcome of the murder trial. The children to remain with their grandfather, General Hains, within the jurisdiction of the New York courts.

A LIMITED DIVORCE.

It also developed that Mrs. Hains' decision to apply for a limited divorce, on the ground of "unjustifiable cruelty," instead of an absolute divorce, was an afterthought. It is said that soon after her return to Winthrop an effort was made to obtain evidence on which to base an action for absolute divorce in New York, and that stories in connection with several women were investigated. None of them could be substantiated.

Frederick L. Norton, attorney for Mrs. Hains, said today after consultation with his New York associate, that the attitude of his client toward the defence of her husband would depend in a large measure on the terms that were offered by her husband's family. It is expected the negotiations now in progress will be concluded by Monday, when Mrs. Hains' course will be determined.

WILL TALK LATER.

To escape attention Mrs. Hains, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Libby, left Winthrop today unannounced for a resort believed to be in Maine, although none of the Libby family would tell their exact destination. It was said today that as soon as the future relations of Mrs. Hains with her husband's family are determined definitely Mrs. Hains will receive permission from her attorney to discuss the case.

"We have no direct interest in the murder trial," said Mr. Norton. "If the Hains family goes far enough toward us we will go the limit to help them, but we have not heard from them so far."

"Would Mrs. Hains become a witness for the defence?"

"I do not know. We do not even know if Mr. McIntyre wants her as a witness."

Charles H. Libby, Mrs. Hains' father, said she signed several papers, among them release of dower rights and release of her rights as beneficiary in insurance policies. Mrs. Hains is said to be anxious to make a settlement with her husband's family so resources will be exhausted by the trial, or trials.

"Our daughter made no complaint to us when she returned home," said Mrs. Libby. Her first married year was happy, and then came nagging and recriminations, later, beatings and chokings. They were married against my wishes, as our daughter was only sixteen years old at the time. The great regret of my life is that I allowed her to have her way."

Mrs. Annis, widow of Capt. Hains' victim, left New York yesterday to escape the notoriety that was being forced on her by the events of last Saturday. Before leaving she directed a friend in her apartment to say for her that she had the fullest confidence in her late husband's innocence in connection with the Hains' affair, and that she (Mrs. Annis) had been aware of the automobile rides and other evidences of friendliness between her husband and Mrs. Hains. This was but a repetition of the first statement made by Mrs. Annis after her husband was shot.

Captain Hains, after five days in jail, began to evince signs of despondency. These were noted by the defence as indications of insanity and by the prosecution merely as the inevitable breakdown that follows perfect realization of the seriousness of the charge and the possible results.

"The prisoner, is not a man of education and fine perceptions. Is beginning to realize the enormity of his act and the danger ahead of him," said District Attorney Darrin.

"Both these men were and are as sane as any man. I am not worried by the program of the defence, for they will not be able to convince anyone that the killing of Annis was not a popularly deliberate, well-planned, and logically executed crime. I do not expect it will be necessary to retain experts to refute the claim of insanity. As to James Hains, I will have ten witnesses to prove that he drew his revolver and began to keep the crowd back at the same

GOVERNMENT ANNUITIES

The decision of the government to embark in the Annuity business is worthy of close attention. For some reason or another, the purchase of such provisions for life incomes, has never been very popular in this country. The total amount paid out by Canadian and Foreign companies last year, was but $126,749. Term endowment policies have always appealed more forcibly to our people, the amount in force in 1907 reaching the total of $34,136,556, the amount of matured risks paid, to over $3,126,000. This is quite in accord with the national characteristics. Canadians are not, as a rule, inclined to rest satisfied with a life income. We have not learned, as yet, to take life easily, so long as food and raiment are assured to us. Money is not yet so plentiful as to have no working or earning power. The great majority of men are confident that they can do much better work ready cash than invest it in a yearly life income. It is well that this is a pre-vailing principle, for such spirit of enterprise and some speculation is necessary to promote any community at all going to rise, and is especially required in our youthful, growing, developing country.

The subject has come to us at present time from the world wide interest now taken in the matter of provision for the aged poor. Germany has been driven to do a thing, or is at least engaged in the consideration of the wages paid to the frugal living laborer in all departments. Great Britain, in measures the value of which are still matters of debate, has ventured upon an expenditure of its relief work as pension matters. Russia, even, has been going somewhat in the same direction. Whether with our sparse population, our immense outlays upon public works, which help materially to maintain high rates of wages, our unappropriated facilities for safe investments, and our numerous insuring agencies, the Government was justified in undertaking upon an annuities scheme, which is evidently intended to do service as a Pensions Act, may be fairly open to be debatable.

The arguments in favour were largely founded upon the Savings Bank deposits of the people. We are reminded that the many millions go to show that if the present depression lasts much longer, the Post Office Bank will not afford foundation for such argument. Withdrawals are at present greatly in excess of deposits. But that is simply by the way. The anticipations of the Finance Minister that much of this deposited money is by way of provision for old age, leaves out of sight the fact that a majority of depositors are wage-earners from other older countries, who have been taught by bitter experience the inability of their positions, and the need of laying by for a rainy day. The present rate of withdrawal should disclose that fact.

The theory that the depositors in Savings Banks will hasten to withdraw their money for investment in Government Annuities, is certain not to be realized. That there is any considerable or pronounced desire to lock up money in any way we must be allowed to doubt. No one desires that it may be desirable that such thriftiness as provides for old age should be encouraged. Probably, however, the insurance companies could attend to that part of it, if the business is really remunerative. For that is one of the main points in the contentions of the Government. The system is to be self-sustaining, if not quite self-supporting. The Finance Minister has publicly stated that the estimated that the cost to the government of putting the scheme in operation would not be a dime more than $250,000 per year. With this sum in expected the Department of Commerce, to which the annuity bureau would be attached would be able to make up deficiencies in interest earnings and employ a superintendent, an actuary and three or four travelling agents or representatives to propagate the system amongst the people."

We should be sorry to see the government undertake any opposition to the regular insurance organizations in this matter, for we have not yet learned that it is qualified to teach business to business men, nor that its economical methods are preferable to those in general use in the commercial world. The Annuity plan of investment is not popular in the Dominion. It may require enormous expenditures to teach its advantages to an indifferent community.

Fits helped at once with Dr. Sheop's Magic Ointment. Just to prove it, a trial box will be mailed on request, by writing Dr. Sheop, Racine, Wis. Stomach, nerve, liver and kidney troubles, all yield to the wonderful, quick and certain help from Magic Ointment. Large box 50c, sold by all druggists.

THE CATTLE EMBARGO

T. Hamar Greenwood, M. P., the more prominent Canadian in the Imperial Parliament, who is now in Canada in discussing the vital question of the cattle embargo states emphatically that it must go. He says its retention is but a political exigency, and the only reason why the Government of Great Britain has not removed it, is owing to the fact that the Conservative party are opposed to it, as are also the solid Nationalist contingent. At the present time Ireland has practically a monopoly in the English market for live cattle and strenuously opposes the removal of the embargo. He hopes however, that the persistent efforts of the Tariff reformers will remove the injustice to Canadian cattle. For years it was contended by those advocating the embargo that Canadian cattle were diseased but that fallacy has long been exploded, and there is no reason, other than a political advantage why such legislation so inimical to Canadian interests should not be rescinded.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

We do not know how Tom Lawson's "friends, the whole American people", have responded to his extraordinary invitation, which appears in leading U. S. papers as well as Toronto contemporaries. It is not likely that many experienced or well-to-do investors have been or will be enticed by the get-rich-quick promises of the frenzied speculator from Boston. But the small investors, with whom, and all social students recognize, the question of how to dispose of their little saving is always serious, need to be reminded of the preposterous nature of Lawson's bid or proposal.

He asks "the American people" to put him in absolute control of their private finances, to enter a blind pool, ask no questions, trust to his infallibility and financial omnipotence, and let him juggle with their cash in stock gambling. He would substitute for our speculations and manipulations of the "system" his own unbridled and irresponsible speculation—and this at the expense of others, generally of people who can ill afford to lose a dollar in any form of gambling and who have no business in the "quarters of the stock market."

The "call" is as audacious as its terms are wildly absurd. To restate it in plain words is assuredly sufficient to warn off any man of ordinary prudence and ordinary sense.

The remedies for the evils of frenzied finance are publicity, honest corporation laws and effective control. What Lawson offers is worse than anything in any objectionable system. It means secrecy, dark and devious ways, one-man power and the Lawsonization of corporate finance by means of the small accumulations of poor men.

Writing in The Saturday Evening Post under the heading "A Miracle in Wheat", Mr. Oscar F. Gay of Minneapolis presents some distinctly startling figures relative to a new kind of wheat which is being experimented with in Idaho and other states. The wheat was found growing wild on the east coast of Alaska, and attracted the attention of a prospector by reason of its immense size—the head being, with its beard, four inches in length.

Failing to find gold, the prospector returned to Idaho and planted the seeds of the Alaskan wheat. He found that it grew quite as well in Idaho as in Alaska, and after a sufficient crop had been harvested he submitted it to the government experiment station for a test.

The station chemist reported that the kernels would doubtless grade No. 1 and that it would probably take rank with the best Blue Stem for flour. The experimenter then planted his grain in the autumn and found that it grew an excellent grade of white wheat. The test was repeated in the South with equal success.

The extraordinary thing about the wheat is that its average yield is said to be 224 bushels to the acre, while the world's average yield is only 12.7 bushels, with a fair yield for exceptional land of 30 bushels. Brokers and farmers it is said, have accepted this news with a certain skepticism.

If the wheat should prove to be all that is claimed for it, however, it would revolutionize the price of foodstuffs throughout the world. In the present incomplete stage of knowledge of this grain speculation would be idle, but further experiments should elicit much attention.

We agree with the Belleville Chronicle that no subject is of more importance to the people of Canada than that of the provision of ample supplies of fuel. Our coal deposits are confined to the eastern and western provinces so that the centre of the Dominion is dependent for its fuel largely upon that imported from the United States or upon wood. It is estimated that Canada burns at least seven and a half million cord of wood each year, as well as over 15,000,000 tons of coal, so that it can be easily understood how important it would be if some substitute could be found for either.

Such a substitute lies within our grasp in our peat deposits, which are roughly estimated to cover no less an area than 37,000 square miles. This figure is given by Dr. R. Chalmers, of the Geological Survey; but it is quite evidently below the mark, as up to the present time no systematic investigation of the peat bogs has been undertaken and there are undoubtedly many which have not been included in that estimate.

Several attempts have been made in Canada to manufacture peat fuel, but in most cases results have been financial failures which have caused a certain distrust among capitalists and the general public in everything connected with peat and the utilization of the peat bogs. With the view, however, of learning from the experience of other countries which have utilized their peat deposits, Mr. Eugene Haanel, Director of Mines, last year instructed Mr. Erik Nystrom of the Mines branch to proceed to Sweden, Norway, Finland, Denmark, Germany, Holland and Ireland to study the report upon the peat industries in those countries. Mr. Nystrom has just completed his report, and a most valuable volume it is.

He shows clearly that if our people will but learn from the experience of the peat bog owners of Northern Europe, there is no reason why we should not develop these natural stores of fuel to the advantage of our fuel consumers and with profit to the capitalists. Modern methods must of course, be adopted, but with their use he shows how peat fuel could be produced at a cost of two dollars a ton, which on an investment of $37,000 for a 100 acre bog, would give yearly profit of $3,000. The peat industry is aided substantially by most of the governments of Northern Europe, and it might be a good policy for the Dominion Government to consider whether it shall follow in the same course. If peat is a profitable competitor with coal on the other side of the Atlantic, and the facts prove that it is, there is no reason why it should not be the same in this country. The Russian Government is anxious to make Russia independent of imported fuel, and gives to private persons or companies erecting peat plants a loan of forty per cent. of the cost of the plant. This loan can be paid back in peat products. In Holland peat fuel has been used for centuries, and at present the production is over one million tons per year. The worked out peat bogs are excellent for agricultural purposes and annually about one thousand of such lands are gained. The government always uses peat fuel in its buildings, and although coal could be cheaply obtained from England and Germany, the Hollanders prefer to use the peat fuel.

Apropos of the controversy on the demand of the woollen manufacturers for increased duties, the Winnipeg Tribune sums up the case against the demand in these words: "The people of Canada could afford to close all the woollen factories in Canada, pension all its employees, pay the farmers for all the wool, and then be millions in pocket. Such is the effect of the Laurier protective Tariff Policy." That is to say money would be saved in lower prices to the consumer if prices were not kept up by high duties on the imported article.

ARTIST OR ARTISAN.

Do You Practice an Art or Follow a Trade?

What are you—you who bake the bread and brew the tea—artist or artisan? You may roast a joint for two or twenty, you may toss an omelet on occasion or pursue that occupation as a profession, and still be either an artist or artisan.

Some one has said in writing of Mme. Poulard, whose little inn was for years one of the attractions of Mount St. Michael:

"To see her preparing an omelet or a stew or keeping an eye on the chickens revolving over the fire was to see a woman practicing an art rather than following a trade."

That distinction between an art and a trade is an interesting one, by the way, and one which may be applied to the realm of cooking as well as to that of any other field of endeavor.

In common parlance house painting is termed a trade, while painting miniatures on ivory would surely be referred to as an art. Still, with no inaccuracy in definition the terms might be reversed.

Of course the difference in the two terms, stating it broadly, is one of conscious effort. The artist adds the imprint of his own personality to his work; the artisan merely performs manual labor. An art perhaps is only a trade with the creative element added.

And so it was said of this Mme. Poulard:

"In handling her utensils she had the grand air which distinguishes the artist from the artisan, the cook whose heart is in her work from the cook bent on earning a living."

Is it too high a standard to set for the mere business of cooking to demand that it be done with individuality? A criticism which was once made of the table of a club is that it "had no love in it." To quote again: "The actual needs (of the club) were generally met, but there was no margin, no suggestion of human interest. You were treated as a boarder to be fed and not as a human being with taste as well as appetite."

How different this from the attitude of a woman whose apple pies invariably caused some favorable comment and who was once asked how she made them!

"Oh, I don't know," she said. "Just the usual way, I guess, only I always think of the nice folks I am making them for and put in a pinch of love."

The woman was a practical, hard-working housekeeper with a big family of boarders, not a sentimental newly wed, but she meant pretty literally what she said. Most women in her circumstances would have put in only a pinch of grim necessity.

The pinch of love, or, if you please, the spontaneous interest, that went into that work was the thing that made those pies the work of an artist rather than an artisan.

And when you hear a woman talk about the drudgery of "messing around the kitchen" and the awful bore it is to get meals you may make up your mind that, however gifted she may be in other lines, in her home at least she is an artisan and not an artist.

Missed a Chance.

"But, Tommy," said his mother, "you asked for two cakes and I gave them to you. Aren't you satisfied?"

"No, I ain't," growled Tommy. "You was so easy I'm kickin' meself now 'cause I didn't ask fur four."—Philadelphia Press.

Restlessness.

Mere restlessness is not a matter for which physicians are often consulted. It is on the face of it an unimportant malady, but when it exists in sufficient intensity to form the subject of complaint and to induce the sufferer to seek advice it is usually found to be the superficial indication of a grave underlying condition.—Hospital.

A Candle Trick.

Let a candle burn until it has a good long snuff, then blow it out with a sudden puff. A bright wreath of white smoke will curl up from the hot wick. Now, if a flame be applied to this smoke, even at a distance of two or three inches from the candle, the flame will run down the smoke and relight the wick in a very fantastic manner. To perform this ceremony nicely there must be no draft or "banging" doors while the mystic smoke is there.

A Testimonial
Little Dorothy could not have paid her father a higher compliment, or better expressed her love for him than when she said, "Papa, I would like to tell you something if you won't tell Mamma."

"Why don't you like mamma to know it, daughter?"

"Well, you tell her things I say, and she laughs at them and I don't want her to know this."

"But papa hear what you have to say, anyhow."

"Well, I have often thought that if mamma were to die I would like to marry you."

Priest to Save Body
Franklin, Pa., Aug. 21.—To terminate a controversy as to who should get possession of his body, Mike Holka, who for 20 years has lived here, yesterday made a will bequeathing his body to Rev. Bernard Donohue, of St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Holka was afraid his body would fall into the hands of ghouls or in medical college if the relatives took it.

A little girl in Rhode Island, the daughter of a clergyman, once sat at the table with a bishop who was visiting her father.

When they had finished she observed that he did not fold his napkin. Dismissed, she said:

"We always fold our napkins here."

"Yes, my dear," said the bishop, "but that is because you use them again. In the case of a visitor you don't do that."

"Oh, yes, we do," said the little girl.—New York Life.

If the Earth Should Stop.

The stopping of a projectile always results in the generation of heat. The velocity and weight of a projectile being known, the amount of heat developed by its stoppage can be calculated. In the case of large bodies moving rapidly the result of the calculation is something astounding. For example, the earth weighs 6,000,000,000,000 tons and travels in its orbits at the rate of over eighteen miles a second. Should it strike a target strong enough to stop its motion the heat developed by the shock would be sufficient not merely to fuse the earth, but also to reduce a large portion of it to vapor. It has been calculated that the amount of heat generated by a collision so colossal would equal that obtainable from the burning of fourteen globes of coal each equal to the earth in size. And should the earth after its stoppage fall into the sun, as it certainly would do, the amount of heat developed by the impact on the sun would be equal to that generated by the combustion of 8,000 earths of solid carbon.

A Spanish Ghost Story.

The atmosphere of Spain agrees most perfectly with all sorts of spirits, and a delightfully ghoulish story is told of the punishment of a bold, bad man who killed a friar. At the time of the crime the murderer escaped to Portugal, where he remained so long that on his return nobody recognised him. One morning, when he was walking along the street, he saw a fine sheep's head in the market place and, fearing it might be purchased while he went home for a servant, he secured it, but, ashamed to be seen carrying a package, he concealed it under his cloak. Unfortunately, blood trickled from the head, and a member of the holy brotherhood, perceiving it, stopped him and asked, "What bearest thou, cavalier?" "Nothing," was the mendacious reply, which naturally excited suspicion, and the monk cried, "My brother, thou hast somewhat unlawful beneath thy cape." And behold, when the cloak was torn aside there was—the head of the murdered friar!—Los Angeles Times.

Cough Caution

Never, positively never poison your lungs. If you cough—even from a simple cold only—you should always heal, soothe, and ease the irritated bronchial tubes. Don't blindly suppress it with a topefying poison. It's strange how some things really come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has constantly warned people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now—a little as though—Congress says "Put it on the label, if poisons are in your Cough Mixture." (And) very good!) Hereafter for this very reason mothers, and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's label—and none in the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance, then, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and note the difference. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding

FEMININE VANITY.

The Jewish and Egyptian Women Were Arrant Coquettes.

Feminine vanity is not the product of our effete civilization, but is as old as the history of the world.

The Jewish and Egyptian women were arrant coquettes and well versed in the artificialities of the toilet. When Jezebel learned of the approach of Jehu she sought to enhance her charms by painting her face and blackening her eyes with antimony.

Judith before she proceeded on her murderous mission to the tent of Holofernes bathed and perfumed her person with infinite care and wrapped herself in a splendid veil, in whose voluminous folds she concealed her cruel weapon. The Itoman belles of the empire dyed their hair blond, red and even blue, according to the caprice of the moment. They used cosmetics of every kind to excess and, like the Moorish women, augmented the luster of their eyes by means of antimony. They also pencilled their eyebrows with a bodkin blackened in the smoke of frankincense.

Wealthy women bathed in asses' milk and slept with their faces poulticed with bread steeped in asses' milk in order to efface wrinkles. Even poets sang the praises of certain cosmetics, and Ovid wrote a laudatory poem on the merits of a preparation which, he asserted, preserved the freshness of the skin to old age. It was a curious mixture and was compounded of lily roots, yolks of eggs, hartshorn, gum benzoin, flour and honey, which were all boiled together.

Pliny mentions a species of face powder made of earth from the island of Chio dissolved in vinegar. Juvenal writes that the countenances of the Roman women were disfigured with this supposed beautifier. Among the Roman ladies it was the fashion to be very pale, as red cheeks were not deemed aristocratic. To attain this desirable pallor a quantity of chalk was rubbed on the face.

Many of the cosmetics in use in Greece and Rome have been discovered among ancient relics. Antimony, the oldest of them all, has been found in the utensils belonging to the stone age.

THE INNOCENT FOX.

Blamed For Offenses Committed by His Wicked Cousins.

We are often told of the fox as a destroyer of grouse, but I should like to hear the story of some eyewitnesses as to his work in this direction. It is very easy to find fox tracks about the remains of a bird and then say a fox did it. I believe that many of the offenses laid at his door are committed by weasels, mink and wildcats, or lynx.

During a part of the year I have known foxes to spend a part of each day digging among potato hills in a retired hollow for white grubs or mice in the adjoining fields and to return to the mountain at nightfall, passing a farm which was almost covered with young poultry out for grasshoppers. From an experience of about ten years in a locality where foxes abound I am convinced that this animal destroys but few, if any, chickens. Our trouble there was, first of all, hawks, then skunks, owls and raccoons. The fox never invaded the chicken coops or broke up the sitting turkeys out at the base of the mountain. Of course in winter a fox may sometimes trap a grouse in the snow at night, but who has ever seen a fox actually catch a grouse? Come, now, brothers of the forest, be honest and own up. I would be glad to learn how the fox does the trick, if any one has seen it done.—Forest and Stream.

Funerals in Peru.

According to social usage, women in Peru cannot attend funerals, and they do not appear at weddings unless they are very intimate friends. When a funeral procession passes through the streets the coffin is carried upon the shoulders of the pallbearers, who are followed by an empty hearse drawn by two, four or six horses, according to the means of the mourners and their desire for display. All the male members of the family and friends of the deceased follow on foot, with a line of empty carriages behind them. As long as they are in the presence of the dead it is considered a proper and necessary evidence of respect to walk. After the body has been committed to the grave those who attend the funeral are brought home in carriages.

A Mark of Respect.

Andrew Carnegie was entertaining a Montenegrin prince at Skibo castle. The morning after the prince's arrival a party of guests set out in a huge motor car for a long run, and as they whizzed past an inn a great crowd of highlanders rose from the benches before the inn and saluted.

The prince seemed amazed at the highland dress.

"Why," he asked, "do these men go bare legged?"

"It is a local custom," said Mr. Carnegie, "a mark of respect for you, sir. In some places people take off their hats to show honor to distinguished visitors; here they take off their trousers."

A Man Hunt.

An English paper says that the hat of a certain shortsighted master at Eton blew off one day and as he started in pursuit a black hen dashed out of the gateway. The schoolmaster saw the hen and thought it was his hat, and all Eton was electrified by the spectacle of a hatless and breathless reverend man hunting a black hen circling from one end of the street to the other.

These bonds are in the denomination of $100.00, and bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, July and January, and are redeemable on or before five years from date at the company's option at $110.00 and accrued interest.

$100.00 Stock Bonus Given with Every $100.00 Bond

With each bond issued there will be given $100.00 par value of the capital stock of the company as a bonus, and in addition thereto there will be placed in escrow with the Trustee additional stock which will be available to the bondholders at their option any time within a period of three years, the bondholder being entitled to surrender his bond any time within said period and receive in lieu thereof stock for every dollar of indebtedness to him on account of said bonds.

The Security Back of these Bonds

The company owns twelve claims situated in the district of Ures, State of Sonora, Mexico, free from mortgage or bonded indebtedness, except the present bond issue.

On one of these properties (The Ramona Mine) 6,000 feet of underground development work has been done, consisting of an inclined shaft to the depth of 600 feet with drifts in three levels to the North and South of the shaft.

An average value of ore worth $11.67 per ton is exposed throughout the mine, from the cellar of the shaft to the extreme parts in the drifts, all of which is above water level.

The company has made surface improvements and mine improvements to the extent of $60,000.00 in the way of machinery, skids, frame, steam hoists, mill and nearly everything necessary to make the mining camp complete.

In addition to the absolute ownership of these twelve valuable claims, the company has a lease on the San Jose Mine, adjoining its property, in which the company has been operating in high grade ore.

During the past sixty days the company has extracted and delivered to ore buyers and the bank at Hermosillo, $15,000.00 worth of ore and bullion, the ore having been reduced to bullion through the company's mill, with the exception of 1,464 pounds, which was sold to an ore buyer for $562.50.

The Money Derived from the Sale of these Bonds

This issue of bonds is made for the purpose of securing money at once in order to extend the development work more quickly than the company's present means will permit.

With the high grade ore in sight to the distance of 50 feet to the South of the shaft, the management is assured that within six months from date of making the improvements now necessary the company's properties will be on a self-sustaining and dividend-paying basis.

The Stock which is Given with these bonds will be as valuable as the bonds when the Company has the ready capital to push operations

Men who invest in these bonds will have no cause or reason to regret their action, for the bonds afford an investment in a security which is absolutely safe—much better than ordinary city or country real estate, which is considered perfectly safe if the property put up to secure a mortgage is double the face of the loan. The security given on these bonds is better than 7 to 1, for the Ures Consolidated Mining Company has refused an offer of $750,000.00 for the property upon which this $150,000.00 worth of bonds is issued.

These bonds are an investment with all speculative risk eliminated—an investment with absolute security.

Make your reservation at once. This is small and promises to be quickly sold.

RAWHIDE-DULZURA

1 CENT A 2 SHARE

Send us your name as a member in this new company, with your remittance for as many thousand shares as you can take at $5 per thousand.

This is a short-time offer on a hurry-up proposition. Our vice president is up at Rawhide now putting the miners at work. We want to raise the necessary funds for development as quickly as possible. Therefore, we offer the first block of stock at $5 a thousand shares. This subscription must be all cash. We want the money in hand. We mean to work without let-up, and we have made it an ironclad rule not to run in debt. Cash counts now.

Our prospectuses are out, send for one.

Make reservation of stock, if you do no more. But, remember, this present offer of stock at Half a Cent a Share is now open, and will be closed as soon as enough cash subscriptions are in hand. Don't wait, or you will get left.

The gold mining property owned outright by the company consists of 7 claims, 3 in the Rawhide district of Nevada, and 4 in the Dulzura district of Southern California.

The Rawhide district to-day is more famous than Goldfield, Tonopah, Bullfrog, or Searchlight were at the same stage of exploration and development. The Dulzura discovery is one of the most sensational in the history of California.

Ten samples of ore which were among the first assayed, run as high as $7,461.87 to the ton, and all ten averaged over $1,500 a ton.

In both camps we located early, and our locations are choice. Our own officers will superintend the mining.

A Time Fuse for Torpedo Boats

New York, Aug. —Another danger has been added to naval warfare and the inventor of the latest form of ship destruction, Lieutenant Commander Cleland Davis, U. S. A., discussed it last night. It is a torpedo which carries in its interior a steel gun barrel that discharges a shell loaded with high explosives when the torpedo strikes the side or bottom of the enemy's ship. The point of invention is that this explosive shell is equipped with a time fuse, so that it will not explode until it reaches the interior of the vessel. At a recent test a torpedo of the Davis type was sent 12½ feet to a tank fifteen feet in diameter with three bulkheads each of iron plate five-eighths of an inch thick. The torpedo passed through all of them and sank the tank and went 100 feet beyond. It is said the torpedo will revolutionize the building of warships.

time his brother began to shoot."

"Jenkins Hains cannot be convicted of murder in the first degree in view of the evidence we have," say the defence lawyers. "The fact is, and we shall be able to establish it by witnesses outside the family, that the men went by appointment to Bayside not connected with the Annis affair, but with whom I cannot tell at this time, and that Captain Hains had no intention of shooting Annis that afternoon. Jenkins Hains went with him as he had been with him for months and had no idea that the tragedy was to result. He drew his revolver and kept the crowd back only after the shooting, and to keep the crowd from harming his brother."

When asked why the brothers had loaded a revolver in a carriage driving to Bayside, Mr. Shay denied such had been the case, and explained their revolvers on the ground that, as soldiers, they always carried them. An interesting contention will be carried out in court as to whether Jenkins Hains drew a revolver when his brother started to shoot or after the shooting was over.

Do You Want to Know What You Swallow?

There is a growing sentiment in this country in favor of MEDICINES OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. It is but natural that one should have some interest in the composition of that which he or she is expected to swallow, whether it be food, drink or medicine.

Recognizing this growing disposition on the part of the public, and satisfied that the fullest publicity can only add to the well-earned reputation of his medicines, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has "taken time by the forelock," as it were, and is publishing broadcast a list of all the ingredients entering into his leading medicines, the "Golden Medical Discovery" the popular liver invigorator, stomach tonic, blood purifier and heart regulator; also of his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, over-worked, broken-down, nervous and invalid women.

This bold and out-spoken movement on the part of Dr. Pierce, has, by showing exactly what his well-known medicines are composed of, completely disarmed all harping critics who have heretofore unjustly attacked them. A little pamphlet has been compiled, from the standard medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, showing the strongest endorsements by leading medical writers of the several ingredients which enter into Dr. Pierce's medicines. A copy of this little book is mailed free to any one desiring to learn more concerning the valuable, native, medicinal plants which enter into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are tiny, sugar-coated anti-bilious granules. They regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Do not beget the "pill habit," but cure constipation. One or two each day for a laxative and regulator, three or four for an active cathartic. Once tried always in favor.

Had an Almost Miraculous Escape

Bancroft, Aug. 22.—During the storm which passed over this section this week, the residence of Mr. W. Wiggins, clerk of Faraday, was struck by lightning and the family had an almost miraculous escape. The bolt struck the gable of the house and passed down into a bedroom on the first floor. From there it went out under the door to the dining room, tearing up a portion of the floor and throwing some of the pieces up to the ceiling. It finally made its exit through the kitchen, where Mrs. Wiggins was at work, and she was badly shocked. There were seven people in the house at the time, and that all escaped seemed marvellous. The dog was killed. The building was damaged to the extent of about $40, but the loss is fully covered by insurance.

ROMANCE OF A SECRET MARRIAGE

New York, Aug. 22.—When Mr. J. Harold Wanpenny, handsome young society man of Philadelphia, returns from Europe, it is expected that he will go to housekeeping—for the cat is out of the bag. He's a married man, and has been for several months.

Also for several months past there has really been no such person as Miss Beatrice Reilly, that name having been generally discarded in favor of "Mrs. J. Harold Wanpenny."

With their secret divulged, the details of their pretty romance sound broadcast, it would be silly for these two young people who love each other as dearly to go on living in the homes of their respective parents starring their hearts on the meagre love diet of an ostensible bowing acquaintance.

Having the astonishing news, Philadelphia society "puts two and two together," and thinks that it now understands the whyfore of another secret marriage which came to light not long ago, and certains.

"All the mystery is solved. It was, indeed, by mutual consent that Harold Wanpenny, and Inez Sprague broke off their engagement, that was so satisfactory to their respective parents. Each loved another!"

For Miss Inez Sprague was the bride of that other secret marriage, which, when it came to light, is said to have much angered her family, though the happy husband is Harry Stanton, son of a former justice of the supreme court of Rhode Island.

But Miss Sprague was of an even more distinguished family. She is a grand daughter of the famous war Governor Sprague and of Kate Chase Sprague, the latter a daughter of Salmon P. Chase, who was chief justice of the United States Supreme Court.

Miss Inez Sprague lived with her people at Narragansett Pier. She was beautiful and rich, and, according to report, was deeply infatuated with the handsome young Philadelphian, Harold Wanpenny. They became engaged two years ago, and the breaking of that engagement was understood to be a source disappointment to both families.

It was "mutual consent." Neither Miss Sprague nor Mr. Wanpenny would be more explicit than that. When the discovery came of Miss Sprague's secret marriage to Mr. Stanton some people felt a bit sorry for poor, handsome, young Harold Wanpenny. But he made no signal of distress.

He continued to walk in the pleasant path of an engaging young Philadelphia bachelor—and only just now has it become known that about some time last December he was walking that path under false pretenses. He was a bachelor in name only.

True, there were a few who knew it—just the lady who was named in name only; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Riley, and Harold's brother, Marshall Wanpenny—but they kept their knowledge to themselves until such time as Mr. Harold should summon up courage to break the news to his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bolton Wanpenny, very important people residents of North Broad street, in Philadelphia.

Early summer came, however, with the secret unrevealed, and then Harold's brother fell ill with appendicitis. It was decided to place him in the hands of celebrated European specialists, and Harold went along as his companion and brotherly caretaker, telling himself, it is said, that he would make a clean breast of his romantic marriage story on his return.

His beautiful secret bride went with her mother to spend the summer at a watering place near Philadelphia—where she still was when the secret was accidentally revealed.

Who was this Miss Beatrice Riley, who turns out to be the seven or eighteenth child of Harold Wanpenny? Well, she is one of the prettiest young women who ever earned her pin money posing as a model for newspaper photographers. Her father has been connected with the Philadelphia banking firm of Charles D. Barney for eight or ten years.

Little Miss Riley was so pretty, in fact, so dainty and so engaging in every way, that it was a foregone conclusion that sooner or later the stage would claim her. That is what the stage did—about the time that Mr. Harold first saw her.

She became a member of the chorus of a Japanese musical comedy playing at a Philadelphia theater. In her costume and "make-up" as a maid of the Mikado's realm, she made a picture that Mr. Harold found it quite hopeless to attempt to resist.

There are some tales of proper hotel suppers—chaperoned, of course—after the show, and vague stories of automobile spins, huge bouquets and boxes of candy.

And then, all of a sudden—it was last December—little Miss Beatrice suddenly discovered that she didn't care for stage life after all.

She left the company. One of her girl companions of the chorus knew more than she would tell about a quiet trip Miss Beatrice made to New York.

"Did she go alone?"

"Oh, that's telling!"

However, there was a quiet little journey to the metropolis. It is said that about that time Mr. Harold was missing from his customary Philadelphia haunts for rather more than twenty-four hours.

Perhaps if you conjure up a vision of a handsome young Philadelphian and as pretty a girl as you ever saw, standing with serious mein before a surpliced reverend gentleman holding a book, you will not be far wrong about what occurred during that little visit to New York.

Back in Philadelphia, going their separate ways, demurely on her part gayly unconcerned on his part, so cool upon their casual public meetings that butter wouldn't have melted in either of their mouths—that was their cruel fate for at least seven long months.

How could Mr. Harold's lack of courage stand the strain? Did ever an adoring young husband greater meantive to truth-telling and facing the parental music?

The bride did not long keep her secret from her own parents. Confessing everything, she was freely forgiven, and on one side it was a case of "Bless you, our children."

[Right here one may indulge a shrewd guess that the one-side parental blessing afforded many consoling opportunities and was perhaps the very means that reconciled the young husband to stand some domesticity, so far as his own people were concerned.

And when he was called away to Europe with his brother there was then no occasion for hurrying a confession. It could very well wait until his return. And thus there was time for the chapter of accidents to develop which would make that a real denouement.

Coffee the Cause

Of Various Ailments

It does not require a scientist to discover if coffee is harmful.

Plain common sense and the simple habit of looking for the cause of things soon reveals coffee in its true light—that of a hair-forming drug.

"My family on both sides were confirmed coffee topers," writes a Penn. painter, "and we suffered from nervousness, headache, sleeplessness, dizziness and palpitation of the heart.

"Medical treatment never seemed to do any permanent good. I thought there must be some cause for these troubles and yet did not find it was coffee until I was forty-one.

"Hearing of the benefit that many had derived from changing to Postum, I quit coffee and used Postum entirely. Now I am like a new man.

"I sleep well, can eat three good meals a day, have no headache nor palpitation, no nerve twitching in my face, and I don't have to pay out hard-earned money for medicines.

"I find a good hot cup of Postum made strong, with half milk and taken before retiring at night, is the best thing to keep a painter from having lead poisoning. That's my experience anyway."

"There's a reason."

New School Laws

Toronto, Aug. 19.—The Ontario Government's plan for "approved schools" will go into operation in September, and a circular dealing with it has been issued by the Department of Education. Private schools may be approved if they comply certain conditions. The circular says that for the academic year of 1908-9 such reasonable consideration will be shown these institutions as is not inconsistent with the working of the regulations. A fee of $25 is prescribed for inspection, but this is to be returned if the school is approved. To inspectors and principals, the following is directed: "Special attention should be given to reading and writing. There is, unfortunately, good ground for believing that, under the examination system, these subjects have not hitherto received the attention their importance demands."

As there are now three High School inspectors, proceeds the circular, "Not only can duties thus be given to the ordinary work of inspection, but the inspectors will be able to examine classes, especially the classes which come directly under the approved school regime."

"The policy of the Education Department is to reduce the evils that accompany any examination system and to increase the influence of the teacher and inspector.

"In the [illegible] of the system just said requires[illegible] consideration will be shown where such consideration is requested; but it should be clearly understood that the allowances which have been made during the last school year will [illegible] continued, and that regulations which have been made for the [illegible] of education will now be duly [illegible]."

KILBOURN—ROGERS.

A very quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Thomas' church before 10 o'clock yesterday morning when Dr Arthur Goss Kilbourn of Groton, Mass., was married to Georgina Carolina Rogers, daughter of the late George Charles Rogers of Peterborough, and of Mrs. Rogers, 6 Washington avenue. Rev. C. Emor Sharp, rector of the church, officiated, and Mr. Evan H McLean, brother-in-law of the bride, gave her away. There were no attendants. The bride wore a gray cloth travelling suit, with hat to match. There was no reception, the bride and groom driving direct to the wharf, where they took the boat for Niagara. After a short honeymoon, Dr. and Mrs. Kilbourn will return to town before going to their home in Groton.—Toronto News.

BRECKENRIDGE—MOFFAT.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at 7 o'clock yesterday morning at St. Andrew's manse by Rev. J. G. Potter, when Miss Annie Moffat, daughter of Mr. Peter Moffat, Auburn, Peterborough, was united in marriage to Mr. David Breckenridge, formerly of Peterborough, and now of Wardner, B.C. The bride, who wore a neat traveling costume of blue cloth, was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Moffatt, while the groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Thomas Breckenridge. The young couple left on the 8.25 G.T.R. train for their home in Wardner, B.C., and will visit Toronto, Woodstock, Chicago, Winnipeg and Calgary en route. Both parties are well known in this city and their friends will wish them success and prosperity in the West. Young Bride Leaped Into Water to Save Husband

Scituate, R.I., Aug. 24.—In sight of his bride of four weeks, who was powerless to aid him, John Colon was drowned in Spencer's mill pond here yesterday. Mrs. Colon was within twenty feet of her husband when he sank, and the only bait in the pond was floating bottom upward 30 feet off shore.

Colon, who was 28 years of age, with a companion named William Read, went fishing in a leaky skiff which was capsized when Colon moved forward to get the bailing dipper. Read was able to swim to shore, but Colon, who could not swim, sank.

In the meantime Mrs. Colon had waded waist deep in the water, but was powerless to aid her husband. After he sank from sight she fainted.

Colon was superintendent of Irving Spencer's farm, and had lived here about two years. He formerly lived at Montreal.

Everything Ready for Big Wrestling Match

The Brock street rink is all ready for the big Rogers-Mohl wrestling bout on Friday night and should prove an ideal place for pulling off the event. A twenty-foot square platform has been erected in the center of the arena and a splendid mat has been laid down for the wrestlers. The ring is elevated and is so situated that any seat in the rink commands an excellent view of the mat. There will be a few ring side seats in the arena itself but the rest of the seats will be along the side so that there will be nothing to obstruct the view from any part of the rink. The interest in the event is growing hot and there promises to be a record crowd in the building when the two giants face each other at 8.30 Friday night.

MRS. CAPT. HAINS MAY TESTIFY REPEATING HER CONFESSION

Must Take The Box If Called, The Captain's Lawyer Says--A Mere School-Girl when Hains Met Her

Winthrop Highlands, Mass., Aug 24.—In the middle of the high bluff overlooking Boston Bay there stands a trim, white cottage. It was here that Claudia Libby, wife of Capt. Peter C. Hains, jr., who killed William E. Annis a week ago last Saturday, was born. It was also in this little house that Capt. Hains, then a lieutenant, wooded and won the girl, then in short dresses, who is now a grief-stricken woman occupying the most wretched position a wife and mother could fill.

Just now the little cottage is being closely guarded. No outsiders are admitted and everything is being done to prevent the young wife from talking about the events which led up to the killing of Annis. Mrs. Hains is prostrated with grief, not only because the father of her children is accused of the most serious crime on the calendar, but also because of the awful charges made against her.

Mrs. Hains is a pretty woman, tall and graceful, and up to the time she was deserted by her husband was full of life and happiness. Now she is broken down in spirit, and her parents are watching over her in the most careful manner.

Claudia Hains was born twenty-four years ago. Her father, Charles H. Libby, is a lawyer, but of late has not practiced his profession. He is now allied with one of the largest grocery stores in Boston, where he acts as legal advisor. Mr Libby is well in the fifties, but looks much older. His wife, a charming woman of about forty-five is prematurely grey. She is guarding her daughter, their only child with the greatest possible care, and never allows her out of her sight. In fact, she has been with her daughter day and night ever since she came back from Fort Hamilton after being discarded by her husband.

HAINS MEETS THE SCHOOLGIRL

Hains, a dashing young army officer, came to Fort Banks, which is only a short distance from the home of the Libbys, in the early part of 1896. The fort is only a small military post, and Hains, who then held the rank of second lieutenant, was assigned to its command. At that time pretty little Claudia Libby was attending high school. With her girl friends she used to roam about the military grounds.

She was still in short dresses and a little over fifteen when, with her schoolmates, she attended a lawn party not far from her parents' home. Among the guests was young Hains. He wore his military uniform, with gold lace and gold buttons, and a friend introduced her to the commanding officer of Fort Banks.

After that Lieut. Hains was a frequent caller at the Libby house, and it soon became noised about that Claudia and Lieut. Hains were secretly engaged to be married. She had just graduated from the Winthrop High School, and rumor had it that an elopement was contemplated. Mr. and Mrs. Libby thought their daughter was entirely too young to get married, but Claudia said she was deeply in love with the officer. Lieut. Hains talked the matter over with the parents and at last they withdrew their objection.

THE FIRST LONG DRESS.

Up to that time Claudia Libby had worn short dresses. Her first long gown was the one in which she was married.

The ceremony was performed at the house of the Libbys on Crest avenue, by the Rev. Joseph Garden, rector of the Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist.

The ceremony was made a military affair, and was the social event of the year. The young couple went to their new home at Fort Banks, and ten months later their first baby was born, and named Peter, after the father. The second child, a boy, was named Hamilton Hains. He is now four years. The baby came eighteen months ago, and was christened Spencer Bulkley. Since the captain and wife separated the baby has been renamed John, after Major Hains, the oldest brother of the captain.

ANNIS APPEARS ON SCENE.

It was some time after the marriage of Hains to Claudia Libby that William E. Annis first appeared on the scene. He and his wife and two children were living in Boston. They came to Winthrop Highlands to visit distant relatives, friends of the Libbys. An introduction followed, and the Hainses became close friends of the Annises. Mr. Annis became a frequent visitor at the Libby home. Capt. Hains liked him, and they were seen a good deal in each other's company.

Thornton Jenkins Hains spent several summers with the Libbys, but they looked with disfavor on him, as he had been charged with murder.

Capt. Hains was ordered to the Philippines in May last, and Mrs. Libby was greatly surprised to get a message from Fort Hamilton that her daughter was in distress, and in need of her mother's protection. On June 2 she brought her back here. Little by little the wife related to them her sad experiences. Soon after divorce papers were served by the husband. In her reply she alleged inhuman conduct on her husband's part.

"If I signed any papers at all, I did so under compulsion," said Mrs Hains.

AGAINST THE BROTHER.

New York, Aug. 24.—Mrs. Hains, it is stated, will not under any circumstances be a witness against her husband. The law of the State prevents that except upon consent of the defendant husband. Capt. Hains quite naturally would not be willing for his wife to testify against him, even if she were inclined.

If Mrs. Hains take the stand for the prosecution it will be as a witness against Thornton Jenkins Hains whom she has blamed for the break between her husband and herself, and for Capt. Hains' bitter animosity toward Annis.

WILL FORCE WIFE'S TESTIMONY

But the defense may call her. When asked if the defence would make terms with Mrs. Hains in order to obtain her assistance in the trial, Mr. Shay said:

"If Mrs. Hains becomes reconciled to her husband, it will be a matter of business purely, and not because of any effort to gain her aid by the attorneys in the case. There is only one possible course open to her, and that is to repeat in court, if she is called upon to do so, what she has said in her confession. In this confession she has furnished the cause of her husband's insanity, and the inspiration of his deed. She cannot go back on it, even if she desires to do so. In the Thaw case there was no written and duly witnessed verbal statements by Mrs. Harry K. Thaw and the aid of his wife was of great value for that reason. She was in position to dictate terms. She could testify as she chose. But Mrs. Hains already has given to us all the aid possible in the form of the confession. She must testify if called, and must testify to the facts as laid down in the confession. There is no reason, therefore, why she can dictate terms."

FIGHTING BLOOD IN FAMILY.

Washington, Aug. 24.—Further bloodshed runs in the Hains family, and fighting blood, too. It is a heritage which came to the two brothers locked up in the Long Island City prison on calls from both maternal and paternal sides. But until Thornton Jenkins Hains tarnished the family name by killing his cousin, Neal Hannegan, in 1891, the fighting proclivities of the Hainses and the Jenkinses never brought anything but honor to two households. Up to then all their fighting had been on land and sea in defence of their country.

The mother of the Hains brothers was Miss Virginia P. Jenkins, and her father was Rear-Admiral Thornton A. Jenkins, who put Admiral Farragut's fleet in shape to win the historic battle of Mobile Bay and wipe out the biggest part of the Confederate army.

Mrs. Hains, the mother of the two prisoners, was a bride of the Civil War. Between battles her sweetheart courted her. While her father was fighting at sea she married her soldier lover in November, 1864. Thornton Hains was born Nov. 14th, 1866.

He has been regarded as the black sheep of the family, and altogether unlike his two brothers, John, who is a major in the army, and Peter, the unfortunate captain of artillery. Thornton Hain's exploits have run all the way from man-killing to beach combing in Honduras. The occupation to which he has given most application is writing sea stories, filled with bloody adventure. He has made writing his business since 1895. Before that time he was a sailor before the mast for a while, a clerk in the Nicaragua Canal Commission, somewhere a civil employe of the Engineer Department of the army, and he alone knows what else.

He has been married twice, his first wife being a Miss Hall, of Boston, who died in 1902. His second wife was Miss Virginia Hains, a cousin, whom he married in 1904. She obtained a divorce from him in Reno, Nevada, in 1907.

Buffalo, Aug. 21—William E. Annis is best remembered here, his birthplace as "Bull Billy Annis, the choir boy."

Twenty odd years ago "Billy" Annis sang in the surpliced choir of old St. Paul's Cathedral. His voice, a clear, fine soprano, gave him something of a reputation, and it was even predicted that he would some day become a famous soloist.

Little Trever Miller Struck by a Street Car

What might have been a fatal accident occurred yesterday evening near the corner of McDonnel and George streets, when little Trevers Miller, the seven-year-old son of Mr. J. Miller, Harvey street, was struck by street car No. 7 and badly injured.

The little fellow evidently did not see the car coming. It was dragged some distance before the car was stopped. The unfortunate little fellow was carried into Dr. McGrath's, where upon examination it was found he was badly cut about the head.

Wedding Guests Ate, Drank and were Merry on Sabbath in Belleville

Belleville, Aug. 24—Much talk is heard today about the incidents which attended a Jewish wedding held in Symon's dancing academy, in this city, last night. Harry Yanovsky and Rebecca Solomons were married by Rabbi Hakogan, of Toronto. After the ceremony dinner was served, at which beer, wine and sprats were served in abundance. A large number of young men were present, also an orchestra. Dancing went on from seven till ten, and people as they went home from church stood on the sidewalk and listened. It was was a new experience for Sunday night in this city.

Rosy Cheeks

THE AMBITION OF EVERY WOMAN.

Hollow cheeks with dark lines, sallow complexion—how a woman hates them.

But rosy cheeks, clear skin, bright eyes—give them to a woman and she is happy.

In the blood is found the first sign of trouble.

It grows thin and watery, its color fades, and increasing pallor and sallowness give the outward evidence of the change within.

Soon the nerves weaken, the heart easily tires and palpitates, strength declines.

The delicate mechanism of the woman's life is disturbed, and pleasures, activities and even duties are loaded down with the burden of declining health.

Why not do it that woman neglect the first warnings?

Usually she waits till she is ready to drop—often then it's too late.

These conditions are easily checked, easily cured at the beginning,—but even when long established Ferrozone will remove the cause and cure the trouble.

Ferrozone's action aids the three principal functions of the body—digestion, assimilation, elimination.

By strengthening digestion it forms an abundance of rich, red blood—this gives good color.

By perfecting assimilation, Ferrozone supplies nutrition—this gives strength, vim, stability.

Elimination is assured because Ferrozone quickens the actions of the liver, kidneys and bowels—this guarantees the maintenance of vigorous health.

Ferrozone puts you on the right road—the one that leads to health.

Not a man, woman or child needing blood, vigor, endurance—not a person who is weak, nervous or sickly, not a person in ill-health who won't receive immediate help from Ferrozone.

As a tonic and restorative, as a health-bringer and body-builder, Ferrozone is unrivalled. It cures because it feeds and nourishes, because it contains the elements that build up and strengthen. Try it yourself—sold everywhere in 50c. boxes.

Sheaf Ignited in Blower and Barns were Burned

Lindsay, Aug. 21.—The barn of Mr. Francis Breen, North Ops, was burned to the ground Saturday afternoon about five o'clock. The fire ignited a sheaf of oats in the blower, setting fire to the thresher. Before this could be extinguished, the dry straw in the barn caught fire, originated in a very peculiar manner. A spark is supposed to have flamed. Everything was destroyed.

Weary, Worn Cut Tired

If You Feel Poorly this Spring this Article is worth Considering.

Nothing in life keeps people from advancing so fast like poor health. If the nerves are weak, if the stomach, liver, bowels or kidneys fail to work properly, health surely suffers. Spring is the hardest time on health—the season when the system calls for active cleansing medicine.

The best plan is to entrust your condition to a physician of reputation like Dr. Hamilton, who has had years of experience in compounding tonics. For the ills and tired feeling of spring Dr. Hamilton says nothing is better than Mandrake and Butternut Pills, and this is well proven in the case of James Burton, of Lewistown. "I had grip and it left me very weak. The disease settled in my back and side, which ached day and night. I had a nagging cough. My appetite was all gone. My nerves unstrung. I could not sleep well. I struggled against growing pale, thin and weak—but it was no good. Spring brought depression, overpowering weakness and bad headaches. But my life was spared, simply because I learned off the wonderful merit in Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. The result was marvelous. I gained rapidly, became strong, ruddy, vigorous, perfectly well. I urge every man and woman to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly.

You'll brighten up, have cleaner blood, stronger nerves, better spirits after using Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c at all dealers. Guaranteed safe, sure helpful for old and young.

Over 2,000 Houses Destroyed by Fire

Constantinople, Aug 24.—The fire which broke out in the Stamboul quarters of Constantinople yesterday was extinguished at midnight.

The houses in the quarter were mostly built of wood, and proved easy prey for the flames, carried by the high wind.

It is estimated that more than 2,000 buildings were destroyed.

A number of firemen and women and children are reported to have been burned to death. The homeless probably will number 7,000.

Shoemaker Took Doctor's Place

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 25.—George W. Doty, alias Dr. James Doty, 47 Reynolds Arcade, is under arrest here on a charge of practising medicine under a false certificate and assumed name.

Under the Public Health Laws of 1890, it is a felony to practice medicine under the certificate of another man or under an assumed name. Dr. Doty, who is 74 years old, married and has a child, has been in Rochester about six years. The police say that the original James Doty has been dead five years. They say, too, that while Doty says he was studying medicine in the University of New York, he was a shoemaker in Troy, N. Y. The prisoner came to Rochester in 1902. In September of that year, he registered with the county clerk as a physician. He came here from Syracuse.

The police got their tip from a letter written to the postmaster, which took the form of a complaint. Upon investigation it was learned that the prisoner was practising under the name of James Doty, class of 1857, University of New York. The police learned that James Doty was from Basking Ridge, N. J., and Detective Barnett was sent to that city to carry on the investigation.

Comfort for the Fat in Hot Weather

Don't simply shed all your clothing. That is not the secret. It isn't your textile coverings that make life so wretched for you, my stout friends, but the fleshly covering—the fat.

You can be comfortable, though fat, in the hot weather, by reducing the fat with a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime of the following: 1-2 ounce Marmola, 3-4 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 4 3-4 ounces Syrup Simplex. This is a harmless home mixture that any druggist will put up for a small sum, but it succeeds marvelously. Try it and in a little while you should be losing a half to a pound of fat a day. You will soon catch up with comfort at that rate no matter how hot it gets. Alluring, isn't it? And when you realize that this inexpensive same method takes the fat off and gives you a trim, slim figure without causing wrinkles or interfering with one's diet—it becomes more than alluring—it's fascinating. Fat folks say so.

THE TRENT CANAL

The Trent Valley Canal is to be pushed to completion. Hon. Geo. P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, stated while in this city that the waterway must be finished as a business proposition, and that the work will be pushed vigorously to the end. This will add further to the efficiency of Canada's splendid system of transportation by water, the credit for which is due to a small degree to the policy pursued during the past twelve years by the Liberal government, of which Sir Wilfrid Laurier is the distinguished head. Mr. Graham has, since he accepted the portfolio but a short time ago, shown singular ability and capacity in the administration of the Railways and Canals Department, and has won commendation even from his political opponents for his work.

GERMAN TUBERCULOSIS MUSEUM

One German municipality is conducting its warfare upon tuberculosis in a novel manner. Consular Samuel H. Shank, in a recent report, refers to the tuberculosis museum which has been established in the City of Mannheim.

The purpose of the museum is to disclose and of the best way to combat its inroads. It is open three days a week to the populace, and physicians in attendance explain the nature of the disease, the proper preventive measures which should be taken and finally how it can be cured.

To supplement that popular lecture the directors of the municipal museum have supplied numerous charts as well as specimens of affected organs, preserved in alcohol. Illustrating their lectures by means of the charts, the physicians show the people how infection reaches the lungs and how consumption is fostered.

For those who have already fallen victims to the plague there has been prepared a table of foodstuffs, showing the relative nutritive value of each. In addition to this specific recommendations are made.

Mannheim would seem to be conducting a warfare against the dread disease upon the most advanced scientific lines. With the whole people alive to the menace which resides in ignoring fundamental hygienic laws, great strides will no doubt be made toward the ultimate wiping out of the conditions which are responsible for consumption.

Sufferers helped at once with Dr. Shoop's Magic Ointment. Just to prove it, a trial box will be mailed on request, by writing Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. Itching, smarting, bleeding piles, internal or external, get quick and certain help from Magic Ointment. Large box 50c. Sold by all dealers.

FOIBLES OF MUSICIANS

Eccentric Moods and Manners of the Great Composers.

THE MADNESS OF GENIUS.

Beethoven's Strange Abstraction and Queer Habits — The Odd Contract That Mozart Insisted on Signing. Meyerbeer Inspired by Thunder.

When listening to the wonderful strains of Beethoven's immortal symphonies and sonatas it is difficult to imagine that they could come from the pen of such an eccentric man. Though musicians are, as a rule, men with many peculiarities, Beethoven was probably the most extraordinary of them all.

He wrote his music in all sorts of places—when dining, walking or conversing with a friend. Often in the midst of a crowded street he would stop and write furiously for a few minutes on the back of a letter or an envelope, oblivious to the bustling crowd about him. Some of his greatest themes were composed when he was walking along in the pouring rain, for in the worst weather he was a familiar figure in the streets of Vienna, and, though often the object of much ridicule and many gibes, he was profoundly inattentive to his surroundings, as his mind was wholly occupied with his music. His friends were not unaccustomed to have him break off in the midst of a conversation and begin to write rapidly some motif which had presented itself to him.

This great composer would play for hours at a stretch, and in order to cool his hands, which often became feverish, he would seize a water jug and walk about the room, pouring the water first on one hand and then on the other, utterly ignoring the fact that there was no receptacle to catch it. This was the cause of many of his hasty retreats from his lodgings, for the slightest complaint would cause him to give notice to quit, so puerile was he at times. As a result he sometimes was paying for no fewer than three different lodgings at the same time, which, after engaging for a month, he had abruptly left in a day.

Though Haydn ranks next to Beethoven on the list of eccentric musicians, still their peculiarities were very unlike. Beethoven lived in the midst of disorder and confusion, while Haydn averred that he could not compose a line unless everything in his study was in its exact place. Even every ornament must be where it belonged.

He always rose early to write, for he found his greatest inspiration when the birds were singing in the dewy morning hours. His most extraordinary characteristic, however, was to don his full court dress, with bob wig, hat and ruffles, and put on his finger a certain ring before he wrote a line, for he declared that he had not a musical idea unless so attired.

Mozart cannot be called eccentric in the same sense as the two mentioned, for they were very retiring—in fact, reclusive—while he was to a great extent a man of the world. To him, however, must be credited one of the strangest documents that perhaps have ever been written.

He became engaged to a young woman, and at the request of his future mother-in-law he drew up in the presence of an attorney a contract which bound him to marry one of the woman's daughters within three years, the said daughter always having the liberty to refuse the composer if she wished to marry another. But in case Mozart was unable to carry out his intention through lack of the necessary funds or through the woman's refusal he pledged himself to support her in the condition of a stranger, no matter where or how she lived, all her life. This support was to be a fixed sum paid quarterly or half yearly.

Wagner, too, was not exempt from peculiar fancies. His mind seemed to run to the gruesome, and during his lifetime he had his grave constructed. It was in the garden back of his home, and he would often go and look at it that he might not forget its existence. But the worst of it was that he constantly insisted that his friends should remember it, too, and when he was entertaining them at dinner he would suddenly break off the conversation and begin declaiming on eternity and the grave.

"My friends," he would say, "in the midst of life we are in death. Death is a lot that we all must face, even as great a man as myself. I, too, must die. I should like very much to show you my grave, if you will allow me."

And, starting from the dinner table, he would lead the way, followed by his guests, to the corner of the garden where his grave was, and there he would give his companions further dissertations on eternity.

Dream Troubles.

"Once when I was blue," said a business man, "a friend told me I was worrying over imaginary troubles. He cheered me up with a yarn about his little nephew. This little fellow's sister said one morning:

"'Oh, Gussie, I had such a lovely dream last night! I dreamed I was at a cake shop, and I had such loads of good things—ice cream, pie, strawberry shortcake, chocolates, jelly macaroons, kisses and lots of other things besides.'

"The little boy's eyes glistened. He smiled with delight.

"'And what was I eating?' he asked eagerly.

"'Oh, you wasn't there, Gussie.'

"Then, overwhelmed with sorrow, little Gussie hid his face in his hands and wept bitterly."

The Ugliest Beast.

Probably the ugliest beast in the world is a monkey, a gruesome looking animal called the bearded saki. This is so utterly grotesque a beast that it would scarcely be safe to let a child or nervous person see it. The ugliness is not of an amusing kind, but of an evil, sinister nature. The beast has a sort of beard and a countenance unlike anything else in shape and lines. The monkey itself is not particularly savage, but is so hideous that the natives of its country, South America, say that no beast of prey, however hungry, will tackle it. Even a hungry jaguar will starve in a cageful of sakis.

First Dining Car.

"Just forty years ago," said T. C. Newton, a Chicago railroad man, "the Chicago and Alton railroad put on the first dining car ever operated on any railway train in the world. This was on the run between Chicago and St. Louis. If that car could be exhibited now it would create universal merriment. It had oilcloth table covers, the seats were screwed to the floor, and its illumination depended on candles.

"Think of the contrast between that primitive affair of 1868 and the modern dining car, finished in solid mahogany, with gorgeous furniture and a menu as elaborate and cooking as dainty as those supplied by any of the foremost hotels of America. Verily we have been 'going some' in the four decades that have gone by since the Alton's first 'trade experiment.'"—Baltimore American.

Camera Eye and Index Brain.

What would you say of a gentleman who having looked once into the face of each of those soldiers that made up the grand army which Napoleon took to Russia and being told the soldier's name would know him, name and face, two years, ten years, twenty years later? Think of a gentleman who could thus have called the muster roll of an army of 100,000 men. Such, however, would seem to be the fell power of eye and memory which belongs to Detective William P. Sheridan of Mulberry street, New York, the "man with the camera eyes," and a new estimate declares that he has filed away in his brain, each tagged with the proper name, the pictures of no fewer than 100,000 men.—Broadway Magazine.

Wrecking Windmills a New Industry.

The passing of the windmill in England, antiquated by such recent power producers as the gas engine and electric motor, has given life to a new industry—windmill wrecking. The old windmill builders understood their business and meant their handiwork to last, and so the demolishing of such structures is no simple task. Many of the old mills stood 100 feet high and had eight or nine floors fitted with four runs of stones and contained tons upon tons of brick. Often these huge mills stand close to other buildings, and accidents would be inevitable if the wreckers did not have experience in their tasks.—Popular Mechanics.

A Rather Novel Complaint.

An English traveler once met a companion sitting in a state of the most woeful despair and apparently near the last agonies by the side of one of the mountain lakes of Switzerland. He inquired the cause of his sufferings. "Oh," said the latter, "I was very hot and thirsty and took a large draft of the clear water of the lake and then sat down on this stone to consult my guidebook. To my astonishment, I found that the water of this lake is very poisonous! Oh, I am a gone man; I feel it running all over me. I have only a few minutes to live! Remember me to"—

"Let me see the guidebook," said his friend. Turning to the passage, he found, "L'eau du lac est bien poisonneuse" (The water of this lake abounds in fish).

"Is that the meaning of it?"

"Certainly."

The dying man looked up with a radiant countenance. "What would have become of you," said his friend, "if I had not met you?"

"I should have died of imperfect knowledge of the French language."

A Great Man's Simple Speech.

I was lately told a delightful story of a great statesman staying with a humble and anxious host who had invited a party of simple and unimportant people to meet the great man. The statesman came in late for dinner and was introduced to the party. He made a series of old fashioned bows in all directions, but no one felt in a position to offer any observations. The great man at the conclusion of the ceremony turned to his host and said in tones that had often thrilled a listening senate: "What very convenient jugs you have in your bedrooms. They pour well." The social frost broke up, the company was delighted to find that the great man was interested in mundane matters of a kind on which every one might be permitted to have an opinion, and the conversation, starting from the humblest conveniences of daily life, melted insensibly into more liberal subjects.—Arthur C. Benson in Putnam's and the Reader.

An American Admirer.

In a small way an American figures in the journal kept by Rosalie Lamorliere during the revolutionary days of 1793 in France and published under the title, "The Last Days of Marie Antoinette."

Rosalie Lamorliere, a girl of Picardy, was servant to the queen in the conciergerie. "One day," Rosalie has recorded, "M. de Saint Leger, the American, who was coming from the register's office, noticed that I was carrying a glass half filled with water.

"'Did the queen drink the water that has gone from the glass?' he asked.

"I answered that she did.

"With a quick gesture he uncovered his head and drank the water that remained with every indication of respect and pleasure."

A Candle Trick.

Let a candle burn until it has a good long snuff, then blow it out with a sudden puff. A bright wreath of white smoke will curl up from the hot wick. Now, if a flame be applied to this smoke, even at a distance of two or three inches from the candle, the flame will run down the smoke and rekindle the wick in a very fantastic manner. To perform this ceremony nicely there must be no draft or "banging" doors while the match mail is [illegible]

August time tells on the nerves. But that spiritless, no ambition feeling can be easily and quickly altered by taking what is known by druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Within 48 hours after beginning to use this Restorative improvement will be noticed. Of course, full health will not immediately return. The gain, however, will surely follow. And best of all, you will realize and feel your strength and ambition as it is returning. Outside influences depress first the "inside nerves," then the stomach, Heart, and Kidneys will usually fail. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and see how quickly health will be yours again. Sold by all dealers.

A Simple Salad.

Cabbage scorned as plebeian takes on an air all a salad—not cold slaw or hot slaw, but a crisp, easily mixed salad with French dressing.

Cut the cabbage with fine grater and put it in ice water for an hour before serving. Dry on a clean napkin and cover with a highly seasoned French dressing about ten minutes before serving.

If a clove of garlic is rubbed over the bowl in which the dressing is made, the flavor is much improved for many persons.

While one would not serve this salad at a formal meal, it makes an appetizing lunch dish.

A Pan Broil.

When it is not convenient to open the lid of a stove, as on ironing day, a beefsteak or chop can be given a pan broil.

This is not frying, as many persons think, since not a particle of grease is used.

Have the pan very hot. Put the meat in it and turn almost immediately to the other side until seared. Keep turning the meat occasionally till it is done, though this need not be quite so often as when the steak is over live coals.

The Greatest Man.

Who is the greatest man who ever lived? The question went round a dinner table, and controversy raged from the fish onward. There were two who plumped for Julius Caesar, two more for Napoleon; one, thinking of statues, said Shakespeare, and somebody else, who did not get a hearing at all, murmured Buddha at intervals, while most of the people present who did not know Greek said Aeschylus. But Aristotle won easily. It was not a particularly scholarly assemblage, and one wondered rather how many of Aristotle's enthusiastic devotees could have quoted accurately from him—had ever read him, indeed—since they left college. And all the while probably the greatest man of all ages is pegging away among us unnoticed, unrecognized, while we snapshot and interview all the little men or go back to some one who has been dead long enough for us to find out that we may safely praise him.—London Chronicle.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Wipe out that original and highly vital principle, and such lasting accomplishments were never to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and all ner completion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend

Why We Are All Mimics.

"If we did not cough in church, the human race would not exist." And the professor, twiddling a piece of chalk in his hand, regarded the sophomores with a quizzical smile.

"What I mean," he continued, "is that the cause of coughing is the cause of our survival. That cause is mimicry. Mimicry is a better life preserver than fleetness or strength. For by mimicry we manage not to attract attention, and in prehistoric times they who attracted attention were hunted down by the tribe and roasted for dinner or hunted down by the saber tooth tiger and taken raw.

"Since those dark days mimicry has been instinctive with us. Mimicry is what causes us to follow the fashions. It causes us, when in England, to say 'cawn't' and 'tawf.' If your friend yawns, you yawn—that's mimicry. If he laughs, you laugh—mimicry again. If he snuffles, you snuffle—mimicry. And if he coughs in church, straightway you and all the rest of the congregation cough, the reason being the same one which saved our forefathers from extermination."—New York Press.

Famous Floggers.

Among English schoolmasters whose names have come down to posterity with the dubious reputation of great floggers Dr. Busby of Westminster school is the generally acknowledged chief.

Of him it is recorded that, one of his head boys having insulted a young French viscount who came to the school to demand satisfaction, he flogged the viscount first for the bloodthirsty intentions and next his friend who was the bearer of his challenge.

Dr. Valpy, too, who edited an edition of the classics, was a potent wielder of the rod. Archdeacon Groom, who was a pupil of his, tells a story in illustration of his prowess. One of the boys had been flogged by the redoubtable dominie, and the lad's father came to complain.

"Sir," said Valpy to him, "I flogged your son because he richly deserved it. If he again deserves it, I shall flog him again, and," rising, "if you come here, sir, interfering with my duty I shall flog you."

The parent fled.

A Famous Architect's Trick.

When Sir Christopher Wren was building the town hall of Windsor, a fidgety member of the corporation, so the story goes, insisted that the roof required further support and desired the architect to add more pillars. In vain did Sir Christopher assure him that the danger was imaginary. He knew better. The alarm spread, and the great architect was worried into adding the desired columns.

Years passed, and in later times, when architect and patrons were dead, cleaning operations in the roof revealed the fact that the supposed additional supports did not touch the roof by two inches, though this was not perceptible to the gazers below.

By this ingenious expedient did Wren pacify his critics, while vindicating his own architectural skill to future generations.

I'm Telling You.

Pat Murphy, who was in lodgings, was greatly annoyed by the landlady helping herself to his provisions. She began by taking a piece of his butter, and when Pat came home she said:

"Pat, I'm taking a little of your butter, but I'm not like other landladies—I'm telling you."

Next day it was an egg, and so on. Every day there was something taken and put off with the remark, "I'm not like other landladies—I'm telling you."

Of course there was never any reflection in Pat's bill. One Saturday his bill came to a larger amount than usual. Pat looked at it, bundled up a few things in his handkerchief, walked to the door and said:

"Landlady, I'm sloping. I'm not like other lodgers—I'm telling you."—London Answers.

Beautifully Arranged.

Brown—Well, you've got the quarter. Is your sister coming down?

"I've arranged it beautifully, old chap. I told her it was you first, and she said to tell you she was out, and then I said I was fooling and that it was Charley Jones, and you ought to have seen her hustle to get into a clean shirt waist! She'll be right down!"

Bounced Through.

Sergeant Wilkins once defended a breach of promise case for a singularly ugly little man, which case he told the defendant, after reading his brief, must be "bounced" through. And the sergeant did bounce it through.

"Gentlemen of the jury," he said at the close of a most eloquent speech, "you've heard the evidence for the plaintiff, and, gentlemen of the jury, you have admired that most bewitching lady, the plaintiff herself. Gentlemen, do you believe that this enchanting, this fascinating, this captivating, this accomplished lady would for one moment favor the advances or listen with anything save scorn and indignation to the amorous protestations of the wretched and repulsive homunculus, the deformed and degraded defendant?"

His client looked up from the well of the court and piteously murmured:

"Mr. Sergeant Wilkins! Oh, Mr. Sergeant Wilkins!"

"Silence, sir!" replied the sergeant in a wrathful undertone. "Gentlemen," he continued, bringing his fist heavily down on the desk before him, "do you think that this lovely lady, this fair and smiling creature, would ever have permitted an offer of marriage to be made to her by this miserable atom of humanity, this stunted creature, who would have to stand on a sheet of note paper to look over twopence?"

To Canadian Investors

The undersigned has received an allotment of unsold portion of $100,000 of

7 Per Cent. First Mortgage Five-Year Gold Bonds

dated January 11, 1908, and maturing January 11, 1913. These Bonds are offered at par and accrued interest by Metropolitan Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, trustees.

SECURITY—The Entire Property and Improvements Owned THE URES CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY in the District of Ures, State of Sonora Mexico. Free from Mortgage or Bonded Indebtedness except this present Bond issue.

An Unusual Opportunity for Investment in Sound Security

The Ures Consolidated Mining Company offers $100,000.00 of First Mortgage Gold Bonds. This issue of bonds is the only mortgage or bonded indebtedness ever placed on the company's properties.

These bonds are in the denomination of $100.00, and bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, July and January, and are redeemable on or before five years from date at the company's option at $110.00 and accrued interest.

$100.00 Stock Bonus Given with Every $100.00 Bond

With each bond issued there will be given $100.00 par value of the capital stock of the company as a bonus, and in addition thereto there will be placed in escrow with the Trustee additional stock which will be available to the bondholders at their option any time within a period of three years, the bondholder being entitled to surrender his bond any time within said period and receive in lieu thereof stock for every dollar of indebtedness to him on account of said bonds.

The Security Back of these Bonds.

The company owns twelve claims situated in the district of Ures, State of Sonora, Mexico, free from mortgage or bonded indebtedness, except the present bond issue.

On one of these properties (The Ramona Mine) 5,000 feet of underground development work has been done, consisting of an inclined shaft to the depth of 400 feet with drifts in three levels to the North and South of the shaft.

An average value of ore worth $11.47 per ton is exposed throughout the mine, from the collar of the shaft to the extreme parts in the drifts, all of which is above water level.

The company has made surface improvements and mine improvements to the extent of $60,000.00 in the way of machinery, skids, trams, steam hoists, mill and nearly everything necessary to make the mining camp complete.

In addition to the absolute ownership of these twelve valuable claims, the company has a lease on the San Jose Mine, adjoining its property, in which the company has been operating in high grade ore.

During the past sixty days the company has extracted and delivered to ore buyers and the bank at Hermosillo, $2,000.00 worth of ore and bullion, the ore having been reduced to bullion through the company's mill, with the exception of 1,464 pounds, which was sold to an ore buyer for $562.50.

The Money Derived from the Sale of These Bonds

This issue of bonds is made for the purpose of securing money at once in order to extend the development work more quickly than the company's present means will permit.

With the high grade ore in sight to the distance of 50 feet to the South of the shaft, the management is assured that within six months from date of making the improvements now necessary the company's properties will be on a self-sustaining and dividend-paying basis.

The Stock which is Given with these bonds will be as valuable as the bonds when the Company has the ready capital to push operations

Men who invest in these bonds will have no cause or reason to regret their action, for the bonds afford an investment in a security which is absolutely safe—much better than ordinary city or country real estate, which is considered perfectly safe if the property put up to secure a mortgage is double the face of the loan. The security given on these bonds is better than 7 to 1, for the Ures Consolidated Mining Company has refused an offer of $200,000.00 for the property upon which this $100,000.00 worth of bonds is issued.

These bonds are an investment with all speculative risk eliminated —an investment with absolute security.

Make your reservation at once. This is small and promises to be quickly sold.

Feb. 11th, 1908.

To whom it may concern:—

We hereby beg to state that The Ures Consolidated Mining Company has during the past five years made several deliveries of bullion to this bank, and it is the opinion of mining men here that they have the making of a fair mine, and further, that the properties owned and controlled by them bid promise of becoming paying properties.

From our knowledge of the men connected, we believe they are doing all in their power to bring about the results above mentioned.

1 CENT A 2 SHARE

Send us your name as a member in this new company, with your remittance for as many thousand shares as you can take at $5 per thousand.

This is a short-time offer on a hurry-up proposition. Our vice president is up at Rawhide now putting the miners at work. We want to raise the necessary funds for development as quickly as possible. Therefore, we offer the first block of stock at 1½ a thousand shares. This subscription must be all cash. We want the money in hand. We mean to work without let-up, and we have made it an ironclad rule not to run in debt. Cash counts now.

Our prospectuses are out. Send for one.

Make reservation of stock. If you do no more. But, remember, this present offer of stock at Half a Cent a Share is now open, and will be closed as soon as enough cash subscriptions are in hand. Don't wait, or you will get left.

The gold mining property owned outright by the company consists of 7 claims, 3 in the Rawhide district of Nevada, and 4 in the Dulzura district of Southern California.

The Rawhide district to-day is more famous than Goldfield, Tonopah, Bullfrog, or Searchlight were at the same stage of exploration and development. The Dulzura discovery is one of the most sensational in the history of California.

Ten samples of ore which were among the first assayed, ran as high as $7,462.87 to the ton, and all ten averaged over $1,500 a ton.

In both camps we located early, and our locations are choice. Our own officers will superintend the mining.

Bernard Donohue, of St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Holka was afraid his body would fall into the hands of grafters or in medical college if his relatives took it.

Death of Capt. Thos. Donnelly

Kingston, Ont., Aug 24.—Captain Thomas Donnelly, widely known as a marine expert, died of cancer of the stomach this morning, after a very distressing illness. Situated as it is across the river from Edmonton, it is easy access to one of the finest cities in Western Canada. It is a thriving town, steadily growing, and business is brisk. The land around Strathcona is admirably suited for farming. When Mr. O'Connor left the farmers in the southern part of Alberta and Saskatchewan had finished cutting the grain but in the northern part and in Manitoba he said that they had just newly got started.

Mr. O'Connor looks forward to going back westward in a month or two.

Trust to Nature.

A great many Americans, both men and women, are thin, pale and puny, with poor circulation, because they have ill-treated their stomachs by hasty eating or too much eating, by consuming alcoholic beverages, or by too close confinement to home, office or factory, and in consequence the stomach must be treated in a natural way before they can rectify their earlier mistakes. The muscles in many such people, in fact in every weary, thin and thin-blooded person, do their work with great difficulty. As a result fatigue comes early, is extreme and lasts long. The demand for nutritive aid is ahead of the supply. To insure perfect health every tissue, bone, nerve and muscle should take from the blood certain materials and return to it certain others. It is necessary to prepare the stomach for the work of taking up from the food what is necessary to make good, rich, red blood. We must go to Nature for the remedy. There were certain roots known to the Indians of this country before the advent of the whites which later came to the knowledge of the settlers and which are now growing rapidly in professional favor for the cure of obstinate stomach and liver troubles. These are found to be safe and yet certain in their cleansing and invigorating effect upon the stomach, liver and blood. These are: Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Bloodroot, Mandrake root. Then there is Black Cherry bark. The medicinal principles residing in these native roots when extracted with glycerine as a solvent make the most reliable and efficient stomach tonic and liver invigorator, when combined in just the right proportions, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Where there is bankrupt vitality—such as nervous exhaustion, bad nutrition—and thin blood, the body acquires vigor and the nerves, blood and all the tissues feel the favorable effect of this sovereign remedy.

Although some physicians have been aware of the high medicinal value of the above mentioned plants, yet few have used pure glycerine as a solvent and usually the doctors' prescriptions called for the ingredients in varying amounts, with alcohol.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is a scientific preparation compounded of the glyceric extracts of the above mentioned vegetable ingredients and contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs.

Chief Black Cloud's

medicines—roots herbs and barks—are all manufactured by himself.

They cure all kinds of diseases of the stomach, liver, kidneys and blood.

Then gas bloating, Heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. U.S. ARMY OFFICERS RAISE $1,000,000 TO DEFEND CAPT. HAINS

Already $100,000 is Subscribed to This Gigantic Fund--Annis Denied Charges, According to One Report

New York, Aug. 25.—A fund of $1,000,000 is being raised among United States army officers, according to a report here, to be applied to the defence of Capt. Peter C Hains, jr., and Thornton Jenkins Hains.

Within the last three days officers of various forts have called upon General Peter Hains, father of the prisoners, and assured him that the army men are deeply in sympathy with his sons, and are eager to aid in getting them out of their predicaments.

The gigantic fund was started last week, and already, according to the report, considerably more than $1,000,000 has been pledged. It is doubtful if anything approing $1,000,000 will be required for the defence, but the army men have set that as the sum to be raised.

Thornton Jenkins Hains is putting in his time in his cell at the county jail at Long Island City in writing a detailed narrative of the part he played in the murder of William E. Annis.

It is not for the purpose of contributing another volume to the books he has printed, but to give the counsel for the defence a thorough acquaintance with the facts in his mind pertaining to the shooting.

INSANITY DEFENCE FOR BOTH.

In the week and a day that has elapsed since Capt. Peter C. Hains of the Coast Artillery, accompanied by his brother, T. Jenkins Hains, went down to the Bayside Yacht Club and shot and killed Wm. E. Annis, a good start has been made by the district attorney of Queen's county and by counsel for the two prisoners toward preparing for the trial, which is believed will take place about the middle of November. It practically has been decided to make a plea of insanity on behalf of Capt. Hains, and there is reason to believe that a similar form of defence eventually will be adopted for his brother.

Statements reflecting on the morals of the captain's wife, of Mr. Annis, of Capt. Hains himself, of T. Jenkins Hains, and even of the latter's French maid, have been made public. Whatever else they amount to, they give an idea of what this latest sensational trial will be like.

District Attorney Darrin, before whom Lie apparently the simple task of proving that Capt. Hains killed William E. Annis while his brother kept the coast clear, has said little about the evidence that is in his hands, but said from the mysterious letters about which much has been said and written, and which no one seems to have seen, it would appear that the people's case already is pretty well before the public.

DENIED AT A CONFERENCE.

Perhaps the most startling portion of the testimony to be offered is the allegation that Annis was present at a conference with Capt. Hains and other members of the latter's family after the alleged confession had been made by Mrs. Hains.

Annis, it is understood, was summoned to the conference by Captain Hains, and it is said, emphatically denied all the allegations that were then brought against him. The confession of the wife was read to him, it is alleged, and he denied it in toto.

In relating an account of the conference Annis, accordingly to the forthcoming testimony, assured a friend that he had convinced the Hainses that he was not the man guilty in the case of Mrs. Hains, if such an offender existed.

REFUSED TO CARRY REVOLVER.

Annis' friends advised him at that time to carry a revolver, but he is said to have ridiculed the idea, and declared there was no reason for him to be in terror of the Hainses or in fear of his life.

Attorney Thomas F. McIntyre and his assistant, Joseph A. Shay, held a long conference with Gen. Hains and Major Hains, the eldest son of the general, in the latter's rooms at the Hotel Astor, Sunday afternoon. At that conference were also present two men, who it is said, will be most important witnesses for the defence, especially in the case of Thornton Hains. It is believed these men will testify that the latter, contrary to the stories published, endeavored in every way to prevent his brother from killing Annis, and drew his own revolver only after the awful deed had been committed and the crowd had threatened the captain with violence.

PLANS FOR THE DEFENCE.

After the conference Mr. McIntyre announced that it had been definitely decided to base the defence on insanity, so far as Captain Hains is concerned. The unwritten law and justification are to be waived, nor is there to be any attempt to introduce "Dementia Americana," or anything else of that kind that was offered in the trial of Harry Thaw.

"We shall place our reliance on a strictly straight legal plea of insanity," said Mr. McIntyre. "The very fact" he added, "that a certain period of time elapsed between the date when Annis was shot and the date when Captain Hains first heard of the offence that had been committed against him and his innocent little children, is in my opinion, the strongest point in favor of the captain. Men do not become insane—ar very, very rarely—the instant they hear of any crime of this character against their homes. They dwell over it, and it, on investigation, they find aggravating circumstances, they lose their reason. That was the case with Captain Hains.

"As for the cry that Hains should have shot down the wrecker of his home the moment he learned of his guilt, that, in my opinion, is ridiculous. In that respect I shall cite some of the greatest cases in the criminal annals of this country and England. Take, for example, the case of General Sickles. Did he kill the offender against his domestic happiness the moment he heard of it? No, not until months afterward. There are a dozen similar instances in this country that I shall cite, and several in England.

"DOUBLE INSANITY."

"However, as I have said before, I shall not introduce the unwritten law, except to offset any pleading or argument of that character that may be made for the prosecution."

Particularly if insanity also is offered for T. Jenkins Haine will the defence be one of public interest. "Double insanity" or "reciprocal insanity" will become in this latest murder trial what "brainstorm" was in the Thaw case, and new and strange medico-legal terms will be flung about with abandon. One of the innovations already has come to light. Harry Thaw had a "brainstorm;" it is an "exoitation" in the case of Captain Hains.

Bobby Kerr and Jack Tait will be Here

Mr. Dick Baker received word from Bobbey Kerr and Jack Tait yesterday, stating that both boys will be here for the Y.M.C.A. Harrier Clubs meet on Sept. 10th. This athletic event promises to be the best of its kind ever held in the Electric City. Some of the best—in fact the best—long and short distance men will be here to participate in the event. Bobby Kerr needs no introduction to Peterborough people since his wonderful performance at the Olympic games. Jack Tait was here last autumn and his showing in the five mile event will still be well remembered.

30-Foot Wall Collapsed in Fire Ruins and a Score were Injured

Chelsea, Mass., Aug. 25.—A thirty-foot brick wall for a building which is being erected in Chelsea to replace one burned in the fire last April, collapsed today and buried more than a score of workmen. Three bodies were taken out in the first half hour, and fifteen men, more or less injured, were removed to the U.S. Marine Hospital, where it was reported that several would die. Nearly all the workmen were foreigners.

The wall was being built next to the Park Hotel, which escaped destruction in the April conflagration. The property had formerly been a four-story building with a pitched roof, and was one of the last to be burned at the fire. A gang of over 20 men were at work on the wall this morning, and 10 or 15 men were on the staging about 35 feet from the ground laying bricks, when the whole structure suddenly toppled over, carrying with it all the men on the staging, and crashing down on many more who were working in the cellar below. For a few seconds after the crash only a cloud of dust could be seen, but when people who were passing on the street rushed to the scene, the shrieks and cries of the injured began to be heard. An alarm of fire was rung in, and a detail of police hurried across the square from the station only a few hundred feet away, and the work of rescue began immediately.

Canadian Banks in a Position to Finance Handling of Crops

Ottawa, August 26.—The question of financing the movement of the western wheat crops is a matter which periodically gives cause for considerable anxiety in Canada. This year, however, the bank will be in an easy financial position to handle the crop although it is estimated at 120,000,000 bushels or more.

The amount of circulation that the banks have the right to issue is very considerable, and by the emergency act passed at the last session of the Dominion parliament, and of which the bankers will avail themselves this fall, a further issue of some $25,000,000 or more circulation can be used if needed. The dates between which it may be used are Oct. 1 to Jan. 31 of each year. The important point in the crop situation is that the farmers shall quickly market their crops, and that the railways shall rush it to the seaboard for export with as little delay as possible.

MORE RAILWAY MILEAGE.

A large addition to the railway lines of the West will be available this season for moving out the great wheat harvest. Fully 1,500 miles more than last year will be in operation, including 573 miles on the Grand Trunk Pacific. The only difficulty presented by this state of affairs is that there may be great congestion at Winnipeg and between that point and the great lakes, owing to the fact that the government section of the National Transcontinental Railway, between Winnipeg and Port William, is not yet completed, and the Canadian Pacific has not quite finished double tracking its line between these points. In former years the farmers had to haul their grain long distances to the trains in these districts, but now all this grain will be sent direct to Winnipeg in greater volume within a short space of time, shorter than it has ever before been forwarded, while the means of communication between Winnipeg and the lakes are but little better than they were last year.

HUDSON BAY ROAD.

The first step toward the actual realization of the long-cherished scheme of a railway to Hudson Bay has just been taken by the departure [illegible] of a government survey party from Winnipeg, consisting of 100 men, to locate the route of the proposed road. The survey is to be pushed with all possible speed, and it is expected that the report of the surveyors will be laid before the Canadian parliament early in January next, thus allowing legislation to go through at once so that the work of constructing may begin next year. The survey party will be divided into four sections. They will survey alternate routes via the Churchill and via the Nelson [illegible]. One party will go straight through to Port Churchill and work eastward to the present terminus of the Canadian Northern Railway at the Pass. Another party will follow the valley of the Nelson River to Port Nelson. The ultimate choice of route will depend upon the character of the reports brought back as to the relative cost of construction, the suitability of the country for settlement purposes, the fisheries, etc. A careful examination will also be made of the harbor facilities at Port Churchill and Port Nelson, and the government will gather up such information as possible with respect to the cost of harbor works, aids to navigation in Hudson Bay and Straits, etc., so as to be in a position to give the fullest information to parliament before legislation is passed providing for the construction of the line.

The canal statistics of Canada for the season of navigation last year, which have just been issued by the government, show that the water borne traffic of the Dominion for the year 1907 was the largest on record. The total volume aggregated 20,543,839 tons, as compared with 18,116,000 tons ten and a half million tons in 1906, representing an increase of 35 per cent. For the one-year the [illegible] betterment has been 21½ per cent. For comparative purposes it may be mentioned that the traffic of Canadian railways increased from 47,000,000 tons in 1897 to 63,756,000 in 1907. The principal expansion in canal traffic last year was in the business of the Sault Ste. Marie Canal, which showed an increase of 5,000,000 tons over the year previous. During the past decade United States tonnage passing through the Sault Canal increased 335 per cent. while the increase of Canadian tonnage was 467 per cent. The betterment in the total traffic was 161 per cent. and since the number of passages grew by but 66 per cent. it is obvious that the carrying business of the upper lakes is rapidly developing a much larger type of steam vessel than has hitherto been in use. In this respect Canadian forwarders appear to be abreast of their American competitors.

The figures just issued relative to emigration to Canada from Great Britain go to show that the restrictions recently imposed by the Canadian government on those who seek to come hand inside in this country are becoming increasingly effective as the season progresses. For the six months ending June 30 last there were 42,402 persons of the immigrant class to enter Canada, as against 32,425 during the corresponding period of last year. It is only recently that the Grand Trunk Pacific Railroad Company asked permission to bring 1,500 laborers into the country for railway construction work, but the request was turned down by the government on the ground that the supply of labor was equal to the demand. There is no doubt that Canada has now reached such a stage in her national development that there is practically only room for such new settlers as are willing to follow agricultural pursuits.

Blames The English for the Sedition Found in India

Keir Hardie Denies That He Said Anything to Arouse Natives, But Taxes Officials with Stupidity

Montreal, Aug. 25.—A moment with Mr. Keir Hardie, M.P., the labor leader, and you are convinced that he has heart and soul in his endeavor to improve the conditions of the laboring class. As he threw himself into the corner of a lounge in the St. Lawrence Hall while chatting with a newspaper representative, it was evident that he was eager for the opportunity of making the nature of his work better known. And he did so quietly, but convincingly, and in any statement he made there was always some word or thought that was particularly emphasized, and gave a peculiar meaning to the whole.

In some quarters it had been held that Mr. Hardie's speeches had been the cause of the recent sedition in India. While disclaiming that his words had had any such power, Mr. Hardie was emphatic in stating that the existing powers in India were wholly to blame for the present sedition.

"The officials," he said, "had good intentions, but acted very stupidly, and when the natives claimed some right to share in the government, they not only denied them the right, but even resented their action."

Mr. Hardie now looked for further trouble owing to the developments that had occurred during the past few months. He clung to the view that the natives were right in their demands.

WAY OF POLITICIANS.

Coming back to England, Mr. Hardie was enthusiastic over what had been achieved by the labor party. The fact that he had secured so much from the government was particularly significant, because, as he expressed it, politicians never granted anything until they had to.

Of course, the Right to Work bill had been defeated at the last session, but that was what always happened to a labor bill on its first appearance. The party were now uniting all their forces in order to try to carry the bill through at the next session.

INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS.

Mr. Hardie is confident that the international labor conference he is organizing to take place in London in two years will be attended by great practical results, and thought it would be the most important event of its kind the world has ever seen.

Can't Hold Elections Before November 1st

Ottawa, Aug. 25.—There are many details of one kind or another to arrange between and the holding of a general election, such as the holding of party conventions, the printing of the voters' lists, etc., that it is difficult to see how any election can be held earlier than the first week in November, and there is [illegible] lity that even this will [illegible] time for all that is to be done.

In the meantime it is not expected that any announcement will be made for some time yet of the election date or, indeed, of the fact that there is going to be an election, although the latter is now regarded as certain.

Lone Highwayman Held Up 125 Passengers and Secured a Rich Haul

Lake Hotel, Yellowstone Park, Wyoming, Aug. 25.—The most daring hold-up in the west in many years occurred yesterday within the boundaries of the Yellowstone Park. The work was done by a lone highwayman, and the passengers were absolutely helpless in his hands as no guns are permitted in the park to either drivers or tourists. From the statements of passengers it is estimated that approximately two thousand dollars in cash was obtained, drafts worth $10,000 and other papers and transportation, besides a rich haul in watches and jewelry.

In all twenty-one coaches left the upper Geyser Basin in the morning. The highwayman was encountered about five miles further on at a lonely point along the banks of Spring Creek, a tributary of the Fire River. The creek is lined with bushes. The first lot of coaches, numbering seven, and following each other closely, passed the place unharmed. There was a gap between that and the next lot following. As the first of the eight came along the highwayman stepped from the bushes and ordered the drivers to halt. He did not molest any of the drivers, but warned each one not to start his team or he would be shot.

ROBBED YOUNG LADIES.

The last coach contained five young ladies. The highwayman obtained very little from them, but stopped long enough to appropriate some candy. In all about 125 people were held up, but not all of them suffered losses.

As quickly as possible after a telephone was reached at Thumb Station word was sent to the soldiers and a detail started after him. The man is described as about five feet eight inches high and having bluish grey eyes, bristling grey whiskers, and acted either as a man who was short of breath or a consumptive. He carried an automatic rifle and used smokeless powder.

VICTIMS HOLD MEETING.

At a meeting last night of the victims held in the Lake Hotel, resolutions requesting James A. Garfield, Secretary of the Interior, to make a suitable investigation of the hold-up "with a view to ascertaining whether there has been neglect of duty on the part of any guardians of the park, whether the aggrieved citizens have any suitable means of redress and compensation from the government, and what steps are necessary to ensure greater safety and defense in the future in the Yellowstone National Park."

Port Hope will Use Trent River Power

Port Hope, Aug. 25.—Last night Port Hope Council met and a letter from the mayor of Whitby inviting the mayors of Oshawa, Bowmanville, Newcastle, Port Hope, and Cobourg to meet to discuss the securing of Niagara power, was read informally previous to the meeting, and the matter not being taken seriously, was not brought before the council meeting.

Port Hope is 40 miles from the Trent River powers, and 150 miles from Niagara Falls.

An interview in the Port Hope Guide with the chief manufacturer of the town, who uses about five-sixths of the steam power available for displacement by electric power, explains why Port Hope will get its power from the Trent River. It reads as follows;

"Mr. Bush, president of Port Hope's two large industries, stated today that he did not consider it worth while for the council taking up their time with Niagara Falls power, basing his opinion on the Hydro-Electric Commissions printed report of comparison of the Trent River power and Niagara Falls transmission on the lake front. In addition to this the Dominion Government are building the canal dams on the Trent River, which will be a further immense saving of cost and maintenance for the power.

The ideas of Mr. Bush are backed up by engineers' reports and surveys, and by the leading manufacturers and business men of Port Hope, Cobourg, Dunsonte and Belleville, on the lake front, and Havelock on the north, who are shareholders of the Northumberland-Durham Power Company, Limited. This company's operations under the direction of Mr. J. A. Culverwell, of Port Hope, have twice been officially endorsed by some eighteen municipal councils to both governments. Their operations have been delayed, in fact, construction was ordered to be stopped until the Trent canal plan of works at Healey Rapids was completed. This company, following the advice laid down in the Hydro-Electric Commission printed report, has since secured a controlling interest in the six powers available for transmission on the Trent River, and will thus operate them as advised under one management, and thereby develop more economic power. This company's rates will be regulated, as they hold a lease from the Ontario Government of a portion of the Healey Rapids. Smaller canal dams near Trenton are under construction.

Wheat In Saskatchewan Has Been Damaged

Winnipeg, Aug. 25.—Harvest is proceeding under most favorable conditions so far as cutting is concerned. There has been practically no rain to interrupt operations, and cutting has been rushed. However, frost has been a serious factor, but how serious it is impossible at this time to say. It has done heavy damage in Central and Northern Saskatchewan, and the peculiar fact about it is that it has not been general in any district. Fields have been almost blackened, and potatoes alongside have not been touched, while in other cases spots in a big wheat field are badly affected, and the balance escaped entirely. The result will be a spotted sample of reduced grade. There are reports that at one or two points in Central Saskatchewan, some fields will be cut as the frost caught them in the milk stage. These, of course, are isolated cases, but in any event there is going to be a lot of frosted wheat.

In The Realm of Sport

BASEBALL.

Manager Johnston's Petes will play the Park Nine of the Toronto Senior League in Toronto on Labor Day.

Both Wrestlers are Confident of Winning

Judging by the interest displayed in the bout a record crowd will be on hand on Friday night when Yankee Rogers the famous American wrestler will try conclusions with Fritz Mohl the German champion. The approaching match is creating the greatest interest among the sporting fraternity who remember Rogers' match with Gene Hurtubise here earlier in the year and who look for a treat when the big Yankee hooks up with Mohl, who is apparently a most formidable adversary and will undoubtedly show Rogers that he is a foeman worthy of his steel. The two have had several desperate battles in the past and Mohl who weighs 245 pounds is looking for revenge in this occasion while Rogers who has just accepted an offer to go to England to the big tournament there on condition that he does not lose another match before that time, knows that he cannot afford to take any chances of being defeated. The result will be that both men will be out for blood and the struggle will be a desperate one from start to finish. Rogers is regarded as the favorite here, but a number have been impressed by Mohl's proportions and pick him to beat the Yankee.

Mohl will be here tonight to finish his training for the bout, while Rogers will arrive on Thursday morning, and will work out with Gene Hurtubise. Both men are supremely confident.

Burns Still Talking

Art Burn of Calgary, and Fred Nosworthy of Montreal, two of the Canadian team of Marathoners, blame a tonic wine given them on the road for their miserable showing in the Olympic Marathon. They say it was doped.

Don't it strange that the two worst runners on the entire team should be the one to shout the loudest upon their return?

Of all the Tommy Rot, their's is the worst!

The truth is that Burn, a pretty fair five-miler, a chap who might beat Fareio Wood, Jim Corkery, or Charles Neilson at five miles, was in no shape to run 26 miles, and besides killed himself by foolishly following Jack the Britisher, who ran the first mile in 5 minutes flat. He couldn't [illegible] shape, run the 26 miles under three hours, and on Marathon day simply ran until his stomach gave way, and then looked home in about twenty-first place.

Nosworthy never was, and never will be, a runner. He is a snowshoer. In the first place he is 40 years of age, muscle-bound, and with a dozen weak places that found him every day in training. He couldn't travel 26 miles as fast as any one of a score of runners in Toronto, who are never reckoned as contenders in a big race. Yet he squeals that a tonic wine Bill Sherring gave him beat him. Nosworthy, too, was always complaining that he got too much work in England.

WHAT FLANAGAN SAYS.

Tom Flanagan, when asked his opinion, said; "Some of those fellows are the worst runners in the world. I've got a dining room girl there in my hotel, and I'd match her against any of them. If she couldn't beat them at any distance from five to twenty miles I'd fire her, for she would not be fast enough to get from the kitchen to the table before the meat got cold. I'll tell you a good story on some of those runners. When Crocker was picking out the bicycle pacemakers for one of them the pacemakers refused to start without lamps on their wheels. When Crocker asked them why, they said; "Why, those fellows won't get in till, 8 or 9 o'clock, and we'll be arrested for riding without a light."

SHERRING WAS GOOD.

Billy Sherring is without doubt the best trainer of Marathon men in Canada. He may have overworked men before, but he surely did not in England. They only had two trials over ten miles, and the most of the time he had them working five, six and seven miles on the track for speed. The wine he gave them is a tonic wine of the lightest possible description, and the runners only got enough to wash their mouths out. Its value has been tried and tested by scores of Hamilton runners. It wasn't the wine, because Longboat, who got none of it, went down, too. Harry Lawson, Jack Caffery, and all the rest of the boys say the wine was the "pure McCoy" for them.

The truth is that Burn and Nosworthy made such a poor showing over the water, even allowing for weather conditions, that they are searching all over for an excuse that will hold water. They don't want to admit the bitter truth, but prefer to shoulder the blame on Bill Sherring, the finest and wisest coach Canada could produce. Shame on you, Burn and Nosworthy! Why don't you admit the bitter truth.—Toronto Star.

A UNIQUE PRODUCTION

About a year ago the King opened in the heart of London a club known as the Union Jack Club. The intention of the founders was that it should serve all the purposes of a club for soldiers or sailors either permanently or temporarily sojourning in London. That their intention provided for a real need is attested by the fact that during the first nine months 16,576 sailors, 23,161 soldiers, and 1,296 marines have slept under its roof, while a very much larger number have used the building as an ordinary club for recreation and dining purposes.

It opened with 200 bedrooms, but that has been found quite inadequate to the demand, and a scheme is on foot to enlarge the building so as to provide 150 additional bedrooms.

As one means towards accomplishing this purpose the friends of the movement have published a quite unique brochure of 116 pages. It is called The Flag, and to it some of the greatest living English writers and illustrators have contributed of their best. Three photographs by the Queen form a most attractive part of the illustrations. The result is something which any nation would be pleased to lay on his library table and treasure as something unusual in the typographical line. George Meredith is represented by a new poem, Rudyard Kipling by a characteristic playlet, Pett Ridge by one of his artistic short stories, Marie Corelli by a poem Sir W. S. Gilbert by a personal reminiscence which is stranger than fiction, W. Clark Russell by a modern Jack and Jill. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, John Strange Winter, and others of equal note are also among the contributors. The illustrations, colored and black and white, are beautifully reproduced.

The price of the issue is a shilling. Major Triffet, the editor, has come to Canada to dispose of as large a number as possible, and in this way Canadians can become possessed at a very low price of something worth preserving, while encouraging a very admirable institution.

Was helped at once with Dr Shoop's Magic Ointment. Just to prove it, a trial box will be mailed on request, by writing Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. Itching, smarting, blind ing piles, internal or external, get quick and certain help from Magic Ointment. Large box 50c. Sold by all dealers.

Cyclone Worked Havoc at Midland

Midland Argus: It is quite a number of years since this town and section was visited by a storm of such terrible severity as that which passed on Wednesday. The storm struck in about Fourth's Corners and took a stretch of territory half a mile wide and spent itself near Victoria Harbor. Within that zone great destruction was wrought, and the loss sustained can only be represented by thousands of dollars.

On the road leading west past the Roman Catholic cemetery dozens of large trees were blown down and frame buildings destroyed. The road was impassible for vehicles for several days.

The fine orchard belonging to Mr. James Stafford was almost completely destroyed, and many other farms suffered. Many of the farmers suffered. Many of the farmers had their wheat drawn in, but the oats were soaked to the fields and were thoroughly soaked. In many cases the root crops were washed away, and all through the district visited the roots will suffer from rot.

The heavy wind was confined to a tract about half a mile wide, crossing from the north-west to the south-east, and just touching one corner of the town, where many of the fine trees in the town's new park were uprooted. Fortunately the harbor was not in the track of the storm and the shipping was undisturbed.

After the passage of the storm the agricultural park presented a bewildering appearance, large trees being uprooted in every direction. The judges' stand was overturned, and Mayor Letherby's house was damaged by a falling tree. Rain fell in torrents and the town sewers were totally inadequate to carry off the water, which flooded the roadways and filled many cellars, causing considerable damage.

Pain anywhere stopped in 20 minutes sure with one of Dr. Shoop's Pink Pain Tablets. The formula is on the 25 cent box. Ask your Doctor or Druggist about this formula! Stops womanly pains, headache, pains anywhere. Write Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis., for free trial, to prove value of his Headache or Pink Pain Tablets. Sold by all dealers.

It has been decided to remove the office of the Zoological Society from Hanover Square to the gardens in Regent's Park, where new buildings will be erected.

Anhilists Wreak Awful Vengeance

St. Petersburg, Aug. 24.—News has reached this city of a terrible vengeance taken by the revolutionists of Yuriev-ka, in Transbrinoslav province, upon a Jewish family named Edelstein, who were accused of giving information to the authorities regarding the activities of the agitators. They visited the Edelstein house at night, and threw bombs through the windows. They then opened fire upon the members of the family with revolvers, and also to death the father, a daughter, a woman guest, and the child. The mother, a son, a son-in-law and two grandsons were severely wounded.

"After this murderous onslaught, the revolutionists rested and help for the wounded was summoned. In the course of a couple of hours the villains, who were still alive, had been conveyed to a hospital.

Not satisfied with their vengeance, the revolutionists with a well-armed band of about sixty men descended upon the hospital, overpowered the nurses and guards, and shot the two boys and son to death, after which they made their escape.

Agents despatched from the province, reported here, says that the prisoners in the jail at Saratoff, upon discovering that two of their comrades were butchered, fell upon them and beat them to death.

Big Gold Find in South Africa

Pretoria, Aug. 24.—It is reported that an important gold discovery has recently been made near the spot where Dr. Jameson had his first skirmish with General Cronje at the time of his famous raid. Encouraged by the finds of two prospectors in the neighborhood, a syndicate recently acquired some fifty claims, clearing the whole of the ground from Jameson's attack to the Zeerust railway line, and systematic and intelligent work has brought to light a reef, accessible from the West Reef, which yields surprisingly good assay values.

Sample taken from the top shows that the casing is of sandstone, with a body of quartzite. There is visible gold in the handing wall, and the panning of samples taken haphazard from different parts has yielded good results. The reef is now fully exposed, and has been traced over the property, and the thrusts made by one of the experts of the Rustenberg Estates Justify the optimism of the members of the syndicate, who believe they have "struck it rich", and that the small mill with his battery can make the ground yield handsome returns.

Heart Stitched Up Patient Recovering

Washington, August 24.—With six stitches in his heart to close a gaping knife-wound, with his left lung consumed by tuberculosis, with three broken ribs, suffering from pneumonia, Luther Johnson, a negro, is convalescing rapidly in a local hospital, physicians say that in a few days he will be discharged.

The operation upon the heart was performed by Dr. Charles W. Wilde, visiting surgeon. The patient was brought to the hospital by the police after an affray in which he was stabbed. Dr. Wilde quickly determined that an immediate operation was imperative. To reach the heart it was necessary to break three ribs, which were laid back. The heart was raised slightly and six stitches were taken in it. While the cavity was open it was noticed that the man's left lung had disappeared and that he had a slight attack of pneumonia. The operation was performed in eighteen minutes.

An equally remarkable operation was performed by Dr. Wilde upon a 12-year-old negro boy, John Dent. During an altercation for blood poisoning young Dent apparently succumbed to chloroform. His heart stopped for eighteen minutes, and although pronounced dead by two physicians, Dr. White made an incision and by massaging the heart brought circulation and life to the body. The body after being brought back to life succumbed to blood poisoning.

Castro to be Tamed; Dutch to Start War

The Hague, Aug. 24.—After a nine-hour session, during which the dispute between the Netherlands and Venezuela was discussed, the cabinet dispersed shortly after midnight last night and Minister of Foreign Affairs Van Swindaren proceeded to the royal chateau at Het Loo to acquaint Queen Wilhelmina with the result of the council.

The terms of The Netherlands' answer to the letter of President Castro of Venezuela were fully discussed, and broad lines of action drawn up to meet eventualities.

In diplomatic circles the view is entertained that the difficulty between Holland and Venezuela cannot be settled by arbitration, and in explanation it is pointed out that the dispute does not involve commercial claims, like the difficulties between Nicaragua and Great Britain, Germany and America. It is maintained here that the present question is one of sovereignty and national honor, matters which are not susceptible of settlement by arbitration.

It has been agreed to push all necessary preparations in order to be ready to support an ultimatum should it be decided to forward one to President Castro. Work will be rushed night and day at the naval dock yards, so that the warships there will be in readiness to re-enforce the vessels now in the Caribbean by the end of next month.

In the event of warlike measures it is understood there will first be a naval demonstration off La Guaira, subsequent action will depend upon the result of this course.

The Dutch Troops on their Way

Amsterdam, Aug. 25.—A detachment of fifty men left here to-day to re-enforce the garrison maintained by Holland at Willemstad, Curacao. The present strength of the garrison is ten officers and 163 men, and there is a militia organization of 400 men.

MAIL LINE STOPPED.

Willemstad, Curacao, Aug. 25.—Each day brings a development in the difficulty between the Netherlands and Venezuela, indicating retaliatory measures on the one side or the other, and this morning it was learned that the Royal Dutch West Indian mail line had decided temporarily to discontinue its Venezuelan service.

The steamer Prinz Willem V., belonging to this line, arrived here yesterday from Carupano, Venezuela, and Superintendent Davies was interviewed to-day regarding the plans of the company. He said: "Although we do not fear that the Venezuelan authorities will molest our steamers as Venezuelan ports the recent occurrences in connection with the quarantine regulations imposed by neighboring countries have obliged the company to discontinue its Venezuelan service for the time being."

The steamer of the Royal Dutch Mail line, on their regular schedule, call at the Venezuelan ports of Puerto Cabello, LaGuaira, Guanta, Cumana and Carupano.

WAIT MINISTER'S REPORT.

The Hague, Aug. 24.—Holland's action against Venezuela and the text of her note to President Castro will depend largely upon the reports M. de Reus, former Dutch minister to Venezuela, who recently was expelled by President Castro, makes to the government. He is expected to arrive here next Monday. M. Van Swinderne, minister of foreign affairs, will consult with M. de Reus before the government takes any further steps in the matter. The former minister's arrival is eagerly awaited here.

The blockade of the Venezuelan coast if it is undertaken, will not be begun for some time, because the adoption of punitive measures will depend upon the tenor of President Castro's reply to Holland's representations.

News in Brief

Edmonton, August 24.—Arrangements are being completed whereby the whole western slope of the Rocky Mountains in Canada will be surveyed, with a view to the construction of dams to form a reservoir for holding the water which flows down from the mountains in the spring and causes the rivers of the province to flood. By means of these reservoirs a dual purpose will be served. The water may be held and used throughout the summer for irrigation of land where necessary, and in places where irrigation is not required, it may be allowed to flow away gradually and thus prevent floods, which carry away logs and do other damage in the spring.

Elliott City, Md., August 24.—A license was issued for the marriage of Rev. Geo. S. Fitzhugh, aged 47 years, to Lulu V. Frazier, a girl ten years old. The proposed marriage has not taken place, however, Mr. Fitzhugh having suffered a severe attack of heart disease after obtaining the license, and he is now said to be critically ill in South Baltimore. Mr. Fitzhugh is understood to be an Episcopal clergyman of Virginia, of which state the little girl is also a native. When the license was secured a temporary letter of assent from the girl's mother was exhibited to the clerk.

Tampico, Mex., August 24.—The fury of the great oil fire near the San Geronimo River, 75 miles south-west, has greatly increased. The top of the crater has widened to 700 feet in diameter, and the burning oil is overflowing the sides of the miniature volcano and threatens to spread the flames to the adjacent forests, despite the hard efforts of soldiers and laborers. Government engines have reported to President Diaz that the flames are consuming 700,000 barrels of oil daily.

Ottawa, Ont., August 24.—Mr. Arthur A. Bowen, of Kemptville, Ont., has been appointed Inspector of Grain and Weighmaster for the Department of Trade and Commerce. The appointment is partly the result of the legislation of last session, which brought the elevators of the east under the same inspection as the western elevators, and partly to complaining of incorrect returns being made by elevators to the East of Fort William. It is Mr. Bowen's business to make an examination of the elevators between Port William and Halifax, and see that they comply with the grain laws in handling that commodity. He will also look into all disputes which may arise in that portion of Canada in regard to the transportation of grain.

New York, Aug. 24.—Striking tailors in this city yesterday opened headquarters in Suffolk street and issued a statement of their demands. An increase in pay by the piece of 50 per cent. over the present rate is asked. Piece workers complain that their present pay is but starvation wages, some of them earning only $4 per week.

Michael Price, secretary of the general executive board of the United Brotherhood of Tailors of America, said to-day that over 1,000 men had already gone on strike and that unless their demands were granted 10,000 tailors in this and other cities would walk out.

Toronto World:—T. P. Phelan, yesterday secured from Justice Latchford an order for habeas corpus for the release of "Queenie" Grant, of Peterborough, now under a year's sentence in the reformatory. Her offence, however according to counsel, is punishable only to the extent of six months' imprisonment. The minister of justice has refused to interfere.

Chatham, Aug. 25.—Five years' imprisonment in the Kingston Penitentiary was the sentence handed out by Judge Bell Saturday afternoon to Pete Harris, a colored man. The sentence will be supplemented with twenty lashes within a month of the beginning of the term and an additional twenty within a month of its expiration. The victim was a thirteen-year-old girl, who while living with her grandmother in Detroit, was enticed over the line by Harris, who pretended to be her father and declared he had a position for her as a domestic in Chatham. By the use of threats he kept her with him in the vicinity of Charing Cross, living a nomadic life, till the girl escaped to Chatham and informed the authorities. Detective Fahring arrested Harris.

Stop That Cold

To check early colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterwards. To be sure, Preventics will cure even a deeply seated cold, but taken early—at the sneezing stage—they break, or head off, these early colds. That's surely better. That's why they are called Preventics.

Preventics are little Candy Cold Cures. No Quinine, no physic, nothing sickening. Nice for the children—and thoroughly safe too. If you feel chilly, if you sneeze, if you ache all over, think of Preventics. Promptness may also save half your usual sickness. And don't forget your child. There is no harshness, nor bad effect, in Preventics' greatest efficiency. Sold in 10 boxes for the pocket, also in the home of 25 Preventics. Insist on your druggists giving you

A Simple Salad.

Cabbage scorned as plebeian takes on an air as a salad—not cold slaw or hot slaw, but a crisp, easily mixed salad with French dressing.

Cut the cabbage with fine grater and put it in ice water for an hour before serving. Dry on a clean napkin and cover with a highly seasoned French dressing about ten minutes before serving.

If a clove of garlic is rubbed over the bowl in which the dressing is made, the flavor is much improved for many persons.

While one would not serve this salad at a formal meal, it makes an appetizing lunch dish.

A Pan Broil.

When it is not convenient to open the lid of a stove, as on ironing day, a beefsteak or chop can be given a pan broil.

This is not frying, as many persons think, since not a particle of grease is used.

Have the pan very hot. Put the meat in it and turn almost immediately to the other side until seared. Keep turning the meat occasionally till it is done, though this need not be quite so often as when the steak is over live coals.

The Greatest Man.

Who is the greatest man who has ever lived? The question went round a dinner table, and controversy raged from the fish onward. There were two who plumped for Julius Caesar, two more for Napoleon; one, thinking of statues, said Shakespeare, and somebody else, who did not get a hearing at all, murmured Buddha at intervals, while most of the people present who did not know Greek said Aeschylus. But Aristotle won easily. It was not a particularly scholarly assemblage, and one wondered rather how many of Aristotle's enthusiastic devotees could have quoted accurately from him—had ever read him, indeed—since they left college. And all the while probably the greatest man of all ages is pegging away among us unnoticed, unrecognised, while we snapshot and interview all the little men or go back to some one who has been dead long enough for us to find out that we may safely praise him.—London Chronicle.

Notices Which Make You Smile.

There is quite a rich crop of humor, usually unconscious, to be reaped by the observant in the notices displayed in shop windows, of which the following announcement by a south end bird fancier is not at all a bad example: "Doves for sale, cheap. Eat nearly anything. Fond of children." Not long ago a Farrington road butcher had in his window this notice: "Wanted, a respectable boy for beef sausages." An east end publican announced, "Billiard tables upstairs, 1 shilling per 100." A well known High Wycombe tobacconist proclaims from his shop window, "This shop is open on Sundays from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. in spite of Charles II." "Wanted, a warehouseman," ran another similar notice. "Applicants must be accustomed to rigorous discipline. Only the offers of such candidates will be entertained who have served in the army or been married for a considerable length of time."—Westminster Gazette.

Bounced Through.

Sergeant Wilkins once defended a breach of promise case for a singularly ugly little man, which case he told the defendant, after reading his brief, must be "bounced" through. And the sergeant did bounce it through.

"Gentlemen of the jury," he said at the close of a most eloquent speech, "you've heard the evidence for the plaintiff, and, gentlemen of the jury, you have admired that most bewitching lady, the plaintiff herself. Gentlemen, do you believe that this enchanting, this fascinating, this captivating, this accomplished lady would for one moment favor the advances or listen with anything save scorn and indignation to the amorous protestations of the wretched and repulsive homunculus, the deformed and degraded defendant?"

His client looked up from the well of the court and piteously murmured:

"Mr. Sergeant Wilkins! Oh, Mr. Sergeant Wilkins!"

"Silence, sir!" replied the sergeant in a wrathful undertone. "Gentlemen," he continued, bringing his fist heavily down on the desk before him, "do you think that this lovely lady, this fair and smiling creature, would ever have permitted an offer of marriage to be made to her by this miserable atom of humanity, this stunted creature, who would have to stand on a sheet of note paper to look over twopence?"

Instant verdict for defendant.—Le Gaulois.

Corrected.

A little girl in Rhode Island, the daughter of a clergyman, once sat at the table with a bishop who was visiting her father.

When they had finished she observed that he did not fold his napkin. Distressed, she said:

"We always fold our napkins here."

"Yes, my dear," said the bishop. "But that is because you use them again. In the case of a visitor you don't do that."

"Oh, yes, we do," said the little girl. —New York Life.

To Canadian Investors

The undersigned has received an allotment of unsold portion of $100,000 of

7 Per Cent. First Mortgage Five-Year Gold Bonds

dated January 11, 1908, and maturing January 11, 1913. These Bonds are offered at par and accrued interest by Metropolitan Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, trustees.

SECURITY—The Entire Property and Improvements Owned THE URES CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY in the District of Ures, State of Sonora Mexico. Free from Mortgage or Bonded Indebtedness except this present Bond Issue.

An Unusual Opportunity for Investment in Sound Security

The Ures Consolidated Mining Company offers $100,000.00 of First Mortgage Gold Bonds. This issue of bonds is the only mortgage or bonded indebtedness ever placed on the company's properties.

These bonds are in the denomination of $100.00, and bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, July and January, and are redeemable on or before five years from date at the company's option at $110.00 and accrued interest.

$100.00 Stock Bonus Given with Every $100.00 Bond

With each bond issued there will be given $100.00 par value of the capital stock of the company as a bonus, and in addition thereto there will be placed in escrow with the Trustee additional stock which will be available to the bondholders at their option any time within a period of three years, the bondholder being entitled to surrender his bond any time within said period and receive in lieu thereof stock for every dollar of indebtedness so him on account of said bonds.

The Security Back of these Bonds

The company owns twelve claims situated in the district of Ures, State of Sonora, Mexico, free from mortgage or bonded indebtedness, except the present bond issue.

On one of these properties (The Ramona Mine) 6,000 feet of underground development work has been done, consisting of an inclined shaft to the depth of 400 feet with drifts in three levels to the North and South of the shaft.

An average value of ore worth $11.67 per ton is exposed throughout the mine, from the collar of the shaft to the extreme parts in the drifts, all of which is above water level.

The company has made surface improvements and mine improvements to the extent of $60,000.00 in the way of machinery, skids, trams, steam hoists, mill and nearly everything necessary to make the mining camp complete.

In addition to the absolute ownership of these twelve valuable claims, the company has a lease on the San Jose Mine, adjoining its property, in which the company has been operating in high grade ore.

During the past sixty days the company has extracted and delivered to ore buyers and the bank at Hermosillo, $5,000.00 worth of ore and bullion, the ore having been reduced to bullion through the company's mill, with the exception of 1,464 pounds, which was sold to an ore buyer for $562.50.

The Money Derived from the Sale of These Bonds

This issue of bonds is made for the purpose of securing money at once in order to extend the development work more quickly than the company's present means will permit.

With the high grade ore in sight to the distance of 50 feet to the South of the shaft, the management is assured that within six months from date of making the improvements now necessary the company's properties will be on a self-sustaining and dividend-paying basis.

The Stock which is Given with these bonds will be as valuable as the Bonds when the Company has the ready capital to push operations

Men who invest in these bonds will have no cause or reason to regret their action, for the bonds afford an investment in a security which is absolutely safe—much better than ordinary city or country real estate, which is considered perfectly safe if the property put up to secure a mortgage is double the face of the loan. The security given on these bonds is better than 7 to 1, for the Ures Consolidated Mining Company has refused an offer of $700,000.00 for the property upon which this $100,000.00 worth of bonds is issued.

These bonds are an investment with all speculative risk eliminated—an investment with absolute security.

Make your reservation at once, this is small and promises to be quickly sold.

To whom it may concern:—

We hereby beg to state that The Ures Consolidated Mining Company has during the past five years made several deliveries of bullion to this bank, and it is the opinion of mining men here that they have the making of a fair mine, and further, that the properties owned and controlled by them bid promise of becoming paying properties.

From our knowledge of the men connected, we believe they are doing all in their power to bring about the results above mentioned.

1 CENT A 2 SHARE

Send us your name as a member in this new company, with your remittance for as many thousand shares as you can take at 35 per thousand.

This is a short-time offer on a hurry-up proposition. Our vice president is up at Rawhide now putting the miners at work. We want to raise the necessary funds for development as quickly as possible. Therefore, we offer the first block of stock at 35 a thousand shares. This subscription must be all cash. We want the money in hand. We mean to work without let-up, and we have made it an ironclad rule not to run in debt. Cash counts now.

Our prospectuses are out. Send for one.

Make reservation of stock, if you do no more. But, remember, this present offer of stock at Half a Cent a Share is now open, and will be closed as soon as enough cash subscriptions are in hand. Don't wait, or you will get left.

The gold mining property owned outright by the company consists of 7 claims, 3 in the Rawhide district of Nevada, and 4 in the Dulzura district of Southern California.

The Rawhide district to-day is more famous than Goldfield, Tonopah, Bullfrog, or Searchlight were at the same stage of exploration and development. The Dulzura discovery is one of the most sensational in the history of California.

Ten samples of ore which were among the first assayed, ran as high as $7,461.87 to the ton, and all ten averaged over $1,500 a ton.

In both camps we located early, and our locations are choice. Our own officers will superintend the mining.

How to Tell

If the Kidneys and Liver are Not Acting Well.

Thousands die every year from aggravated kidney distress that could have been saved if they only knew.

Your back may ache, you think it's tiredness or physical weakness.

You grow irritable and nervous—it's put down to loss of sleep.

Joints ache, muscles get sore,—that's all put down to bad weather.

Then digestion gets poor, appetite fades away, color bleaches, spirit droop.

Can't you see it's all from your over-worked kidneys, which can't keep the body clear of poisons that are now surging through the whole system.

Cure your kidneys with Dr. Hamilton's pills.

"When I was so stooped and back weary, so lame and sore with kidney and bladder trouble, I cured myself quickly with Dr. Hamilton's Pills" writes O. C. Ferrier, a well known merchant in Plainville. "Dr. Hamilton's Pills touched the spot at once, gave my back ease, lifted depression and weariness, made a new man of me. I can also say for a good spring medicine to clear and enrich the blood Dr. Hamilton's Pills have no equal."

The housewife whose aching back makes every little duty a burden, the working man who is tired all day and can't rest at night, whose back aches, and whose feet swell—these people have kidney trouble. Women whose kidneys are sick, suffer continually from blind and sick headaches, faint and dizzy spells, bearing down pains, sharps twinges when stooping, distressing urinary troubles, aching muscles and joints, lack of appetite and loss of sleep. Reach the cause. Cure the kidneys. Use Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills, which have cured thousands. 25c at all dealers.

The footprints of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the Stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For this druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. First, these tiny inside Stomach, Heart, and Kidney nerves fail. Then gas belching, Heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment, you will realize the gain. A test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

Friendly Tip

Restored Hope and Confidence

After several years of indigestion and its attendant evil influences on the mind, it is not very surprising that one finally loses faith in things generally.

A N.Y. woman writes an interesting letter. She says;

"Three years ago I suffered from an attack of peritonitis which left me in a most miserable condition. For over two years I suffered from nervousness, weak heart, shortness of breath, could not sleep, etc.

"My appetite was ravenous but I felt starved all the time. I had plenty of food but it did not nourish me because of intestinal indigestion. Medical treatment did not seem to help. I got discouraged, stopped medicine and did not care much whether I lived or died.

"One day a friend asked me why I didn't try Grape-Nuts, stop drinking coffee and use Postum. I had lost faith in everything, but to please my friends I began to use both and soon dreams very fond of them.

"It wasn't long before I got some strength, felt a decided change in my system, hope sprang up in my heart and slowly but surely I got better. I could sleep very well, the constant craving for food ceased and I have better health now than before the attack of peritonitis.

"My husband and I are still using Grape-Nuts and Postum." "There's a Reason.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is a powerful, invigorating tonic, imparting health and strength to particular to the organs distinctly feminine. The local, womanly health is so intimately related to the general health that when diseases of the delicate womanly organs are cured the whole body gains in health and strength. For weak and sickly women who are "worn-out," "run-down" or debilitated, especially for women who work in store, office or schoolroom, who sit at the typewriter or sewing machine, or bear heavy household burdens, and for nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proven a priceless benefit because of its health-restoring and strength-giving powers.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea, or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womanly organs. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Cures obstinate cases. "Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of "female weakness," painful periods, irregularities, prolapsus or falling of the pelvic organs, weak back, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration.

Dr. Pierce's medicines are made from harmless but efficient medical roots found growing in our American forests. The Indians knew of the marvelous curative value of some of these roots and imparted that knowledge to some of the friendlier whites, and gradually some of the more progressive physicians came to test and use them, and ever since they have grown in favor by reason of their superior curative virtues and their safe and harmless qualities.

Your druggists sell the "FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION" and also that famous alterative, blood purifier and stomach tonic, the "GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY." Write to Dr. Pierce about your case. He is an experienced physician and will treat your case as confidential and without charge for correspondence. Address him at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., of which he is chief consulting physician.

Lieut.-Col. E.B. Edwards in the City from West

Lieut.-Col. E. B. Edwards of Edmonton, is in the city looking his old haunts. He will be brigadier of Kingston camp this year again and has come down for that purpose. Litigation is rife in Edmonton and district. People there have more business of a litigious character than is apparently. The crops are magnificent. Lieut.-Col. Edwards has got into his new house, and altogether is happy and comfortable. Mrs. Edwards also enjoys the boon of health in this remote but "glorious" country.

POLICE

In the police court yesterday morning Samuel Lowry was charged with poisoning a valuable dog belonging to J. W. Edwards. The case was dismissed, there not being enough evidence to prove him guilty.

William W. Edwards, 421 George street, the complainant, stated that he kept a butcher shop. He lived over the store and the defendant lives in the rooms over the butcher shop, next door. He said that his father owned a dog an old English sheep dog. It was very valuable, and was brought over from England. On the 22nd of July it was poisoned in the back yard. Lowry and he were in common only by lowly and the witness. The dog was well worth a hundred dollars.

The stomach was sent to Toronto for analysis and on inquiry at the different city drug stores it was found that on the 16th of July S. Lowry purchased strychnine at McDermid & Jury's store.

Mr. R. H. Quinn of McDermid & Jury's drug store stated that he remembered selling strychnine to Mr. Lowry on July 16th. Mr. Quinn showed the entry in the poison book. He said from 10 grains sufficient to kill a dog.

Wm. R. Munro, a veterinary surgeon, stated that he was called in during July to see a dog belonging to Mr. Edwards. The animal was in convulsions, evidently suffering from strychnine poisoning. The stomach was sent to Queen's Medical College. The report received showed that strychnine was present in large quantities in the stomach.

Mr. Lowry, for the defence, said that he lived at 426 Chambers street adjoining the Edwards home. He did not think the dog was of any great value. He was always on friendly terms with the animal. He denied ever threatening to kill the dog. He bought poison to kill rats. He had never put poison outside the house. Several persons have access of the yard. Witness said that the complainant had two cats that were a source of annoyance to him.

The charge of perjury against J. Levasseur, Jr., in connection with a liquor case, was again enlarged until Friday. Bail was renewed and Levasseur was given his freedom.

Several drunks appeared before Magistrate Dumble yesterday morning, and all pleaded guilty, and had to forfeit the regular amount.

John Barker was charged with vagrancy and he was given three hours to get out of town.

ARTIST OR ARTISAN.

Do You Practice an Art or Follow a Trade?

What are you—you who bake the bread and brew the tea—artist or artisan? You may roast a joint for two or twenty, you may toss an omelet on occasion or pursue that occupation as a profession, and still be either an artist or artisan.

Some one has said in writing of Mme. Poulard, whose little inn was for years one of the attractions of Mount St. Michael:

"To see her preparing an omelet or a stew or keeping an eye on the chickens revolving over the fire was to see a woman practicing an art rather than following a trade."

That distinction between an art and a trade is an interesting one, by the way, and one which may be applied in the realm of cooking as well as to that of any other field of endeavor.

In common parlance house painting is termed a trade, while painting miniatures on ivory would surely be referred to as an art. Still, with no inaccuracy in definition the terms might be reversed.

Of course the difference in the two terms, stating it broadly, is one of conscious effort. The artist adds the imprint of his own personality to his work; the artisan merely performs manual labor. An art perhaps is only a trade with the creative element added.

And so it was said of this Mme. Poulard:

"In handling her utensils she had the grand air which distinguishes the artist from the artisan, the cook whose heart is in her work from the cook bent on earning a living."

Is it too high a standard to set for the mere business of cooking to demand that it be done with individuality? A criticism which was once made of the table of a club is that it "had no love in it." To quote again: "The actual needs (of the club) were generally met, but there was no margin, no suggestion of human interest. You were treated as a boarder to be fed and not as a human being with taste as well as appetite."

How different this from the attitude of a woman whose apple pies invariably caused some favorable comment and who was once asked how she made them!

"Oh, I don't know," she said. "Just the usual way, I guess, only I always think of the nice folks I am making them for and put in a pinch of love."

The woman was a practical, hard-working housekeeper with a big family of boarders, not a sentimental newly wed, but she meant pretty literally what she said. Most women in her circumstances would have put in only a pinch of grim necessity.

The pinch of love, or, if you please, the spontaneous interest, that went into that work was the thing that made those pies the work of an artist rather than an artisan.

And when you hear a woman talk about the drudgery of "messing around the kitchen" and the awful bore it is to get meals you may make up your mind that, however gifted she may be in other lines, in her home at least she is an artisan and not an artist.

A Time Fuse for Torpedo Boats

New York, Aug. —Another danger has been added to naval warfare and the inventor of the latest form of ship destruction, Lieutenant Commander Cleland Davis, U. S. N., discussed it last night. It is a torpedo which carries in its interior a steel gun barrel that discharges a shell loaded with high explosives when the torpedo strikes the side or bottom of the enemy's ship. The point of invention is that this explosive shell is equipped with a time fuse, so that it will not explode until it reaches the interior of the vessel. At a recent test a torpedo of the Davis type was sent 125 feet to a tank fifteen feet in diameter with three bulkheads each of iron plate five-eighths of an inch thick. The torpedo passed through all of them and sunk the tank and went 100 feet beyond. It is said the torpedo will revolutionize the building of warships.

Twin Boys Kidnapped

Hagersville, Ont., Aug. 24.—About eight o'clock this morning the twin sons of Sylvanus Dixon of Milton, Ont., were kidnapped from the home of their grandfather, Dr. Peter E. Jones, on the New Credit reserve, about three miles from Hagersville.

The children were on the road in front of the doctor's house when two women in a buggy drove up and put the children in the buggy and burned away.

It is supposed that one of the women was their mother, who resides in Toledo, Ohio.

A few months ago the father secured the children from their mother in a similar manner, bringing them to the home of his parents.

It is supposed that the children were taken by train from Waterford to Detroit.

The parents have been separated for some years.

Braved Man Killed By Coward

In Memoriam
WILLIAM E. ANNIS.
Died August 15, 1908.
A Brave Man Killed by a Coward

New York, Aug. 26—In the September log book of the Bayside Yacht Club, which has just been issued and mailed to members, appears this entry, conspicuously placed in box shape and surrounded by a black border.

It is the custom of the club to issue an up-to-date edition of the log book every month, and in it are recorded, among other things, the deaths of members during the month just past. Heretofore these records have been confined to the name and date and the words "a loyal and beloved member," or some similar sentiment.

Annis had been a member of the club for many years, was active on its Entertainment Committee, and in all its affairs. Following his killing by Hains the board of governors met and decided that the club as a body should take no action in the matter, but the members, almost to a man, express their belief in Annis' innocence of the charges made against him, and believe that he was unjustifiably slain.

There had been prepared before the shooting of Annis a cartoon intended to portray several members of the club, among them Annis, extending condolences to others who had been defeated in one of the club's regattas. The inscription on the cartoon was "The Pessimistic." After the murder instructions were given the printer to leave out the cartoon. In its place appears the memorium to Annis.

HONOR ABOVE HUSBAND'S LIFE.

New York, Aug. 26.—Mrs. Peter C. Hains will not lift her voice to save her husband, Capt. Hains, from the electric chair for the murder of William E. Annis.

Mrs. Hains will go upon the stand as a witness for the State, but only to clear her name of the accusations associating her with Annis.

This was confirmed yesterday by Mr. G. Wild, one of Mrs. Hain's attorneys. Mr. Wild made it plain that the army captain's wife has expressed no desire to become a witness for the defence.

Mrs. Hains has made a complete denial to her attorneys of the charges of infidelity made by Capt. Hains in the divorce suit started last June. Insisting upon her innocence, she does not propose to sacrifice her fair name to keep her husband from the death penalty.

HER HONOR AT STAKE.

So bitterly does Mrs. Hains resent the imputations made against her since the murder that she has flatly told her counsel that she will hear of no terms of reconciliation with Capt. Hains, nor will she consider any proposition to help him out of his predicament. Mrs. Hains maintains that her honor is at stake. She says she cannot bolster up the charges made by Capt. Hains and his attorneys unless she procures herself.

"After the hearing of the two accused men next Friday, Mrs. Hains through her counsel, Mr. Norton and myself, will have a complete statement to make, fully setting forth her side of this vicious case," said Mr. Wild yesterday. "She will make an unqualified denial of the charge made by Capt. Hains in his divorce suit. Mrs. Hains feels that she has been so miserably treated in this affair that she must let the public know what she has suffered, and how baseless are the accusations brought against her.

"In their accusations the lawyers for the defence, trying to establish a motive or justification for the murder of Annis, have gone too far. They have exhausted their ammunition, but not their invective. Mrs. Hains will take up each charge and stamp it as a lie.

"It would be sheer inconsistency for Mrs. Hains, in view of this, to think of becoming a witness for the defence. She could do nothing but injure their case. Mrs. Hains has no idea of posing as in Evelyn Thaw at the Hains' trial. She has no confession to make."

Mrs. Hains will not be called as a witness for the prosecution in the direct presentation of the case, but will be called in rebuttal. The lawyer was asked if Mrs. Hains realized that such evidence on her part might be fatal to her husband, and result in a conviction of first degree murder.

"I have nothing to say about that," he replied.

When Mr. McIntyre, counsel for the accused men, was told that Mrs. Hains proposed going upon the witness stand for the State, he exclaimed:

"Is that so? If Mrs. Hains is a competent witness for the State I shall waive all legal objections that I might have, and I'll be the first to take the stand."

"Is there any doubt about her being a competent witness?" was asked.

Mr. McIntyre explained that a wife might be allowed to testify to anything but confidential relations between herself and her husband.

"I don't know what she wants to say on the stand, and so I cannot tell whether I would object to her testimony or not," he continued. "But I hardly think that, no matter what she cared to say, I would interpose an objection. We have all the evidence we need to substantiate the charges made by Capt. Hains. Mrs. Hains cannot deny them."

Mr. McIntyre believes that, as a wife testifying against her husband when he is on trial for his life, Mrs. Hains will make a distinctly unfavorable impression on the jury. He also believes that the searching cross-examination by counsel for the defence that she will have to undergo will effectually riddle any story she may tell against her husband and his brother.

Mr. McIntyre added that the defence had in its possession several letters written by Annis that will go far to prove the truth of Captain Hains' accusations. Their contents, he said, would not be revealed until the trial.

1,000 CHINESE TROOPS REVOLTED AND KILLED COMMANDER AND LOYALISTS

Sixty were Betrayed by Villagers at $17 a Head---Joined wild Tribe

Mutinous Soldiers from Kong Haw

Hong Kong, Aug. 26.—Admiral Li of the Chinese navy, with his flagship and several gunboats, sailed from Wu Chow today for Canton, taking with him as prisoners sixty of the mutinous soldiers from Kong Haw, where a thousand men revolted on August 12, killing their commander and several others, routing a force of loyal soldiers from a nearby town, looting the village of Honeha, and finally withdrawing to the mountains of Taiking, where they joined forces with the wild tribes of the hills.

Admiral Li's prisoners were betrayed into the hands of the Government forces for twenty-five taels (about $17) a head by villagers at Kong Haw. The rebellious soldiers spoke a strange dialect and their detention and subsequent betrayal to the authorities was an easy matter.

At Wu Chow the gates of the city which have stood open for weeks past, have now been closed, owing to the disturbed condition of the country following the mutiny at Kong Haw.

Bright Official Crop Report from the West

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—The director of the Experimental Farm wires the Department of Agriculture from Lacombe, Alberta, under date of the 25th inst., as follows.

"Winter wheat in this district all cut. Crops good.

"Most of spring wheat still standing, but ripening fast. Heads very plump and well filled.

"Weather favorable. Frost of 20th does not appear to have injured wheat much.

"Barley all cut. A large acreage of oats also cut.

"Grain crops on Experimental Farm very heavy. Winter wheat and early varieties spring wheat cut."

RAINS HELPING SPRING WHEAT.

Winnipeg, Aug. 26—Welcome rains fell throughout most of the spring wheat country during the past twenty-four hours. While delaying harvest a day or two, they will do much good to the late wheat and cut crop. Reports received today indicate that harvesters are being distributed where needed, and work is being found for them, though the wages likely are lower than at any time during the past six or seven years.

Prospects are for light local frosts tonight.

Brazil is Preparing to Assert Supremacy

London, Aug. 26.—In connection with the three warships being ostensibly built in England for Brazil, but whose ultimate destination is full of mystery the Daily Chronicle publishes the following from what it terms "a usually well-informed German source."

"Fearful politicians, both in England and in Germany, have looked for a considerable time with suspicious eyes on the three warships now being built in English yards for the Brazilian government. Leading articles in Argentine and Brazilian papers have told German people that these ships in order was one of the artful tricks of the Anglo-Saxon British statesmen to prepare in a less complicated way for the hour when war would be waged on the Fatherland. These three Brazilian men-of-war would be added to the British fleet in the same way as Chilian warships have been before.

"On the other hand, British politicians have uttered similar misgivings with regard to German cruisers. German yards are being able to build ships in a rate fast enough to satisfy German thirst for blood. British yards were requisitioned under that villainous disguise to produce the means for plunging death and destruction over the British Isles. Questions were put in the House of Commons to sharpen the vigilance of the government towards the mysterious and dangerous craft.

RELATIONS NOT THE BEST.

"From information received it seems not at all improbable that the 'Status Quo ante' in their quarrel has been the Brazilian Government, who have apparently done nothing to dispel these crowds of suggestion in order to dis-

Little Girl Drowned In a Horse Trough

Hamilton, Aug. 26.—There was a sad drowning accident at the Winona Park Hotel last night, when Eva, the two-year-old daughter of the landlord, Archie C. Austin, fell in the horse trough, and was drowned in 18 inches of water. The child's feet were found sticking out of the trough a few minutes after the accident, but life was extinct.

Elections on the 3rd.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—From present indications it would not be surprising if the day appointed for the forthcoming general election was the fourth anniversary of the government's sweeping victory of 1904, that is to say, the 3rd of November.

If popular report is well founded that the elections are to be held in the first week of November, the choice would be between the second, which is a Monday, and the two days following.

The United States Presidential elections are to be held on Wednesday, Nov. 4th.

Disastrous Fire at Havelock Destroys a Dozen Places--Loss $45,000

Havelock, Aug 26.— Before the breaking of the dawn this morning, almost the entire population of Havelock was aroused from its slumbers to protect itself from one of the most disastrous fires that has ever raged in the thriving railroad town. The blaze started before five o'clock and in a short period of time the flames had swooped along George street and licked up with wonderful rapidity houses, stores, stables and barns, causing a loss estimated at $45,000.

This village was in the midst of a flourishing era and such a loss is hard to bear at such a time. It is undoubtedly the worst fire that has ever occurred in Havelock. Beginning at the rear of Mr. J. V. A. Coon's store on George street, opposite the post office, it sped along the street carrying everything in its way, and leaving nothing save a mass of charred ruins in its wake.

OF UNKNOWN ORIGIN.

There is speculation as to the cause, leaving the origin doubtful. It is believed to have started either from Mr. Coon's bakeshop or from a fire in the back yard, but this will probably never be known for a certainty.

Practically the whole village turned out to the rescue and worked like Trojans against the onslaught of the flames and had it not been for this combined and creditable action of Havelock's men, young and old, and even the women and children, a much darker story would have to be told. They deserve great credit for their untiring efforts, as many buildings that at times appeared to be in imminent peril, were saved from the destroying flames.

Among the heavy losers are: Mr. W. A. Coon, general merchant; Mr. F. Barrett, general merchant, F. Joyce and Percy Lancaster, proprietor of the Havelock Standard. A number of small barns and stables were burned and residences and other stores partly damaged.

As stated above the total loss was about $45,000. The total amount of insurance is estimated at $20,000.

It was not until about 5.35 o'clock that the fire had been gotten under control. The Peterborough Fire Brigade was notified of the trouble, and they were all prepared to come. A message reached them at the C.

Ate His Brother's Wife And Four Children

St. Petersburg, Aug. 26. —Details are given in Yakitsk newspapers of a revolting case of cannibalism of the Nomadic tribes of Lamute, living on the River Kolkolin, in extreme north-western Siberia. One of the Mowada driven desperate by hunger, devoured the bodies of his brother's wife and four children. A party of hunters came upon the deserted encampment, found the remains of the bodies and reported the case. There was no vestige of food on the premises.

Home in Canada for Exiled Turk

Fugitive Head of Secret Police to Buy Estate

London, Aug. 27.—Vin Bey, the fallen head of the Turkish secret police, has arrived in London. He proposes to buy a small estate in Canada. After the proclamation of the constitution he hid for two days. Then the Sultan wrote him to fly from the country without an hour's delay. He made his way to Smyrna, but was attacked en route in the dark. He shot his assailant dead on the spot. He reached Smyrna, and sailed thence for Marseilles and London. He is a clean-shaven man, and when seen was wearing a straw hat. He said: "Turkey has been the best of me forever. During my term I was the means of ruining Ministers, officers and civilians. At the bidding of my superiors 170 Turks, members of some of the most honored families, 'disappeared,' with a motion of his hand giving a sinister meaning to the word "disappeared."

He added that Izzet Pasha, who is also in London, is reputed to have saved £1,500,000 of his fortune, the greater part of which was invested in the United States, through Greek financiers in Paris. Vin Bey says he wishes the new regime well; he regrets that his record forbids hope of forgiveness. Thousands of persons suffered through him.

"Under my direction more than 400 well paid secret agents were constantly working. It did not matter who was to be removed. Orders from the Yildiz Kiosk were implicitly obeyed. False reports from which there was no appeal, were submitted to the Sultan. The Porte, as an administrative machine, ceased to exist 25 years ago. All power was created at the Yildiz Kiosk. I do not blame the Sultan or the chamberlains entirely. Their powers rested on a sort of working agreement, which enabled a manipulation of the resources of the Empire solely as private revenue. The Sultan has at least £4,000,000 invested in Germany.

Attempted Murder of a Wife or Her Attempted Suicide?

Mrs Eugene Cutts Tells Sensational Story of the Case

Poison was Given to Her Twice

Toronto, Aug 26 — Attempted murder of a wife or her attempted suicide?

This is what is puzzling West Toronto police and the attorney-general's department.

The complainant is Mrs. Eugene Cutts, formerly of 275 Macpherson avenue, now of West Toronto.

The charges she has laid are those of three attempted murders, and she declares that the one who tried to take her life was her husband.

The case is one of the most sensational that has been brought to the notice of the Ontario Law Department, and for a week two detectives worked on it night and day. They looked for a motive for murder, and for evidences of the attempt, if such there was, once, twice or thrice, as the wife declares.

Poison given to her twice.

Failure of both attempts.

Then the gas turned on and a cloth saturated with chloroform thrown over her face.

A third rescue and failure again.

And the motive?

A young Toronto girl with whom she declares her husband is infatuated.

Or may it be the work of a highly-strung woman, neglected throughout a long day and far into the night? A woman hopeless of any change in her lot, and fearing it would steadily grow worse, deciding that to die would be a gain?

The attorney-general's department cannot say as yet, and there is no corroborative evidence upon which the husband could be proceeded against.

And why should he deliberately plot his wife's murder and persevere after failure, they asked.

If he wanted to be rid of her he could have left the town, there was no serious business ties to keep him.

It is most likely that the Lindsay Wideawakes will be here on Labor day. Arrangements are now being made. Prunes Quinlan will do the slab work for the locals.

An American account of the Burns-Squires' fight says:

It was the third meeting between the two, and Burns, as usual, was the complete master of the "kangaroo," and could have won much earlier had not the peculiar international courtesies of the occasion demanded that he let the native son make a fair showing.

Whether in return for the courtesies shown the American fleet, Tommy Burns, the American heavyweight, allowed Bill Squires, the Australian scrapper, to make a good showing before knocking him out in the thirteenth round, or whether "Kangaroo Bill" has greatly improved, the fact remains that Squires did not put up a good fight and had Burns groggy in the tenth round. The fight was one of the bloodiest ever pulled off in Sydney.

Hundreds of sailors, marines and fleet officers witnessed the milling, and wildly cheered their representative. Burns had knocked Squires out so easily in their two previous meetings that the odds were 6 to 1 on him.

Squires relying on one good punch to settle the fight in his favor, waded into Burns from the start, and was generally the aggressor. Burns was too wily for the lubberly Bill, and the hoped-for narcotic punch did not materialize.

Dauphin, Man., Aug. 26.—The two children of Peter Good, a farmer living near Ethelbert, were burned to death on Sunday night. The fire caught in the upper storey, where the children were cut out of their only chance of escape. The boy was six and the girl three years old.

30 Miners Entombed Alive in Awful Mine Disaster at McAllister, Okla

McAllister, Okla. Aug. 26.—One of the worst mine disasters in the history of this part of the South-West occurred at Hartleyville, 15 miles east of here, today, when between 25 and 30 miners were entombed in the Hartley-Okla coal mine No. 1, the result of a fierce fire which, it is believed, has cut off means of escape. The imprisoned are all in the lower part of the mine.

At noon a telephone message from the scene stated the fire was burning so fiercely that it was impossible for rescuers to enter the shaft, and it was then believed the entombed men must surely be burned to death. All of the miners are foreigners. A number of miners working near the opening managed to escape.

Officials of the company decline to give out details of the affair, and the actual loss of life is not known.

The fire is said to have started at 8.30 this morning, soon after the day shift went to work. It appears that a barrel of oil caught fire and later exploded, spreading burning oil in all directions. The fire spread with such rapidity that the miners on the lower tiers were unable to reach the shaft, and all escape was cut off.

The mine is owned by Dr. D. B. Hadley of McAllister, and is one of the biggest mining properties in the State.

Fashionable Ladies Drink to Excess

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Joseph Medill Patterson, who gave up a journalistic career for a place in the Cabinet of Mayor Dunne of this city, and afterwards resigned because, as he said, he was a Socialist, has written a novel which will be given to the public in a few weeks.

It is entitled "A Little Brother of the Rich," and, to quote the publisher's announcement, is "sensational to a degree in its theme, daring in its treatment, brutally frank in its language, lashing society and its practices as it has never been scourged before."

Another paragraph in the publishers' forward assures the public:

"Summed up in a sentence, Mr. Patterson's book presents a picture of society, and incidentally of the stage, which, if it were true, is too revolting for words."

According to "A Little Brother of the Rich" every fashionable woman "drinks to excess, is animated by absolutely no thought except vulgar display and insatiate greed for money, and cares nothing for the means by which this money is obtained."

A single sentence expresses his opinion of the stage.

"Why," says one chorus girl to another, "don't I get along in the profession? I can sing better and dance better than 90 per cent. of those who are striding away past me."

"Because, my dear," answers the other, "in this business nothing is given for nothing."

The hero of "A Little Brother of the Rich" is introduced as a poor country boy working his way through college. Mr. Patterson is a Yale man.

Because of Potter's athletic prominence he is taken up by the richest man of his class during his senior year. This is Carl Willmerding, apparently a thin disguise for the young millionaire who was disinherited some years ago for refusing to give up at his father's command the girl to whom he was engaged.

Joseph Medill Patterson was elected to the Legislature when twenty-three years old. Later he had charge of the editorial page of the Tribune.

Braved Man Killed By Coward

In Memoriam

WILLIAM E. ANNIS.

Died August 15, 1908.

A Brave Man Killed by a Coward.

New York, Aug 26.—In the September log book of the Bayside Yacht Club, which has just been issued and mailed to members, appears this entry, conspicuously placed in box shape and surrounded by a black border.

It is the custom of the club to issue an up-to-date edition of the log book every month, and in it are recorded, among other things, the deaths of members during the month just past. Heretofore these records have been confined to the name and date and the words "a loyal and beloved member," or some similar sentiment.

Annis had been a member of the club for many years, was active on its Entertainment Committee, and in all its affairs. Following his killing by Hains the board of governors met and decided that the club as a body should take no action in the matter, but the members, almost to a man, express their belief in Annis' innocence of the charges made against him, and believe that he was unjustifiably slain.

There had been prepared before the shooting of Annis a cartoon intended to portray several members of the club, among them Annis, extending condolences to others who had been defeated in one of the club's regattas. The inscription on the cartoon was "The Postmortem." After the murder instructions were given the printer to leave out the cartoon: in its place appears the memoriam to Annis.

HONOR ABOVE HUSBAND'S LIFE.

New York, Aug. 26.—Mrs. Peter C. Hains will not lift her voice to save her husband, Capt. Hains, from the electric chair for the murder of William E. Annis.

Mrs. Hains will go upon the stand as a witness for the State, but only to clear her name of the accusations associating her with Annis.

This was confirmed yesterday by Mr. G. Wild, one of Mrs. Hain's attorneys. Mr. Wild made it plain that the army captain's wife has expressed no desire to become a witness for the defence.

Mrs. Hains has made a complete denial to her attorneys of the charges of infidelity made by Capt. Hains in the divorce suit started last June. Insisting upon her innocence, she does not propose to sacrifice her fair name to keep her husband from the death penalty.

HER HONOR AT STAKE.

So bitterly do Mrs. Hains resent the imputations made against her since the murder that she has flatly told her counsel that she will hear of no terms of reconciliation with Capt. Hains, nor will she consider any proposition to help him get of his predicament. Mrs. Hains maintains that her honor is at stake. She says she cannot bolster up the charges made by Capt. Hains and his attorneys unless she procures herself.

"After the hearing of the two accused men next Friday, Mrs. Hains through her counsel, Mr. Norton and myself, will have a complete statement to make, fully setting forth her side of this vicious case," said Mr. Wild yesterday. "She will make an unqualified denial of the charge made by Capt. Hains in his divorce suit. Mrs. Hains feels that she has been so miserably treated in this affair that she must let the public know what she has suffered, and how baseless are the accusations brought against her.

"In their accusations the lawyers for the defence, trying to establish a motive or justification for the murder of Annis, have gone too far. They have exhausted their ammunition, but not their invective. Mrs. Hains will take up each charge and stamp it as a lie.

"It would be sheer inconsistency for Mrs. Hains, in view of this, to think of becoming a witness for the defence. She could do nothing but injure their case. Mrs. Hains has no idea of posing as an Evelyn Thaw at the Hains' trial. She has no confession to make."

Mrs. Hains will not be called as a witness for the prosecution in the direct presentation of the case, but will be called in rebuttal. The lawyer was asked if Mrs. Hains realized that such evidence on her part might be fatal to her husband, and result in a conviction of first degree murder.

"I have nothing to say about that," he replied.

When Mr. McIntyre, counsel for the accused men, were told that Mrs. Hains proposed going upon the witness stand for the State, he exclaimed:

"Is that so? If Mrs. Hains is a competent witness for the State I shall waive all legal objections that I might have, and let her take the stand."

"Is there any doubt about her being a competent witness?" was asked.

Mr. McIntyre explained that a wife might be allowed to testify to anything but confidential relations between herself and her husband.

"I don't know what she wants to say on the stand, and so I cannot tell whether I would object to her testimony or not," he continued. "But I hardly think that, no matter what she cared to say, I would interpose an objection. We have all the evidence we need to substantiate the charges made by Capt. Hains. Mrs. Hains cannot deny them."

Mr. McIntyre believes that, as a wife testifying against her husband when he is on trial for his life, Mrs. Hains will make a distinctly unfavorable impression on the jury. He also believes that the searching cross-examination by counsel for the defence that she will have to undergo will effectually riddle any story she may tell against her husband and his brother.

Mr. McIntyre added that the defence had in its possession several letters written by Annis that will go far to prove the truth of Captain Hains' accusations. Their contents, he said, would not be revealed until the trial.

1,000 CHINESE TROOPS REVOLTED AND KILLED COMMANDER AND LOYALISTS

Sixty were Betrayed by Villagers at $17 a Head---Joined wild Tribe

Mutinous Soldiers from Kong Haw

Hong Kong, Aug 26.—Admiral Li of the Chinese navy, with his flagship and several gunboats, sailed from Wu Chow today for Canton, taking with him as prisoners sixty of the mutinous soldiers from Kong Haw, where a thousand men revolted on August 12, killing their commander and several others, routing a force of loyal soldiers from a nearby town, looting the village of Honeywha, and finally withdrawing to the mountains of Talking, where they joined forces with the wild tribes of the hills.

Admiral Li's prisoners were betrayed into the hands of the Government forces for twenty-five taels (about $17) a head by villagers at Kong Haw. The rebellious soldiers spoke a strange dialect and their detention and subsequent betrayal to the authorities was an easy matter.

At Wu Chow the gates of the city which have stood open for weeks past, have now been closed, owing to the disturbed condition of the country following the mutiny at Kong Haw.

Bright Official Crop Report from the West

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—The director of the Experimental Farm wires the Department of Agriculture from Lacombe, Alberta, under date of the 25th inst., as follows.

"Winter wheat in this district all cut. Crops good.

"Most of spring wheat still standing, but ripening fast. Heads very plump and well filled.

"Weather favorable. Frost of 20th does not appear to have injured wheat much.

"Barley all cut. A large acreage of oats also cut.

"Grain crops on Experimental Farm very heavy. Winter wheat and early varieties spring wheat cut."

RAINS HELPING SPRING WHEAT.

Winnipeg, Aug. 26.—Welcome rains fell throughout most of the spring wheat country during the past twenty-four hours. While delaying harvest a day or two, they will do much good to the late wheat and oat crop. Reports received today indicate that harvesters are being distributed where needed, and work is being found for them, though the wages likely are lower than at any time during the past six or seven years.

Prospects are for light local frosts tonight.

Brazil is Preparing to Assert Supremacy

London, Aug. 26.—In connection with the three warships being constructed in England for Brazil, but whose ultimate destination is full of mystery, the Daily Chronicle publishes the following from what it terms "a usually well-informed German source."

"Fearful politicians, both in England and in Germany, have looked for a considerable time with suspicious eyes on the three warships now being built in English yards for the Brazilian government. Leading articles in Anglo-Saxon papers have told the German people that these ships were ordered with the purpose of threatening Argentina in case of conflict, and to prepare in a less conspicuous way for the threat when war would be waged on the Fatherland. These three Brazilian men-of-war would be added to the British fleet in the same way as Chilian warships have been before.

"On the other hand, British politicians have entered similar misgivings with regard to German orders, German yards not being able to build ships at a rate fast enough to satisfy German thirst for blood. British yards were requisitioned under that villainous disguise to produce the means for bringing death and destruction over the British Isles. Questions were put in the House of Commons to sharpen the vigilance of the government towards the mysterious and dangerous craft.

RELATIONS NOT THE BEST.

"From information received it seems not at all improbable that the 'status quo ante' in their quarrel has been the Brazilian Government, who have apparently done nothing to dispel these clouds of suspicion in order to dis-

Little Girl Drowned In a Horse Trough

Hamilton, Aug. 26.—There was a sad drowning accident at the Winona Park Hotel last night, when Eva, the two-year-old daughter of the landlord, Archie C. Austin, fell in the horse trough, and was drowned in 18 inches of water. The child's feet were found sticking out of the trough a few minutes after the accident, but life was extinct.

Elections on the 3rd.

Ottawa, Aug 26.—From present indications it would not be surprising if the day appointed for the forthcoming general election was the fourth anniversary of the government's sweeping victory of 1904, that is to say, the 3rd of November.

If popular report is well founded that the elections are to be held in the first week of November, the choice would be between the second, which is a Monday, and the two days following.

The United States Presidential elections are to be held on Wednesday, Nov. 4th.

Ate His Brother's Wife And Four Children

St. Petersburg, Aug. 26.—Details are given in Yakutsk newspapers of a revolting case of cannibalism of the Nomadic tribes of Lamuts, living on the River Kolkolin, in extreme northeastern Siberia. One of the Mowads driven desperate by hunger, devoured the bodies of his brother's wife and four children. A party of hunters came upon the deserted encampment, found the remains of the bodies and reported the case. There was no vestige of food on the premises.

Home in Canada for Exiled Turk

Fugitive Head of Secret Police to Buy Estate

London, Aug. 27.—Vlu Bey, the fallen head of the Turkish secret police, has arrived in London. He proposes to buy a small estate in Canada. After the proclamation of the constitution he hid for two days. Then the Sultan wrote him to fly from the country without an hour's delay. He made his way to Smyrnia, but was attacked en route in the dark. He shot his assailant dead on the spot. He reached Smyrna, and sailed thence for Marseilles and London. He is a clean-shaven man, and when seen was wearing a straw hat. He said: "Turkey has been the love of me forever. During my term I was the means of ruining Ministers, officers and civilians. At the bidding of my superiors 170 Turks, members of some of the most honored families, disappeared," with a motion of his hand giving a sinister meaning to the word "disappeared."

He added that Izzo Pasha, who is also in London, is reputed to have saved £1,500,000 of his fortune, the greater part of which was invested in the United States, through Greek financiers in Paris. Vlu Bey says he wishes the new regime well; he regrets that his record forbids hope of forgiveness. Thousands of persons suffered through him.

"Under my direction more than 400 well paid secret agents were constantly working. It did not matter who was to be removed. Orders from the Yildiz Kiosk were implicitly obeyed. False reports from which there was no appeal, were submitted to the Sultan. The Porte, as an administrative machine, ceased to exist 25 years ago. All power was created at the Yildiz Kiosk. I do not blame the Sultan or the chamberlains entirely. Their powers rested on a sort of working agreement which enabled a manipulation of the resources of the Empire solely as private revenue. The Sultan has at least £4,000,000 invested in Germany.

Disastrous Fire at Havelock Destroys a Dozen Places--Loss $45,000

Havelock, Aug. 26.— Before the breaking of the dawn this morning, almost the entire population of Havelock was aroused from its slumbers to protect itself from one of the most disastrous fires that has ever raged in the thriving railroad town. The blaze started before five o'clock and in a short period of time the flames had swooped along George street and licked up with wonderful rapidity houses, stores, stables and barns causing a loss estimated at $45,000.

This village was in the midst of a flourishing era and such a loss is hard to bear at such a time. It is undoubtedly the worst fire that has ever occurred in Havelock. Beginning at the rear of Mr J. V. A. Coon's store on George street, opposite the post office, it sped along the street carrying everything in its way, and leaving nothing save a mass of charred ruins in its wake.

OF UNKNOWN ORIGIN.

There is speculation as to the cause, leaving the origin doubtful. It is believed to have started either from Mr. Coon's bakeshop or from a fire in the back yard, but this will probably never be known for a certainty.

Practically the whole village turned out to the rescue and worked like Trojans against the onslaught of the flames and had it not been for this combined and creditable action of Havelock's men, young and old, and even the women and children, a much darker story would have to be told. They deserve great credit for their untiring efforts, as many buildings that at times appeared to be in imminent peril, were saved from the destroying flames.

Among the heavy losers are; Mr. W. A. Coon, general merchant; Mr. E. Barrett, General merchant, F. Joyce and Percy Lancaster, proprietor of the Havelock Standard. A number of small barns and stables were burned and residences and other stores partly damaged.

As stated above the total loss was about $45,000. The total amount of insurance is estimated at $20,000.

It was not until about 5.35 o'clock that the fire had been gotten under control. The Peterborough Fire Brigade was notified of the trouble, and they were all prepared to come. A message reached them at the C.

Attempted Murder of a Wife or Her Attempted Suicide?

Mrs Eugene Cutts Tells Sensational Story of the Case

Poison was Given to Her Twice

Toronto, Aug 26 — Attempted murder of a wife or her attempted suicide?

This is what is puzzling West Toronto police and the attorney-general's department.

The complainant is Mrs. Eugene Cutts, formerly of 275 Macpherson avenue, west of West Toronto.

The charges she has laid are those of third attempted murder, and she declares that the one who tried to take her life was her husband.

The case is one of the most sensational that has been brought to the notice of the Ontario Law Department, and for a week two detectives worked on it night and day. They looked for a motive for murder, and for evidences of the attempt, if such there was, once, twice or thrice, as the wife declares.

Poison given to her twice.

Failure of both attempts.

Then the gas turned on and a cloth saturated with chloroform thrown over her face.

A third rescue and failure again.

And the most?

A young Toronto girl with whom she declares her husband is infatuated.

Or may it be the work of a highly-strung woman, neglected throughout a long day and late into the night? A woman hopeless of any change in her lot, and fearing it would steadily grow worse, deciding that to die would be a gain?

The attorney-general's department cannot say as yet, and there is no corroborative evidence upon which the husband could be proceeded against.

And why should he deliberately plot his wife's murder and persevere after failure, they asked.

If he wanted to be rid of her he could have left the town, there was no serious business ties to keep him.

An American account of the Burns-Squires' fight says:

It was the third meeting between the two, and Burns, as usual, was the complete master of the "kangaroo," and could have won much earlier had not the peculiar international courtesies of the occasion demanded that he let the native son make a fair showing.

Whether in return for the courtesies shown the American fleet, Tommy Burns, the American heavyweight, allowed Bill Squires, the Australian scrapper, to make a good showing before knocking him out in the thirteenth round, or whether "Kangaroo Bill" has greatly improved, the fact remains that Squires did not put up a good fight and had Burns groggy in the tenth round. The fight was one of the bloodiest ever pulled off in Sydney.

Hundreds of sailors, marines and fleet officers witnessed the milling, and wildly cheered their representative. Burns had knocked Squires out so easily in their two previous meetings that the odds were 6 to 1 on him.

Squires relying on one good punch to settle the fight in his favor, waded into Burns from the start, and was generally the aggressor. Burns was too wily for the lubberly Bill, and the hoped-for narcotic punch did not materialize.

Dauphin, Man., Aug. 26.—The two children of Peter Good, a farmer living near Elk Dell, were burned to death on Sunday night. The fire caught in the upper storey, where the children were cut out of their only chance of escape. The boy was six and the girl three years old.

30 Miners Entombed Alive in Awful Mine Disaster at McAllister, Okla

McAllister, Okla, Aug. 26.—One of the worst mine disasters in the history of this part of the South-West occurred at Haileyville, 15 miles east of here, today, when between 25 and 30 miners were entombed in the Hailey-Okla coal mine No. 1, the result of a fierce fire which, it is believed, has cut off means of escape. The imprisoned are all in the lower part of the mine.

At noon a telephone message from the scene stated the fire was burning so fiercely that it was impossible for rescuers to enter the shaft, and it was then believed the entombed men must surely be burned to death. All of the miners are foreigners. A number of miners working near the opening managed to escape.

Officials of the company decline to give out details of the affair, and the actual loss of life is not known.

The fire is said to have started at 8.30 this morning, soon after the day shift went to work. It appears that a barrel of oil caught fire and later exploded, spreading burning oil in all directions. The fire spread with such rapidity that the miners on the lower tiers were unable to reach the shaft, and all escape was cut off.

The mine is owned by Dr. D. B. Hailey of McAllister, and is one of the biggest mining properties in the State.

AIRSHIPS MORE WELCOMED THAN STEAMSHIPS

The world-wide interest in the airship as an engine of war and the eagerness of the nations to take advantage of its possibilities is in striking contrast with the attitude a hundred years ago toward Robert Fulton's epoch-making invention—the steamship.

At the beginning of the last century all Europe was involved in the most gigantic warfare of modern times—the long and bloody struggle of the Napoleonic era. England held the master of the sea, but Napoleon gathered a great army at Boulogne, prepared to cross the channel and strike a blow at the heart of the coalition against him. How to cross in face of the huge British fleet was the problem.

At this juncture came Robert Fulton, an American inventor, and offered to the first consul—soon to become emperor—the most powerful instrument of warfare yet known to man. But the great genius of Napoleon, usually so quick to seize upon every point of military advantage, saw nothing in the American invention but a "noisy, greasy contrivance for eating up money".

Time and again did Fulton lay his plans before the French ministry of marine, and finally succeeded in having them brought to the attention of Napoleon himself, only to meet with a flat rejection. He was refused the few thousand francs that might have given to France the means of striking a death blow to her most invaluable enemy.

Fulton fared no better with other European courts and was forced to bring his invention back to America. Great as would have been the advantage of the harbor that was first to make use of steam in war; far greater, perhaps, is the power that would follow the mastery of the air. The nations of to-day fully realize the immense possibilities of the aerial war craft, and will not make a mistake like that of Napoleon in 1804.

HOLLAND AND VENEZUELA

It begins to look as though President Castro will again find that his high-handed proceedings in dealing with foreign nations will lead him into serious difficulties. It is somewhat singular that a comparatively small and entirely peaceful Power like Holland should be the country to administer chastisement to this arrogant ruler of a miserable half-civilized little state. But the manner in which their representative was expelled by President Castro has stirred even the slow moving Dutchman to resentment, and he is beginning to realize that they "mean business". Sooner or later someone was bound to take action, and even the doctrine will scarcely see any dark design against it in Holland's determination to resent the insult to her representative.

Hope to Fly Into Canada Next Saturday

New York, August 26.—In an effort to make a record aerial trip, four women well known in social circles in New York and Philadelphia, it is announced, will make a start in a balloon from the shores of Huntington Bay, L.I., on Saturday afternoon, August 29. The ascension will be made under the auspices of the Philadelphia Aeronautical Society, and the balloon to be used will be the 50,000 cubic foot passenger balloon Philadelphia.

Accompanying the four ladies will be Dr. Thomas H. Eldridge and Dr. George H. Simpkins of Philadelphia. The trip will be made for an unique trophy—the Elkins-Simpkins ladies' aeronautical cup, a challenge cup offered to ladies of the United States for the best record for distance covered in one ascension in any air craft. If all goes well, it is hoped that the party of daring women will reach Maine or Canada before the end of the flight.

Two of the women to make the trip will be selected from the membership of the Philadelphia Aeronautical Society by lot, the two Philadelphians chosen to be empowered to select two women from among New York's aeronautical enthusiasts to accompany them.

To provide against dangers from a possible landing in the water the basket of the Philadelphia is equipped with airtight compartments which will keep the basket and its occupants afloat until picked up. Several fast power boats will accompany the balloon across Long Island Sound should the balloon take a northerly direction and motor cars will trail it if it goes across Long Island toward the ocean.

Terrorism Each Night in Paris

Paris, Aug. 29.—Crimes of violence continue to be of nightly occurrence in Paris. Yesterday's list forms quite a budget in point of ruthless ferocity.

The worst case is that of a young man who was found dead in a street in the Combat quarter at 5 o'clock in the morning with nine knife wounds in his breast, all within a space which could be covered by a hand.

The absence of traces of blood on the pavement showed that the murder was committed elsewhere, and that the body was afterwards conveyed to the spot where it was discovered. Pools of blood and evidences of a struggle in a neighboring street revealed where the crime had been perpetrated.

An hour later in the same district another young man was stabbed in the stomach, and now lies in hospital in a critical condition.

Meanwhile a band of Apaches were settling accounts among themselves at the Champ de Mars. Cyclist police, attracted by pistol shots, found a dangerous ex-convict and his mistress lying wounded, the former with three bullets in his body, and the latter with two. It appears that the man was suspected of giving information to the police, and that his assailants took the opportunity of shooting the woman to get rid of an awkward witness.

Again a laborer last night firing off a revolver in the course of a quarrel, lodged two bullets in the body of a woman who was sitting on a doorstep. When he was arrested it was found that he himself had a bullet wound in his stomach. There finally remains the case of a woman who had been dead for a year or more. The corpse was discovered in a field in the populous suburb of Saint Denis, the circumstances pointing to a crime. It is probably the work of the gangs infesting the district.

These nightly horrors give point to the reflection frequently heard that Paris is insufficiently policed. The cyclist corps armed with revolvers are admirably alert and sufficient, but their numbers are inadequate to cope with the gangs of organized hooligan desperadoes.

Some of the Secrets of Matrimony

New York, Aug. 22.—When Mr. J. Harold Winpenny, handsome young society man of Philadelphia, returns from Europe, it is expected that he will go to housekeeping—for the cat is out of the bag. He's a married man, and has been for several months.

Also for several months past there has really been no such person as Miss Beatrice Reilly, that name having been secretly discarded in favor of "Mrs. J. Harold Winpenny."

With their secret divulged, the details of their pretty romance scattered broadcast, it would be silly for these two young people who love each other so dearly to go on living in the homes of their respective parents starving their hearts on the meagre love diet of an ostensible bowing acquaintance.

Hearing the astonishing news, Philadelphia society "puts two and two together," and thinks that it now understands the whereabouts of another secret marriage which came to light not long ago, and exclaims,

"Ah! the mystery is solved. It was, indeed, by mutual consent that Harold Winpenny and Ines Sprague broke off their engagement, that was so satisfactory to their respective parents. Each loved another!"

For Miss Ines Sprague was the heroine of that other secret marriage, which, when it came to light, is said to have much angered her family, though the happy husband is Harry Stimson, son of a former justice of the supreme court of Rhode Island.

But Miss Sprague was of an even more distinguished family. She is a grand daughter of the famous war Governor Sprague and of Kate Chase Sprague, the latter a daughter of Salmon P. Chase, who was chief justice of the United States Supreme Court.

Miss Ines Sprague lived with her people at Narragansett Pier. She was beautiful and rich, and, according to report, was deeply infatuated with the handsome young Philadelphian, Harold Winpenny. They became engaged two years ago, and the breaking of that engagement was understood to be a sore disappointment to both families.

It was "mutual consent." Neither Miss Sprague nor Mr. Winpenny would be more explicit than that. When the discovery came of Miss Sprague's secret marriage to Mr. Stimson some people felt a bit sorry for poor, handsome, young Harold Winpenny. But he made no signal of distress.

He continued to walk in the pleasant path of an engaging young Philadelphia bachelor—and only just now has it become known that since some time last December he was walking that path under false pretenses. He was a bachelor in name only.

True, there were a few who knew it—just the lady who was a maid in name only; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reilly, and Harold's brother, Marshall Winpenny—but they kept their knowledge to themselves until such time as Mr. Harold should summon up courage to break the news to his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bolton Winpenny, very important society residents of North Broad street, in Philadelphia.

Early summer came, however, with the secret unrevealed, and then Harold's brother fell ill with appendicitis. It was decided to place him in the hands of celebrated European specialists, and Harold went along as his companion and brotherly caretaker, telling himself, it is said, that he would make a clean breast of his romantic marriage story on his return.

His beautiful secret bride went with her mother to spend the summer at a watering place near Philadelphia—where she still was when the secret was accidentally revealed.

Who was this Miss Beatrice Riley, who turns out to be the seven or eight months' bride of Harold Winpenny? Well, she is one of the prettiest young women who ever earned her pin money posing as a model for newspaper photographer. Her father has been connected with the Philadelphia banking firm of Charles D. Barney for eighteen years.

Little Miss Reiley was so pretty, in fact, so dainty and so engaging in every way, that it was a foregone conclusion that sooner or later the stage would claim her. That is what the stage did—about the time that Mr. Harold first saw her.

She became a member of the chorus of a Japanese musical comedy playing at a Philadelphia theater. In her costume and "make-up" as a maid of the Mikado's realm, she made a picture that Mr. Harold found it quite hopeless to attempt to resist.

There are some tales of proper little suppers—chaperoned, of course—after the show, and vague stories of automobile spins, huge bouquets and boxes of candy.

And then, all of a sudden—it was last December—little Miss Beatrice suddenly discovered that she didn't care for stage life after all.

She left the company. One of her girl companions of the chorus knew more than she would tell about a quiet trip Miss Beatrice made to New York.

"Did she go alone?"

"Oh, that's telling!"

However, there was a quiet little journey to the metropolis. It is said that about that time Mr. Harold was missing from his customary Philadelphia haunts for rather more than twenty-four hours.

Perhaps if you conjure up a vision of a handsome young Philadelphian and are pretty a girl as you ever saw, standing with serious mien before a surpliced, reverend gentleman holding a book, you will not be far wrong about what occurred during that little visit to New York.

Back in Philadelphia, going in separate ways, demurely on her part, gayly unconcerned on his part, so cool upon their casual public meetings that butter wouldn't have melted in either of their mouths—that was their cruel fate for at least seven long months.

How could Mr. Harold's lack of courage stand the strain? Had ever an love to truth-telling and facing the parental music?

The bride did not long keep her secret from her own parents. Confessing everything, she was freely forgiven, and on one side it was a case of "Bless you, our children."

Right here one may indulge a shrewd guess that this one-side parental blessing afforded many consoling opportunities and was perhaps the very means that reconciled the young husband to cloud-ating domesticity, so far as his own people were concerned.

And when he was called away to Europe with his brother there was then no occasion for hurrying a confession. It could very well wait until his return. And thus there was time for the chapter of accidents to develop which would make that ordeal unnecessary.

The cat being out of the bag prematurely, the bride's father's lips were opened. He said;

"My wife and I knew all about the marriage a few days after the ceremony had been performed. There is no doubt that they will be happy together. Winpenny is a fine fellow, and I have always liked him. I suppose the young folks will go to housekeeping soon after Mr. Winpenny's return from Europe.

What the J. Bolton Winpennys will say about this is probably held in reserve until Mr. Harold has come back with his exalted confession.

Speaks Charitably of Deposed Minister

Kingston, Aug. 24.—The Ontario Churchman says the Dean of Ontario has addressed the subjoined letter to the warden of St. Mark's church, Barriefield;

"The Rev. S. H. Nimmo, M.D., rector of Barriefield, has placed in my hands his resignation of that parish, together with all emoluments and benefits which by virtue of his office and ministry he held in the diocese; and resigns all claims, of whatsoever kind, upon the various funds of the diocese. He also asks permission to relinquish forever the ministry of the Church.

AN UNHAPPY MARRIAGE.

"Dr. Nimmo requests, and it is due to him, that the facts of the case should be known. His married life was most unhappy, and in 1898 he obtained a Dakota divorce, since which time he has not lived with his wife, but he made an annual allowance for her support. In the spring of the present year his only daughter died suddenly. He was devoted to her, and as a result of the shock he became a nervous wreck. Those who saw him during those months know how distracted he was. The Bishop gave him a year's leave of absence. Further family trouble within the last few weeks seemed to worry him greatly. He returned to Kingston, and without due thought decided to marry again, went with one of his parishioners to Rome, N. Y., and was there married. This marriage is, I believe, legal in the United States. The Church, however, does not recognized divorce and cannot lower the standard she has upheld. Dr. Nimmo deeply regrets the reproach he has brought on the Church. Under the circumstances there is no course open, but to accede to his request, that he be deposed from the ministry of the Church, which will be effected just as soon as proper authority can be received from the Bishop, who is in England.

"It is with the deepest sorrow that this course is deemed necessary for Dr. Nimmo has served most faithfully in the diocese for many years; and by his hard parochial work and sound scholarly teaching has rendered good service to the Church. This ending to a life's ministry fills us all with sadness, and I am sure our heartfelt prayers will follow our old friend in his future life. May God be indeed gracious to him!

"Kindly take the necessary steps under the canon on patronage to appoint a committee to submit three names to the Bishop. It is important that no time be lost, as the parish should be filled without unnecessary delay. I shall be glad to render you any assistance in my power.—Yours faithfully, J. C. Farthing, Dean and commissary."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

The Ugliest Beast.

Probably the ugliest beast in the world is a monkey, a gruesome looking animal called the bearded saki. This is so utterly grotesque a beast that it would scarcely be safe to let a child or nervous person see it. The ugliness is not of an amusing kind, but of an evil, sinister nature. The beast has a sort of beard and a countenance unlike anything else in shape and lines. The monkey itself is not particularly savage, but is so hideous that the natives of its country, South America, say that no beast of prey, however hungry, will tackle it. Even a hungry jaguar will starve in a cageful of sakis.

The Greatest Man.

Who is the greatest man who ever lived? The question went round a dinner table, and controversy raged from the fish onward. There were two who plumped for Julius Caesar, two more for Napoleon; one, thinking of statues, said Shakespeare, and somebody else, who did not get a hearing at all, murmured Buddha at intervals, while most of the people present who did not know Greek said Aeschylus. But Aristotle won easily. It was not a particularly scholarly assemblage, and one wondered rather how many of Aristotle's enthusiastic devotees could have quoted accurately from him—had ever read him, indeed—since they left college. And all the while probably the greatest man of all ages is pegging away among us unnoticed, unrecognised, while we snapshot and interview all the little men or go back to some one who has been dead long enough for us to find out that we may safely praise him.—London Chronicle.

Missed a Chance.

"But, Tommy," said his mother, "you asked for two cakes and I gave them to you. Aren't you satisfied?"

"No, I ain't," growled Tommy. "You was so easy I'm kickin' meself now 'cause I didn't ask fur four."—Philadelphia Press.

Driven to Drink.

Artist—My next picture at the academy will be entitled "Driven to Drink." His Friend—Ah, some powerful portrayal of baffled passion, I suppose! Artist—Oh, no; it's a horse approaching a water trough!

A Mark of Respect.

Andrew Carnegie was entertaining a Montenegrin prince at Skibo castle. The morning after the prince's arrival a party of guests set out in a huge motor car for a long run, and as they whizzed past an inn a great crowd of highlanders rose from the benches before the inn and saluted.

The prince seemed amazed at the highland dress.

"Why," he asked, "do these men go bare legged?"

"It is a local custom," said Mr. Carnegie, "a mark of respect for you, sir. In some places people take off their hats to show honor to distinguished visitors; here they take off their trousers."

A Hen Hunt.

An English paper says that the hat of a certain shortsighted master at Eton blew off one day and as he started in pursuit a black hen dashed out of the gateway. The schoolmaster saw the hen and thought it was his hat, and all Eton was electrified by the spectacle of a hatless and breathless reverend man hunting a black hen circling from one end of the street to the other.

A Candle Trick.

Let a candle burn until it has a good long snuff, then blow it out with a sudden puff. A bright wreath of white smoke will curl up from the hot wick. Now, if a flame be applied to this smoke, even at a distance of two or three inches from the candle, the flame will run down the smoke and rekindle the wick in a very fantastic manner. To perform this ceremony nicely there must be no draft or "banging" down while the match goes to sleep.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys surely point to weak kidney nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Brights or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell

A Tiny State.

The miniature republic of San Marino is a mere dot on the map of Europe, being the smallest state in the world as well as the oldest independent republic. Its area is thirty-eight square miles, only little less than twice that of the island of Manhattan. It lies entirely in Italy, but is wholly independent. Its situation is on the easterly side of the Etruscan Apennines and about twelve miles from Rimini, on the Adriatic sea. The frontier is only twenty-four miles in length, and the population would make only a small city ward, numbering less than 12,000. There is no public debt, and the annual expenses met by taxation amount to $60,000. The country has bronze and silver currency, coined by Italy, 158,000 lire of the latter and 105,000 of the former. The principal exports are wine, cattle and stone. The military force of the republic numbers 38 officers and 950 men.

Why We Are All Mimics.

"If we did not cough in church, the human race would not exist." And the professor, twiddling a piece of chalk in his hand, regarded the sophomores with a quizzical smile.

"What I mean," he continued, "is that the cause of coughing is the cause of our survival. That cause is mimicry. Mimicry is a better life preserver than fleetness or strength. For by mimicry we manage not to attract attention, and in prehistoric times they who attracted attention were hunted down by the tribe and roasted for dinner or hunted down by the saber tooth tiger and taken raw.

"Since those dark days mimicry has been instinctive with us. Mimicry is what causes us to follow the fashions. It causes us, when in England, to say 'cawn't' and 'hawf.' If your friend yawns, you yawn—that's mimicry. If he laughs, you laugh—mimicry again. If he snuffles, you snuffle—mimicry. And if he coughs in church, straightway you and all the rest of the congregation cough, the reason being the same one which saved our forefathers from extermination."—New York Press.

Famous Floggers.

Among English schoolmasters whose names have come down to posterity with the dubious reputation of great floggers Dr. Busby of Westminster school is the generally acknowledged chief.

Of him it is recorded that, one of his head boys having insulted a young French viscount who came to the school to demand satisfaction, he flogged the viscount first for the bloodthirsty intentions and next his friend who was the bearer of his challenge.

Dr. Valpy, too, who edited an edition of the classics, was a potent wielder of the rod. Archdeacon Groom, who was a pupil of his, tells a story in illustration of his prowess. One of the boys had been flogged by the redoubtable dominie, and the lad's father came to complain.

"Sir," said Valpy to him, "I flogged your son because he richly deserved it. If he again deserves it, I shall flog him again, and," riding, "if you come here, sir, interfering with my duty I shall flog you."

The parent fled.

A Famous Architect's Trick.

When Sir Christopher Wren was building the town hall of Windsor, a fidgety member of the corporation, so the story goes, insisted that the roof required further support and desired the architect to add more pillars. In vain did Sir Christopher assure him that the danger was imaginary. He knew better. The alarm spread, and the great architect was worried into adding the desired columns.

Years passed, and in later times, when architect and patrons were dead, cleaning operations in the roof revealed the fact that the supposed additional supports did not touch the roof by two inches, though this was not perceptible to the gazers below.

By this ingenious expedient did Wren pacify his critics, while vindicating his own architectural skill to future generations.

I'm Telling You.

Pat Murphy, who was in lodgings, was greatly annoyed by the landlady helping herself to his provisions. She began by taking a piece of his butter, and when Pat came home she said:

"Pat, I'm taking a little of your butter, but I'm not like other landladies—I'm telling you."

Next day it was an egg, and so on every day there was something taken and put off with the remark, "I'm not like other landladies—I'm telling you."

Of course there was never any reduction in Pat's bill. One Saturday his bill came to a larger amount than usual. Pat looked at it, bundled up a few things in his handkerchief, walked to the door and said:

"Landlady, I'm sloping. I'm not like other lodgers—I'm telling you."—London Answers.

Beautifully Arranged.

Brown—Well, you've got the quarter. Is your sister coming down?

"I've arranged it beautifully, old chap. I told her it was you first, and she said to tell you she was out, and then I said I was fooling and that it was Charley Jones, and you ought to have seen her hustle to get into a clean shirt waist! She'll be right down!"

Turn About.

Dr. Sharpe—I say, Mr. Dooley, you're a long time paying me your account. Mr Dooley—And it's a long time ye took to cure me, be jabers!

Some men are so optimistic that they expect to get into heaven on their wives' church record. — Washington Post.

To Canadian Investors

The undersigned has received an allotment of unsold portion of $100,000 of

7 Per Cent. First Mortgage Five-Year Gold Bonds

dated January 11, 1908, and maturing January 11, 1913. These Bonds are offered at par and accrued interest by Metropolitan Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, trustees.

SECURITY—The Entire Property and Improvements Owned THE URES CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY in the District of Ures, State of Sonora Mexico. Free from Mortgage or Bonded Indebtedness except this present Bond issue.

An Unusual Opportunity for Investment in Sound Security

The Ures Consolidated Mining Company offers $100,000.00 of First Mortgage Gold Bonds. This issue of bonds is the only mortgage or bonded indebtedness ever placed on the company's properties.

These bonds are in the denomination of $100.00, and bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, July and January, and are redeemable on or before five years from date at the company's option at $110.00 and accrued interest.

$100.00 Stock Bonus Given with Every $100.00 Bond

With each bond issued there will be given $100.00 par value of the capital stock of the company as a bonus, and in addition thereto there will be placed in escrow with the Trustee additional stock which will be available to the bondholders at their option any time within a period of three years, the bondholder being entitled to surrender his bond any time within said period and receive in lieu thereof stock for every dollar of indebtedness to him on account of said bonds.

The Security Back of these Bonds

The company owns twelve claims situated in the district of Ures, State of Sonora, Mexico, free from mortgage or bonded indebtedness, except the present bond issue.

On one of these properties (The Ramona Mine) 5,000 feet of underground development work has been done, consisting of an inclined shaft to the depth of 400 feet with drifts in three levels to the North and South of the shaft.

An average value of ore worth $11.67 per ton is exposed throughout the mine, from the collar of the shaft to the extreme parts in the drifts, all of which is above water level.

The company has made surface improvements and mine improvements to the extent of $60,000.00 in the way of machinery, skids, trams, steam hoists, mill and nearly everything necessary to make the mining camp complete.

In addition to the absolute ownership of these twelve valuable claims, the company has a lease on the San Jose Mine, adjoining its property, in which the company has been operating in high grade ore.

During the past sixty days the company has extracted and delivered to ore buyers and the bank at Hermosillo, $6,000.00 worth of ore and bullion, the ore having been reduced to bullion through the company's mill, with the exception of 1,464 pounds, which was sold to an ore buyer for $600.00.

The Money Derived from the Sale of These Bonds

The issue of bonds is made for the purpose of securing money at once in order to extend the development work more quickly than the company's present means will permit.

With the high grade ore in sight to the distance of 50 feet to the South of the shaft, the management is assured that within six months from date of making the improvements now necessary the company's properties will be on a self-sustaining and dividend-paying basis.

The Stock which is Given with these bonds will be as valuable as the Bonds when the Company has the ready capital to push operations

Men who invest in these bonds will have no cause or reason to regret their action, for the bonds afford an investment in a security which is absolutely safe—much better than ordinary city or country real estate, which is considered perfectly safe if the property put up to secure a mortgage is double the face of the loan. The security given on these bonds is better than 7 to 1, for the Ures Consolidated Mining Company has refused an offer of $750,000.00 for the property upon which this $100,000.00 worth of bonds is issued.

These bonds are an investment with all speculative risk eliminated —an investment with absolute security.

Make your reservation at once, this is small and promises to be quickly sold.

Feb. 11th, 1908.

To whom it may concern:—

We hereby beg to state that The Ures Consolidated Mining Company has during the past five years made several deliveries of bullion to this bank, and it is the opinion of mining men here that they have the making of a fair mine, and further, that the properties owned and controlled by them bid promise of becoming paying properties.

From our knowledge of the men connected, we believe they are doing all in their power to bring about the results above mentioned.

1 CENT A 2 SHARE

Send us your name as a member in this new company, with your remittance for as many thousand shares as you can take at $5 per thousand.

This is a short-time offer on a hurry-up proposition. Our vice president is up at Rawhide now putting the miners at work. We want to raise the necessary funds for development as quickly as possible. Therefore, we offer the first block of stock at $5 a thousand shares. This subscription must be all cash. We want the money in hand. We mean to work without letup, and we have made it an ironclad rule not to run in debt. Cash counts now.

Our prospectuses are out. Send for one.

Make reservation of stock, if you do no more. But, remember, this present offer of stock at Half a Cent a Share is now open, and will be closed as soon as enough cash subscriptions are in hand. Don't wait, or you will get left.

The gold mining property owned outright by the company consists of 7 claims, 4 in the Rawhide district of Nevada, and 3 in the Dulzura district of Southern California.

The Rawhide district to-day is more famous than Goldfield, Tonapah, Bullfrog, or Searchlight were at the same stage of exploration and development. The Dulzura discovery is one of the most sensational in the history of California.

Ten samples of ore which were among the first assayed, ran as high as $7,461.87 to the ton, and all ten averaged over $1,500 a ton.

In both camps we located early, and our locations are choice. Our own officers will superintend the mining.

A Strong Moral Well Exemplified in Mrs. Wilson's Case.

Like thousands of other people at this season of the year Mrs. E. P. Wilson was tired and worn out—winter sorely tried her health and vigor. But now she is robust and well, eats well, sleeps well, feels invigorated and braced. "For some years," writes Mrs. Wilson of Wetmore, P.O., "I suffered from systematic weakness, biliousness and depressing headaches. I could take little nourishment and grew thin and pale. If I ate a hearty meal the result was dreadful. Pains started at my chest, and spread all through my body going across my stomach, back and right side. I was discouraged till a friend insisted on me taking Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They made a new woman of me, and for the past eight months my health has been perfect. For a good cleaning, rejuvenating medicine I urge every one to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

There is extraordinary and magic power in Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they bring vigor, tone, health and spirits—are compounded from the most wonderful and healing juices and essence in vegetable life—are safe for young and old, and guaranteed to kindle renewed activity and strength in every system that is weak, sickly or run down from kidney, liver, stomach or bladder trouble. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. POLICE

Mr. Moses James, an old Peterborough resident, was yesterday sentenced to six months in the county gaol on the charge of vagrancy. James is partially paralized. The magistrate in committing on the case, remarked that the prisoner's condition was due to the excessive use of tobacco on his youth.

The Peterborough Hydraulic Power Co., were again reminded for not looking after the stagnant raceway, in police court yesterday morning. Mr. E. A. Peck appeared on behalf of the company. Nothing has so far been done to remedy the evil. Mr. Peck explained that the company had been doing all they could to prevent the stench and had come to the conclusion that the only way to make matters all right was to fill the raceway up. The company has experienced some difficulty in getting the material to fill it in. It is thought that it could be obtained from the high bank on the Dickson Co. property to the east of the raceway, but as Mr. G. M. Rogers, solicitor for the Dickson Co., was out of town, the Hydraulic Co., are waiting until he returns to arrange with him.

Magistrate Dumble enlarged the case another week. "If the matter is not remedied then or some evidence of doing something shown action will be taken at once," said his worship.

The Best Guaranty of Merit is Open Publicity.

Every bottle of Dr. Pierce's world-famed medicines leaving the great laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y., has printed upon its wrapper all the ingredients entering into its composition. This fact alone places Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines in a class all by themselves. They cannot be classed with patent or secret medicines because they are neither. This is why so many unprejudiced physicians prescribe them and recommend them to their patients. They know what they are composed of, and that the ingredients are those endorsed by the most eminent medical authorities.

The further fact that neither Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the great stomach tonic, liver invigorator, heart regulator and blood purifier, nor his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, overworked, broken-down, nervous women, contains any alcohol, also entitles them to a place all by themselves.

Many years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that chemically pure glycerine, of proper strength, is a better solvent and preservative of the medicinal principles residing in our indigenous, or native, medicinal plants than is alcohol; and, furthermore, that it possesses valuable medicinal properties of its own, being demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic, and a most efficient antiferment.

Neither of the above medicines contains alcohol, or any harmful, habit-forming drug, as will be seen from a glance at the formula printed on each bottle wrapper. They are safe to use and potent to cure.

Not only do physicians prescribe the above, non-secret medicines largely, but the most intelligent people employ them—people who would not think of using the ordinary patent, or secret medicines. Every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines has the strongest kind of an endorsement from leading medical writers of the several schools of practice. No other medicines put up for like purposes has any such professional endorsement.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them, and nothing is "just as good." Easy to take as candy.

BRAZIL PREPARING TO ASSERT SUPREMACY

tract attention from their own doings. Relations between Brazil and another South American republic leaves much to be desired, and in both countries are powerful parties anxious to settle the question of South American supremacy.

"In Brazil, the very energetic War Minister, Hermes de Fonseca, has latterly succeeded in passing a bill establishing conscription in that republic, and the act has become very popular. The Brazilian infantry is being armed with Mauser guns of the latest type, which have been ordered from the German make, part of them having already been delivered. The artillery will soon be fitted with new field guns of the most modern description, also of German make, part of them having already reached their destination. Several dockyards are being armed with field howitzers of the latest type. The cavalry is being provided with self-loading carbines.

"At the harbor of Rio de Janeiro thousands of hands are busy with fortification work, and it is being armed with guns of the heaviest type. With all these doings the order for those three large battleships of 19,000 tons and a speed of 22 knots, armed with 12 30.5 centimeter guns each, does so completely fit in that it should really not cause any heat or suspicion between two European nations. After those admirable speeches of Sir Edward Grey and Lloyd George, after the wonderful reception given by His Majesty King Edward to the Peace Congress, that Brazilian nightmare should be done away with."

ATTEMPTED MURDER?

He could have deserted her and her children. That would have been the simplest way.

His story of the night of July 20, agreed in time with the woman's and the doctor's. The man and his wife said 10 o'clock; the doctor 10 minutes after, when he was called.

The stairs were creaky and no one could have come up without the woman hearing him. If she was excited and nervous over her position, might she not have thrown chloroform over her and that failing turned on the gas.

The father was told the result of the investigation, and it is understood expressed himself as satisfied that the husband could not be arrested on the evidence, that a jury would not convict for a moment.

So it rests for the present.

THE WIFE'S STORY.

Mrs. Cutts' story of the affair, as told to a newspaper representative, is as follows;

"We were married eight years ago. As far as we can learn he met the other woman about three years ago at a euchre party and has gone with her ever since. I had no idea that anything was going on until last November. Then the girl's father, a prominent local physician, had my husband up before Chief Inspector Archibald. The chief inspector said that he could lay no charge, but would give him a good talking to. He did this and my husband promised to break off his acquaintance with the girl. A few days later the girl's father caught them just as they were about to board a train at the Union Station. My husband returned to me and said that he would start over again and live for me and his children. The girl meanwhile had succeeded in running away from home. For a while we were happy and I hoped that all would be as it was before, but at the beginning of the year she came back to Toronto. In order to allay my suspicions she telephoned me and told me frankly that she would leave my husband alone. I soon realized that things were as bad as ever and that my husband was determined to go with her. She became finally, openly defiant and said to me on one occasion, "I am determined and I will get him yet." I said to her, 'No, you will not marry him until I am under the sod.' The first time that I believe my husband attempted to take my life was in June last, just after I had told the girl this.

tea in the teapot all ready for my breakfast. He never took tea himself. In the morning I poured out a cup of tea and drank part of it and was taken very ill. I asked him to taste the tea. He took a mouthful, spat it out and then threw the remainder out of the window. I described the symptoms to Dr. Norman Allan and he said that from the symptoms it looked very much like strychnine poisoning. A month later I went to bed early one night because I was feeling poorly. I remember seeing the clock last at a quarter past nine. Some time after that some one unlocked the back door and thinking it was my husband, I called out, 'Is that you, Jean?' he answered "Yes, it is." I closed my eyes for a moment and heard him come up the stairs and into my room. Then the lamp was blown out and a handkerchief or cloth saturated with chloroform was placed over my face. I remember saying 'Oh, don't,' and then I went off under the influence of the drug."

Knox Church Choir Entertained at the Grove

Mrs. A. Patterson entertained the choir of Knox church and their friends at Crawford's Grove Tuesday evening. The grove was most tastefully decorated with flags and illuminated with Chinese lanterns, and the tents were covered with a profusion of water lilies and vines. A splendid bonfire was lit, and around this the guests listened to the enlivening strains of the bagpipes and an orchestra, especially invited for the occasion.

Hot dog roast was one of the features of the entertainment. Candy was also served as souvenir bon bons. Mr. Allan very kindly placed his yacht at the disposal of the guests, who returned by street car, which, by special arrangement met them at the city wharf at twelve o'clock. A most enjoyable time was spent by all.

Wedding Bells

A pretty church wedding was solemnized at St. John's Anglican church at nine o'clock, yesterday morning, the principals being Miss Sarah Elizabeth Staunton, daughter of Mr. Wm. A. Staunton, 20 Benson avenue, and Mr. James Pavitt Archer, of the Ferris and Company, Campbellford, and son of Mr. Wm. Archer of that town. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. J. Reid, of Christ church, Campbellford, in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom, on account of recent bereavements in the family of the former.

The bride wore a silk mulle princess wedding gown trimmed with Irish pointe lace, and a large white hat with plumes. Her traveling dress was lady's blue broadcloth trimmed with black, and she wore a large black hat. The bride and groom were unattended. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Mrs. R. J. Dewy, organist of St. John's church. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the residence of the bride's parents, and on the 11.26 C.P.R. Mr. and Mrs. Archer left on their honeymoon trip to Montreal and Quebec. On their return they will reside in Campbellford.

Glasgow's Unemployed Now a Serious Problem

Has Reached Acute Stage—Will Become Worse in Winter

Glasgow, Aug. 26.—The problem of unemployment in this city has reached an exceedingly acute stage. For twenty-five years there has been nothing like the present situation, and it is more than probable that unless some unexpected revival of trade takes place the situation will have become intensified by the arrival of autumn and winter. Private benevolence and the efforts of the local distress committee have done much, but still more remains to be done, if the problem is to be moved on at least assuaged.

A member of the Glasgow distress committee was held this week, P. G. Stewart presiding. The chairman, in reply to a question by Councillor Alston, explained that there was a supplementary estimate for $1,000,000 placed before Parliament and passed.

Mr. Alston said they had not supported their local M. P's as they should have done in this matter. They should make it clear that unless the necessary money was forthcoming the Passchendaele Colony would have to be discontinued. Treasurer Stevenson said what they wanted was $10,000 immediately in order that the work might be carried on at Passchendaele. After further discussion it was agreed, on the motion of Councillor Young, to make application to the secretary for Scotland for an allocation of money.

People Had to Sleep In the Tree Tops--Several Persons were Drowned

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 27.—With the water rushing through the roads breast deep, in a current so strong that it is impossible for a man to wade through Augusta is being swept by a flood that has not been surpassed in its history.

From four to six feet of water in the gauge on the principal streets of the town On Broad streets, the main business thoroughfares of the city, where are located nearly all of the public buildings, together with the principal business houses and banks the flood is playing havoc with first floors and basements.

The city is without light, fire, or police protection. Fires started last night in the cotton warehouses of Nixon and Danforth, and in the warehouse of the Nixon Wholesale Grocer Co. It is said the fires were started by water reaching lime stored in one of the warehouses, which exploded. The fire department was unable to render any assistance on account of the high water.

Two white persons and one negro have been reported drowned. It was also reported that a boat containing a family of husband, wife, and two children, was capsized and all drowned, but this could not be confirmed.

It is not possible to give an accurate estimate of the financial loss resulting from the flood, but it is thought that the loss will go well above the million mark.

BOAT OWNERS MERCILESS.

Boat owners were quick to see their opportunity, and at once began to charge exorbitant prices for moving those unfortunate enough to be caught.

Many, in attempting to wade or swim from their homes or places of business to the flooded district to points of vantage, lost their footing and only saved themselves from the rushing torrent by catching to tree limbs.

It is reported that boatmen passed a number thus caught and refused to go to their assistance unless assured of exorbitant fees. One man was seen in a tree who was pouring forth pitiful appeals for assistance, and offered fifty dollars to anyone who would rescue him.

Robbers' Cave Discovered Along Humber River-- May be Jail Breakers

Toronto, Aug. 27.—A veritable robbers' cave has been discovered in the peaceful precincts of the Humber River. Two miles up, under a bank protected from the gaze of passersby by high, thick bullrushes County Constable Simpson made the find on Tuesday night. There were two gasoline launches loaded to the gunwale with loot of every description, and from letters found it is evident that the law-breakers were only embarking on a career of crime which included the sinking of every craft afloat on the stream, and its subsequent shipment to England for sale after the excitement had died away.

County Constable Robert Burns, who has had his eye opened for the gang of housebreakers who have almost terrorized the county for the past few months, was patrolling the bank on Monday evening. He saw two men in a launch, almost hidden in the bullrushes. He spoke to them casually, not in the least connecting them with any of the robberies perpetrated of late. He passed on, but inflection made him bend his steps in that direction on Tuesday. This time the men were gone and the launch was covered with canvas. Burns was just curious enough to investigate, and he stripped off the canvas.

FILLED WITH CANDY.

The launch was filled with confectionery, a canvas awning, carpenters' tools, and a gramophone and 100 records, stolen from the residence of Mr. G. Plunkett Magann, of 19 Laburnham avenue. The confectionery belongs to Mrs. Cornish, whose shop was burglarized last week, and the clothing to Mr. T. W. Rea, of 631 Huron street. A check signed by the Gurney Foundry Company for the Quebec Battlefields Fund, and stolen from the Fotherstonhaugh residence on the Lake Shore road, was among the loot.

IDENTIFIED ARTICLES.

Mrs. Rea accompanied a county officer to the scene and identified a number of articles as taken from her summer home near Mimico Creek. She was asked if her husband's launch had been stolen, and she replied in the negative. On Tuesday night Mr. Rea was to use his launch but when he went for it, it could not be found. He reported his loss, and the same band is thought to be in possession of it.

SEARCHED WATERFRONT.

The county officials have called the city detective department to their assistance, and Sergeant Verney and Detectives Tipton, Murray, and Guthrie searched the waterfront all day yesterday. The two latter intended going to Hamilton, but the heavy sea prevented them. Several citizens turned in reports of suspicious characters, but one yielded nothing, while the others came just as darkness was falling.

William Sutton of Hamilton, arrived in the city yesterday and claimed the launch in which the goods were found as his. He said that it had been stolen four weeks ago.

A note found in the launch proposed that all launches should be sunk, over, and shipped to Halifax, thence to England, as soon as the gang had money enough to carry out the work.

Letters mentioning W. P. Gray, of Port Credit, and others no doubt prospective victims were also found.

Two canoes were stolen from Center Island on Tuesday night.

SOME LETTERS FOUND.

Letters found by the robbers' cache by Geo. Whitworth yesterday throw some light on the plans of the gang. Here are a few extracts;

"Sunday, arrange to go to cache up Humber to look after things."

"Monday, steal paint at Mimico."

"Tuesday, go to Port Credit, and if satisfactory on to Hamilton on Wednesday."

Two reporters paid a visit to the robbers' haunt this morning. It is about two miles from the Humber mouth, and the entrance to the haunt, a long narrow lane of water which leads through the rushes, is so concealed as to be hardly discernible until one is almost upon on. The reporters with difficulty pushed their canoe through the pass for about a quarter of a mile.

It was thoroughly concealed from the river by the marsh in front and a high tree covered hill, rising abert from the water's edge in the rear as the cave.

Old rags, tarpaulin, fishing rods, empty can, bottles which had not contained soft drinks, all lay scattered about. Overhead two poles were hung, and over these a piece of awning was thrown, and there the gang lived as cosy as could be.

LOVEY MESSAGES TOO.

Lying on the ground were the letters found by George Whitworth yesterday. There were insurance blanks, business letters, letters from the Old Country to relatives here, and even love letters.

Nearly all the envelopes were addressed to Mimico, and some of the names were Harry Holmes, Geo. Binda, F. Carlson, William Charles Henry, H. H. Hote, A. McCabe, Miss Winnie Hutchins, Wm. Bond, Miss Alice McGraw, Orchard Beach, Ont., and Mr. J. A. Brown, Port Hope. A number of A. Worden's bill heads were also found. Mr. Worden keeps a grocery store and the post office at Mimico.

A clue that may be of value was the discovery of a stencil containing the name of Frederick J. Wheeler, and the finding of a picture on which was the name "Fred." Whether this is one of the robbers or a portion of the loot remains to be seen. The detective department have some details regarding a man of this name who has been going back and forth between here and England on cattle boats, and who has been under police surveillance, but it is not yet known whether or not this is the same man.

MAIL ROBBERS, TOO.

The discovery this morning of a knotted bag full of letters proves this, that mail robbery was another indulgence. There were about 500 letters.

At 10.50 last night an alarm was rung in, but proved to be a false alarm.

May Vote on Local Option in Percy Township

Warkworth, Aug. 27.—At a local option meeting held here it was unanimously resolved by those present that Percy Township ought to have a chance to vote on the question in January. Addresses were given by Messrs. Beal and Winters of Campbellford, as well as by local speakers. The Campbellford men gave ample evidence that a local option law was a good thing in Campbellford. Petitions will be circulated to secure the required names.

"THE POWER SCHEME WILL BE CARRIED OUT IN SPITE OF EVERYTHING," SAYS HON. ADAM BECK

THE HON. ADAM BECK

"The principal danger and the only thing to be feared is that those who are fighting the power policy of the Ontario Government may succeed in tying matters up for a sufficiently long space of time, until the market changes. Copper and aluminum are on the upward trend, and if the contracts cannot be closed right away, it is quite possible there will be a raise in price so that it will cost the Province considerably more for the transmission lines. As to the ultimate outcome there is no doubt. The power scheme will be carried out in spite of everything, but it would be unfortunate were matters tied up by opposing interests at this stage of the Game."—Hon. Adam Beck

Mustard and Water Given Girl as Emetic Caused Suffocation

Espanola, Ont., Aug. 27.—The coroner's jury empannelled to investigate the mysterious death of Mary Carriere, found that death resulted from suffocation caused by mustard and water administered by a member of the household under the belief that the unfortunate girl had taken poison. The jury held all persons blameless.

It appeared that the girl had been brooding over disagreeable circumstances through which she had passed not long ago, and this was what prompted the belief that she had taken poison, which she was discovered to in an unconscious state by a member of the priest's household in which she was employed.

The fainting spell, which terminated so sadly, is said to have been caused by taking fright at a vicious horse.

May Make Transmission Cost Province Considerably More Than At the Present

No Doubt as to Ultimate Outcome

Toronto, Aug. 27.—Ever since the cheap power scheme has been the object of the Ontario Government, those opposed have left no stone unturned to block it at every stage. It appears now that they are making their last stand, and it is one which the Hydro-Electric Power Commission and Hon. Adam Beck view with alarm. The stand is being made with the farmers and the commission got wise to it, when the rural residents near Smithville refused to sell the necessary four feet of land for the transmission poles. The contracts were returned unsigned, so the engineer of the commission, F. W. Sothman and the secretary paid a visit to the district to find out what was wrong. They had considerable difficulty in learning, before once their mission was made known, most of the farmers would walk away. However, bit by bit the facts were learned.

SOWING SEED OF DISCORD

Two men, whose names are known to the commission, had already visited the farmers and sown the seeds of discord. They were former land buyers for the Electric Development Company and Ontario Power Company, and with plausible tongues and a wealth of literature (?) dilated on what damage the transmission poles would do. Here is a sample of their literature as taken from the London Advertiser, which has been circulated in large numbers among the farmers. It is from a letter signed "One Who Knows," and is backed up to an interview in the Star with Mr. Sothman, explaining the nature and perfection of the proposed transmission poles;

"Could anything be more misleading and dishonest? The idea is to gull the farmers into the belief that nothing is wanted from him but the little square of land, whereas the fact is, as every farmer knows, or ought to know, that the high tension wires carrying 120,000 volts of electricity will cross his land, will pass by his house and his barns."

Assistant Chief Taylor Had a Narrow Escape from Death Yesterday

While operating a chemical tank at a fire on Albert street yesterday afternoon, Assistant Chief Taylor of the local fire department narrowly escaped death. Mr. Taylor was in the act of using the tank on a burning shed and who turning it on for action, the explosion occurred, the top blowing off just missing his head, and lodged in the roof of the building. Had it struck Mr. Taylor he would have been killed instantly, his right hand, however, was badly lacerated, the thumb being almost completely torn off and his fingers badly torn. The assistant chief remained at his post however until the fire was extinguished. Dr. Greer was then called and attended to his injuries.

Elections Late in October

The Globe says that the Government will not be able to definitely decide on the date of the election for some time yet, pending a report of progress as to the promptness with which the revision and printing of the voters' lists, etc., is carried on. Every effort is being made to facilitate the work of completing the multifarious details involved in getting the machinery of the election law ready, but it is improbable that everything will be in readiness for polling before the last week in October or the first week in November.

In The Realm of Sport

THE RING

Geo. Hurtubise the local wrestler, has received a challenge from Charlie Conklin of Hamilton, and the bout will likely come off Labor Day. Conklin is the welterweight champion of the world, and he will no doubt have to throw Hurtubise twice in an hour.

BOWLING

Fritz Mohl, the famous German wrestler, who will wrestle Yankee Rogers tonight, gave a fine exhibition at the Peterborough Bowling Club last night. The building was jammed to the doors to see the big fellow perform. He took the place of the pin boy, and when the ball was thrown with the utmost speed by Mr. Hamstead, he would stop it as it glided off the pins. He also stopped the duck balls, which are somewhat smaller than the regular bowls, and can be thrown at tremendous speed. Mr. Mohl meets Yankee Rogers tonight at Brock street rink.

The steamer will leave the Wolfe street wharf at 8.50 sharp, arriving at Chemong Park about six p.m., where carriages for Peterborough will meet the boat.

On Wednesday, September 2nd, the steamer will make a return trip. Auto bus and carriages will have Snowdon House, Peterborough, at 8 a.m., for Chemong Park. Steamer will reach Peterborough at 7 p.m.

Return tickets for either trip $1.00.

C. P. R. Grain Route Being Surveyed

Lindsay Post: The C.P.R. surveyors who have been engaged on the survey work south of Downeyville from Victoria Harbor on the grain route have completed their work. The road has been staked out and it is understood that the survey was the final one.

The new road enters Jackson Park, Peterborough, and will run parallel to the Grand Trunk. It will join the C.P.R. main line below the new shovel factory in this city.

The survey was under the supervision of Mr. H. M. Killaby.

Blacks Becoming More Courageous

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 26.—Two representative bodies of negroes yesterday passed formal resolutions applauding Governor Deneen for the firmness with which he suppressed the recent rioting, and declaring for co-operation with the Chamber of Commerce and the Business Men's Association in the prevention of recurrence of rioting, and the punishment of offenders.

The meetings which were the first public gatherings of blacks since the riots, were held at the Pleasant Grove Baptist Church and St. John's Methodist Episcopal Church respectively.

The Seventh Infantry expects to return to Chicago to-morrow if no trouble occurs to-night after the miners have been paid. For the first time since the rioting the saloons were allowed to resume business yesterday.

The White Plague

Ottawa, August 26.—Advices from Mr. S. A. Armand, Canada's commercial agent in Newfoundland, indicate that the authorities are becoming genuinely alarmed at the spread of the white plague in the Island Colony. That consumption is steadily on the increase is shown by the statistics of the past few years. In 1901 there were 664 deaths from consumption in the colony. In 1902, 710 people succumbed to the disease, while in 1903 the figures had gone up to 833. Recently all the school teachers of the Island were called together in convention, and given instruction by experts as to the best methods to prevent the spread of the disease.

Just Discovered

A one-armed man entered a restaurant and seated himself next to a dapper little other-people's-business man. The latter, noticing his neighbor's left sleeve hanging loose and kept eyeing it in a bow-did-it-happen sort of a way, finally the inquisitive one could stand it no longer. He changed his position a little, cleared his throat, and said;

"I beg your pardon sir, but I see you have lost an arm."

The one-armed man picked up his sleeve with his right hand and pawed anxiously into it.

"Believe my soul!" he exclaimed, looking up with great surprise. "I believe you're right."

At 5.10 yesterday afternoon the fire brigade had a run to Albert street, to extinguish a blaze in the kitchen of Mr. Thompson's residence, which was caused by a defective chimney. The roof and walls were badly damaged.

Sensational Hold-Up By Highwaymen--Man was Shot to Death

Poured Three More Shots Into Dying Hotelman --Victim Wounded One of the Robbers

Bloodhounds Being Put on Trail

Phoenix, B.C., Aug. 27.— The town of Midway, 12 miles from here, was the scene of a sensational hold-up last night, when Charles Thomet of the Midway Hotel was shot and instantly killed by highwaymen.

Two masked men entered the hotel at nine o'clock, and at the point of a gun four men, including Thomet were told to throw up their hands.

Thomet being behind the bar put his hand on a revolver and opened fire on the intruders, wounding one.

The strangers retaliated, Thomet receiving a bullet in the shoulder and abdomen, after which he staggered through a side door in a room.

The desperadoes got into the room through another entrance and shot three more bullets into the body of the dying man. They then made their escape.

Bloodhounds are being brought from Spokane to put on the trail of the criminals.

One of the desperadoes is thought to be seriously wounded.

Little Lad Saved His Father

Ingersoll, Ont., Aug. 27.—Harry Cline, the little 13-year-old son of Mr. W. A. Cline of this town, who delivers papers in Ingersoll, is being looked upon as a young hero.

While swimming across the Thames River, east of here, with his 8-year-old son, Melvin, on his back, Harry's father was seized with a cramp. He became unconscious, and sank, with the youngster.

Harry, who was on the bank, stripped off his clothing, and diving, rescued both father brother from the fifteen feet of water that is found at that spot.

Mr. Cline and his three boys were out fishing and were attempting to cross the river in order to make a short cut to town when the accident happened. The younger lad could not swim.

Barre' of Gasoline Taken from Burning Stable Last Night

Shortly before 10 o'clock last night the fire brigade were called out to extinguish a blaze in the stables in the rear of Parker's Dye Works, and owned by Mr. Parker.

The fire started in the loft, and was first seen by Messrs. H. Foster and R. Wedgenholm, who ran and got the horses and rigs out of the barn. Hardly had they got the horses out and a barrel of gasoline rolled down down to the creek near by when the flames enveloped the building burning it to the ground.

The origon of the fire is unknown. Messrs R. Beech and Bethrington had the stable rented from Mr. Parker.

Too much praise cannot be given to Mr. Bruce Foster and Mr. R. J. Wedgenholm, as to their action at the fire at Parker's dyes last night. Only for their presence of mind the conflagration might have been more serious. They were first on the scene, and were quick to catch sight of a barrel of gasoline which was in the burning stable. Had the fire ever caught the barrel a tremendous explosion would have been the result and perhaps some one killed or seriously injured.

Sensational Story by a Witness

New York, Aug. 27.—The defence in the Hains case has discovered an important witness. He is a member of a prominent New York family. His father was the founder of one of the most prominent clubs in the city. He insists that his duty as an officer of the courts, and as a friend of General Hains, the young defendant's father, prompted him to come here voluntarily and tell what he knew. He is not a resident of New York, but as an attorney has a large practice here and is prominently known also in the publishing world.

He was at one time a member of the United States diplomatic corps and served as an officer in the Spanish-American war. He is ready, he says, to go on the stand and tell his story with even greater detail than it is now given.

It was only because of great pressure brought to bear by the newspaper reporters upon the attorneys for the defence of the Hains brothers that the witness' consent was obtained to discuss the case before his testimony would be needed at the trial. He agreed only with

TROUBLED INDIA

Matters in India look rather more ugly. A riot would not surprise us. In there is no sign of a political revolution; the agitation appears to have no centre or native leader. Not one of the native princes has joined it, nor is there any sign of a coalition between the Mohammedans and the Hindoos. The root of the mischief is the political incorporation of India with England and the extension to an oriental country of the European system of government, with its accompanying agitations. The Indian Government, if it is not to be disturbed by English demagogism, should have the power of giving agitators notice to quit. Their intentions may be benevolent, but benevolence is not always wisdom. The British race cannot reign forever in a country where it cannot bring up children; but a sudden clash, followed as it would be by anarchy, would be awful. Let Lord Morley in his next despatch call the attention of the Hindoo malcontents and their English abettors to the state of Hindostan as it was before the advent of the English, divided among robber powers and swept by Mahrattas and Pindaris. Suppose England were to withdraw tomorrow, a bolt is possible that; for her own interests she could better do, what would the condition of India cost her?

THE CANADIAN ROUTE

The fact that Lord Dudley, the newly appointed Governor-General of the Australian Commonwealth selected the route by way of Canada as the one by which he would reach his destination and that Lord Northcote, the present Governor, also intends to return to England by that route, is something worthy of note in connection with the efforts now being made to improve the Canadian-Australian service, and make what is known as the "All Red Route" the great official and commercial highway between Great Britain and her great dependency in the southern seas.

To no part of the Empire is such a development of inter-Imperial means of communication of more value and importance than it would be to the Dominion. The efforts to have the whole service—across the Atlantic, through Canada, and on the Pacific—improved and consolidated so as to make the route superior to any possible rival, should not be relaxed. The climatic conditions at all times of the year are more agreeable on the Canadian route than that by way of the Suez Canal, and the Indian Ocean with its torrid temperature, and that is a detail that counts with a very large number of travellers. Nor is there reason to doubt that with a really first-class through service the passenger traffic would not be so greatly augmented as to make it a commercial success. Certainly the Canadian Government can afford to deal liberally with a scheme that has in it the germs of profit to the whole country, both direct and indirect.

Some Glaring Cases of Folly

London, Aug. 27.—Some remarkable stories of extravagance are contained in the report of the Inspector-General in Bankruptcy for 1907. In one case the debtor, a barrister, became entitled to $344,800 a year in 1856, when he was twenty-four. In a short time he was charging his life estate and effecting policies as security for loans until in eighteen years he owed $2,244,000 thus secured, while his unsecured debts amounted to over $330,000. The life policies were 173 in number for a total of $7,300,540. To extricate him from his embarrassment relief from Parliament was sought, and an act was passed in 1904 empowering the trustees to buy his life estate and policies, pay his unsecured debts, and make him a suitable allowance. His expenses, however, again greatly exceeded his income, and at the date of the receiving order he owed $110,000 unsecured.

In another case the debtor on reaching the age of twenty-five, shortly before his bankruptcy, came into a fortune of $2,225,000, on which at the date of the receiving order he had created charges amounting $2,150,000.

A solicitor who failed for $350,000 was the sole representative of a firm of a hundred years' standing. Not content with his professional income, about $7,500 a year, he speculated heavily on the Stock exchange. Having squandered his own money and all that he could borrow or that came under his control as solicitor, or as trustee, he absconded. The admitted proofs include $355,000 for money misappropriated.

One debtor, on attaining his majority in 1899, inherited over $1,425,000, subject to certain family charges. On leaving Eton he owed $18,000, and on his twenty-first birthday his debts amounted to $175,000. His income was $16,000 a year, but he spent $120,000. His failure was due to extravagant living, financing impecunious friends, extortionate rates of interest, and losses on the turf.

Balkan Provinces Demand Home Rule

St. Petersburgh, Aug. 27.—The well-known leader of the "peaceful gentleman" in the first and second Dumas, M. Naidenovitch, telegraphs to the Russ as dramatic from Serajeva describing the situation in the two Balkan provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina as fraught with great danger.

The example of Turkey has applied a strong popular movement to obtain representation in the Austrian Parliament. The Austrian administration is taking the strongest measures to arrest the movement, and the papers are under the strictest censorship, but the movement is daily growing. The people do not conceal their ardent desire to be rid of Austrian guardianship.

A Vienna telegram to the Bourse Gazette reports that undoubtedly preparations are being made with the greatest energy in Bosnia and Herzegovina to partake in the elections to the Turkish Parliament. This in Austrian political circles is considered to be the most serious danger of the Turkish revolution. The Austrian Government is flooding the provinces with troops, which are ready to march on Servia at the first signal.

General's Wife Found Murdered

London, Aug. 25.—The wife of Major-General Chas. Edward Luard was mysteriously murdered yesterday afternoon in a desolate wood near Sevenoaks, which is a short distance outside of London.

No trace of the murderer has been found, but the motive apparently was robbery, valuable rings having been taken from the woman's fingers.

The circumstances surrounding the tragedy are inexplicable. The general and his wife were about to go on a holiday and the general suggested that they walk from their residence, at Ightham Knoll, a short distance to the golf links to fetch some things which they needed from the club house. They started at 3 p.m., making a short cut through a wood. Half way along, Mrs. Luard, becoming tired, declared her intention to return home. The general proceeded alone to the club house and returned to his house by another route.

AN AWFUL DISCOVERY.

Finding his wife had not reached home he set out in search of her, and was horrified to find her lying face downward in a pool of blood near the spot where he had shortly before left her.

Mrs. Luard had been shot with a revolver, one bullet entering her temple and another striking her behind the ear. The second shot seemingly was fired as the woman fell on her face. Her hand had been pulled back and three rings wrenched from her fingers. Her dress also was torn almost from her body.

HEARD SHOTS LATER.

The Summer-house is a mile from any dwelling. A farm hand heard shots in that direction at about 3.30 p.m., or some time after the general had left his wife.

Major-General Luard is a retired officer of the Royal Engineers. He entered the army in 1857, and was executive officer in London during the Fenian disturbance of 1866. He devised the scheme for the rearmament of Gibraltar. He founded the Society of Miniature Rifle Clubs in 1901 and the Patriotic Society in 1903. In 1875 he married the youngest daughter of Thomas Hartley, of Gilfoot, Cumberland.

Munroe Doctrine Would Prevent War

London, Aug. 26.—The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at The Hague says that, after discussing the Venezuelan affair with diplomats there, he has arrived at the conclusion that there can be no question of war, such as advocated by those who are calling upon the Dutch Government to take forcible action, because, says the correspondent, in the first place Venezuela has no navy worth mentioning, and in the second place, apart from the fact that the Monroe Doctrine would prevent the Dutch from landing, the Dutch warships could do nothing against Venezuela's steep cliffs, and that portion of the Dutch army destined for service in the colonies is far too small to effect anything.

"On the other hand, insults to national honor are not matters for arbitration; therefore, the only course left is a blockade, which would hit Castro in the only weak spot — his purse. When President Castro finds that every additional day of blockade reduces the revenue from import duties he will soon climb down. Further, the absolute standstill of shipping business would cause dissatisfaction in Venezuela, with the probable sequel of pronunciamentoes and a new president.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

A MOTHER'S HELPER.

Girls Who Assist in the Small Household Duties.

Most of the little things that a girl can attend to are the tasks which her mother has in mind, but is too busy to carry out. She can see that the house plants are watered every day, and she can cut a blossom now and then for the table. She can plant a few pansy roots in one of her candy boxes, lined with oil paper, and set it on a small platter in the middle of the dining table for a centerpiece.

She can remove the spots that her mother is too busy to take out of the tablecloth between launderings by putting a few drops of hot or cold water, as the case may require, on them. She can keep a little parsley bed of her own, so that meats and vegetables can come to the table with a fresh garnish.

Keeping the rugs in the living room straight can be one of her tasks; also seeing that the window shades are all raised to the same height. When the furniture gets a slight scar she can rub it off with beeswax, a trick which keeps furniture fresh, but which her mother may not have time for.

She can see that the front door plate, the electric light switches and the doorknobs all over the house are kept polished. The smooches on mirrors can be rubbed off with a piece of crumpled tissue paper.

She can make a pretty wastebasket for the living room or any room that needs one out of strong cardboard covered with wall paper or chintz, and she can see that the younger children use it. Pieces of her cotton dresses she can make into covers for the sofa pillows which will be tossed about in the hammock and on the porch this summer.

Mothers and fathers like to see their daughters appear domestic in these days, when girls have so many outside interests, and any girl can charm her father by wearing a tiny white apron around the house. It needs be only a man's handkerchief with ribbon strings, but it will please her father and protect her dress. Wearing an apron is only one way of appearing freshly laundered and bright, which is the biggest part of being a real ornament to one's home.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Warm salad oil will relieve earache.

Always try to pass at least one hour a day in the open air.

Never let a child or infant sleep in the room with a sick person.

Never use on the face a wash rag which is not scalded each day.

Do not think that scrubbing will injure your complexion, for it will not.

Cocoa butter will smooth the rough elbows, but it must be persistently used.

Quickly apply raw egg to a cut. It will allay the pain and quickly heal the wound.

If possible have children sleep in darkened rooms, as a light is bad both for eyes and nerves.

The Example of Birds.

Some birds are typical examples of human attributes. The dove symbolizes innocence, and the eagle represents majesty, but the robin redbreast teaches the best lesson of all, for he sings as joyously in the dark, dreary winter days, when the earth is frost bound and snow covered, as in pleasant summer days, when food is plentiful and life is merry. Thus in his humble way he teaches the lesson of patience and gratitude.—Home Notes.

A Fulfillment.

They said he'd make his mark 'mongst men.
It was a prophecy professed,
He bought himself a fountain pen
And when he shook it now and then
Made marks on every one around.
—Washington Star.

A Query.

"Of course she's excited. You see, her fiance has just been arrested."

"That so?" Automobilist or just a decent crook?"—Judy.

A Possible Explanation.

"So many ties stalk in disguise!"
Remarked the observant youth.
"Perhaps that's why, however we try,
It's hard to tell the truth."
—Catholic Standard and Times.

From Her Standpoint.

"What are 'mournful numbers?'"

"They are the figures which a woman sees when she has to give her real age."—New York Press.

Keep It to Yourself.

Aye, "know thyself!" Naught matters so
You gain that information.
But then don't let your neighbors know.
You'd lose your reputation.
—Philadelphia Press.

Defined.

"Uncle Henry, what are pajamas?"

"Pajamas, my boy, are the masculine substitute for the bloomer costume."—St. Louis Republic.

When Experts Disagree.

Those experts claim the man is mad.
Those experts prove his lack of brain.
The reason that they don't agree
Depends upon the pay, you see.
—Des Moines Register.

They Killed Him.

Smithson—Poor chap! I understand that he was clubbed to death.

Jonesby—Yes. He belonged to four, I think.—Judge.

No Rest For the Weary.

If a man sits down at set of sun
To count the things that he has done
His good wife will suggest a few
More things that he ought to do.
—Detroit Tribune.

A Way Out.

"Scientists say the supply of coal is nearly gone. Then what'll we do?"

"Oh, burn coke, I suppose." — New York Times.

The footprints of Dyspepsia have been directly traced to the Stomach nerves. When these "inside nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For this, druggists everywhere urge supplying a prescription known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. First, these tiny inside Stomach, Heart, and Kidney nerves fail. Then gas belching, Heart palpitation, or failing Kidneys follow. Don't drug the Stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the nerves, not the organs that are calling for help. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment, you will realize the gain. A test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

Corrected.

A little girl in Rhode Island, the daughter of a clergyman, once sat at the table with a bishop who was visiting her father.

When they had finished she observed that he did not fold his napkin. Distressed, she said:

"We always fold our napkins here."

"Yes, my dear," said the bishop. "But that is because you use them again. In the case of a visitor you don't do that."

"Oh, yes, we do," said the little girl.—New York Life.

A Spanish Ghost Story.

The atmosphere of Spain agrees most perfectly with all sorts of spirits, and a delightfully ghoulish story is told of the punishment of a bold, bad man who killed a friar. At the time of the crime the murderer escaped to Portugal, where he remained so long that on his return nobody recognized him. One morning, when he was walking along the street, he saw a fine sheep's head in the market place and, fearing it might be purchased while he went home for a servant, he secured it, but, ashamed to be seen carrying a package, he concealed it under his cloak. Unfortunately, blood trickled from the head, and a member of the holy brotherhood, perceiving it, stopped him and asked, "What bearest thou, cavalier?" "Nothing," was the mendacious reply, which naturally excited suspicion, and the monk cried, "My brother, thou hast somewhat unlawful beneath thy cape." And behold, when the cloak was torn aside there was—the head of the murdered friar!—Los Angeles Times.

Attention is called to the following clauses in the form of contract;—

"This agreement is subjected to the regulations now in force, or which may at any time hereafter be in force during the construction of the works hereby contracted for, made under the authority of the Department of Labor, and which are or shall be, applicable to such works." (The schedule of minimum wages determined upon by said Department will form part of the contract).

"The contractor shall in connection with the whole of the said work, as far as practicable, use only material, machinery, plant, supplies and oiling stock manufactured or produced in Canada, providing the same can be obtained as cheaply, and upon as good terms, in Canada as elsewhere, having regard to quality and price."

Not Surprised.

Skipper—I am inordinately sensitive to uncongenial surroundings, so much so that the very sight of some people will give me a nervous shudder. Chipper—Oh, well, there are very few of us that do not shrink from meeting our creditors.

The Plight of a Great Nebula.

One of the most striking spectacles revealed by telescopes is that of the great nebula in Orion. In the complexity of its glowing streams, spirals and strangely shaped masses, intercepted by yawning black gaps and sprinkled over with stars arranged in suggestive groups and lines, it has few rivals in the heavens. The impression of astonishment made by the sight of this nebula is heightened by knowledge of its enormous size. The entire solar system would appear as a tiny speck beside it. Yet this tremendous aggregation of nebulous clouds and starry swarms has been proved by the researches of the astronomers of the Lick observatory to be flying away from the earth and the sun at the rate of eleven miles in every second. But so vast is its distance that a hundred years reveal no visual effects of the great nebula's swift retreat. If it were near by it would seem to become rapidly smaller.—Chicago Record Herald.

What He Did Know.

St. Thomas' Episcopal church, in Fifth avenue, has under its jurisdiction an east side chapel. One of the features of the chapel is a gymnasium, in which boys are trained in all of the branches of physical culture. Some of the boys are quicker in this sort of training than they are in the more polite talk of the west side boys.

The rector of St. Thomas', the Rev. Dr. Stires, visits the chapel frequently and is fond of talking with the lads about their work. He said to one little fellow who hails from near the East river:

"Well, my son, they tell me you won quite a victory in your last contest with the boys of a rival school."

"I don't know 'bout that, but we'se we went up ag'in dat bunch from St. Pat's we put it all over 'em, and dey ain't never peeped since."—New York Sun.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible, but I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I repeatedly treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, I unfailingly cure all curable cases of this horrid-ever much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood seem to digest and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer with, and help. FEMININE VANITY.

The Jewish and Egyptian Women Were Arrant Coquettes.

Feminine vanity is not the product of our effete civilization, but is as old as the history of the world.

The Jewish and Egyptian women were arrant coquettes and well versed in the artificialities of the toilet. When Jezebel learned of the approach of Jehu she sought to enhance her charms by painting her face and blackening her eyes with antimony.

Judith before she proceeded on her murderous mission to the tent of Holofernes bathed and perfumed her person with infinite care and wrapped herself in a splendid veil, in whose voluminous folds she concealed her cruel weapon. The Roman belles of the empire dyed their hair blond, red and even blue, according to the caprice of the moment. They used cosmetics of every kind to excess and, like the Moorish women, augmented the luster of their eyes by means of antimony. They also pencilled their eyebrows with a bodkin blackened in the smoke of frankincense.

Wealthy women bathed in asses' milk and slept with their faces poulticed with bread steeped in asses' milk in order to efface wrinkles. Even poets sang the praises of certain cosmetics, and Ovid wrote a laudatory poem on the merits of a preparation which, he asserted, preserved the freshness of the skin to old age. It was a curious mixture and was compounded of lily roots, yolks of eggs, hartshorn, gum benzoin, flour and honey, which were all boiled together.

Pliny mentions a species of face powder made of earth from the island of Chio dissolved in vinegar. Juvenal writes that the countenances of the Roman women were disfigured with this supposed beautifier. Among the Roman ladies it was the fashion to be very pale, as red cheeks were not deemed aristocratic. To attain this desirable pallor a quantity of chalk was rubbed on the face.

Many of the cosmetics in use in Greece and Rome have been discovered among ancient relics. Antimony, the oldest of them all, has been found in the utensils belonging to the stone age.

THE INNOCENT FOX.

Blamed For Offenses Committed by His Wicked Cousins.

We are often told of the fox as a destroyer of grouse, but I should like to hear the story of some eyewitnesses as to his work in this direction. It is very easy to find fox tracks about the remains of a bird and then say a fox did it. I believe that many of the offenses laid at his door are committed by weasels, mink and wildcats, or lynx.

During a part of the year I have known foxes to spend a part of each day digging among potato hills in a netted hollow for white grubs or mice in the adjoining fields and to return to the mountain at nightfall, passing a farm which was almost covered with young poultry out for grasshoppers. From an experience of about ten years in a locality where foxes abound I am convinced that this animal destroys but few, if any, chickens. Our trouble there was, first of all, hawks, then skunks, owls and raccoons. The fox never invaded the chicken coops or broke up the sitting turkeys out at the base of the mountain. Of course in winter a fox may sometimes trap a grouse in the snow at night, but who has ever seen a fox actually catch a grouse? Come, now, brothers of the forest, be honest and own up. I would be glad to learn how the fox does the trick, if any one has seen it done.—Forest and Stream.

A Cure For Despondency.

A large, fleshy man with whiskers told me of a sovereign cure for despondency the other day. He had a number of girls in his employ, among them one that he knew was in struggling circumstances and supporting a sick mother on a none too healthy salary. She had come into the store and laid her purse and somber widow hat on the counter while she did something about the place. The large fleshy man got between her and the purse, and when she was not looking he slipped a five dollar bill into it and moved unconsciously about his business. In the afternoon he noticed that she had a red spot in each cheek, and she was heard asking other girls if they believed in fairies. She never solved the mystery—it was two years ago—and never will unless she reads this. But the five dollar bill was very useful in its little way, and the large despondent man felt so good for two whole days that he hip-hopped on the sidewalk on his way home.—Minneapolis Journal.

Living an Next to Nothing.

Most people do not need the evidence of recently published statistics to prove to them that it costs more to live in London than it once did. But it is doubtful if any Londoner now living was ever able to do it on £30 a year, as Boswell's poor Irish painter did. "He allowed £10 for clothes and linen. He said a man might live in a garret at 18 pence a week. Few people would inquire where he lived, and if they did it was easy to say, 'Sir, I am to be found at such a place.' By spending threepence at a coffee house he might be for some hours a day in very good company. He might dine for sixpence, breakfast on bread and milk for a penny and do without supper." Of course expenses can always be reduced to a minimum by doing without things. The question is, Which of our various expenses is unessential? Boswell's Irishman hinted at one. "On clean shirt days he went abroad and paid visits," says his ingenious chronicler.—London Chronicle.
